ALABAMA GETS AID FOR ITS ROAD WORK

Different States Get a Total of $73,125,000 As Announced By the Government.

WASHINGTON.—Apportionment of $73,125,000 amongst the states for use during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1926, in construction of federal aid roads has ben announced by Secretary Jardine.

Texas will receive $4,426,917, largest share of any state. New York with $3,647,166, Pennsylvania with $3,346,929 and Illinois with $3,175,616 follow with the next largest shares.

Alabama's apportionment is $1,540,799.

CHAIRMAN EVINS CALLS MEETING OF COMMITTEE

Democrats Will Meet In Capital City On January 11 to Adopt Rules

MONTGOMERY—The state democratic primary is seven months in the distance but R. B. Evins, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, has called a meeting of this committee at this time has inspired great passing of rules and regulations governing the primary and for the transaction of such business as may come before the committee.

Chairman Evins's call of the committee at this time has sipspired great speculation in political and official circles. Perhaps much of the speculation is developed by the good members of those who protested against some of the actions of the committee two years ago.

Recalling the decision of the committee two years ago which closed the gates to candidates for months in advance of the primary, many of the speculators are wondering if there is any desire on the part of any appreciable number of the members or on the part of the chairman, to impose even a greater restriction on those who desire to be candidates in the primary this year.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Young David Moore, who has been in the hospital for some time, is now rapidly recovering.

W. A. Reynolds underwent an operation at the hospital Tuesday.

J. A. Thompson, who has been in the hosppital for several days, is better.

Broadus Connatser, a leader in athletics and a member of the Senior class at the Alabama university, has returned to the university following an operation at the Central Alabama hospital.

Master Willie McAdoo, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McAdoo of Lone Oak, Fla., is in the hospital with pneumonia

Miss Evelyn Blalock, recently of the Selma Baptist hospital, has returned to the Central Alabama hospital to resume her training.

Miss Carie Mae Retherford has entered training here.

Miss Anna C. Baird, the new superintendent, has arrived and assumed her duties at the hospital, which she has been subjecting to a thorough renovation and re-organization.

ANOTHER HOLIDAY VISITOR

Prof. John T. Morgan, one of the young pedagogues of the Maplesville community was in to see us Friday Prof. Morgan is now located in Sally S. C. where he is engaged in teaching having returned here for a visit with relatives and friends during the holidays.

PASSES EXAMINATION

Turner Eiland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Eiland, residing about five miles northwest of Clanton, was in Birmingham Tuesday, where he successfully passed the examination necessary for entrance into Uncle Sam's fighting forces, and was sent to Montgomery for final placement. He returned home later, however, and the News hopes that he may decide to remain permanently with us.

Judge S. M. Adams, chairman of the Chilton County Democratic committee, was a welcome visitor at The News office Friday, wishing the new management the compliments of the season and renewing his promise of assistance in the paper and the party whenever and wherever possible.

BRIGHT PROSPECT IS IN STORE FOR PRATTVILLE

Autauga City Enters New Year Riding On Wave of Prosperity.

PRATTVILLE.—Never before has Prattville had as bright a future, brought about from the successful year that has just passed and the optimism that is running through the citizenship of Prattville and the surrounding territory. The completing of the highway within sixty days is bringing new settlers and inspiring the house building in Prattville. Today there are more houses under construction than in any past time. The industries are all working on full time, most of them increasing their force and making plans to meet the large demand of 1926.

The inventories that are being taken and completed by the merchants show a successful year. The bank deposits are good. More than $100,000 worth of improvements are being made at the cotton factory. The gin company is laying in a large amount of stock to meet the enormous demands that are going to b upon them and orders are pouring in each day more than ever before. The Alabama Power Co. is building a new line from the sub-station to the cotton factory. The Autauga Oil and Fertilizer Co. is preparing to build a large modern ginnery. The officials of te farm bureau have contracted and plan to furnish the farmers a huge quantity of fertilizer and nitrate of soda at favorable prices.

MOST ESTIMABLE LADY, PASSES TO HER REWARD

After a Brief Illness Mrs. Arthur Thompson Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Death robbed the home of Arthur Thompson of the Concord community of a devoted wife and mother on Monday last when the spirit of Mrs. Thompson, aged 48 years, passed to its Heavenly reward. She had been ill only about a week or ten days, we understand, of pneumonia. A peculiarly sad feature of this death is the fact that Mr. Thompson is confined to the hospital sufferingg from the same malady, and we understand is considered very low by attending physicians.

Besides her husband Mrs. Thompson leaves one son, Burney, and one daughter Mrs. George Tippett. The remains were interred Tuesday afternoon in the Concord cemetery, after funeral services by Dr. Bonner, assisted by Rev. G. B. Golden. J. Mell Martin, the local undertaker, had charge of the burial.

Mrs. Thompson was a most estimable lady, a faithful and consistent Christian worker and was loved and held in the highest esteem by a large circle of friends. The News extend sincere sympathy to those who grieve

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means to try, in a measure, to express our many thanks to the good people of Samaria church and Sunday school and to our good neighbors and friends for their bounteous pounding on December 24th, 1925.

We cannot command words to express our thanks, but we do want each one who contributed to know that we greatly appreciate their donation and that we pray God's blessings upon them.

MR. AND MRS. JOE SMITH.

MRS. HENLEY DEAD

Mrs. Mattie Henley died Monday at the home of I. V. Collins after a shrot illness, and was buried in the Lomax cemetery on Tuesday morning, with J. Mell Martin in charge of funeral arrangements. Mrs. Henley was 55 years old and is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. E. Jackson, of Sylacauga and one son. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

MORE GOOD NEWS

A man said to me, you don't keep fou do and I, you pies 'u 'pay bu ɐpɐɯ ey he learned my prices he said, how is it you can sell so low? I said, selling for cash and buying for cash is the secret of the whole thing. I have no book keeping no bad debts and hence have no suits; no losses for good men to make good for those who do not pay. Come and see and be convinced.

ALABAMA FOOTBALL TEAM IS WINNER OVER HUSKIES

Biggest Field Sports Event of the Country Result favorably for the South

A wild demonstration of state-wide proportions broke loose in Alabama Friday night when the news was flashed from Pasadena that the University of Alabama's football team had swept to a glorious victory over the Huskies of Washington University, proud champions of the great west, says the Birmingham Age-Herald. The Score was 20 to 19.

And a rousing, if not wild, reception is planned for the football warriors when they arrive in the city Tuesday.

Not in a decade has Alabama witnessed such a celebration. Hats were off to the mighty Crimson Tide as collegians and non-collegians and thousands who wouldn't know a football game from a cricket match paraded the streets in large and small cities alike in honor of the greatest victory ever won by a southern college.

The Tide romped in with a one-point margin but that one point meant as much in Alabama Friday night as if it had been a million. Alabama's own boys, after a perfect season in the strong southern conference, had invaded the western country and smashed the best gridiron machine on the Pacific coast—a powerful outfit that had been doped to win.

JEWS THREATEN TO WITHDRAW SUPPORT

NEW YORK.—Unless the resignation of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise as chairman of the United Palestine appeal is accepted by the executive board the support of 1,000,000 orthodox Jews will be withdrawn, resolutions adopted Wednesday night at a meeting of orthodox rabbis and laymen declare.

While the meeting was in progress and futile efforts were being made to conciliate those in attendance Dr Wise issued a statement denying that he had praised the teachings of Jesus, as had been reported.

The meeting was attended by representatives of Agudath Harabonim, a union of orthodox rabbis, and the Mizerachi, a layman's organization, which together are said to number a million members in the United States.

THE COUNTY DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The meeting to which you are called for next January 12, perhaps, the most important one you will have for a long time.

The question of registration and the payment of poll tax must be attended to before February first,else your labor will profit you nothing until two years hence. These matters MUST be attended to if you wish to see your party prosper and keep in step with the times. This work MUST be done RIGHT NOW.

The present year we must elect a United States Senator and all of our State officials from governor on down. Besides we have several of our most important county offices to fill

The question of taxation is becoming very vital now and the only way the people who have to pay these taxes can control this solution is to qualify and then vote.

If you are a democrat worthy the name, you are interested in the matters and will be glad to make sacrifices and will not allow a little inconvenience or a shower of rain prevent you from attending this meeting and doing your duty. Don't lay back and say, "Oh, well, they can do without me today." You are needed and wanted "The harvest is ready but the laborer are few."

With the very best wishes to you every one, for a happy and prosper ous New Year, we remain,

Yours to command,

S. W. ADAMS, Chmn.

W. B. CORLEY, Sec.

A PLEASANT VISITOR

Rev G. A. Hornady of Mountain Creek, one of Chilton's well known and highly respected veterans of the '60's paid the News an appreciated call Friday. Rev. Hornady, eighty years young, is apparently in splendid health and vigor, and has every promise of many more years of usefulness.

Mrs. J. M. Morgan of Columbia South Carolina, is visiting her daughter Mrs. Grady Reynolds.

LIME COLA COMPANY CHANGES OWNERS

Robinson Company Disposes of its Interests to Messrs Lowrey & Pullen

Prof. H. W. Lowery was in to see us Friday. Prof. Lowery tells us that he and his partner, J. A. Pullen, both of whom have been located at Gorgas for some time, have bought the Clanton plant of the Lime Cola Co. formerly owned and operated by the Messrs. A. L. and J. M. Robinson, and took charge on the first.

We understand that the new company will make some needed improvements in the property and expect to operate at fall capacity at as early a date as possible. They will put on one or two new bottled drinks which have not been on the local market heretofore, an advertising campaign concerning which will acquaint the public with them.

Prof. Lowery, a son of W. P. Lowery of Thorsby, is well known over the county, having been reared and was married here to a daughter of J. M. Robinson, is a singer of considerable prominence and at one time was a teacher in the county schools He and Mr. Pullen will move their families to Clanton this week, and aside from wishing th new company an abundance of success The News extends the glad hand to these interesting families.

TARIFF ON TOYS IS "JOY KILLER"

WASHINGTON.—The tariff duty of 70 per cnt on toys was described by Rep. Hull, democrat, Tennessee, as taking "much of the Christmas joy from the children of America."

The amount of the tariff levy in excessive and extortionate prices on American children for their toys during Christmas," he said in a statement "will easily approach $100,000,000. The American tariff beneficiaries were enable to fix this rate on toys by dram atizing the ghost of German competition."

Mr. Hull declared that Germany was no longer a serious competitor of this country in toy manufacturing, and declared the tax was an "economic outrage."

CONGRESS BEGINS ON ITS SIX MONTHS GRIND

Congress came back to work Monday says a Washington dispatch. The six months steady grind ahead before adjournment next June promises to be filled with political and factional battle and possibly some embarrassment for President Coolidge, despite the nominal control of both houses of this "Coolidge congress."

AN EPIDEMIC OF FIRE BAD IN COOSA COUNTY

Baptist Church At Equality Is Latest Building to Go Up In Smoke.

GOODWATER.—There seems to be an epidemic of fires to public buildings in this county for the past year. Early in 1925 the public school building here and the court house at Rockford were destroyed by fire; late in the fall the public school building at Equality was burned, and news has reached here of the burning of the Baptist church at Equality. After the burning of the school building at Equality the Baptist church, among other buildings in the town was used or the school. The church had not been built many years and was a commodious one and well furnished.

The court house has been rebuilt and is now occupied and is an improvement over the old court house; and two public school buildings have replaced the one destroyed here, but it remains to be seen what will be the result at Equality in replacing the school building and the church, as that community is not so strong in population as Goodwater.

"To err is human; to forgive is divine." And to lend a helping hand is an honest effort to improve or to progress is a God-favored quality.

CROP VALUES SHRINK

1925 Values $447,000,000 Below Those Of 1924.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—A shrinkage of $447,000,000 in the gross annual value of crops in 1925 as compared with 1924 was announced tonight by the department of agriculture in a review of the agricultural situation.

The report said, however, that an increased value of livestock probably offset the crop shrinkage. Livestock values were not large but the gross values of crops, on the basis of December 1 prices, was placed at $9,615,000,000

The crop season was reported fairly good everywhere except in the drouth areas of the southern and southwestern states. Cotton was one of three largest crops of record, with a December 1 value of afout $1,628,000,000, while winter wheat showed a farm value of $590,000,000 compared with $776,000,000 last year. Corn estimates were not given. The course of potato prices was cited to show the favorable effect of reducing production on returns to the farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones went to Birmingham on Tuesday morning of last week to attend the Jones—Higgins nuptials.

WALKER—PATE MARRIAGE

The marriage of Miss Pauline Wilker to Mr. Lee Pate took place on Thursday afternoon, December 24, at the home of the bride. The home was beautifully decorated with potted plants narcissus and carnations. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. P. Lowery of Thorsby.

The bride was attractively attired in blue with harmonizing accessories. She is a very charming young lady who enjoys the love of a host of friends.

The groom is a young man of sterling character, who holds a responsible position with the D. C. Co. at Cherokee, where they will make their home.

Their many friends join in wishing them a long life of happiness and pros perity.

FOR FUN

You can carry your grain to Uncle Joe or Cousin Jim, but if you want real service, do your milling up on Seventh Street at C. H. PLIERS' near McCain's barn.

Dr. Lawrence will be at Central Hotel in Clanton Tuesays and Fridays from 10 to 12 a. m. to treat eye, no and throat trouble.

ALABAMA HAS GINNED 1,336,964 BALES COTTON

Madison County Takes the Lead With 48,661 Bales and Washington County Runs Last.

A Washington dispatch of December 31 says that according to figures compiled by the Department of Commerce Alabama has ginned 1,336,964 bales of cotton to that date.

Madison county leads the state with 48,661 bales, with Marshall coming second 42,584 bales and Elmore third with 39,374 bales. Washington county with 2,604 bales reported the smallest number of bales of any county in the state.

On the same date last year Alabama had ginned 969,859 bales, showing a gain for 1925 over 1924 of 367,105.

BETTER TIMES ARE PROSPECT—MELLON

Further Progress Towards World Stabilization Due, He Says.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Improving conditions both at home and abroad during the past year, justify the belief that 1926 will see continued progress toward world stabilization, in the view of Sec. Mellon.

"The year just closed," the secretary says, "has been a fortunate one for this country. There has been a steady improvement in general economic conditions which has been reflected in the government's finances. The treasury shows a comfortable surplus which is not only available for reduction in taxes but affords an opportunity for placing the tax system on a sound basis.

"The past year has also seen important developments in Europe. The funding agreements which have been reached by this country with the foreign debtor nations, will have far-reaching results and already there are signs of improving conditions abroad which inspire confidence for the future and justify us in the belief that the year ahead of us will see continued progress toward world stabilization."

FINE OUTLOOK

For the first time since 1915 the Alabama cotton crop exceeds the million bale mark. Preponderantly this cotton was gotten on the market early, and sold for good prices. The state statistician finds the crop of 1925 on per acre yield was 8 pounds above the 10-year average, which gave the grower an additional revenue above the unit price. The acreage return this year gave $38.70 for lint as against a 10-year average of $28.70, a difference of $10 per acre, and the average price for this present crop of 1,335,000 bales is $140,000,000. This is $15,000,000 above the 1919 crop, which held the record for large returns to the farmers up to this year. Only two other crops have brought the growers more than $100,000,000, that of 1924 and 1918.

The farmers are generally in good fix, Auburn reports. There is more poultry on the farms than ever before; more feed crops being planted, more care being used in caring for another year's operations, and the development of livestock production is receiving much attention.

In the line of manufacturing mining conditions could hardly be better. The coal mine sof Alabama have been running at full capacity, producing every ton possible to meet the lively demand. There is such a demand for iron and steel products as can hardly be satisfied. In the manufacturing line, from the Birmingham district to the isolated factories scattered over the state, there is the same good demand and full-time operation, says the Birmingham News

WATCH PARTY

Quite delightful and thoroughly enjoyable was the watch party given by Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson to a number of their friends in their hospitable home on Thursday night.

Radioing was the principal feature of the evening's entertainment. The various programs were good. The Liberty Bell was heard to peal forth its song of freedom at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Atkinson served dainty and tempting refreshments to her guests of the evening.

HOWDY, FOLK.

In assuming control of The Chilton County News and coming among the good people of this section of the country the new management must share the sentiment and a great many of the emotions possessed by that Prodigal son of biblical history. The writer is a product of our sister county of Coosa, where he spent his barefoot days in the staid old capital of Rockford; but many other days have passed since then; yet we believe we can truly say that not one went by without recording in our mind at least some vagrant thought of the old home, of its splendid people, and little boyhood scenes that never grow old or less sacred to crowded memory. We've met many of the "old boys" since coming to Clanton—all of them doing well as considered in life's struggle, we are glad to see—and we can assure you that it has been a pleasure beyond our feeble method of expression to shake hands with them and renew the old ties. So much for the personal side.

Now, good friends, we are taking charge of The News under no false impression of its present rather imperfect condition—typographically speaking at least. And we say this with all deference in the world to our immediate predecessor, for he has been handicapped by lack of help principally in making the improvements which should have been made in order to keep The News up to the highest possible standard. The writer is bringing with him what is known among printers as a "home force," members of our little family being printers, too. In addition Mr. McCarthy will have charge of the linotype and with this force we will do all in our power, backed by approximately thirty years' experience in newspaper and job printing work to give the people or this territory a real live, readable local paper and prompt and efficient service in our job printing detartment. We have the materials—the type, the presses, the experience, just the same as they have in Birmingham or Montgomery or elsewhere—so why should we not turn out job printing just as satisfactorily as do those offices? Old? Worn out? Neighbor, it's not old, as thetime and erpected service of such material is considered by those who understand it. It's "glued up"—"goomed up," as Pat said. And that will constitute the big job of our force for the next week or more—"ungluing it." Properly straightened out, the type faces cleaned, the presses and other machinery cleaned, oiled and adjusted, there is no legitimate reason why we cannot turn out any commercial printing in as neat form and appearance as any other printshop. All we ask along this line is a trial. If we don't please you, the effort shall not cost you a penny. Weare here for your service, and we realize fully that if we donot give that service in a way pleasing to you, we certainly cannot maintain your patronage—nor could we expect it. And the repeat orders are those for which we shall strive.

Concerning the paper, let us say that we intend to improve its appearance and real worth to you along from time to time—we can't do it all at once, for the job is too big and time is too short to accomplish what we have in mind within the brief space of a week or two—or a month, for thatmatter. But we shall be hammering faithfully toward the ultimate end of a local paper of which all may have reason to feel proud—a paper which will meet with a hearty welcome in the homes of the splendid citizenry hereabout who will subscribe for it and read it because of its real merit and because of its genuine interest to them, morally, socially, politically and otherwise; a paper which shall prove of direct benefit to the business man and the professional man in getting his messagges of his wares disseminated atthe smallest consistent cost to him and the largest "coverage" possible. In this connection we are not of that brand known as "cut-throats," in the sense that we will not accept your printing at a rate lower than the cost of production However much we may regret it, or perhaps have reason to feel proud of it, we've never progressed to that point in the "art preservative" where we might, with any degree of safety, attempt to print ten dollar bills quite as well as our Uncle Samuel; so we are not millionaires.

The Chilton County News is here in your interest, reader, advertiser or job patron, and to cereate a modicum of life's necessities for its publisher. We are here just as the merchant, the lawyer, the garage man is here—to make an honest living from an honest effort, to serve the public in a satisfactory way and if we remain in business we must necessarily receive a reasonable profit for that effort. No just man would deny us or begrudge us that right and pprivilege. In saying this please do not conceive the idea that your printing will cost you more at The News office than elsewhere. Not by any means. On the other hand we are in position to do this work for you at probably a lower cost, certainly than the big ocity shops can do it because of lower living expenses here, lower overhead cost, lower office expense because of the "home force" mentioned ppreviously.

Now friends, offering you the service outlined, cannot we hope for adv are we not justified in soliciting your co-operation? For, ater all, regardless of the product which we may tender you, if we fail to obtain your co operation, our efforts will prove in vain. We earnestly invite your help your patronage, a commendable word for us among your neighbors or business associates wherever and whenever convenient, with the thorough understanding that we shall render "value received" for every dollar spent with us, not only, but that The News shall always be found fighting for the moral and material upbuilding of our beautiful little city, county and state—which includes every man, woman and child within its borders. We want you to be our friends indeed, and we will do everything possible to crystalize and maintain that friendship.

Of course, The News will continue in the advocacy of true democratic principles as understood by its editor. We come to serve you with no axe to grind, no enemies to punish, but with an honest political principle, zealous in its desires, yet charitable enough at least, to grant an equal prpivileg to a conscientious opponent. Abov all do we detest the poicy of the weak kneed straddler—the man burdened with an honest conviction, but who is afraid to let it be known.

The News needs a number of good correspondents over Chilton. Give the world the happenings of your community; it will interest more people than you might think. Verbena, Thorsby, Calera, Jemison, Mountaain Creek, Billingsly and many others should be represented in every issue of The News. Sign your name to every communication without exception. We will not print your name unless requested; but we must know who does the writing for our own protection as well a yours.

Now, friends, the latch string of The News hangs on the outside. Come to see us—let's get acquainted. You will always find a welcome here, whether as a prospective patron or a social visitor.

Yours to serve,
JOHN T. THORNTON.

It has become a proposition too costly to the average dairyman in the Birmingham district to rcontinue to dairy alone on his high priced holdings. Prices of land suitable for such purposes in that district have soared, and many of the dairymen are now hunting locations outside that high priced area, so that they may sell there at a nice profit and re-invest in lower priced lands nearby— lands suitable for either cultivation or pasturage And right there is where the Chilton county territory "shines." We should by all means now be onto the job of letting those progressive people know of the advantages this territory offers. We have the fertile soils, not only, but the shippingg facilities above the average. Then,too, dairymen generally provide themselves with trucks for carting their produce and in this case they would have the advantage of one of the finest state highways anywher over which to reach the capital city Montgomery on the south or the Magic city, Birmingham, on the north It is a proposition well worth investigation by those who have suitabl acreaage for sale.

The average editor couldn't very well explain the difference between a bull-tongue scooter and a hay mower but it doesn't require an extra amount of intelligence to know that our farmers—most of 'em, at least—do not raise all their requirements in feedstuffs and foodstuffs on their land. Which reminds us: Don't fogget to put in that extra acreage of oats this year.

In the mad race for the dollar, in order to "get there" before the other fellow did, Birmingham stacked up the unenviable list of forty-one deaths and an unknown injured list last year with automobiles as the vehicl of destruction. This is said to be the highest death record charged against the city of equal size in the country. So far as The News can see it, this record in the main was establish by and through speed with its constant coworker, neglect. For if speed were eliminated from any bearing in the matter, it is only too apparent that there would have been few, if any, deaths.

The Democratic county executiv committee will meet here in the Wilson hotel on next Tuesday, and a full attendance is urged. Business of considerable importance will come before the body for settlement at this time, and every beat should by all means be represented. There are thirty-two men and two ladies on the committee, two men from each of the 16 beats ofthe county, and it is hoped to place representatives of the female vote at each beat also on it. Lay aside home duties for the day, and come with determination to give your party much time at least. Don't let it said afterward that you neglected the patriotic duty. Come—rain or shine.

The News regrets the necessity of asking pardon, or making excuses. But we must do it this week, the first one with the new management, for any short-comings in the paper. "The greatest fault is to be conscious of none," said Thomas Carlyle; and so long as we remain human, we must admit our faults, or imperfect state We hope to make noticeable improvements as early as possible, and we trust our friends will bear with us until we have had the opportunity required.

Will Rogers, the writer-comedian i said to be the highest paid writer o his particular kind of literature in captivity, has his life insured for $800,000 the premium on which amounts to $100 per day. Bet he don't get as much fun out of it, however, as we do in "scribing" for The News.

"Palindrome?" Yeah; that's one o those back-firing sentences, spells an reads the same either way, so here' one you might try next on yourhelele and said to have been the old man' original introduction: "Madam, I'm Adam." Or, this one of more modern design: "Able was I ere I saw Elba.

The PUBLIC Owns and Regulates the Railroads

In previous bulletins issued by this and other railroads, the ownership of railroad securities has been explained, the facts have been stated, and figures given showing that about two million individual Americans own the stocks and bonds of the great steam transportation lines.

Not only does this quasi-public ownership of the railroads tend to insure their operation for the public good, but the laws of the United States, as interpreted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Railway Labor Board and various State and National commissions, absolutely control 90% of the railroads' earnings, and more than half of their expenses.

Intelligent and efficient handling of railroad affairs is enabling the transportation system of this country to render better and cheaper service to the public than ever before in history. For the 41 weeks ending October 3rd 1925, the railroads handled a total of 40,066,436 car loads of freight, an increase over the same period of the previous peak year (1923) of 3% and over last year of 7%.

County Democratic Committee Meeting

Evidence of More Interest In Party's Welfare Shown and More Hopeful Attitude Manifested

SPLENDID MEETING HELD BY COUNTY COMMITTEE

Evident That New Interest Will Be Manifested In the Campaign of 1926

Last Tuesday the 12th, promptly a 10:00 a. m., the Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee convene in the spacious parlors of the Wilson Hotel.

Senator S. M Adams, chairman, called the session to order. At his request, Rev. W. S. Cox, member from Beat 15,invoked the co-operation and the blessings of God on the work in a most earnest and appropriate prayer.

The chairman then made a report of the session of the State committee which convened in Montgomery on Monday and which was attended by Chairman Adams, Secretary Corley, Committeemen W. T. Hand and J. L. Johnson. The report was received with much pleasure by the committee and was most enthusiastically endorsed.

Col.. A C. Smith, member of the committee from Beat 4 by request, made an address of welcome to the lady members. It was earnest and sincere in sentiment and beautifully expressed. Several other members made short talks notably Rev. W. S. Cox, who also has something good to tell and nerve enough to tell it.

A good many important matters of routine business was disposed of and it was evident that much more vigilant attention was going to be given to future elections here by democrats than has been the case in the past.

A splendid spirit is pervading the ranks of Democracy of Chilton county now. Past experience has taught its lesson and many things that have happened here before will not happen again.

The committee adjourned, subject to call of the chairman. .

CONVENTION SYSTEM IS LOSER BY 23 TO 14 VOTE

All Candidates Must Qualify By April 1—County Bodies ..To ..Mak Regulations.

Alabama's primary system remain intact. The state democratic executive committee late Monday afternoon defeated the program which called for state demoiratic sonvention, which would have been charged with the duty of determining whether or not judicia candidates of the democratic party should be nominated by convention. Friends of the primary voted to submit the issue to a direct vote of the a state democratic convention, which people in the democratic primary, but friends of the convention system withdrew and agreed that no change be made, says the Montgomery Journal

The vote in opposition to the convention was 23 to 14. The vote in favor of submitting the issue in the democratic primary was 22 to 15. The charge was made openly after the committee adjourned that proponents of the convention had been "smoked out" when they refused to accept the proposal for submission to the people after the committee had voted for it.

The fight over the convention featured the meeting. However, the committee carried out the prearranged plan of closing the gates of the party for candidates for public office on April 1, as suggested by Chairman Evins. Every candidate for a state or district office must file his declaration in writing under oath and pay over his assessment fee by April 1. The fee will be two per cent of the 1st year's salary of the office wherethere is a fixed salary Where there is no fixed salary each candidate must pay five dollars. The date for the closing of the gate for county offices was fixed at April 1, but the county democratic executive committees were given the right to change the date and fix the qualification fees oi all county candidates. In the primary the democratic voters will name the members of the state democratic executive committee and the county committees.

Every candidate in the primary must say under oath that he did not vote against the democratic nominee in the last general election in November. Every voter who enters the democratic primary will make the pledge by his act that he will support the democratic nominee in the November election..

The fight over the convention plan was a complete victory to those who desire the maintenance of the primary system for the nomination of all democratic candidates for public office in Alabama.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. J. A. THOMPSON

On the afternoon of January 4 the death angel visited the home of Mr. J. A.. Thompson and bore away the spirit of his loving wife, one of the most noble women of the community.

Her death came as a shock to the whole community, although not unexpected, as she had been suffering for ten days previous.

She was a faithful wife, a loving mother ,devoted to her church and loved by all. She wa sendeared to her many relatives and friends by the tenderest cords of love and sympathy..

Everything was done for her that physicians, nurses relatives and friends could do, but nothing gave her relief. God had her mansion prepared so He called her from this world of sickness, suffering and pain to a more beautiful world where all is peace and rest. It seemed so hard to give her up, her husband being in the hospital and only five months ago we had to give up her dear sisiter, Mrs. R. F. Wyatt, but God called her and we must be submissive to His will. Another golden link has been broken in the family, but we must look to the Father whom she served all her life for solace and comfort.

Weep not dear relatives and friends for she is now soundly sleeping in the arms of Jesus; only taking the journey ahead as it will only be a short time until all of us must go.

Oh! how we shall miss her. Her husband, children, brothers, and sisters will miss her, but we know Heaven has only been made brighter by her passing

She leaves a lonely husband, two children, four sisters five brothers and a host of other relatives and friends to miss her smiles and presence through life. She cannot come back to us but we have one great consolation —we can meet her when God calls us home.

Her form was dear we know,
To relatives so fond and true;
But Jesus called and she must go,
For God loved he too.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Bonner, her pastor, and Rev. G. B. Golden officiating. Interment was made in Concord cemetery with Mr. Marti nin charge.

Her grave was banked with beautiful flowers, tenderly placed by loving hands.

She is now peacefully sleeping in the city of the dead, awaiting the resurrection morn, when we shall all be reunited to part no more.

Her niece.
MRS. Z. A. TIPPETT.

GIFT OF ONE MILLION IS MADE TO THE POOR

Robert Boyd Ward Fund Announces Additional Gift of Thousand Acres..

New York, Jan. 10.—A gift of $1, 000,000 and a thousand acres of land to the New York association for improving the condition of the poor, to be used for the establishment of welfare community work, was announced today by the Robert Boyd Ward Fund, Inc., through its president, William B Ward.

The land, which will provide homes and employment for aged people and a summer work camp for boys and girls, comprises an estate along the Hudson river in Dutchess county.

Robert Boyd Ward, in whose memory the gift was made, was the founder of the Ward Baking Company. After his death in 1915, William B. Ward, his son, and several former business associates, established the foundation for charitable purpose.

MUSGROVE APPEARS OUT OF CAMPAIGN

Leaves Impression He Will Resist Appeal of Friends

Washington, Jan. 9.—L. B. Musgrove of Jasper, a member of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America, who is in Washington today, left members of the Alabama house delegation with whom he talked under the impression it is given out, that he would resist the appeal of his friends that he enter the race for the United States senate to succeed Senator Underwood.

Mr. Musgrove managed the campaign of R. P. Hobson against Underwood in 1914, an dopposed the senator with his own candidacy in 1920. There has been consierable speculation as to whether or not he would again be a candidate. He has made no formal statement.

CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Many mechanical improvements, in the face of price reductions, were displayed on the new Chevrolet cars at the opening of the New York automobile show Saturday. The numerous mechanical improvments, together with lower prices, coming at this time when tire costs threaten advanced car prices, concentrated attention on the Chevrolet exhibit.

The price reduction was announced several days ago by W. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Motor company, Polk Bros., Chevrolet dealers here ,carrying an ad to that effect in last week's News. At that time no mention was made of improvements to the car. These mechanical changes are designed to give even smoother operation, greater engine efficiency and smoother riding. One of the features is an air cleaner, something which only cars of much higher price have been equipped with heretofore.

Among the new improvements are: lighter pistons and pins; engine lubricating system of greater efficiency; special three point motor suspension and redesigned motor head with larger cooling areas around the valves, all of which contribute mmaterially toward smooth operation. The new car is well cushioned by long semi-eliptical springs of special design. .

The new piston assembly is about a half a pound lighter, decreasing by approximately two pounds the total weight of moving parts in the cylinders. The piston is of the skeleton type, combining lightness with strength and lorge bearing surface.

Constant and complete lubrication is assured by the new oiling system which places the oil pump in the crank case where it is primed the moment the engine starts. It is driven from the cam shaft by noiseless spiral gears.. The new motor head with its larger cooling area increases valve efficiency and life. The generator is now driven from the crank shaft by a silent V-type belt which also operates the fan. The water pump has a new mounting with larger bearings.

Other improvements are: an air cleaner at the intake of the air heater; tension springs at the joints of the spark and throttle control rods; greater rigidity in the dash and an increase of one-third in the breaking area of the service brakes which are operated by an improved type of brake rod.

FAST TRAIN WILL NOT STOP AT CHILDERSBURG

C. ofG. Wins Petition To Discontinue Fast Train Service There.

Montgomery, Jan.9.—The Central of Georgia Railway Company, by order of the Alabama public service commission has had its petition granted for authority to discontinue stopping its fast train the Seminole Limited, north and south bound at Childersburg.

It was shown by the petition that the train had been stopping at Childersburg on account of the grade crossing of the Southern Railway Company, and that the public may be served at this point by passenger trains Nos.3 and 4 which operate on the schedule very close to that of the Seminole. There were no protests against the petition of the C. of G.

FIVE-YEAR--OLD BATTLE TO END SOON IS BELIEF

Senators Underwood and Norris Think Settlement Of Muscle Shoals Issue Probable.

Washington, Jan.. 11.—The Muscle Shoals issue will be settled at this session of congress in the opinion of both Chairman Norris, of the senate agricultural committee, and Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, leaders of the opposing forces over disposition of the property. .

Chairman Norris whofor the last five years has prevented senate action on Muscle Shoals because a government operation polic ywould not be adopted, today told the committee that he would no longer fight against senate action and if the people of the south did not want the cheapest power in the world developed," he would not attempt "to force it upon them."

MRS. BRYANT PASSES TO THE GREAT BEYOND

Mrs. C. N. Bryant of Tallapoosa county, died at the Tallassee hospital from an operation for appendicitis on December 15. She was the daughter of J. .A. Burke, who is a popular citizen of our county and her death cast a pall of sadness over a large number of relatives and friends here.

She left a husband and one son eight years of age, to mourn and miss her in her immediate family, besides her father, an uncle, W.. N.. Burke and three cousins, Misses Sallie Lou, Tessie and Mary John, all daughters of B. A. Burke and all of this county. She also left two sisters, Mrs. Wilkinson of Montgomery, and Mrs. J. H. York of Louisiana. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved.

CARD CLUB ENTERTAINED BY MRS. N. S. JOHNSON

The Clanton Card Club was entertained by Mrs. N. S. Johnson on Wednesday afternoon.. The Johnson home was prettily decorated for the occasion with pot plants placed advantageously in drawing and dining rooms.

High score for the afternoon's games was held by Mrs. John Browder, to whom was given two beautiful hand made kerchiefs.

The hostess served a tempting salad plate to the folloing guests: Mmes. J H. Alfred, Frank Callen, John Browder, V. J.. Heard, Grady Reynolds, L. F. Gerald, Arthur Johnson, Oscar Jones, Hugh Simpson, T. C. McSwain, Willis Lyman of Autangaville, and Miss Alee Stewart of Birmingham.

DEATH OF C. H. CULP

On Friday, January 8th, at 10:30 p. m., the death angel visited the home of Mr. C. M. Culp and carried his humble spirit into the realms of eternal bliss He was ill only a few days with a severe attack of pneumonia, and every effort of faithful hands and medical skill was rendered him but all failed. However, from his faithful life and his last expressions in the moments of death, we feel assured that his soul is at rest in a home of peace and love beyond this vale of sorrow.

The deceased wa san old citizen of this county, just lacking one month to a day of reaching his seventy-fifth birthday. He leaves a wife, two sons, three daughters and a host of friends and relative sto mourn for him.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. B. F. Dykes and interment had at Pisgah cemetery on Saturday, Jan. 9th, at 3:30 p. m.

His son,
A. J. CULP.

TO ROLL IN WEALTH IS LOT OF AMERICA

Washington Gives Reasons For Believing Country Entering Upon Prosperous Year.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Evidence that the United States is entering upon the most prosperous year in its history is presented in many quarters here.. Official report of exceptional commercial activity as the year opened, and advance surveys of prospects were made in substantiation of Pres. Coolidge' optimistic prediction that the country is to experience prosperity never equaled.

Among the developments supporting the Coolidge views and the optimistic statements of Secretaries Mellon nad Hoover were:

1. The department of labor announces that 1926 will produce the greatest employment since the post-war boom years.

2. The departmnet forecasts record building activity, with building trades workers in virtually every state employed full time.

3. Substantial business gains in December over November were reported by the department of commerce.

4. Foreign reports to the department of commerce showed that almost ever ycountry entered the new year with increased ability to buy American products.

Director-Gen. Francis I. Jones, of the United States employment service, reported that prosperous conditions "will provide ample opportunity to the wage earners for steady employment in practically every kind of occupation."

Reports from the southwest he said, promise increased industrial activity and an increased volume of public works.

JANE PITTS ACCIDENT VICTIM

Little Jane Pitts, eldest daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Percy Pitts became the victim of an accident on Saturday morning that came near being a serious one. Jane was in a car that was being driven by her mother; they were leaving the W. A. Reynolds home and were bound homeward. The rear door of the car came open and Jane fell out head foremost... Neighbors rushed to the rescue of the fallen child. Jane was bruised and considerably shocked but will soon be herself again. Meanwhile friends are congratulating the parents on their little daughter's marvelous escape from serious injury.

THE EDITOR'S CHAT

We want to thank the good people of Clanton for thekind welcome they have accorded the new management of The News, and our appreciation is also extended the business people for their liberal patronage and assurance of good will. Last week's issue was just a trial—for us as well as for you, friends. An investigation, would hit nearer the mark from our standpoint. Finding out the things necessary to be done the equipment in order that we may be enabled to get out a representative, readable local paper comprised the largest part of our work. This week's work is pretty much along the same lines. And so it will continue until our aim is accomplished. We know full well the deficiencies existing. We are equally well aware of the fact that a practical experience of over thirty years in newspaper work stands us in good stead here, and, without boasting, we have confidence enough in our ability to believe that we know "what to do."

It goes without saying that if the Democratic voters of this county want a real live newspaper through which the party's battles may be fought, they will support The News—give it their advertising, job printing, subscribe for it and say a kind word for it among your friends, not as a "charity proposition." We are frank to say we do not want it that way. But you can give it on a basis of "value received," to say nothing of any patriotic feeling you may entertain.

As to the mechanical appearance of The News kindly bear with us until we can get the equipment in better shape. As we have said before, we cannot get things adjusted or make much headway in improving the paper within a week or two. But we are doing our best toward a cleaner, bigger, more readable and better paper in every way, and your co-operation toward this end is earnestly solicited. Come to see us.

In a recent statement, Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway company, is reported to have said: "What business of the public is it how I run my business if I know my job? Everybody from the thief in the railroad yards up is trying to get something out o the lines. The thief in the railroad yards has the same 'bug' as some railroad commissioers." Ample time was given Mr. Harrison for retraction or correction of the newspaper statement quoted, but he has failed to do either. Which inspired Commissioner Patterson of the Alabama railroad commission to answer it in rather caustic and direct language. When Mr. Harrison assumes this attitude he carries the position of the management of the railroad system back to the days of the Vanderbilts, whose famous (as well as infamous) policy was "The public be damned." It fails to "set" well with present day thought.

Secretary Hoover told the house interstate commerce committee that "foreign countries are gouging Americans to the tune of at least $1,200,000,000 annually" in exorbitant prices and taxes on rubber, coffee, chemical dye-stuffs, etc. While indignating over this we should remember that we have a "nigger in our own woodpile," or in fact, several of them; for it is well known that we have trade associations in our own country which absolutely control the domestic market in all home-produced and many foreign imported necessities. It doesn't make much difference whether you are robbed by a stranger or someone known to you.

Considerable has been said, written and printed in the newspapers concerning an extra session of the Alabama legislature, and one man's opinion is worth about as much as another's unless his grapevine connects with some of the real heads of the state government. It's a pretty safe guess, however, as The News sees things, that no extra session will be called prior to the holding of the primary. And we will venture another guess while we are at it that it will be called for aSeptember date.

The city commissioners of Birmingham have decided to again place all white men convicted in police court on the streets, where they will be required to labor for the city under guard. It's none of our fight, of course, only we would suggest to the honorable officials in behalf of even visitors to Birmingham that they should avoid bradding the "picks" on the ankles of these unfortunates and sending them out before the public view, as was done there in times past.

MODEL HOMES

The building material makers are going to spend $8,000,000 in 1926 on the construction of model homes in 28 important cities. Their idea is to give the people an object lesson of good architecture, proper construction and sound investment.

Many costly homes built years ago could be compared to an overdressed and noisy woman. They flaunted their florid ornaments at you, until you longed for some simple old dwelling whose plain face suggested repose and dignity. One would say the owners had more money than education..

Today the new houses are not so gaudy, and they look more like real homes, many of them however, are not well built. While many of the houses built 100 years ago are still in excellent condition, some of the modern ones may not last a third of that time If they go to pieces so soon a heavy charge must be added annually for deterioration.

The people of Clanton who plan to erect homes next summer, would do well to obtain information as to the elements thatconstitute a model home. Substantial construction reduces depreciation charges and an artistic plan produces a charming home to which its possessor becomes deeply attached, but which if necessary can be sold for a high price.

Premier Mussolini of Italy, apparently is making every effort to destroy Free Masonry in that country, and the plight at present of that great organization is represented as unhappy and deplorable. While Free Masonry probably needs no defense from this feeble source, yet it is our guess that the fight against it will mean no permanent injury, and that some day the order will be stronger in Italy than ever before.

The drift of the rural population in 1925 to urban centers meant the abandonment of 2,500,000 acres of Alabama land. Later regrets have not yet been reported.

Being told that they should learn to say No, means men firmly decline to sign any of the subscription papers that are passed to them for charitable objects.

The boys will probably say they can never get to school on time until they are provided with automobiles for that purpose..

Much pride in their thrift is manifes by the folks who maintain a bank account that is overdrawn most of the time.

Claimed that more neighborly spirit should be shown. The boys anyway are willing to call on all the pretty girls

Perhaps one reason why so few folk recognize Opportunity when she knocks, is that she is wearing overalls

Too many people talking on soap boxes in this country and not enough willing to use the contents of the same

People used to hold out the hand of friendship, but the one held out for tips is often the only one you see.

CHILD FATALLY BURNED AT HOME IN JEMISON

The six year old son of Mr. and Mrs Chas. Glass of Jemison, was fatally burned in the Glass home there on the afternoon of Wednesday, January 13, when his elder sister threw gasoline, which she mistook for kerosene, on a grate fire in an attempt to rekindle it. The girl, aged 12, was also severely burned. The two victims were brought to the hospital at Clanton where the boy died from his injuries this morning. Reports from the hospital state that the girl is resting well with a fair chance for her ultimate recovery

Funeral servces for the young son were held Thursday afternoon conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery, with Mell Martin in charge of burial services, which was at Macedonia cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Culp, splendid citizens of Route 3, paid The News pleasant call today.

A HAPPY HOME COMING

On the morning of December 27th Rev. and Mrs. R. F. Yeargan and children of Talladega, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Yeargan near Clanton. The children present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Yeargan, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Yeargan, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Davis of Talladega, Mr. and Mrs. Cap Patridge of Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Yeargan of Clanton,. All the children brought father and mother a token of love. At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was spread. Rev. Yeargan is a gentleman of the old school. The News wishes for this estimable family an unbroken family chain and many more home comings in the future.

J. A. ROGERS DEAD

The sad news of the death of J. A. Rogers of Jemison reached friends and acquaintances here the first of the week. He lived with a son at Jemison, we understand, where he was favorably known to a large circle of friends. Burial took place on Tuesday with J. Mell Martin, Clanton undertaker, in charge. The News extends sincere sympathy to those bereaved.

The Excellence OF OUR Dining Car Service

has won for the "Old Reliable" a nation-wide reputation. The very finest food the market affords is prepared by trained chefs and immaculately served by courteous and attentive waiters. Comparison shows that the prices charged for these excellent meals are as low as, or lower than, those prevailing in first-class hotels, restaurants and cafes.

The menu on the L. & N. diner is complete and varied. A passenger may order a "combination platter" (four suggestions from which to choose), consisting of a relish, meat, two vegetables, salad, coffee, tea or milk, and a choice of dessert; or he may choose from an a la carte bill of fare every reasonable delicacy —from Gulf oysters and sea food, to the tenderest of chops and game. The prices are much lower than you'd expect to pay for such service.

Almost every day the Passenger Department of this Railroad receives unsolicited letters of commendation on our dining-car service. These letters come from experienced travelers who know and appreciate the best; from women traveling with children, who have been shown some particular courtesy or have had some article of food especially prepared.

Nothing adds to the charm of travel more than having good meals, well-cooked, well-served, and at moderate prices. Remember that the dining-car service of American railroads is operated at a loss to the carriers and is made available simply to add to your comfort.

The Essex Coach may be purchased for a low first payment and convenient terms on balance

For any closed car—even a "Four"—you pay almost as much as the Essex Coach costs. Yet what a difference in everything that counts—Performance, Quality, Comfort, Good Looks, and your pride in the car you own. A single ride will tell. And, in price, terms of payment, economy of operation, Essex is just as easy to own. Why accept less than a "Six"? Why not have the qualities of the most wanted "Six" type in the world?

THE JANE CASE COMPANY

The Jane Case Company, the first of a series of three entertainments fostered by the P. T. A. for grammar school improvement, was presented in the high school auditorium on Friday evening. The entertainment was splendid and consisted of musical numbers on various instruments. Old time songs and melodies proved thoroughly enjoyable as well as the classical music and readings of the evening.. The patrons of the venture are gratified over the returns that have been realized.

The other two entertainments of the series will be given in February and in March respectively.

The Sunday morning services at the Baptist church were beautiful and troroughly appreciated. The sermon was inspiring and altogetrer practical. The music was well crosen. The Choir was made up or Clanton talent. A number of our boys and girls who are laboring elsewhere to develop their talent were in the choir. The plaintive notes that were sohnded by Messrs. Joe Hester and Sam Upchurch on thei conet, the deep, rich voice that was lent by Miss Della Lathem, tre solo part of Miss Beverly Hester combind to make memorable the services in the Clanton Baptist church on last Sunday.

ABERCROMBIE NOT AFTER PRESIDENCY

State School Head Says He Is Not Applicant For College Post

Montgomery, Jan. 15.—Dr. John W. Abercrombie, state superintendent of education, Thursda ynight issued a statement declaring he was not an applicant for the presidency of Alabama College to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. C. W. Palmer.

Dr. Abercrombie has recently been mentioned in the press of the state with O. C. Carmichael, dean of the institution, as possible successor to Dr. Palmer.

ORATORICAL CONTEST IS INDORSED BY THE STATE

Valuable Prizes, Including $500.00 By State, Will Be Awarded the Winners

A bulletin issued by the Alabama Education association this week announces that in co-operation with the Alabama education association, to present educational needs to the people of Alabama, the affiliated exchange clubs of Alabama will sponsor an oratorical contest among the high schools of this state. They will give valuable prizes to the winners in these contests. The state prize will be a $500 scholarship to some college in Alabama. District prizes, one for each congressional district winner, will be handsome gold watches, properly inscribed and suitable for either boy or girl winners.

Topics for the speeches will bear on some phase of Alabama's educational need. Selection of the speakers for each high school to speak in the county elimination contests will take place during the week of April 5—9, On the evening of April 9 contests will be held to select county representatives to the district contests. The county winners will compete as representatives of the congressional district on the evening of April 16. The district winners will compete for the state prize on the evening of April 23.

Officials of the exchange clubs will assist school men in promoting and conducting these contests in the county, district and state contests.

The plan has the hearty approval of the state superintendent of education and the executive committee of the Alabama education association.

ITALIAN FUNDING PACT IS OKEHED

House Votes Two To One To Ratify Debt Settlement Terms.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Belgian debt settlement was ratified by the house Saturday by the overwhelming majority of 314 to 24. Democrats who had opposed the Italian settlement, voted with the republicans in okehing the Belgian terms.

A few minutes later the $44,600,000 Rumanian debt agreement was ratified.

The house Friday afternoon approved the Italian debt settlement plan recommended by the American funding commission. The vote was 257 to133, most of the opposition coming from the democrats.

The settlement calls for payment of $2,042,199,466.34 over a period of 62 years. Initial payment of $199,466.34 will be made immediately after the sen ate ratifies the agreement.

Of the voting against the settlement, 113 were democrats, 12 republicans, mainly fro mthe Middle West; two independents, and one socialist, Victor Berger.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLES MEETING

The Baptist Young Peoples Unity Association meeting held in Mountain Creek on Saturday, attracted a large number from Clanton, as well as elsewhere. An interesting program was rendered upon that occasion.

Miss Hannah Reynolds, state Young Peoples leader, made a splendid and memorable address. The program in its entirety was interesting. Rev. Mr Roberts of Verbena, conducted the afternoon's services. Sixty-seven young people were in attendance at this meeting. Miss Frances Moore of Clanton, was made president of the Young Peoples Council.

While skating on the grammar school grounds Tuesday, Lavolia ten year old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Roper, fell and broke her left arm. The child was rushed to the hospital, where the injured member was set before she was sent home

FARMERS TO MEET IN COUNTY SEATS

Brandon Sets January 25 As Day For Statewide Gatherings.

Montgomery, Jan. 16.—Complying with request contained in a resolution adopted at the recent cotton conference held in Atlanta, Ga., Brandon Friday issued a proclamation setting aside Monday, January 25, as a day for farmers, merchants, bankers and business men to assemble at the respective county seats in Alabama to discuss the matter of increased food production and reduction of cotton acreage.

Announcing that he has appointed himself over 100 delegates from Alabama to the southwide cotton convention to be held in Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday, Feb. 3, for consideration of a sound and constructive farming program for 1926, Gov. Brandon suggests that at meeting held at county seats Jan. 25, additional delegates be elected to the Memphis meeting.

LEGISLATURE NOT TO MEET JUST NOW

Brandon Says Call Won't Be Issued "Any Time Soon."

Montgomery, Jan. 16.—Plans for a special session of the legislature at this time have been abandoned by Gov. Brandon, he told newspapermen Friday afternoon. As Brandon expressed it, he is not contemplating a call "any time soon."

The announcement of the governor followed considerable agitation in some quarters for an extraordinary session to authorize another good roads bond election, and to provide increased revenue for schools and colleges. Brandon did not say, however, that no extra session would be held this year.

FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION IN ANNUAL MEETING

Association Now Has 162 Members and $163,100 Let Out In Loans

Goodwater, Ala., Jan. 14.—The meeting of stockholders of the Union National Farm Loan association was held at Rockford Tuesday.

Lunch was served at the King hotel to the members of the association attending and their wives.

Prof. O. K. Weldon, county superintendent of education, made an educational address in the afternoon and was timely and apppreciated.

The report of the secretary-treasurer showed that there are 162 members of the association with $163,100 loans, and the condition of the association is the best in its history.

John A. Darden was re-elected the seventh time yesterday as secretary-treasurer of the association.

A HAPPY SURPRISE

The Julia Beauchamp chapter O E. S., held its regular session on last Thursday evening.. After attending to the regular routine business of the organization, the meeting was surprisingly turned into a happily informal social and festive occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Fenn Jones whose marriage a few weeks ago proved an interesting event, were the honorees of the occasion.. Mrs. Jones, the Worthy Matron of the order, was presented with a handsome sterling silver pitcher, upon one side of which was artistically engraved: "From Julia Beauchamp Chapter O.. E. S., 1926." On the reverse side of the pitcher was "J" exquisitely wrought in a bold, clear old English design. Mr.. Atkinson, Worthy Patron of the chapter, gracefully made the presentation in a few well chosen and appropriate expressions

The members were served delicious sandwiche sand hot chocolate.

I. C. SAPP

Many friends in Clanton will regret to note the bereavement of Mrs. I. C. Sapp, formerly Miss G.. L. Chandler who was reared in Clanton, Mr. Sapp died at his home in Douglas, Ga., Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Sapp were married only a short time ago.

Mrs. Sapp was visiting her sister, Mrs. Whitfield,, in Montgomery when the message of her husband's illness was received. Mr. Sapp's illness, flu, with possible development of pneumonia, was brief.

Pay Your Nickel Take Your Choice

Head of Drys Says We're Dryer Than Ever, But Head of Anti-Drys Says, "Nay, Nay."

IT'S GETTING DRYER, SAYS WAYNE WHEELER

By Wayne B. Wheeler

Counsel, Anti-Saloon League

National prohibition has a record o six years of the most notable achievements of any governmental social policy, in spite of the organized resistance of a minority opinion. It has increased the volume of popular support for this measure, augmented the demand for better enforcement, educated new adherents to observance of the law become a primary factor in the economic prosperity of the nation, decreased death rates, alcoholic insanity and industrial accidents, lowered arrests and commitments for drunkenness and offenses alied to drinking, cut pauperism to the lowest ratio in our history and eliminated the greatest source of political corruption, the saloon, and the brewery interests.

The successive election of three congresses, each with a larger number pledged to enforcement than its predecessor, indicates the public attitude Equally significant is the adoption of state codes by popular referenda, even in states where such codes were defeated on their first presentation.

The co-ordination of coast guard, customs service and the prohibition department under one assistant secretary of the treasury, the adoption of new regulations for improved supervision of industrial alcohol plants and the control of non-beveragge liquor, including sacramental wines, and the declared policy of the executive and the justice departments to prosecute all violators the past year. Anti-smubgiing treaties of the law, larpe as well as small, have marked the administrative progress of have been negotiated with nine nations ncluding G eat Britain.

Drunkenness has decreased about 350,000 per year, according to Judge Gemmill of Chicago.

The fall of the death rate from an average of 13.92 in the license era, to 11.9 for 1924 the latest census year with a still lower rate possible for 1925 is partly traceable to prohibition.

DRY LAW IS DYING FAST SAYS STAYTON

By Captain W. H. Stayton

Chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Prohibition in the United States is dying.

Since the prohibiton law was placed upon the statute books, intoxication and crime have increased to an alarming extent.

During 1924 arrest for drunkenness increased approximately 100 per cent over the figure for 1919. the last wet year.

There can be no successful enforcement of a dry law that has not the popular approval of the people and thus today, when prohibition approaches its sixth milestone, we look upon a statute that is surely dying because of the open contempt the people have for it.

The dry forces of the nation have struggled vainly to keep its utter failure. from the people, but wholesale violations of the prohibition law are tob apparent and every man and woman knows thru personal observation what harm it has brought about.. Increased crime, drunkenness, insanity and corruption; millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money expended in a futile attempt to enforce the law. The people have awakened and are demanding relief.

One of the first organizations to recognize these facts (anl incidentally a strong advocate of prohibition) was the research department of the federal council of churches. Its valuable report brought condemnation upon the research department from the professional drys because the department dared tell the truth.

When we look backwards through 1925, we realize that prohibition is in its final stage. What a year of setbacks for the dry cause it was! Eve. whipped the Anti-Saloon League candidate fo rggovernor and seated a man regarded as liberal.

There are those who predict that this will be the last birthday of prohibition. Death is inevitable.

DEMOCRATS, ATTENTION

It has been decided by your committee that it may be well to give you this reminder and to make this final appeal to you to pay your poll tax on or before February 1st and be certain to enroll your name on the registhation books..

This is going to be a very critical political year in your State, as well as your county. We wish to call your special attention to some of the issues the people must settle at the polls this year.

We must elect one United States Senator, the congressman from our district, five judges of the supreme court, one judge of the Appellate court a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, superintendent of education, state auditor, state treasurer, commissioner of agriculture, two public service commissioners, a state senator from our district, a soicitor from our judicial circcuit, a representative from our county. a sheriff, tax collector, tax assessor, treasurer, county commissioners, etc.

Also a road bond issue ffor $75,000,000 will be voted on before you can qualify again after February 1st.

Can you afford to voluntarily shut yourself out of a voice in any of these matters? Prepare yourself to vote so you ccan help reduce your own taxes

Realizing local conditions as we do and firmly seeing victory just ahead if we will all do our duty with all the earnestness at our command, to heed this warning and do as the Union-Banner said, "Fall in line."

VETERANS OF 1861 TO MEET IN BIRMINGHAM

That City Says It Will Open Its Arms To Old War-Horses In June

Birmingham will officially open her arms to the tottering old boys of '61 in June, 1926, says the Birmingham Age-Herald.

It has been just ten years since she has entertained an annual reunion of the United Confederate veterans, the Magic City being host to the twenty-sixth annual reunion May 16-18, 1916. Previous to that the thin grey line gathered here for their annual convention in 1906.

This convention will probably be the last Birmingham will have the honor of receiving as the number of veterans are dwindling away, mith the passing of each ronvention. Various livic organizations throughout the city are cooperating with the committee in charg to make this one of the most impressive and enjjoyoble conventions ever held.

MISSISSIPPI MULES KILL FIFTY PEOPLE

Most Of the Deaths Charged to Mules Caused By Kicks

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 20.—While not as famous in history as his cousin from Missouri, the Mississippi mule promises to make a name for himself. A check of the criminal activities of the obstinate animal completed by the state bureau of vital statistics, reveals that 50 deaths have resulted from his vicious traits during the past year.

Dr. R. N. Whitfield, director of the bureau, has announced that most of the deaths for which mules are responsible resulted from kicks. Several persons suffered fatal injuries in attempting to ride mules. Reports show that the lazy animal is seldom charged withrunning away.

ENTERPRISE WINS OVER STANTON

Only One Defeat Has Been Suffe red During This Season

Enterrrise and Stanton staged a lively basketball game on the latter's court, Wednesday, January 14 The core was a tie for the first half, but the excellent team work of Enterprise proved, too much for Stanton to cope with in the last half. Enterprise located the net for twelve points, while their opponents were limited to nine.

The Enterprise boys are going fine this season, having suffered only one defeat.

Messrs. H. S. Grogan and G. W. Hagin of the Solliers Home, Mountain Creek, were pleasant visitors to The News office last Friday.

HOSPITAL NOTES

J. A. Thompson was discharged from Central Alabama Hospital after an illness of several weeks.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McAdoo, who has been critically ill and little hopes for his recovery, is now improving very fast and is expected by his attendants to be able to leave the hospital in the next few days days.

The two children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glass of Jemison, Alabama, brought in on the night of January fourteenth, burned at their home by the explosion of gasoline. Both being burned badly, the boy died within a few hours, the girl is still in a very critical condition at the hospital.

Mrs. Donald Merchant and young daughter, Lilian Annette, are both doing nicely.

Mrs. M. L. White, who has been ill for several days is improving fast, and will soon be able to return to her home.

Miss Grace Robinson a former nurse of the Alabama Central Hospital Who left the hospital in September and took up her studies in Jasper, Alabama at the Walker County hospital, has returned to this hospital to finish her training

The Central Alabama Hospital has changed its old dress for a new one, and after having undergone this change is prepared to do its full duty of its requirements, which is to be an "A" number one hospital or it cannot be a training school and as the training school has been started, so the require ment must be carried out.

BRANDON ISSUES PROCLAMATION

Sets Aside January 24 As Law And Order Sunday.

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 20—Gov. William W. Brandon in a proclamation has designated Suunday, January 24, as "Law and Order Sunday" and called on the people of Alabama to assemble in churches, school houses and other public places on that date and rededicate themselves to the strict observance of all la,ws and allegiance to t. constitution of the state and nation.

PROHIBITION LAW COST $39,752,751 IN 6 YEARS

Fifty Million Dollars Worh Of Property Seized and Desroyed

Washington, Jan. 20.—"Industrial alcohol," is the unhesitating answer of James E. Jones, federal direceor of prohibition, to the question of what source of bootleg liquor his men are chiefly concerned with today on the sixth birthday of the Volstead act.

Jones gives some cold figures on the new threat of industrial alcohol. During the year ending June 1920, there were produced 28,000,000 gallons of it In the six years of prohibition this rate has trippled, he said, with 81,000,000 gallons the output for last year. Since pprohibition arrived June 16, 1920 more than 300,000,000 gallons of denatured alcohol has been produced..

The cost of the six years' war has been $39, 752,751. miuns taxes and fines that amounted to $27,477,411, but plus the cost of a greatly enlarged coast guard and cost of prosecutions. The budget of the prohibition army which now numbers 3,241, this year is $10,000,000.

During the six years of the dry war $50,000,000 of property was seized and mostly destroyed. This included more than 4,000,000 gallons of spirits and 26,000,000 gallons of malt liquors. 18,-000 automobiles and 600 boats.

More than 60,000 arrests were made dsring each of the last three years by federal men and 284,790 during the last six.

Misses Rilla Wood, Mavis Thomas and Jean Gardner, all of Verbena, were guests during the past week of Mrs. Williams, Misses Bettie Morris Gardner and Barbara Williams.

ALABAMA FIGURES SHOW BIG GROWTH

Three Large Cotton Mills Established In State Last Year

Montgomery, Jan. 20.—New capital invested in Alabama by foreign corporations in 1925 totaled more than $9,000,000.

Records at the state capital show that215 new foreign corporations opened for business in the state. The total net increase was 157, there being several withdrawals.

That Alabama is beginning to become a cotton mill center is shown by the establishment of three large cotton mills in the state last year.

The Pepperell Manufacturing Co., which has heretofore maintained its mills in New England states, has a mill under construction at Opelika. An other company is building a mill at Eufaula, and announcement that a $1,000,000 mill would be built at Gadsden was made a few weews ago

S. H. Blan, secretary of state pointed out that the $9,000,000 did not include the increase in capital stock made during the past year by corporations already doing business in the state.

QUARTERLY MEETING AT MAPLESVILLE

The quarterly meeting of the W. M. U. of the Unity association, held in Maplesville on Friday, was well attended acording to report sof our large Clanton delegation that was in attendance. The program upon that occasion was well planned and was thoroughly enjoyable and profitable.

Miss Leachman's numbers on the program were splendid. Miss Leachman, field worker for the Southern Baptist Mission Board, has been in mission service for twenty-eight years, knows the work, is keenly alive to its interests, and is a magnetic speaker

At noon a bountiful and appetizing dinner wa sserved to the W. M. U. in the Maplesville hotel. Covers were laid for sixty

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY AT CLANTON, ALABAMA.

JOHN J. THORNTON..... Editor

Entered in the Post Office at Clanton, Alabama, as Second Class Mail Matter Under Act of Congress.

THE EDITOR'S CHAT

Again The News management must thank our friends and acquaintances both old and new, for the many complimentary expressions concerning the somewhat improved appearance of last week's issue—our second edition—of the paper. While it is true that we did succeed in getting out the larger part of last week's issue in a neater and more readable shape, we regret that all of it was not a perfect print, nor was its general appearance anything like the clear and readable impression which we must attain, and which we will attain in time, barring any providential hindrance, of course.

Now Mr. Merchant and others of the business and professional field—for we shall respectfully ask for a few minutes of your time in all our "Chats" of the future—we have not been able to get around to see you personally yet because of our efforts in the shop in trying to get things cleaned up, straightened up and adjusted. But we'll get to you at the earliest opportunity. In the meanwhile we'll be compelled to take advantage of our next best choice—that of reaching you through our chat column. We are divulging no secret then we say that many business men who appreciate the value of advertising are either too busy or are not gifted with the talent of giving the attention to their advertising which the matter deserves. Of course, the city advertising merchant employs the high priced artist to write his advertising To such as mentioned, or if for anf reason you might require assistance in the work of formulating your advertising matter, The News force stands ready to co-operate with you in any manner possible and cheerfully offers you the advantage of a practical experience of about thirty years in this work, whether you might require our services for a single insertion, or that you might demand consecutive weekly insertions, with big or little display, for any period of time. And this is offered you gratis—without adding a penny to the cost of your advertising. Also we have a variety of cuts for illustrating your advertising—appropriate for every line of business —and the use of these is offered to you at no additional cost to you.

The modern small town advertising merchant in this day of close competition is quick to realize the vast difference between a mere list of names on thmailing galleys of some publications and an actual, bona fide subscription list of others. Thereader who subscribes and pays for a publication because its columns are of interest to him and because he wants to read it, is in every conceivable way of more value to the advertiser as a prospective customer than is the man or woman who has been cajoled, or wheedled, or otherwise persuaded into subscribing for it against his or her wil as is frequently the case.

Moreover, it has been our experience that this self-same merchant is not averse to paying a reasonable price for the service of having his advertising broadcast in a field of real worth-while readers—such as is embraced in the Clanton territory, as an instance, and covered very efficiently by The Chilton County News. Quality readers comprise quality advertising service for any newspaper; the buying gcapacity of the reader must be cconsidered by the advertiser. In order to be fair with our readers, our advertisers and ourself, is but just to say that The News does not want a single name on its mailing list who does not wish the paper continued to his or her address.

We can cite you today to scores of Alabama newspapers with smaller numbers of bona fide subscribers, but whose advertising chargesare greater than those of Th News. Their rates are scientifically set in just proportion to bona fide readers; and we want to chat you again later along this line.

Please accept our thanks for your patronage thus far. We are just as anxious that your advertising in The News shall pprove beneficial to you as you are yourself, and we shall do everything consistent to make it so. Call to see us, and let's talk it over. You are always welcome at The News office.

About the biggest "farm problems" today consists of the high cost of handling, high cost of keeping stocks on hand, high cost of salesmanship, high cost of overhead, high cost of service, high cost of elaboratee and expensive city locations—and don't forget the high taxes. High cost of actual production of farm commodities rarely is ever considered.

THE EXTRA SESSION

From those Xin position to know whereof they speak comes the information that Governor Brandon has at least temporarily abandoned the idea of calling an extra session of the Alabama legislature—not previous to the primaries, anyway. In this The News concurs with the governor and believes that he is doing the right thing.

It has been argued that Governor Brandon is "afraid" to call an extra session and submit the proposed seventy-five million dollar bond issue for the construction of roads in Alabama. It doesn't appear to The News as so much a matter of being "afraid" thus to refer the proposition to the voters, as that it is an indication of good judgment on his part to refuse to saddle upon the taxpayers the heavy costs which an extra session would necessarily entail, provided that he is already convinced that the voters would not ratify the issue. Really, the people have not been properly educated concerning the details of the proposed bond issue—approximate terms, how long to run, when, how and by whom the money would be spent, etc., being a few of the questions that are in the minds of many. Doubtless many no with open minds would be persuaded either for or against the matter were these and other questions satisfactorily settled in their minds.

It is a deplorable fact that the people are so overburdened with taxes for such varied purposes that they are extremely wary of any new proposal to add to this burden. It would seem to the average citizen, too, that since there will be available next year for road building purposes in Alabama about one million three hundred thousand dollars, there is no need for any special hhurry in voting additional bonds for the same work. Isn't this enough for all immediate and urgent purposes? Or, if more is needed, next year's session could increase the present tax on gas and thus raise about two million dollars, it is estimated.

It is said that Governor Brandon probably intends to apportion the surplus funds in the state treasury for educational needs. A splendid idea, as we view the matter. If there is to be curtailment, neglect or failure of progress of either of these two subjects, save the readin' 'ritin' and 'rithmetic of the boys and girls of the state.

The present low value of the dollar as a purchasing unit can be attributed in no small degree not only to the high cost of livinf, but to the cost of high living. The American public demands luxuries such as it never did before; and it doesn't seem to matter as to what the cost. If we have the money and find an article we desire—regardless of whether necessity demands it or not—we buy it, and without a protest as to the price. This leads the manufalturer and others in control of both commodities and prices to incline toward the limit in fixing their charges; and where the old time merchant was accustomed to charging a reasonable ten to fifteen per cent profit on his wares, modesn methods and practices suggest to him a quiker way around the poor house: "What will the consumer stand?" The little fellow, the local retail dealer, is compelled to pay the exorbitant prices, first, because he wants to remain in business, and second, because his customers demand the goods, so thus the original price-fixer is encouraged in soaring to the limit.

Don't neglect your privileges and limited opportunities in registering and paying your poll tax. This year will be a bell-ringer in politics; the first guns have already been fired, and you will want to make part in the selection of many very important officals. If you are not so dead "sot" on supporting the caslidates, maybe you would enjoy the fun of killing somebody's vote which does not agree with your way of thinking. Aside from this you have the satisfaction of knowing that the poll tax money will be expended in a worthy cause—that of education. Just a few more days now and the tax books will be closed. Do it today and have it off your mind.

Representative Nelson of Wisconsin hit the nail on the head when he said that "The farmers are unable to live on what they get for their product, and tee people generally are unable to pay what is charged for it." All of which means that the "middle man" is the gent who is raking off the profit. So long as farmers try to operate by and through the present unorganized methods, the middle man will continue in his glory, and in exact ratio will the famrer continue as the goat.

"Most men don't liketo stay at home for dates because they don' t know anything to talk about that will take up more than five consecutive minutes," says one of the girls in her defense of the practice among young people to get away from home in filling their dates. Gee-Whizl—it seeter take us longern that to tell our girl how much we loved her, and she didn't seem to mind a bit, nu ther.

That "settlement" our government made with Italy in an effort to gget back part of the billions owed us by the aliens has proven a dud so far as actually realizing repayment of the account is concerned. It means; among other things, that we have agreed to accept twenty-four ents for every dollar we loaned Italy, with interest at the rate of one-half of one per cent. In addition, Italy is given sixty-two years in which to liquidate the account Wonder how the average farmer would like to have his note "shaved" in proportion?

DEATH CAUSED BY FALL

Mrs. Harriet Jones, wife fo Sebron Jones, Thorsby, died on Sunday afternoon at her home at about 7:00 p. m. The body was interred in Camp Hill cemetery, funeral services conducted by Rev. Buford Jones. Surviving Mrs. Jones are her husband and an adopted daughter. J. Mell Martin, funeral director of Clanton, had charge of the burial services.

The family had only recently moved to their new home a mile from Thorsby. She had gone up into the hay loft and fell from a treacherous stairway, breaking a collar bone and an arm. The shock, coupled with the injuries sustained, caused Mrs. Jones' death.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

An automobile accident that came near resulting seriously, occurred on Saturday morning at the intersection of two of our busiest streets, Seventh street and Second Ave. Eye witnesses decare that three cars headed in different directions collided. Frank Higgins, according to a witness was driving one of the cars. Mr. Higgins was accompanie dby his mother-in-law, Mrs Calloway, who was considerably shaken up, and who had to have a wound across the forehead dressed by a local physician.

MRS. OSCAR JONES HOSTESS

Mrs. Oscar Jones was hostess to the Clanton Card Club on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Jones' home had been decorated for the occasion with a number of handsome plants, carnations and narcissus. Upon conclusion of the afternoon's games Mrs. V. J. Heard was found to hold high score and was awarded two dainty hand made kerchiefs.

The club's guests upon this happy occasion were Mrs. C. Fenn Jones and Miss Bettie Mullins.

The hostess served to her guests a tempting salad course with coffee.

SOUTH FORGING AHEAD AS INDUSTRIAL AREA

2,500 New Manufacturing Enterprises Representing Investment of $800,000,000 Enter District

Close to 2,500 new manufacturing enterprises have been established in the south during the last two years, according to estimates in the hands of the senate finance committee, according to a Washington special to the Birmingham Post.

These enterprises are said to represent an investment of nearly $800,000,000.

The estimates are vouched for by William S. Bennet, former New York congressman, who submitted them to Senator Smoot, of Utah, the committee chairman, for use in senate tax reductions deliberations. Bennet has been in business in Mississippi for the last six years.

Bennet cites the following items as evidence of what may be expected from the south in the future:

1. Southern railroads set a record for the entire country by earning 6.6 per cent return on investment during the first ten months of 1925.

2. From 1922 to 1924 the south spent more than $750,000,000 annually on new buildings and the 1925 expenditures is believe dto have been close to $1,000,000,000.

3. The south now produces one-third of the world's petroleum, about one-third of the world's tobacco, about 40 per cent of the world's cotton, about 85 per cent of the world's sulphur.

4. The south is annually exporting more than 500,000 cars of vegetables and fruits to the north.

5. Deposits in southern banks increased from $1,700,000,000 in 1910 to $6,500,000,000 in 1923.

6. The south is making tremendous gains as an iron and steel producing section—this being centered largely around Birmingham.

7. Life insurance written in the south in 1923 was 44 per cent of the total of the entire country, as compared with 21 per cent in 1921.

8. Consumption of Portland cement jumped from 15,000,000 barrels in 1924 to more than 28,000,000 barrelsin 1925.

9. Open-account deposits in the Atlanta federal reserve district increased 35 per cent from October, 1925, national record.

10. The value of southern manufactures increased 37.6 per cent from 1921 to 1926.

11. A total of 26,000 miles of surfaced highways were laid below the Mason-Dixon line in 1922 and 1923.

12. A group of New Orleans financiers recently bought out the old and established candy house, Huyler's in New York.

13. Railway investment in 17 southern states, including the District of Columbia, reached $5,543,000,000 in 192[illegible] a 24 percent increase in ten years.

A VISITOR TO THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL

The grammar school as this goes to press is expecting a distinguished visitor, Miss Brown of Chicago. This visitor is expected any day. Miss Brown is a representative of the Palmer method of writing, the managers of which system have offices in Chicago and from these instruction in the art of writing is given over the world.

Our Mr Martin is diligent and stimulates his pupils to avail themselves of every advantage. He not only teacches wrting to the grammar school pupils, but he teaches the Palmer method of writing. A number of pupils have attained diplomas and distinction in the art of writing by their efforts to follow Mr. Martin's leadership. And now it has come to pass that the Chicago force of workers has become interested in Mr. Martin's work in Clanton; the visit of their representative, Miss Brown, will be an epoch in Clanton's grammar school history.

HOMEWARD TRIP INTERRUPTED BY ILLNESS

On the homeward trip after a holiday trip to friends and relatives in Gleason and Murfreesboro, Tenn., Mr and Mrs. McAdoo of Live Oak, Fla. found while in Caler athat their young son had a well developed case of pneumonia.. The parents hastened to Clanton and placed the two year old son in the Central Alabama Hospital. The child is now out of danger and will soon be strong enough to continue its trip homeward.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On Monday afternoon the seventh birthday of Ruth was happily celebrated in the inviting Gowan home. Ruth's home was made redolent for the occasion by a number of narcissus blossoms that were placed to advantage. Thirty-six friends had been invited to assist in the epochal occasion. Mmes. Curry, Curry Thomas and Miss White of the grammar school had been asked to assist Ruth's mother in receiving and entertaining the children. Little friends presented the hostess with a number of acceptable gifts. Many delightful and frolicsome games had been played when all were invited into the dining room to partake of delightful refreshments. The dining table was centered with a large birthday cake, upon which were seven lighted pink candles Birthday omens concealed under the cake were connected with each plate by green ribbons. The doll souvenirs of the occasion, placed at each plate, added to the holida effect. The afternoon's honoree graciously presented Mmes. Curry, Thomas and Miss White with appropriate remembrances.

Many friends wish for Ruth many more happy birthdays.

COOPER NEWS

Mrs. Mack Castleberry is very ill. We hope she will soon be able to be up again.

PASTOR'S WIFE ILL

As a cruel aftermath to a happy festive season, came a siege of pneumonia for Dr. Wilkerson's wife. Dr. and Mrs. Wilkerson had spent the holidays with relatives in South Alabama and were ready for their return home when Mrs. Wilkerson's condition forbade her making the trip. Dr. Wilkerson returned alone leaving Mrs. Wilkerson at her mother's home. The patient is now convalescent and it is hoped that she will soon be enabled to return home.

PEOPLES SAVINGS BANK OFFICIALS IN MEETING

Stockholders of the Peoples Saving Bank held their annual meeting on Monday last, when all the old official were re-elected. A nice dividend of $12.00 per share was announced to the stockholders and all the balance of the past years' earnings was passed to the acount of undivided profits.

In conversation with President F J. Callen of the Peoples Bank yesterday, he stated to The News man that the institution is now entering upon its twenty-fifth year and that the shareholders had never been assessed a penny. "Stock in the Peoples Savings Bank," stated Mr. Callen, "is owned exclusively by local people, and we are all proud of the succesh attained the past year, not only, but we are gratified at the prospects for the future."

Chilton County News advertising is a dividend payer.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Saturday marked the thirteenth birthday for Janice, a winsome daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Danforth.

A number of friends bearing gifts in commemoration of the occasion came in the afternoon and assisted in making merry over the event.

Popular games were played and the afternoon hours were quickly passed Misses Erin and Mildred Danforth served a pretty dessert course to their sister's guests.

VOLUME 5 — CLANTON, ALABAMA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1926 — NO. 19

MAKING FARM RECORDS TALK

By D. M. OTIS
Agricultural Director,
American Bankers Association.

Any one who has driven an automobile in a new country knows the value of a good road map. Farm accounts, properly kept, are a reliable road map to aid the farmer in directing the business management of his farm.

D. M. Otis

In farming communities where records have been kept in considerable number it is not uncommon to find differences in net income of $1,000 per farm between the average and the poorer farms of the community. It is also frequently found that there is a difference of over $1,000 between the average farm and a few of the better farms of the community. These differences of from $1,000 to $2,000 per farm in the net income are of vital concern to any farm in any community.

Where to Get the Facts

Farm records and inventories will reveal the reasons for these differences. The various colleges of agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture have a collection of records and farm management surveys from which they find it possible to construct standards or guides showing actual attainments under good systems of management. Figures of this kind are available to county agents and farmers who desire to use them. It is also possible to organize farm accounting groups in a community and with the help of the College of Agriculture to develop community standards showing what the average and what the better farms are doing. These standards or examples of what the more successful farms are doing, when handled in such a way as not to divulge the identity of the owners, are a wonderful help in pointing out to the less successful farmers the weak spots in the business management of their farms.

How to Use the Facts

The farmer who keeps a careful record of the factors relating to the business management of his farm is in position to compare his farm with the average and with the best in the volume of business, as number of acres, total investment, number of cows, total receipts and total expenses. He can check on his diversity of income by comparing his income from sale of cows sale of livestock, livestock products and sales from miscellaneous sources. His quality of business can be studied by comparing such items as income per acre or income per cow, etc.

By such a process the farmer is in position to make his records talk to him and point out the weak and the strong features in his farm operation. There is no tax that we pay today that compares with the tax we pay for our ignorance. This is true on the farm as elsewhere. Farm records, including inventories from which it is easy to form financial statements, will do wonders in reducing the tax of ignorance and placing farm business on a business basis and inspire confidence in the farmer, himself and with all those with whom he deals.

BANKERS HELP

Minnesota bankers played a constructive part in boosting the attendance at the Northwest Dairy Exposition held in connection with the State Fair in September. Five hundred members of the Minnesota Bankers Association received letters from the chairman of the agricultural committee, asking them to assist in forming delegations from their respective communities to attend the show.

The Atlanta, Ga., Clearing House gives the boll weevil no rest. In an effort to effect a concerted and statewide poison war on the boll weevil, this institution sent letters recently to all the bankers in the state asking that they assist in emphasizing the need for a wholesale war on the pest. According to a recent survey poisoning is being done on the larger farms, but not to any appreciable extent on the small farms. According to reports by the Department of Agriculture, the boll weevil infestation is heavier this year than ever before, and if allowed to go unchallenged the crop will be destroyed. Immediate and extensive action is urged.

Dr. Wilkerson returned from Whatley on Monday. Mrs. Wilkerson, who is convalescing from pneumonia, returned with her husband.

Mrs. C. E. Whitney of Bloomington, Ill., is an interesting guest of Hotel Wilson.

Eggs Carry Well in Good Packing

Series of Tests Made to Show Efficiency Under Commercial Conditions.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The economy of careful packing of eggs has been demonstrated in a series of shipments to test the comparative efficiency under commercial conditions of eight different methods of packing eggs in cases and two methods of buffing the cases in the cars. The eggs carried through to market with comparatively little damage.

The tests were made recently under the auspices of the interrelations committee, representing egg case and filler manufacturers, shippers, railway and express companies and receivers in co-operation with the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

Different Methods.

The eight different methods of packing used were as follows:

1. Standard case, standard fillers and flats, four excelsior pads.
2. Standard case, standard fillers and flats, six excelsior pads.
3. Cut down three-eighths inch less in depth than standard, standard fillers and flats, four excelsior pads.
4. Standard case, standard flats, fillers one-eighth inch deeper than standard, four excelsior pads.
5. Standard case, standard fillers and flats, cup flats top and bottom.
6. Standard case, standard fillers, cup flats throughout.
7. Cut down case, standard fillers, embossed flats, four excelsior pads.
8. Standard case, standard fillers, embossed flats, cup flats top and bottom.

Six different shipments of two cars each were made. The different shipments moved from Enid, Okla., to Boston; from Wichita, Kans., to East St. Louis; from Hutchinson, Kans., to East St. Louis; from Clarinda, Iowa, to Chicago; from Columbus, Neb., to Washington, and from Marion, Ind., to Jersey City. Each car was loaded with an equal number of the eight different packs, one car in each shipment being braced with wood and the other buffed with baled straw or hay. The eggs were packed in the cases by employees of Swift & Co. at their plants located at the various shipping points.

Two cases of each pack, in each car, were thoroughly candled and inspected to determine the number of damaged eggs at shipping point and again at destination in order to ascertain the damage occurring in transit. Impact recording instruments were placed in each car to secure a record of the shocks to which the eggs were subjected during shipment.

Damage in Transit.

The damage occurring during transit was reduced to terms of the average money loss per case. On this basis the results show that for all shipments there was a slight, but hardly significant, advantage in favor of the straw and hay-buffed cars over the wood-braced cars. The average loss in the former was 1.49 cents and in the latter 1.82 cents.

The various packs, all shipments considered, ranked as follows in terms of average money loss per case: Pack 6, 0.94 cent; pack 7, 1.22 cents; pack 2, 1.49 cents; pack 4, 1.55 cents; pack 8, 1.62 cents; pack 5, 1.88 cents; pack, 1, 2.9 cents and pack 3, 2.46 cents.

A mimeographed report entitled "Comparative Efficiency of Various Methods of Packing, Loading and Bracing Eggs" has been issued which describes the tests and gives the data secured in detail. Copies of this report may be obtained on application to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Cover to Protect Grape Vines in Cold Weather

Young grape vines should be pruned as soon as the leaves are off and then covered to protect them from extreme cold weather and drying winds which quite often cause winter killing.

Plants set out last spring are usually pruned heavily, leaving but one cane and this from three to four buds long. These small plants are protected by molding about six inches of dirt over them. Two-year-old plants are cut to one vigorous cane from three to five inches long. If the one-year plants have two or three vigorous canes, they may be pruned the same as the two-year-old vines. Vines older than two years may be pruned to a definite system, the Kniffen system being one of the most popular.

In following this system, the trunk is trained to the upper wire of the trellis. The fruitage cane arises from this trunk. These canes are light in color as compared with the old wood, and the bark is smooth. From four to six of these canes are chosen to produce the next year's crop.

L. O. Vickers and Evans Langston, two substantial citizens of Thorsby, dropped in to see The News Monday.

Job Had Nothing On Us.

We have often reflected in a sympathetic way with our old friend of Biblical history, Job. But after all that history does not record any of his experiences with a balky typesetting machine so, comparatively, he got off light.

That constitutes one of our principal troubles today, and answers the question as to why we are late with this issue. We have labored both day and night through the past week in our efforts to get out a neat, clean acceptable paper in The News, and it seems that almost every jinx so far catalogued has taken a crack at that effort—in a mechanical way, we mean.

So far as news goes, of course, this issue doesn't count. Just please don't "rub it in," friends; for we are suffering enough to please even the most fastidious. But "there's a better day acoming," we believe, when we can all have more pride in our paper. We deeply appreciate the patience and co-operation shown us and hope to merit your continued confidence.

Hubert Forsakes Gridiron To Tackle Insurance Game

FOOLEY HUBERT

Hero of the East and West game at Pasadena and regarded as the greatest Alabama quarterback of all time. Hubert has entered commercial life now as the representative of an Alabama insurance company.

"Pooley" Hubert, All-American halfback, acclaimed by University of Alabama alumni as the greatest athlete ever turned out at the state university is now hitting the line hard in the business world as agent of the Alabama National

"Papa Pooley" Hubert signalized his entry into the business world by selling a half a dozen life insurance policies his first day in Birmingham. He says that he is going to play the game of business just as hard as he has played football in a crimson jersey for the past four years.

As agent of the Alabama National Life Insurance Company, "Papa" Hubert still regards himself as playing on the home team, because he is selling insurance for a strictly Alabama institution which is investing all its funds in Alabama, and is officered and directed by Alabama business men.

Officials of the Alabama National Life Insurance Company say that Hubert is proving the contention of Joseh Wallace Wade, of the University of Alabama that athletic training and discipline are great aids to success in business.

Hubert was introduced to alumni of the University of Alabama at an informal luncheon held this week, at which the details or the now historic contest in Pasadena, California, were modestly reviewed by Mr. Hubert and expanded by alumni who made the trip west with the Alabama football team.

Chemicals Becoming Important for Soil

Commercial Fertilizers Are Meeting With Favor.

Truck growers, nurserymen, and greenhouse men are finding it more and more difficult to obtain the required amount of stable manure, and are wanting to know what can be used as a substitute.

No undue concern over the situation is necessary, explains A. W. Blair, associate soil chemist at the New Jersey agricultural experiment station, for it must be remembered that there is no special virtue in the nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash contained in manure. Indeed, as they exist in manure these constituents are more slowly available than when supplied in the form of commercial fertilizers. The nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash contained in manure may be supplied in the form of commercial fertilizers with much less expense and in a more available condition.

On the other hand, the organic matter equivalent of the manure cannot easily be supplied in the form of commercial fertilizers. In the last analysis it is this organic matter that makes the manure so valuable, but in some cases the price has become almost prohibitive. Experiments in vegetable growing at the Rhode Island experiment station have shown that with 16 tons of manure and about 1,000 to 1,500 pounds of a good commercial fertilizer per acre, the yields of vegetables were equal to the yields obtained when 32 tons of manure alone were used.

In a rotation modified to include rye grass and clover as green manure, the yields of all crops, with 16 tons of manure, compared favorably with those where 32 tons of manure were used in the unmodified rotation. Even when the manure was reduced to 8 tons per acre, in combination with fertilizers, in the modified rotation containing green manures, the yields of beets, spinach, and carrots were maintained.

When comparing stable manure with green manure supplemented with commercial fertilizers, the losses incurred due to the shrinkage and handling of the manure are not to be overlooked.

If in vegetable growing the manure application can be reduced from 32 to 16 tons per acre by the use of green manures supplemented by about 1,000 to 1,500 pounds of commercial fertilizers, why spend the extra $50 or $100 for manure.

Thinning Improves the Farm Woodlot

Winter Is Season to Get Out Defective Trees.

Nearly every farm woodlot can be improved by the removal of dead, dying and defective trees, and some of the less valuable kinds as well. The foresters at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca make this statement and say that this work can best be done in the winter months when other work is slack. Winter is also the best season of the year at which to cut timber, since those species which sprout naturally from the stump will do so vigorously in the spring. The work of chopping and handling logs likewise is much easier in winter.

The way to go about making these cuttings follows: First, remove all dead and dying trees, or those which are suffering from disease or insect attack. Second, remove those which are crooked and defective, or which may be hindering the growth of others more valuable.

It should, of course, be kept in mind that the stand of trees is not opened up to such an extent that grass and weeds will grow where young trees should be growing. In other words, the "crown cover" should be kept so that about one-half shade will be provided. Nearly all species of trees will reproduce naturally without special effort, and a second crop should be obtained without any difficulty.

In the case of failure from this source, it is possible to plant young nursery trees to take the place of those cut.

If there is no local market for the material removed from the woodlot, it is always possible to convert it into firewood with a small portable buzz saw. Cordwood has been commanding a good price in nearly all parts of the country this year.

The college of agriculture will be glad to send bulletins describing in more detail the work of thinning.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HOW TO LEAVE AN ESTATE

"Do you know, Aunty," said Helen, as she accepted a cup of tea from Aunt Emmy, "I feel terribly sorry for Mrs. Strong."

"Yes," agreed Aunt Emmy, "it will be hard for her. She is such a dependent, helpless, little thing."

"Oh, I don't mean that," interrupted Helen. "Her feelings are so hurt because, as she says, her husband publicly insulted her by not making her executrix and trustee of his estate."

"Good gracious, child, did she say that!" exclaimed Aunt Emmy, setting her cup down with a bang.

"Yes, she did, Aunty," said Helen, enjoying the sensation she had made and determined to make the most of it, "and I'm sure I agree with her. The idea of that old man appointing a trust company to look after Mrs. Strong's money. It isn't as though there wasn't plenty of it. The Strongs are the richest people in town, I guess."

"Well, for mercy's sakes!" cried Aunt Emmy, disgust in every syllable, "if it don't beat all! You are as big a fool as she is then!"

"What do you mean, Aunt Emmy?" asked Helen with dignity. "I think it nothing short of disgraceful for a man to show that he has no confidence in his wife by putting his money in strangers' hands to be doled out to her as they see fit."

"You never thought that up, Helen," said Aunt Emmy, "that's Mrs. Strong. She always talks as though she was living in a story book, poor, silly, little thing."

Helen blushed and Aunt Emmy went on—"Do you know what it means to administer an estate, especially a big one like Mr. Strong's?"

"Why, no," stammered Helen, "but it must be simple."

Aunt Emmy sniffed. "Simple! Let me tell you a little about it. When a man dies the things he owns cease for a time to be anybody's property and become his estate. The property passes from his control on his death naturally, and as his estate it is controlled and supervised by the Court which will be in charge of the estate for many months probably. First this Court finds out whether or not there is a will and if the will is valid. Then it must find out about the executor. If the will is properly drawn and valid, it will be 'admitted to probate.' The persons who witnessed it must be found and examined.

"The executor must satisfy the Court as to fitness and willingness to perform the many arduous duties involved. Perhaps he will have to furnish a bond, to assure the Court of his financial responsibility. He must assemble all the so-called assets, have them valued and file an inventory and appraisal of them with the Court. All the debts against the estate must be collected. The settlement of all claims against persons and corporations is a job no one without a thorough knowledge of business can undertake.

"In an estate like Mr. Strong's there is sure to be a certain amount of financial negotiation that demands banking knowledge. Then the executor must pay claims against the estate in the order of precedence laid down by law. Also you know state inheritance and federal estate taxes must be met promptly. Finally, after the estate is settled as to claims it has and claims against it, the executor must see that the various bequests are made."

"Oh, Aunty, don't tell me any more. I never thought that there were so many complicated things to be done. Poor Mrs. Strong never knew a thing about business."

"Mr. Strong knew that," remarked Aunt Emmy dryly, "and don't you suppose he had his children in mind, too? He wanted his estate handled so that the children and Mrs. Strong would be protected and assured of a good, comfortable living all their lives, with something to go on to the grandchildren. Even if Mrs. Strong were a business woman, no one could tell how long she would live to administer the estate. He knew that the trust company would not die, nor lose its faculties, nor be influenced by personal feeling so that it might be unjust to some one, and that it represents some of the best business and banking judgment in town."

"Well, I guess old man Strong knew what he was doing!" said Helen.—Anne B. Aymes.

GIVES GLAD HAND TO OLD FRIENDS.

Many friends throughout Chilton county will note with pleasure that Robert E. Sessions, former principal of our grammar school, passed thru Clanton a few days ago. Mr. Sessions was en route to his home in Birmingham. He arrived via the bus, gave the glad hand to every friend he could reach during his brief stay, and boarded the northbound train for his home

It was about twenty years ago when Mr. Session tanght in our grammar school. Shortly thereafter he became married to his prmary teacner, whom many will remember as Miss Lula Strickland. He was an unqualified success as an instructor in our public schools

It will be reca lled that a few mnths ago Robert, junior, won in a nation-wide oatorical contest. The contest was staged in Washington, D. C. The monetary reward was large, but of a greater advantage was the staunch friends the boy made while on the trip. Robert, junior, according to his father, is now in Arizona the guest of Mr. McAdoo, the late President Wilson's son-in-law.

IF A Railroad Prospers It Is Because It Has Helped Its Territory To Prosper

This bulletin is quoted practically verbatim from a recent advertisement published by the Western Electric Company. It is built around facts and tells its message in a way which should interest you:

"Railroad ties! Stretching far and wide, they help to tie the nation in closer bonds.

Florida gets its daily bread from Western wheat fields; Oregon woodsmen keep warm with Massachusetts woolens, and Southern cotton—delivered by rail: the Iowa wheat belt seeks shelter under Oregon and Alabama lumber—brought across the country by rail; the Maine trapper sweetens his coffee with Louisiana sugar—transported by rail; the smokers of the nation fill their pipes with Kentucky and Tennessee-grown tobaccos—transported by rail.

This is more than a job of fetching and carrying. It is a process that changes sectional wealth into national welfare. It is a work that intimately links the well-being of the people with the well-being of the railroads—for if a railroad prospers it is because that railroad has helped its territory to prosper.

Observe how this works out. The railroad in good financial condition is able to attract capital for improving its facilities. Then more freight can be handled. Crops can be moved faster. Business in general speeds up. Everybody benefits. For adequate transportation is essential to national prosperity.

It comes down to this. Now that many of the roads are beginning to earn a fair return, let us recognize that this is a good thing for the nation at large, because their financial soundness will enable them to render a satisfactory service today and to build for our growing transportation needs of tomorrow."

It is an interesting and significant fact that the territory served by the "Old Reliable" Louisville & Nashville Railroad has continuously grown solidly and substantially, during the ... century ... road ... freight and passenger service, and in addition, is constant ... fare of the ... national advert... in newspapers, magazines, farm journals, booklets, etc. ... the ... ter...

Color Grader Been Devised for Honey

Sample Readily Assigned to Given Grade.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In the marketing of honey the flavor and color must be described to the purchaser in terms which shall conform to the standards set up by the bureau of agricultural economics with regard to honey grades. The flavor is commonly indicated by naming the plant source, as "White Orange honey" or "Light Amber Clover honey." There has been considerable difficulty, however, in establishing standard grades corresponding to the trade color names for honey, but work on this problem by the bee culture laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture has led to the perfection of a grader by means of which different persons readily assign a given sample to the same grade. This grader overcomes many of the objections to other types of graders heretofore used and, while more expensive, is considered better.

The five standard grades of color are as follows: Water white, white, light amber, amber, and dark. These are the terms at present commonly used in the sale of honey. In response to the demand from western beekeepers for further subdivisions of the lighter grades, two additional grades are established as subdivisions of the white and light amber grades, these to be designated as extra white and extra light amber.

Further information about the color grader will be furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture to anyone interested.

The Birmingham News of Sunday last carried in its rotogravure section an excellent likeness of "Clanton's Songbird," Miss Roberta Curry. As is well known by her friends, Miss Curry went to New York three years ago, where she has made an enviable reputation on the stage, and is now in the cast of "Dearest Enemy."

After a delightful visit to her daughter, Mrs. Greer, of Florida, Mrs. Felix Woodyard has returned home.

VOLUMN 5. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1926. NO. 20.

Cow Works Three Months to Give Year's Milk for One Person

NINETY days of hard labor on the part of the average dairy cow will keep one person in milk for a year, according to the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. At least, it takes three months for her to turn out the 1,004 pounds of milk necessary to provide the fluid and canned milk, cheese, butter and ice cream consumed per capita per year.

While this fact may be merely interesting to the person consuming the milk, it is of vital importance to the dairyman who depends upon this milk for a living. For while the 4,000 pounds of milk produced by the average cow in a year will meet the requirements of a family of four persons, by the time one has figured up the cost of the feed that has gone into the production, there really isn't very much left. The only way to permanently increase the income per cow is by greater milk production per unit, government figures showing that when a cow's milk yield is doubled the profit is tripled, and when the yield is tripled the profit is increased almost five-fold. Experiments have proven that it is entirely possible by better feeding and management to increase the milk yield of the average cow to a point where three cows could supply four families with milk. To do this, however, the hocus-pocus feeding so commonly practiced on many dairy farms will have to give way to more scientific methods. Comfortable quarters for the cows, an abundance of fresh water at all times, a plentiful supply of good hay, and a properly balanced grain ration are some of the things that go far toward securing greater profit per cow.

NEARLY FIFTEEN HUNDRED CONVICTS ARE FREED.

Governor Brandon Sets 1,457 Convicts Free In Three Years.

A Montgomery dispatch says that Governor Brandon has granted more than one thousand and four hundred paroles and pardons during the three years of his administration, as are shown by figures compiled from the records in the office of the secretary of state.

During the first year 378 paroles and pardons were granted; during the second year 521 and for the third year, ending January 14, 1926, 558, making a total for the three-year period of 1,457.

Of the 558 cases in the year just closed 521 represented paroles and 37 full pardons. The pardons represent complete expiation of the crime anh a restoration oof the civil and political rights of the beneficiary.

More paroles have been issued to prohibition law violators than to any other clas of offenders; of the 521 paroles granted during the twelve months ending January 14, 1926, 249, or about 48 per cent, went to persons who had been convicted of distilling, possessing a still or some other form of prohibition law violation. There were also nine ful pardons granted to prohibition law violators during the year.

During the three-year period Governor Brandon commuted to life imprisonment eleven death sentences; seven during his first year, one in the second year and three for the third year.

During his first year in office Governor Brandon revoked 25 paroles, which had been granted to convicts during good behavior; during the second year 24, annd for the third year 53, making a total of 101 for the three-year period.

PASTOR HAS A BIBLE PRINTED IN 1521.

Printed in Latin and Said to Be In Good State of Reading.

Centralia, Wash., Feb. 1.—A Bible printed in Germany in 1521, is owned by the Rev. J. M. Canse, pastor of the First Methodist church here.

The text is entirely in Latin and on the title page is the inscription, "L' Coelii Lactanll." Beneath it is a list of chapters. At the end of the volume is a notation, "Basisles, Apvd Andream, Cratandrivm, Mense Febry arit, Anno MDXXI."

The volume, stil in good state of preservation, was in a consignment of books brought from two old Catholic monasteries in Europe and was purchased by Rev. Mr. Canse in Fort Wayne, Ind., 20 years ago.

PLEASANT GROVE CHURCH.

Owing to unfavorable weather conditions and the large number of sick people, services at this place was poorly attended Sunday. In spite of all this we had a very good service and made plans for the future which we believe will bear fruit to a greater and nobler church at this place Among the most interesting of our plans are three special services. There is to be a special service for young men and boys of the church and community, together with others from other communities that may come.

Tere will also be a special service for young women and girls and one for the fathers and mothers. The purpoes of these meetings is to bring certain important questions before the young people and the fathers and mothers. Suitable speakers will be on hand at each of these services and it is hoped that they will be largely attended. Watch for the announcement of the date for these meetings.

We are very sorry to say that there are several sick people at present. Among them are Sisters Davewood Freeman, Mattie Childress, Minerva Waldrop and Brother Price. We pray that they may have a speedy return to health and be able again to assume their acustomed places.

Everybody is corrdially invitte to Eferybody is cordially invited to comeand worship with us on the 4th Saturday. Sunday and Sunday night and at Sunday school every Sunday morning.

B. F.DYKES, Pastor.

NEVINS—STROUD.

A Gretna Green affair was staged on Friday morning when Herbert Stroud of Birmingham induced Miss Aileen Nefens to accompany him to Columbiana, where they were happily married. Mr. and Mrs. Stroud returned to Clanton in the afternoon, were forgiven by the parents, spent the week end as guests and left for their future home in Birmingham on Sunday afternoon.

The News joins many friends in extending best wishes to Mr and Mrs. Stroud upon this felicitous occasion.

ONE THOUSAND PAIRS QUAIL TO BE RELEASED

Will Be Given By Game Department of State for Bird Preserves.

Montgomery, Feb. 2.—One thousand pair of quail will be released in the state during the latter part of February by the department of game an dfisheries, it was learned at the office of Commissioner I. T. Quinn of the department of game and fisheries.

"These birds," stated Mr. Quinn, will be placed in the hands of local organizations of the state to be placed by them in suitable covers where there is a scarcity of quail.

"The department has realized for several years that the first step in wild life conservation is adequate means of protecting such resources, and while the warden forces which I have under my direction is wholly inadequate to give that protection from the onslaught of man and vermin, through the splendid co-operation of other interested citizens of the state our small but efficient squad of wardes have done wonderfully well."

TOURISTS ARE WARNED OF DETOUR NEAR CITY.

Montgomery-Bound Autoists Told To Watch for Detour.

The state highway department on Tuesday issued warning to all motorists between Montgomery and Birmingham to folow the state highway signs at the detour near Clanton. This detour of 16 miles starts one-half mile below Clanton, turning to the right and going west for eight miles to the Enterprise school. There it turns southeast back into the state highway at Verbena.

According to Leroy P. Hill, secretary of the Alabama Motorists association, through whom the warning was issued here, the detour is plainly marked and should be followed to avoid trouble. The detour will be necessary until about February 5, states W. P. Butler, division engineer in charge of maintainance, while paving is going on between Clanton and Coopers.

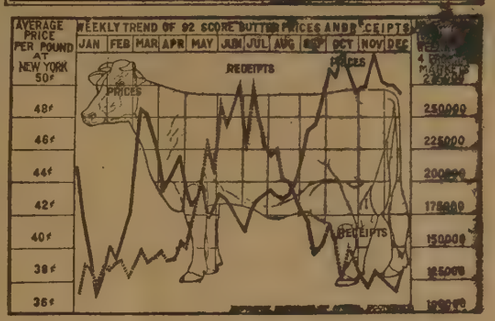
BOY RUNS AWAY FROM HOME.

Monday night, about 12 o'clock, as Night Marshal Curlee was making his round he met near Dief's Filling Station a young boy 14 years old, who was cold and fagged out from his long walk. Mr. Curlee, realizing the situation, took the boy before the Mayor and after a thorough drilling the boy confessed that he had run away from his home in Chicago. He was placed in the county jail until the authorities could get in touch with his parents.

In response to a telegram sent from Clanton the distressed mother wired money for a ticket home and thanked Mr. Curlee for his kindly interest in the matter.. The lad was put on train No. 2 Wednesday and sent home. Between sobs he promised that he would never run away again.

Many friends will regret to know that Mr. Elmore is suffering from general indisposition, and was bedridden during a part of last week.

Prosperous Dairy Year Shown by Butter Prices



THE 1925 butter market reveals a prosperous condition in the dairy industry, according to the year-end agricultural review of the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. Although butter production during the nine months of the past year seems to have lagged behind the corresponding period in the year previous, it was larger during the last quarter of 1925 than in the corresponding period of 1924. Beginning with October, receipts were the largest on record at this season of the year. For the year as a whole they were about 3 per cent less than in 1924.

Prices averaged higher than in 1924. The average wholesale price of 92 score creamery butter on the New York market in 1925 was approximately 45 cents a pound compared with 43 cents the year previous. Highest 1925 prices were received in October and November when weekly averages reached 52 and 51.5 cents, respectively.

JOHN J. THORNTON..... Editor.

THE EDITOR'S CHAT.

Mr. Merchant and Mr. Professional Man, we aim these little Chats just as directly at your eye and consideration as if we were writing you a personal letter under two-cent postage. Don't compel us to lose our amunition. As we have told you before, we invite your patronage, and will thank you for the time in which to tell you upon what basis it is solicited. Of course, the fundamental basis is Service.

Let us say here that we have labored zealosuly and faithfully for the past thirty days—and many of the nights—in an effort to get the type and machinery of The News in good operating condition, and we believe we have nearly accomplished that purpose.

Listen, Mr. Advertiser—for here is something worth your consideration: Over ninety per cent of those on the subscription books of The News are real estate tax payers; or else of that intelligent and educated class of farming people who, while perhaps not owning their farms, do own other valuable property; or those who hold honorable and lucrative positions of various kinds. There are no floaters or fly-by-nights on our list, and we don't haave to tell you the value to you as an advertiser of getting your message before such substantial people as those into whose homes The News is a welcome visitor. They subscribe for the paper because they want to read it, and, moreover, they are able to pay for it.

Columns could be written concerning the cost of advertising as applied to The News, what you have paid for it, or what you would pay without complaining if you could get the service just as you wish it. It is unfair to both you and The News to contract for an indefinite space, "about as big as that," etc., as has been done, we understand. And figuring circulation per thousand, as compared with the printing of hand bills, the prices paid for some of these spaces "about as big as that" wouldn't feed the canary in the average job printing shop.

Let's get out of this time-worn and slipshod, as well as costly way, friends. If you are too busy to write your ad, let us do it, measure it and tell you exactly what it will cost per insertion. If you want an illustration in it, we have them, and insert them in your ads free of any extra cost to you; or perhaps you have your own cuts, which is the same. In this way you and The News both know what we are doing, and all guess-work is eliminated.

The News will charge a fair and reasonable price for advertising and job printing, figuring into it a small profit above cost to us, just as the dry goods man, the druggist, the hardware man, etc., add a small profit to their wares. For our space is just as much a part of our stock in trade as clothing on the counters of the merchant. We must admit that the prevailing advertising rates of The News are ridiculously low, circulation alone being considered. How or why they got this way is another story.

Give us your advertising and job printing, friends, with the assurance that if it is an ad, it will be printed neatly and intelligently and that it will reach the firesides of the best class of Chilton county citizenship; or that, if commercial printing it will be printed correctly and at the most reasonable prices.

Come to see us, and let's talk it over.

THE EDITOR.

Clanton is now one of the prettiest neatest and cleanest little cities to be found anywhere in the country, and worlds of favorable comment has been made about it by tourists and others traveling this way. Let's get hooked up with the Advertising Alabama campaign and let the world know what we have

News dispatches say that Nebraska has just shipped 54 carloads of seed Irish potatoes to the South for spring planting, their cost being $140,000. Alabama is sure to get its share of the shipment, of course. But why not raise our own seed?

The "good old days" were those in which Neighbor Brown could borrow $100 from Neighbor Smith without being hog-tied with collateral notes as security. It should be remembered that those were the "honest days" also.

The season is now in full blast when it is almost a daily occurence somewhere over the country that someone is fatally or seriously burned when their clothing is ignited from the open grate. Reports state that more than 250 people were burned to death in Alabama alone last year, a majority of whom received their injuries from open grates at their homes. Rural people, although not immune from danger, have an advantage in this respect because the big open fireplace when "steamed up" will not permit one to stand close on acount of the excessive heat. Small wood or coal grates are dangerous, especially for ladies and children, whose dresses are so easily fanned into the flame.. The grate screen is the life saver in such instances, and every fireplace should be equipped with one.

The people are not "disgusted with prohibition,' as has been said, but they are rather skeptical as to the methods now practiced in some quarters in enforcing that law. So much rottenness has developed among those higher up, who have been entrusted with authority for enforcing the law; so many big bootleggers making millions out of the traffic, with rare sentences, if caught, and then a pardon almost before the jail doors close upon him, while the little fellow, the half pint victim, must pay a fine and perhaps serve out his sentence; men, women and boys being shot and killed, not only at stills, but while driving the highways by careless and irresponsible deputies—these and many other similar things have served to knock the wire edge off of many otherwise consistent prohis insofar as their former estimates of the law's enforcement provisions are concerned.

Congratulations to the Birmingham Post upon its fifth birthday, when it has added nearly fifty thousand subscribers to its list.. Evidently a field for it, else it would not bt there today.

Giving a woman driver plentty of roadway is not only polite, but an act of good judgment in furthering the theory of self-preservation.

Mrs. R. C. Walker of Birmingham and her sister, Miss Jean Gardner of Verbena, spent a couple of days with their relatives, Mrs. Williams and Miss Bettie Morris Gardner, leaving on Tuesday morning for Miss Gardner's home in Verbena.

AVERY Chilled Plows

A Century of Experience

BEHIND every Avery Chilled Plow and every Avery plow repair part is a century of plow-building experience. B. F. Avery designed and built the first Avery plow in 1825, nearly a century ago. Every worth-while plow improvement since that time is included in the Avery Chilled Plow of today. In addition are many exclusive advantages found only in the Avery. Avery plows are built in the finest, most scientific and most modern plow plant in the world. Every Avery repair part is exactly like every other similar part and always fits and always will fit every Avery plow of same size no matter when built or how long in use. The Avery guarantee, shown above, is our written contract and pledge of satisfaction to every buyer and user. The famous Avery "lock that locks," and the accurate-fitting parts cannot work loose and seldom break. Many thousands of Avery users are enjoying perfect satisfaction with the Avery wherever chilled plows are used. Come in any day and let us give you a complete demonstration.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Letcher of Plantersville spent Sunday as guests of Mrs. Bama Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jones and Kenneth Danforth motored to Birmingham and spent Sunday.

Mrs. Clarence Foley and little daughter, Sophie Marie are spending the week with Mrs. Grady Taylor.

Mrs.. G. L. Philips has returned home from Birmingham, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Higgins of Elbi are receiving congratulations over the arrival on Friday of a daughter.

Mrs. Renfro Jones and Thos. Parrish, acompanied by their wives, motored to Birmingham and spent Sunday.

Charles Seibert of Ensley has gotten to be a frequent visitor to Clanton. Must be some attraction down this way.

Friends will be glad to note that Mrs.. Mollie Goodgamerl after a siege of pneumonia is able to be out again.

Robert Penter preceded his parents to Birmingham, where he ras been visiting until their removal to the magic city

Rucker Simms, student of A. P. I., Auburn, after a week-end visit home, left for Auburn via Montgomery Sunday afternoon.

John Mullins of the class of 1926, U. of A., Tuscaloosa, spent the past week at home, leaving on Sunday afternoon to continue his course of study.

On account of absence of Dr. Edell, who officiated at a funeral, the Baptist pulpit was ably filled on Sunday morning by Judge S. M. Adams.

It will be of interest to friends of the Heflin family to know that they have moved into the bungalow adjacent to W. A. Reynolds' home.

Joseph Mullins after spending a strenuous season in passing midterm examinations, came home on Sunday afternoon to relax for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds and their daughter, Miss Willodene, motored to Birmingham and spent Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Hughes Kennedy, junior, and her manly young son, Hughes, third, after a protracted and thoroughly enjoyable visit to her home folks, the Pines family, returned to her home in Birmingham Saturday morning.

George Mann and Edmund Lakeman, high school students, domiciled with Mrs Clyde Jones, were confined to her room on acount of colds during the first of the week.

Miss Annie Cox of Woman's college, a cousin of Miss Reynolds, spent the week-end with her colleague in Clanton. The pair of charming lassies shared their time with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fox.

Joe Hall, son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur thur Johnson, after an illness that narrowly missed pneumonia, is able to be out again and it is hoped, quoting the inimitable youngster's own words in reference to another case of his father's, "he will soon be as good as new."

A party, consisting of Misses Marzelle and Kathleen Mullins, Messrs. Gwyn Mullins and Rucker Simms, motored down to Montgomery Sunday afternoon. Mr. Simms continued this way to Auburn and Miss Kathleen Mullins will pay a brief visit to her Montgmery relatives.

Mrs. W. A. Jones of West Blocton came down with the West Blocton basket ball team when they played against Verbena Friday afternoon. Mrs. Jones spent the week-end visiting in Verbena and Clanton, Mrs. Herman Eubanks being her happy Clanton hostess.

Many friends of W. W. Fox will be glad to note that after a trying siege of weakening illness he is now in state of improvement. The wish is entertained by a legion of friends that the return of the patient's strength will be hastened and that h will be speedily restored to his normal condition.

Dr. and Mrs. Upchurch, Mr.. and Mrs. Jno. T. Ellis and Mrs. Mell Martin have returned home from a most delightful fortnight's tour of Florida. The party visited Miamii, Tampa and other interesting points of the state, returning home vi DeLand, where they visited Miss Della Lathem, who is director of music in Stetson university..

Thomas Simms of the U. S. navy, who for some time has been stationed in Norfolk, Va., after a ten days' visit to his home folks, has returned to his duties. Mr. Simms went via Newton, Ga., where he visited grandmother. Mr. Simms leaves shortly for Panama City on the Panama canal, where he will probably for some time be stationed.

Miss Willodene Reynolds, who is pursuing a prescribed course of study in Woman's college, took advantage of exemption from midterm examinations and spent last week at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Roberts of Miami arrived Sunday evening for a visit to the home folks. Mr. and Roberts came by motor and made the trip of about 800 miles in two days.

Ex-Gov. Opens His Campaign for Senate

In Speech At Dothan He Pays His Respects To His Opponents In Characteristic Way

KILBY CONDEMNS LEASING SYSTEM

Says Every Promise Kept By Him When Governor

Thomas E. Kilby, former governor of Alabama, opened his campaign for U. S. senator in a characteristic way at Dothan on Saturday last. He gave a record of his services as governor and in other official positions. He told of his views on major issues now before the people of the United States. He mentioned his opponents by name and devoted such time to them as in his opinion their positions in the campaign warranted.

He went into details regarding his administration as governor which came to an end in January, 1923. He said every promise made to the people was kept and that his platform was written into law. He declared that he refused every cnmpaiga contribution tendered to him while he was a candidate, that he financed his own campaign and he purposes to do the same thing in this campaign in order that he will be without political obligations.

Governor Kilby condemned the convict leasing system still maintained in Alabama mentioned that he made a start towards abolition by the construction of Kilby prison and declared that if he had known the governor that followed him would not have carried out the abolition program he would have taken the convicts from the mines and put them in other positions of employment "at all hazards."

STATE HIGHWAY NOW FINISHED

Road Completed Thursday and All Detours Cut

Saturday's Birmingham News contained a news item of great importance to the people of the Clanton territory, as well as those along the state highway, when it said:

The 104-mile stretch from Birmingham to Moontgomery now is entirely paved. Motorists traveling over this road reported the last link in the road had been completed and that now the entire way is hard-surfaced.

The construction program has been under way for several months. The road was opened to traffic Thursday.

A. B. Langley, manager of the Birmingham-Montgomery bus line, stated that all detours have been cut now by the main highway after its completion.

GIVE HIM LICENSE TO PRACTICE LAW

Defended Himself In a Case of Prohi Violation; Wor

John Nix, Ivalee farmer, is a good lawyer. Saturday he defended himself against a charge of violating the prohibition law and was acquitted, says a Gadsden dispatch.

After 19 witnesses had sworn that they saw a bottle containing a whitish liquid in his pocket and smelled whiskey on his breath he calmly asked one and all of them if they could swear that the liquid in the bottle was whiskey. They had not examined the stuff they said.

Nix immediately moved the indictment be quashed and he be discharbed for lack of evidence. Judge Woodson J. Martin informed him that he was acquitted.

ROOM FOR ONE MORE, IF YOU HAVE DOUBTS

Prisoner of Experience Says Tuscaloosa Jail Best of All

According to a news dispath from that city Tuscaloosa claims the distinction of having the "most pleasant" jail in the country, anl feels its claim is entitled to first honors, for one of the prisoners, who has had the "honor" of an extended tour, in which he learned conditions in other cities, writes it is the best jail he has ever visited..

In writing to a local paper, the inmates of Mr. Huff's hotel says: "The inmates of the Tuscaloosa county jail are the cleanest and quietest prisoners any jail has ever had. The floors are mopped twice a week and swept daily. The white men take warm baths two or three times a week and their clothig is clean. Their beds are made every morning in addition to being clean, white linen being used. This jail is very neat in every respect and the inmates are proud of it, even though they are prisoners... Where is another jail like it?"

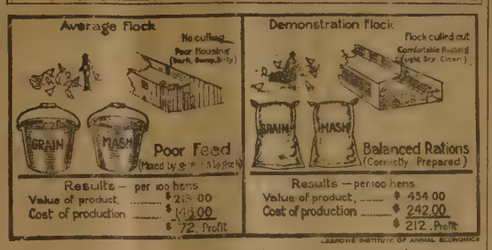
DR. JAMES' COURSE

Dr. Jaames' class of Chilton county teachers was taught in the courthouse as usual on Saturday.

Saturday's lesson completed the prescribed course of study in this science for the class.

School problems of all sorts have been solved in class; the course in its entirety was interesting and will prove beneficial to the large classes of Chilton county teachers, most of whom will feel the benefit of the course more perceptibly when they shall finally enter as students our various state institutions of learning, where credits allowed in this course will revert to their advantage..

Poultry Profits Tripled by Proper Feed, Care and Culling



UNLESS a poultryman is clearing at least two dollars for each layer in his flock every year, there is something wrong with the methods he is using, says the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. It may be a case of poor layers, poor housing or just plain poor food.

Even the best bred hen will not lay day after day unless she is fed with those elements which she must have to turn into eggs. Any hen will lay in the spring—it's her nature to do this—but if poultry keeping is to be a profitable business the hen must be induced to lay throughout the year. During the cold weather season the days are short and the fowls require additional food. Quantity of grain is important but it takes mash containing egg-making nutrients to produce eggs from Labor day to Easter.

ELECTRICITY TAKES PLACE OF THE ROPE

Electric Chair Will Be Installed at Kilby Prison

Criminals sentenced to death after February 28, 1927, in Alabama will be electrocuted at Kilby prison instead of dying on the gallows as has been the custom in this state.

This was the contents of a statement issued by Governor Brandon Saturday in which he stated that the state was making preparations for the installation of an electric chair at Kilby prison by October 1, 1926, law enacted in 1923 in the state legislature.

This was the date set by a law enacted by the state legislature in 1923 for the installation of the electric chair system.

Senator J. C. Inser of Gadsden is the author of the law abolishing the gallows and it was only after a fight had been carried on in the state legislature for ten years that it was finally passed in 1923.

When Kilby prison was planned a part was set aside for an electric chair, and it is not probable that a separate building will be built for the death house..

WASHINGTON ORDER FORBADE SWEARING

Statement That the General Cursed Proved False

"Swearing like a trooper" was discouraged by George Washington in the Revolutionary army, despite Rupert Hughes' charge that Washington used a cuss-word now and then.

A sere and yellow order just dug from war department records issued by General Washington in New York in 1776 reads:

The general is sorry to be informed that the foolish and wicked practice of profane cursing and swearing, a vice heretofore little known in an American army, is growing into fashion.

He hopes the officers will, by example as well as influence, endeavor to check it and that both they and men will reflect that we can have little hope for the blessings of heaven on our arms if we persist in impiety and folly.

Added to this it is a vice so mean and low without any temptation that every man of sense and character detests and despises it.

(Signed) Geo. Washington.

Cows Heart Pumps 21,600 Gallons of Blood Every Day

MORE than 21,000 gallons of blood—enough to fill a tank 14 feet square and 14 feet high—are pumped through the average cow's heart in twenty-four hours, according to the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. Twenty to forty seconds are required for the blood to make a complete circuit of the main circulatory system.

The railroad engine deriving its power from the coal burned in its furnace, transforms the fuel into mechanical energy, but the dairy cow not only derives all her power from the grain, hay and grass she consumes, but, further, turns these materials into blood and milk, which is made of blood. A cow does not perform miracles, and her "milk factory" will not produce abundantly unless she herself is fed plentifully on a tested grain ration, good hay and silage. This is the only sure and safe method as yet discovered by scientists to keep the milk pail filled month after month.

Another Stir Bobs Up In Prohi Circles

House Is Plunged Into One of Bitterest Prohibition Debates In Its History, Reported

DRASTIC CHANGES IN PROHI BUREAU

Administration Favors the Complete Overhauling

A Washington dispatch by the Associated Press says a complete overhauling of the federal prohibition machinery, reaching even to amendment of the Volstead act, is favored by the administration.

The first step in the administration's program was taken with the introduction of bills in the house and senate to enact a new and independent prohibition bureau in the treasury.

A second administration measure, putting all except the highest enforcement officers under civil service regulations, was reported concurrently by a house committee.

In addition it was disclosed that Secretary Mellon would recommend changes in the Volstead act to differentiate more clearly between major and minor violations

The day's developments plunged the house into one of the bitterest prohibition debates in its history, and gave a foretaste of what may come when the whole subject is opened up for discussion. The debate for a time threatened to develop into a fist fight.

The treasury sent to both house and senate its recommendations for creation of the new prohibition bureau which proposes to divorce the enforcement unit from the bureau of internal revenue and place the entire dry law machinery under the direct control of the secretary of the treasury. The bill also creates a bureau of customs to rank equally with the bureau of internal revenue and with a commissioner at its head.

TRAFFIC MISHAPS IN JANUARY 1,271

Death Toll Mounts to 233, With 12 in Alabama

January traffic in Dixie exacted toll of 233 lives lost and 1,271 persons inpured, it was shown by a consolidation of weekly traffic surveys conducted by the Associated Press. These surveys include deaths and injuries by automobile railway trains, trolley cars and motorcycle. In the survey for the week just ended also is included one death on a Georgia highway near Savannah of a man who was thrown from his horse.

The only outstanding accident of the month was the wreck of a train in Florida in which three men were killed and W. C. Durant, New York motor magnate, was injured. The remainder of the toll is what might be termed just the common run of accidents.

In Alabama 12 people lost their lives and 32 were injured in auto accidents..

LEAGUE ENTERTAINS

Friday evening the Epworth League in their quarters in the Methodist church entertained the Baptist Young People's union. The league room was artistically decorated for the happy occasion in tones of blue and white and purple and gold, symbols of the B. Y. P. U. and Epworth league, respectively.

Various games were played throughout the evening, after which the hosts served to their guests a tempting salad course.

M. R. Lancaster was a guest for a few days during the week of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Armstrong.

BIG ARMY WORKERS IS NOW EMPLOYED

Pay Roll Runs to Six Billion Dollars Monthly

A Washington special writer for the Birmingham News says: The greatest army of men and women ever to go to work under a February sun is working now throughout the United States. As 1926 began the estimated number of these workers exceeded 45,000,000, including farmers and their employes. Census figures two years ago indicated a total of about 43,000,000 persons gainfully employed at that time. More than 2,000,000 revised estimates indicate have been added to the force within two years, or an average of 1,000,000 new workers a year.

Paradoxically, employment was not at its highest mark in proportion as 1925 closed. There was no shortage of laborers.. There was some unemployment. Labor department officials say there is always voluntary idleness in the United States, they estimate the army of "floaters" men who will not work steadily, at not less than 1,000,000. That means that even in boom times there are 1,000,000 idle workmen in America, idle from choice or working only part time to meet bare living necessities. There seems to be no cure for this waste of man power.

Editor's Chat

Because of our hurry in trying to get The News out a little nearer on time this week we must omit our weekly chat with our friends, but hope to resume our talk with you next week

The thing most desirable in our efforts now is to get the equipment of The News in good, clean operating order, and while we hae devoted and while we have devoted over a month to that purpose, and while we are gradually attaining our goal, we have considerable more work to do along this line. All we ask is a "fair show;" we knew and said, that we couldn't do it all within a month, but the important part is that we CAN do it, and within the necessary time we will do it without providential interference, of course. We thank every patron and friend of the paper for their kind expressions and for their substantial support.

Good reader, look over the advertising columns of The News and bear these advertisers in mind when you come to town to trade. It is a well known fact that the advertising merchant is in better position to give you real values for your money than is the man who never advertises or even invites your patronage.

The News today is not by any means what we intend to make of it But come around to see us and let us show you at least some of the improvements to the equipment we have made.

It is indeed a gratifying item of news which comes from Birmingham to the effect that every link in the Birmingham-Montgomery highway is now completely paved, the distance covered being 104 miles. Of course, there are a few small spots along the line not yet completed, these being the places over fills, where, as we understand the paving cracked when the earth settled over culverts, was removed and must yet be replaced. It's a joy supreme" now to travel over this excellent highway—via Clanton by the way.

The News believes that the people of Alabama woull be satisfied if the state received from the labor of its convicts only an amount equivalent to the upkeep of these unfortunates. Alabama should sustain its official government from funds derived from sources other than its convict department. And the system which now forces the convict into a coal mine is not only brutal, but has been publicly condemned until the subject is threadbare.

It doesn't make any difference either to the people of the state or to the victim whether James Knox was killed while serving time as a convict by guards employed by the state or those employed by a corporation. It's that brutal system which permits the state to send its convicts into the mines which the people want abolished.

As "food for thought," how about the suggestion to convert the canning plant building into a chicken hatchery, with a ten or twelve thousand egg capacity incubator?

As The News stated in the beginning of its present management, we hope to have the friendly co-operation of just as many of the good people of Chilton and surrounding counties as possible in our attempts to give you a good representative loocal Democratic newspaper. We have had barrels of trouble in cleaning up and repairing the equipment of The News and there is yet plenty of work to be done along this line. But we are not discouraged by any means, and if the friends of the paper will grant us a little more time and be patient with our zealous efforts, we will all be rewarded later with a publication much improved over what it is today.

What has become of that long-heralded Southern chivalry which never permitted a lady to stand while traveling in a public conveyance? Mighty easy matter to take off our hats when we enter an elevator containing ladies, but giving up our seats in a crowded bus or street car appears to be a gray horse of another color.

Clanton is fortunate in many respects, one of which being that there are no town knockers here, so far as we have learned. Of course, the reason is not difficult to guess—no one can say anything against the town..

Combining two in one—that is, business with pleasure—Mrs. Orr and her gracious daughter, Miss Madelyn Orr, motored to Montgomery and spent Saturday.

Mr. Huddleston

Under the head of political announcements in today's News will be found the card of Attorney Winston Huddleston of Wetumpka. Here is what the Wetumpka Herald says about him:

Mr. Huddleston is a young attorney of brilliant promise and who has already achieved marked success. He graduated from the law school of the University of Alabama in 1923. He is a native of Elmore county, the only son of Dr.. and Mrs. R. L. Huddleston of Deatsville and was married in his senior college year to Miss Pauline Roy of Deatsville. His high school and preparatory education was obtained in the common schools of Elmore county and at Marion Military institute.

He came to Weturnpka immediately after his graduation and entered the practice of law. For a year he served as county solicitor and made a splendid record. Although only 26 years old he is a successful lawyer and most highly regarded by the Alabama bar.

Mr. Huddleston is a nephew of Judge G. H. Howard and is well known in the three counties of this circuit and has many friends who are rallying to his support in his politica l aspirations and don't hesitate to say that he will make a splendid circuit solicitor if he is the choice for this office on August 10.

The News is the only official organ of the Democratic party in Chilton county. Do you want to see it grow and prosper? Your measure of patronage gauges that answer.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEET LOCAL DEMOCRATS

Was Most Representative Ever Held

The Democratic executive committee of Chilton county met in Clanton in the parlors of the Wilson hotel on Wednesday morning last, and was the most thoroughly representative gathering ever held before, it is said.

The meeting was opened with a most earnest and patriotic prayer by Rev. C. C. Wilkerson, pastor of the Methodist church.

Arrangements for the primary election in August were made, and the time limit of April 1 was fixed for the announcement of candiates for county offices to be filled. Several other matters of importance came up for consideration and were discussed. Able and timely, though brief, addresses were made in a most interesting and enthusiastic way by Chairman Adams, Dr. Wilkerson, Rev. W. S. Cox, Col. A. C. Smith, Col. Stephens and others.

Perfect harmony prevailed at the meeting, and the spirit manifested throughout was most encouraging.

Kemp-Johnson

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Johnson of Brent, Ala., announce the engagement and the approaching marriage of their daughter, Catherine Idalette to Arthur Leon Kemp of Clanton, Ala., the date of the wedding to be announced later. Sunday's Advertiser contained the preceding announcement that will be of interest to many friends of the groom over the entire state. Mr. Kemp was reared in Clanton. The home folks extend best wishes to both parties upon this felicitous occasion.

MISS KAHLEEN MULLINS ENTERTAINS.

Crowded out last week.

Miss Kahleen Mullins entertained the Clanton card club on Wednesday afternoon. Potted plants were used to decorate the living room of the handsome home of the hostess. After playing of games had been concluded Mrs. Hugh Simpson was found to be the holder of highest score and was awarded two dainty hand made kerchiefs. The hostess served to her guests a tempting salad course with coffee.

CLANTON SEWING CLUB.

Mrs. Bama Cox, assisted by her gracious daughter, Mrs. Grady Taylor, ntertained in her hospitable home on Thursday the Clanton sewing club and other specially invited guests. Mrs. Cox's inviting home was quite prettily decorated for the occasion with handsome pot plants and a profusion of carnations and narcissus. The guests sewed on their dainty fingerwork or else indulged in various games throughout the brief hours of the day. At the noon hour Mesdames Cox and Taylor served to their guests a well-designed four course turkey inner.

Hoyt Reynolds, who is engaged in the lumber business and operates a sawmill at Millbrook, near Pratville, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs.. W. A. Reynolds.

Many friends will be glad to know that Joe Hall, the inimitable young son of Dr and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, is recovering from a bief spell of illness.

Five Gallons Paint Free.

A large paint concern in furtherance of an advertising and introductory campaign now in progress, offers to give, free of charge five gallons of its best house paint, any color, to one property owner at each post-office or on each rural oute in this county. This concern wants its paint on a house in each locality this season, which is the purpose of this remarkable offer. It also wants a local salesman in each county. Persons interested are requested to write the Kero Paint Company, Dept. 22 Louisville Ky

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

A BROTHER'S SISTER

Mimmie's brother was devoted to her even though he was eight years older than she was.

He used to let her play with him and with his friends a great deal.

It had snowed the night before. Mimmie had gone to sleep while the snowstorm had kept up steadily. It was wonderful the way it had kept on while the whole world, almost, had gone to sleep.

The last thing Mimmie had heard was the great fog horn which was just outside the harbor. The bell on the buoy which told ships where the bad rocks were had clanged steadily. For as the buoy tossed about on the waves the bell at the top of the buoy rang.

It had been a "blinding" snowstorm they had said the next day, and the ships along the coast had had a hard time of it. But with the day came sunshine, and when Mimmie awoke she thought for a moment why she felt so very happy.

It was really annoying to feel so happy and not to know just why. But in a few moments she remembered. It was a Saturday and they had planned the night before to build a snow fort if the snow didn't turn into rain during the night.

Mimmie got up and shook off some of the snow which had fallen on the big eiderdown quilt.

Her sleeping room was at the top of the house and it was very cold. Its windows looked out over the harbor and her bed was near the windows so that often patches of snow were on the quilt. But she loved it. She loved moving the hot-water bottle about so that it warmed the sheets, and sometimes when the water in the bottle had frozen down at the end of the bed she had had to leave it until she was dressed and it was melted so she could pour it out.

She went downstairs to her playroom to dress, for she only used this room for sleeping. Sometimes people didn't believe the water in a water bottle could freeze in one corner of the bed while Mimmie was quite warm in another part of it. But she had shown it to her family and they had told people it was so.

"Hurry up, Mim, we want to get started soon."

The boys—eight of them—arrived a little later, and at each end of the yard a splendid snow fort was built. In one was a little special, protected room, where Mimmie was to sit when the snow battle got too fast for her.

In this way they were not worried for fear she would be hurt, and she did not spoil their fun.

The battle was a furious one. The snowballs were large ones.

But after a time they became smaller, as they had to be made and remade after throwing, and now there was no time allowed for snowball-making.

The boys had been invited to stay for lunch, and after lunch they played for awhile with trains in the house. The rain had come and spoiled the snow. Mimmie played with the Uncle Tom's Cabin and Noah's ark which had belonged to her brother when he was young and which now they owned together.

He was too old to play with them, but they still stayed in his room, so they owned them together.

Mimmie liked big boys better than she did big girls. Big girls told her she was young for her age, which was not true. She knew that.

Big boys called her a tomboy, and that was a great compliment, she thought.

She knew that was true. Her brother had taught her to ride in the express cart so she could be dashed around corners and she could balance without letting the cart upset. All the boys thought it fine the way she could do this. And she could climb up and stand on her brother's shoulders, and when he got down on the floor she knew how to stand on his chest so as not to hurt him.

Very few, except those whose business it was to do this, knew how. She could steer a sled and turn somersaults on the bed. Her brother had taught her to do all these great things. She could vault a fence, too, and in an old tree she loved to climb he had made seats for her where she sat—high above the earth.

These were the things her brother and his friends had taught her to do. Big boys could really be so nice. Why did some children think otherwise? Because they were cry-babies, Mimmie's brother said, but Mimmie knew it was because these big boys taught but did not tease.

AVERY Chilled Plows

A Century of Experience

BEHIND every Avery Chilled Plow and every Avery plow repair part is a century of plow-building experience. B. F. Avery designed and built the first Avery plow in 1825, nearly a century ago. Every worth-while plow improvement since that time is included in the Avery Chilled Plow of today. In addition are many exclusive advantages found only in the Avery. Avery plows are built in the finest, most scientific and most modern plow plant in the world. Every Avery repair part is exactly like every other similar part and always fits and always will fit every Avery plow of same size no matter when built or how long in use. The Avery guarantee, shown above, is our written contract and pledge of satisfaction to every buyer and user. The famous Avery "lock that locks," and the accurate-fitting parts cannot work loose and seldom break. Many thousands of Avery users are enjoying perfect satisfaction with the Avery wherever chilled plows are used. Come in any day and let us give you a complete demonstration.

INTERMEDIATE SEWING SOCIETY.

Mrs. Milton Smith was hostess to the Intermediate sewing society on Thursday afternoon. Developments of pretty fingerwork to the trend of light conversation was the order of the afternoon meeting. It was decided upon this occasion to invite Mesdames Paul Ousley, Briggs Crompton and Grady Taylor to become members of the organization. The hostess served to her guests a tempting salad course with coffee.

More Than

75% of the Million Dollars

A Day Taxes Paid by the Railroads Goes to State and Local Governments

The steam transportation lines of the United States are now paying taxes at the rate of $42,000.00 every hour of the twenty-four, Sundays and Holidays included, the gigantic total of approximately $365,000,000.00 per year.

While this budget covers Federal, State, County and Municipal taxes, it is a significant fact that the welfare of the community in which you live is affected to the extent of 7½ of this great total. In other words, 7½c out of every dollar taxes paid by the railroads goes into state and local treasuries, and every time you buy a railroad ticket or ship a consignment of freight you are contributing to the development of your community and the prosperity of your state and nation.

These tax funds are used to defray the operative expenses of all branches of our Government. They are used to build roads, to operate schools and to support public institutions. For many years past the amount of money paid in taxes by the steam railroads has exceeded that paid in dividends to the owners of railroad securities.

Remember these figures and compare them with the relatively small taxes paid by the bus and truck lines, which are operating over roads built and maintained partly by railroad taxes and which are competing with the steam carriers for your patronage. Be fair to the railroads—they are affording the American people the greatest transportation service in the history of the world—and at the lowest cost.

In 1925 the L. & N. Railroad paid taxes amounting to over seven million dollars, a sum substantially greater than the dividends paid to its stockholders.

Late last Monday afternoon Dr. McPherson and his mechanic were coming from Mitchel dam and ran into Ernest Hammel and Charlie Lewis. Ernest had gotten out of the road and the sun blinded the other man. One of the men was hurt seriously and the other received slight injuries. The doctor's car was torn up badly, but Ernest's fenders were only bent.

Late Thursday afternoon Zeak Smith was pulling several stumps in his field when the cable tightened and he happened to be in the way and it hit him. He was thrown down and later it was found that one of his legs was broken and one knee cap knocked off. He is in a Montgomery hospital Two of his children are sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thornton moved to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. DeLandy went to Clanton Tuesday a shopping.

Quite a number attended the picture show at Verbena Monday night. Sunday night rained and prevented some from going.

FOR STATE SENATE.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of State Senate for the Fifteenth Senatorial District of Alabama, comprising the counties of Autauga, Chilton and Shelby, subject to the Democratic primary in August, 1926.

L. H. ELLIS.

(Paid Political Advertisement.)

WHY OUR SOUTHERN INFLUENCE LAGS.

No one who looks intelligently into politics in the South ern states can avoid amazement at the steady decline of the southerner's interest in the government under which he lives. The casual reader of political statistics may regard present conditions as not materially different from those 30 years ago.

Take the state of Texas for example. In 1896 the population of the state was about half the psesent population.

In 1926, with the population of the state doubled and the potential electorate quadrupled by reason of woman's suffrage, out of a potential electorate of 2,600,000 only 657,000 votes were cast.

In Georgia in 1896 there were 164,000 votes cast. In 1924, with a population increased by 1,000,000 and the electorate enlarged by woman suffrage, the total was 166'000. One adult out of 20 voted in 1924.

Tennessee voted 323.000 in 189 thas in 1924 although in the latte year it had 600,000 greater populatio than in 1896 with woman suffrag added.

Virginia voted 70,000 les in 1924 than in 1896 despit thelarge increase in popula tion and the expansion o

Alabama voted 30,000 less in 192 than in 1896 despite her 800,000 larg population and womaan suffrage.

BUSINESS SCHOOL

For Clanton, Alabama

The Georgia-Carolina School of Commerce

of Brunswick, Ga.—Goldsboro, N. C., is going to open a school at Clanton, providing a sufficient number are interested in taking a standard stenographic, commercial or secretarial course either in the day or night school at once.

The boy or girl starting to a commercial school should remember that the training to be secured in the school selected must be such as will meet the requirements of the business world. It is not enough to be a stenographer—It is not enough to be merely a bookkeeper—not these things but efficiency in them measures success.

Efficiency depends upon methods of instruction, kinds of text books used, the mental and moral qualities of the teachers with whom the student associates, and in addition to all this, the inspiration for thorough work, for high standards of attainment and for earnest endeavor—these intangible things are as much a part of what our school has to offer as is the course of study itself.

J. H. Owens, Representative of the school, will be at the Wilson Hotel for a few days to explain courses of study, rates of tuition and further details in which you will be interested, and determine whether there is sufficient interest in Clanton to justify placing the school here. Therefore, if you are interested in taking a course right here at home, see him at once.

COURSES OF STUDY

These are the courses of study that are being offered for reservation. They speak for themselves and need no arguing. Call or phone for details.

STENOGRAPHIC COURSE

Gregg Shorthand, Touch Typewriting, Business English, Business Correspondence, Penmanship, Spelling, Rapid Calculation, General Office practice and allied subjects.

COMMERCIAL COURSE

Bookkeeping, Banking, Business Arithmetic, Rapid Calculation, Business English, Business Correspondence, Penmanship, Spelling, General Office Practice and allied subjects.

SECRETARIAL COURSE

A complete combination of the two courses enumerated above and intended for those who wish to qualify for high-grade secretarial and executive positions.

Day and Night Sessions, individual Instructions, Diplomas, Position for graduates.

For all details of this exceptionalopportunity see or phone J. H. Owens at Wilson Hotel.

The School will open in a central location as soon as a sufficient number are enrolled.

Program Outlined for Standardization of Packages for Shipping.

A definite program for the standardization of fruit and vegetable containers to eliminate the great confusion that now exists on account of the wide variety of containers in use has been outlined by the United States Department of Agriculture.

There is conflict between local and state legislation, the department points out, due to differences in container regulation. Many states also have weight laws in conflict with one another and with the federal law. The weights are based upon heaped measure and the statutes prohibit the sale of standard baskets as bushel containers unless they contain the legal weight.

Abolish Legal Weights.

This results in unnecessary relabeling of the weight or measure, the department says. It is impracticable to weigh all perishable commodities, and states should recognize the standard bushel container when sold in the unbroken condition and should provide for the retailing of its contents by either weight or count, the department recommends. Legal weights per bushel should be abolished, the department says, so far as they apply to fruits and vegetables.

Needed federal legislation with regard to containers for fruits and vegetables, as seen by the department, include repeal of legal weight per bushel laws applying to fruits and vegetables; establishment of standard shipping containers not already standardized and the elimination of all nonessential or short-measure containers, and the standardization of containers as to volume and dimensions. Volume standardization, the department says, will result in elimination of short-measure packages, and dimensions standardization will enable the basket manufacturer to keep larger stocks, sell at lower prices, and to detect short measures.

A recent survey made by the department showed that 36 states and the District of Columbia have passed laws affecting containers for fruits and vegetables. Three other states have laws conferring authority to establish standards upon some state agency which has as yet taken no action. The remaining nine states have no laws on the subject.

Need of Legislation.

Compared with a similar survey two years ago, the present survey shows that two states have repealed their container laws, three states which formerly had no laws have established standard containers of some sort, and three states have made possible the establishment of standard containers by some state agency. This is a net gain of four states which recognize the need of container legislation.

The standards established, however, the department points out, show that no definite program of standardization was in mind when many of the laws were passed. Of Indiana and Texas have really comprehensive container laws based on a definite program related to that developed by the United States Department of Agriculture. Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania have followed this program in part by re-enacting the present United States standard container act. The remaining states have legislated on types of containers which happened to be of particular interest to them at the time, without developing any definite program on the subject. Congress has established for the District of Columbia standards for the barrel, Climax basket, berry box, till basket, hamper, round stave basket, apple boxes, pear boxes and onion crates, but has given only the first four the status of national standards.

The most popular subject for legislation, the department says, has been the berry box, 24 states and the District of Columbia having standardized this container. One other state has a law on the subject, but it provides that berry boxes must be of the liquid quart and pint in size, and such boxes are illegal for interstate shipment. The United States standard barrel has been adopted by 20 states and the District of Columbia. An interesting development shown by the survey is the adoption of the Northwestern apple box as a standard container by 14 states and the District of Columbia.

The department has prepared a mimeographed circular showing the containers standardized by each state and the title and address of the enforcing official. Copies of this circular, together with one outlining the department's program for standardizing containers, may be obtained, as long as the supply lasts, upon request to the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

HAPPY REUNION.

Crowded out last week.

The Simms family enjoyed a happy reunion on Sunday, the first for a long while. There were present upon the occasion, the father, H. T. Simm whose duties claim his attention in Alexander City; Thomas Simms of the U. S. navy, stationed in Norfolk, Va.; Rucker Simms, student in A. P. I., Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Higgins and young son, Joe, junior; Mr. and Mrs. Loren Smith, and the children, Edith, Imogene and Benson Simms.

The Simms home was made attractive for the occasion by a number of pot plants and carnations. At the noon hour a bountiful four-course dinner was served to the reunited family.

Corn which is cut green should be allowed to lie on the ground for a day or so before putting it into the silo or stock. Drying the corn for a short time this way makes sweeter silage than when silced too green. If stocked too green, there is some chance of its molding in the stock. If a farmer has but a small patch of corn, it may be cut by hand. The grain binder will handle corn of medium height quite satisfactorily. If a large amount of heavy corn is to be cut, it pays to have a corn binder.

The more recently adopted method of killing the common barberry which spreads black stem rust of small grains is by the use of such chemicals as salt and kerosene, according to the Department of Agriculture. These methods have several advantages over the digging method formerly used. They are less laborious, cheaper and more certain. This is especially true if bushes are growing in stony ground where digging is difficult. Department Circular 356 tells all about how to use this method.—Banker-Farmer.

BEWARE OF

IMITATIONS

BE SURE YOU GET GENUINE "VULCAN" CHILLED PLOWS and PARTS

Here are some of their great advantages—WELL FINISHED — STRONG and DURABLE—PERFECT FIT—AND OF LIGHT DRAFT.

When you buy a Plow, consider Quality first and Price second. The "Vulcan" Good Quality includes rib-strengthened mold, full chilled shin piece, interlocked point and standard. The strongest and most durable chilled point made.

Imitation points and parts do not fit properly, and a plow equipped with them can not do the quality of work expected. They break easy and are made of inferior material.

Be sure each part you buy bears the "Vulcan" trade mark, cast into the back of the share.

Best point this year, concave, self-sharpening, longer life than old ones, and will last twice as long as imitations.

Buy only genuine "Vulcan" repairs.

STATE DRY SQUAD SHOW BIG PROFIT

Department Also Made 3,328 Arrests In 1925

A profit of more than $70,000 was made by Alabama on the activities of the state law enforcement department in 1925.

This is shown by the annual report of Walter K. McAdory, chief of the department, to Governor Brandon.

Cash fines assessed as a result of activities of the agents totalled $1,7333,586, while the expenses were only $103,600.

The department made 3328 arrests in 1925, 2,380 of them involving the prohibition law. There were only 116 acquitals and 118 cases nolle prossed, with 2,359 convictions and the remainder continued.

The department confiscated 150 automobiles, destroyed 1,970 stills, 1,171,128 gallons of beer 15,202 gallons of liquor, 1,001 gallons of wine and 7, 275 bottles of homebrew.

Jail sentences ranging from 90 days hard labor to life imprisonment were imposed in 250 cases.

"A very fine report," said Governor Brandon.

Mr. M. Askins died at his home in Billingsley Feb. 12 Mr. Askins was 75 years old. He leaaves a mife and 6 children to mourn his death. He was laid to rest in the New Cedron cemetery. Rev. M. W. Mims officiating.

P. C. Dennis Dead.

News reached Clanton a few days ago of the death in Montgomery last week of P. C. Dennis, a former Chilton county citizen. Particulars of his death are not known to The News.

Mr. Dennis was born and reared in Chilton, we understand, and at one time resided in Clanton, where he is favorably remembered by many friends. The News extends sympathy to the bereaved ones.

3 MURDER TRIALS ON SHELBY DOCKET

Circuit Court of Shelby Now In Session

Columbiana, Ala., Feb. 15.—Three murder trials are on the docket of the Shelby county circuit court now in session here. The most important of these cases is against Bob Merrell charged with the murder of Will McElroy of Calera.

The other cases are against Lee Jones, charged with the murder of Doc Jones and Charles Cushman, charged with the murder of his stepson, a man named Horton, at Helena.

Wiener Roast

The junior department of the Baptist Sunday school, Mrs. J. Earl Gowan leader, assisted by the teachers of the department, gave their pupils a weiner roast on Wednesday afternoon. The vacant lot adjacent to the J. H. Alred house, was the place chosen for assembling. The roasting of the weiners and the other preparations for the afternoon's feast afforded much pleasure.

DRYS TO MOBILIZE FOR PROHI FIGHT

Plan to Defeat Light Wine Move of Wets

Washington, Feb. 14.—A mobilization of the dry forces is underway to defeat the wets in their drive for light wine and beer, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, declared today in an address from the pulpit of Eidbrooke Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. Wheeler said the wets would launch their offensive at a Washington birthday dinner here. The dry forces, he contended, are gaining strength, while the wet group "is smaller today than it was a year ago."

REPORTED DIAMOND MINE NOW DOUBTED

"Gems" Found In Same Locality Previously Worthless

"I expect the geologists of the country to disagree with my statement that there is a diamond deposit in Pike county, Mississippi," stated G. W. Delands, geologist of Chicago who informed a mass meeting in Osyka, Miss., Friday night that outcroppings of the precious stones had been discovered between Osyka and McComb.

Dr. E. N. Lowe, state geologist, stated Satrday morning that it was hardly probable a diamond mine had been discovered. The geology of Mississippi is all against such a discovery he said.. Dr Lowe recalled that a similar discovery was made in the locality about 15 years ago, but the gems proved to be crystal that are practically worthless.

FINIS IS WRITTEN IN BIG COAL STRIKE

Mine Workers Will Resume In Ten Days

Philadelphia Feb. 15.—Final agreement for ending the anthracite strike was reached Friday afternoon.

The following official announcemeent was made:

"At a meeting of the anthracite conference a tentative agreement was adopted. The agreement will be submitted to the tridistrict convention for approval, after which a contract will be formally executed by both parties."

The convention will be held in Scranton beginning Tuesday morning.

The mine workers will resume work within ten days and it is expected the peak of production will be reached by the end of the month.

Anthracite peace agreement consists of four principal points. They are:

1. Five-year wage contract.
2. Wage agreement to be reopened at any time at request of either party. Wages to remain same unless changed by mutual agreement.
3. Arbitration to be eliminated from contract.
4. Dues collecting arrangement to be perfected, which will not be known as check-off, but which will amount to same thing.

Report to The News any of your visitors. We'd be glad to note their coming and going.

Moving Up Our Publication Day

Beginning this week The News has decided to follow the old--faashioned, universally popular rule of weekly newspapers the country over in moving its date of publication up one day; that is The News hereafter will be printed and delivered to the postal officials on Thursday, leaving Clanton on the early morning mails of Fridays.

We are doing this principally for the benefit of both the local business people who advertise with us and for our large and steadily increasing list of readers. So far, of course, as The News force is personally concerned, one day of publication would suit us as well as another.

In the case of the advertiser, however, The News will now reach subscribers in territory generally before noon on Fridays, giving them ample time Friday evenings to read the advertising columns and post themselves concerning their needs in the trade line for the following day—Saturday—when the messages of the merchants interesting to them will be fresh in their minds.

This arrangement also will give us one more day in compiling the week's news for the benefit of our readers.

And it shall be our constant hope, and effort, and prayer never to miss the early Friday morning's mail.

RABID COW KILLED ON LOWERY FARM

Thought To Have Been Bitten By Mad Dog

A rabid cow owned by Zack Lowery, who resides four mles west of Clanton on the Clanton-Maplesville highway caused much excitement in that vicinity until it was shot Sunday.

The cow was observed to be acting queerly on Friday, when a veterinarian was called, conbulsions that increased in intensity continued until the cow was killed Sunday.

Members of the Lowery family were considerably perturbed over the fact that they had partaken of the cow's milk until Friday. The vet erinarian and Clanton physicians, however, gave the assurance that there are never any ill effects in such cases.

Mr. Lowrey recalls there was a geneeral commotion caused by barking dogs in his cowpen several nights ago, and concludes that his cow must have been bitten at that time.

NATURE SLIPPED COG IN FREAK SHOWN HERE

"Siamese" Twins, Born In Georgia Badly Tangled

Perhaps one of the greatest freaks of human nature ever seen here was brought to town by travelers exhibiting it a few days ago in twins born to a Georyia couple. The twins, a male and a female, were grown together, if their condition could be described that way, although they possessed only one body. They had been kept in alcohol after their death, which, it was stated, came four hours after their birth.

Outstanding features of the remarkable slip in the cogs of nature were:: One body, one head, two faces, four arms, four legs, fully developed head of hair and hands well developed, with fingernails showing apparentlyn ormal growth.

It was said the twins were born triplets, the other baby having lived four days.

COAL STRIKE COST SET AT BILLION

Both Sides to Trouble Are Losers

New York, Feb. 15.—The Lincoln birthday holiday presented a slight check to business in some lines, but this was more than compensated for by the settlement of the anthracite strike. The question of "who won the strike" promises as much argument as "who won the war."" Perhaps it might be better to say that each side lost. The total cost of the strike was nearly a billion dollars, shared by each side of the controversy.

The miners asked a two-year contract with a 10 per cent increase and the check off. They will go back to work at the same old scale for 4 1-2 years with only a remote chance of securing an increase before that time and the settlement does not specifically grant even a modified check off. The operators secured a 4 1-2-year contract with only a remote chance of having wages reduced for that time, and no arrangement which will prevent future strikes when the present contract expires.

THREE WARS AWAIT COMING OF SPRING

Winter Put the Brakes On Warring Nations

Three wars await a springtime sun to blossom with the flowers.

In Morocco, France and Spain were engaged in crushing Abd-El-Krim and his Riffians when October rains postponed the martial plans of all concerned. In Syria, France is opposed by a band of rebels who obje ct to French administration of the contry. China is due to suffer from another installment of her perennial civil war when the weather moderates.

Winter has compelled a semi-truce in each of these areas of conquest or rebellion.

If precedent is followed the spring should bring a war scare or two in the Balkans. There may be a threat of trouble from Turkey where resentment against the league of nation's decision confirming the British mandate over Iraq is very strong.

DESK FOUND FULL UNCASHED CHECKS

Belonged to Doctor Who Never Sent a Bill

Leominster, Mass., Feb. 14. — A policeman today stood guard at the desk of Dr. Charles E. Bigelow widely known in this section for his charity, because of the discovery that the desk contained $3,000 in cash and undeposited checks.

Dr... Bigelow died Monday Yesterday his attorney opened his desk. Many of the checks made out by patients, were dated several years ago.

The physician had a wide practice among all classes. He had the reputation of never sending a bill.

John M. Parrish, one of the hustling and substantial citizens out on Route 5, came in and renewed his subscription to The News Saturday.

MUST HAVE CHANGED BRAND AT LAUREL

A Henhouse Tale That Beats the Fisherman

Laurel, Miss., Feb. 15.—Loud and vociferous cackling from the henhouse early Saturday morning aroused C. R. Ferrell of this city and sent him scurrying to the protection of his prize white leghorns.

His arrival at the henhouse was signal for another outburst.

Perched on a box nest, nailed to the side of the wall was his favorite hen singing in a noisy and cracked soprano. Around her formed an admiring circle of chicken yard inmates. As Ferrell entered the hen turned and nodded proudly to the center of the neest. There was a chicken's wish come true—the largest egg in captivity, it is claimed.

Despite the loud protests of Lena, the hen, in which the lother fowls joined her, Ferrell bore the prize egg to the house and brought it later to Laurel, where it is being exhibited.

The monster measures 7 1-4 inches by 5 1-2 inches in circumference. It is a case where fact is stronger than fiction, and a henhouse truth puts to shame the proverbial fish tale, withot exaggeration.

O. Y. Sims, one of the progressive Route 7 citizens, was in to see The News Saturday.

REGULAR MEETING P. T. A. ASSOCIATION

Organization Now Has To Its Credit $300

The Clanton P. T. A., Mrs. L. F. Gerald, president, held its regular monthly meeting in one of the classrooms of the grammar school on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Broadhead's and Mrs. Roberts' pupils gave a very enjoyable valentine, Washington and Lincoln program.

The decorations for the occasion were gratifying to the guests. A border of conventionalized jonquils adorned the blackboards, while the blossoms of early springtime, in containers, refreshed the afternoon's guests with their beauty and fragrance.

Following the program by pupils the usual routine of business of the P. T. A. was dispatced. It was noted with interest, that the organization has to its credit a balance in the treasury of over $300.

The Clanton P. T. A. is to be congratulated on the success of its efforts It has donated a slide and other playground equipment and has responded to the call for a number of necessities.

B. Y. P. U. Social

The B. Y. P. U. social, held in the church basement on Friday evening afforded very much pleasure for the members of that organization.

Valentine ideas prefailed in the elaborate decorations and in the novel games that were played. Festoons of hearts were artistically draped. Perhaps the game of shooting arrows at a very large suspended heart proved most enjoyable. For showing most skill as an archer Billy Smiith was awarded a box of candy. The evening's guests were served by Mrs. L. C. Ross and her assistants a delightful dessert course that emphasized the evening's decorative scheme.

"TRAP" AT CALERA IS INVESTIGATED

Motorists Association Finds Reports Exaggerated.

The Birmingham News, a few days ago said: Investigation by officials of the Alabama Motorists association, with headquarters at 411 N. 21st street of the alleged "speed trap" at Calera, which had been unofficially reported from a number of sources, has brought out the fact that some of the statements had been somewhat exaggerated.

Following avisit to E. W. Brownell, one of the directors of the association, and Leroy F. Hill, executive secretary, to the "scene of action," a full report of the situation was made at the regluar weekly meeting of the executive committee of the association at the Redmont hotel.

Mr Brownell introduced R. L Holcombe, councilman of Calera, who stated that an ordinance had been passed in 1916 fixing a 10-mile speed limit through Calera, but it had never been enforced. He pointed out that three blocks of the Montgomery-Birmingham highway consti-

We wonder about what percentage of our advertisers get an extremely good rate they get in having their advertising broadcast through The News. Considering numbers of people reached by inserting your ad in The News as compared with the printing of handbills the matter of original cost alone shows that the newspaper ad is much cheaper. In towns where there is no daily paper and for special occasions the hand bill has its place, and insofar we have nothing to say against it. But it is an expensive way of advertising; the cost to produce the handbill is comparatively heavy; the cost of wastage when as they are handed out on the streets or otherwise are glanced at and destroyed; the cost of the chance you take of annoying the good ladies—the real backbone of the trade of the world—by littering up their front porches and yards, these and many other features must be considered by the advertiser.

But, when you place your ad in the columns of The News, first, the space cost is right of, and that settled your worries are over. For Uncle Sam to deliver your message along with The News into the homes—get into the homes of the substantial people over territory, who have subscribed for the paper because they want it. They sit by their firesides or on their porches in their leisure moments and read your message and discuss it—and if it appeals to them, you will hear about it and feel the effects of it later. Remember this, that an ad in The News will cost you much less and reach the heart of the buying public to a far greater extent than will the handbill of approximately similar display. numbers printed.

If our merchants and others interested in advertising would investigate the rates charged by legitimate newspapers and other publicity sources they would find that for actual numbers of people reached they are quoted a price in The News of from one-half to three-fourths less than the rates charged by these mediums. For instance, we have knowledge—not guesswork—of the fact that some of the weekly newspapers of the Birmingham district are charging ninety-eight (98c) per inch, and The News will guarantee you a circulation of exactly four times more than one publication we have in mind charging this rate today.

The News is here to make an honest living, just like the rest of you, and we want to give you value for every dollar we get from you. We'll make mistakes, we know that, but if they ever injure anyone, no matter how small or great you have but tell us, and we"ll rectify it if we can. We want your paper, in our work of it a little bigger and more readable paper in The News. Give us your advertising, speak a kind word for us put up the hammer for awhile, anyway, for its face is already worn to a frazzle; let us print your commercial work—if it isn't done right it won't cost you a cent. (See a few samples in our front window.)

And don't be backward about coming to see us. Gosh-We know of lots of fellers who are a heap sight littler'n you, who have come in and got out alive.

THE EDITOR.

Highway Commission Would Boycott Small Towns

Now comes the Alabama Highway Commission in a statement for the daily papers in which it declares war against the smaller towns of the state which do not "bow the knee" and pass local ordinances to conform to the ideas of the said commission in regulating the speed laws governing autoists passing through these (hick) towns. An item concerning the commission's decree will be found in another column of today's News.

This order, it appears to The News bears all the earmarks of having had authority for its origin in the alleged speed trap at Calera. After an investigation by those in position to look after such matters, however, it is proven conclusively that no speed trap exists at Calera, and that the little city to our north—on the same state highway that Clanton is—was done an injustice by the seemingly over-hasty reports and charges.

The governing boards of the smaller towns along the state aid roads of Alabama were selected and placed in their municipal positions because of the confidence of their own people in their wisdom, patriotism, civic pride—their general ability to think straight and act intelligently in formulating and enforcing laws under which each could live and enjoy peace and the "pursuit of happiness." These boards are responsible to their own local constituency, it seems to us, for the carrying out of laws suitable to their own communities, and not to the Alabama Highway commission, the motorists' association or any other such body or organization.

And why not? Are not these boards of mayor and aldermen, including the local citizenship, imbued with just as much regard for the laws under which we all live, and probably with more interest in the health, safety and general welfare of their own people, including their school children as the passing tourist? Don't they pay just as much road tax inuto the state treasury and perhaps travel their state highway more proportionately than does the tourist?

It should be remembered that in many incorporated localities the school and church buildings were located on what is now known as state highways, usually the most prominent as well as the most accessible "street" in the town. Fortunately such is not the case in Clanton; so we have no personal argument with that phase of the matter. But there are many towns in the state where schools and churches are located on these trunk highways and in some cases the playgrounds for the children are situated across the roadway from the building. Then shall the tourist, the motorist or the speeder as you will be permitted to tear through these smaller towns without regard to the safety laws thrown around these children and other citizens as enacted by their own fathers and brothers, who are acquainted with local dangers more than anyone else?

It's the first intimation the people of Alabama have had that the money they paid into the road tax fund was finally to be expended on an Alabama speedway instead of a state highway. Anyway, the commission might be able to get some valuable hints from the "Caution" signboards directed to motorists near hospitals and school buildings in the larger cities.

Good reader let us remind you that the subscription price of The News is due in advance; it takes money to get this paper to you; if you are due anything on past account, or if you are paid up to January 1, 1926, let us have your renewal if you want the paper continued to your address. If not, pay what is due. But for heaven's sake, don't take the paper for a year or two on credit and then put it back in the postoffice marked "Refused."

As a result of discipline established through fire drills 345 children were marched out of a burning school building to safety at Gulfport, Miss., a few days ago. Order was maintained during the exit, although some of the children had to lean through windows to get fresh air on the way out. Teachers and others, whose forethought made this happy result possible are enttled to the highest praise. Every school should have frequent fire drills.

Correspondents please write all proper names plainly and legibly, and get your copy to us by Monday's mail if possible, or Sunday's would be better. Wedislike to print the name of anyone incorrectly, but sometimes we are forced to make a guess at these becaause of a writer's failure to write plainly.

"Clanton is the prettiest town in a wide circle of territory between Montgomery and Birmingham," said a traveler to the editor of The News, and we weent right back at him with, "It's the prettiest, the cleanest and the best town between Montgomery and anywhere else on this earth, brother."

A statistician has figured out that the energy, coal and water expended in the tooting of whistles costs the railroads a round eight million dollars a year. Expense accounts on ringing of the engine bell probably are not completed yet.

Ever stop to think that a dog is the only animal—man excepted— that can laugh?

One of the best arguments in favor of the county demonstration agent is the fact that where he has proven competent the farmers never want to give him up.

And while you are preparing to raise more hay and grain crops on the farm this year don't forget or neglect to give the old setting hen full opportunity. She will amply repay you for any attention given her.

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

Clanton, Ala., Feb. 18, 1926

Maybe the Chilton county candidates need an application of soda or acid of some sort to get 'em started. They are considerably behind candidates in adjoining fields, Shelby, Coosa, etc., where a fine stand is up and busy.

Baptist W. M. U,

The four missionary circles composing the W. M. U, of the Clanton Baptist church are diligently executing a very worthy plan for supporting a missionary in China. The execution of the plan that involves an obligation of $17 per month for each of the four circles carries with it an unfeigned thrill, for the beneficiary is a former Chilton county woman.

Mrs. Woodward, nee Miss Mabel Williams, the missionary in question was married in Chilton county a few years ago to Rev, Mr. Woodward, After a brief honeymoon spent with relatives the couple left for the China mission field, where they are located.

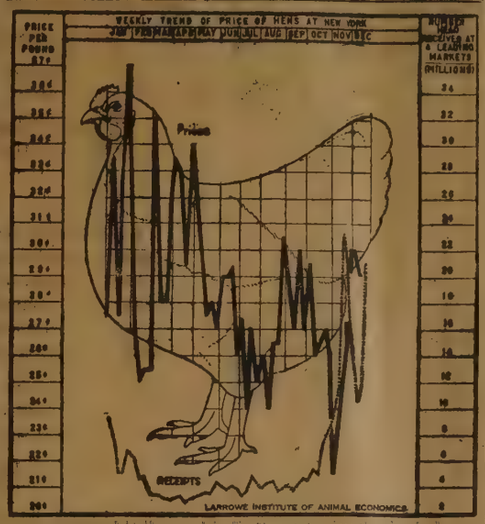
Chicken Prices in 1925 Highest in Four Years



A STEADILY expanding market for table poultry in recent years resulted in an average 1925 farm price per chicken of 68½ cents, the highest since 1921, according to the 1925 market review of the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. Prices for fowls on the New York market during the year were highest in late January when extra quality reached 37 cents a pound. Since then they have ranged between 35 cents and 24 cents until early November when the usual heavy receipts of this time of the year began to be felt. Prices then dropped to 21½ cents a pound, but recovered rapidly as the colder holiday season came on.

Increased demand for poultry in 1925 over the previous year is due in some measure to a lesser consumption in 1924, caused by a wide-spread poultry epidemic in that year. Storage stocks of poultry did not accumulate as rapidly during the past year as they did in 1924, which is an indication of continued good peices during the spring months when this poultry is taken from storage.

Comparatively lower feed costs since 1920 have made poultry profits in recent years the highest in thirty years. Present market demands and industrial conditions in general point to good prices for poultry and poultry products for another two years at least.

COMPASS PLAYED TRICKS, IS STORY

Drilling To Be Started Wtihin Ten Days

Osyka, Miss., Feb. 15.—Many curious legenls concerning hidden wealth and treasures in this vicinity have come to light since the recent announcement that diamonds habe been discovered in Pike county. Inquiring visitors, who have flocked here in large numbers since news of the "find"' was made public were told stories hard for a "Doubting Thomas" to believe.

Meanwhile those interested are speculating on what will be found by L. W. Deland, a Chicago geologist, who caused the diamond rush, if he carries out his intention of starting operations by drilling within ten days.

Most of the legends in circulation center about the old "silver mine" on the Tangipahoa river near here. About the year 1851 engineers were building what is now a part of the Illinois Central railroad"s right of way. Just before reaching the Mississippi-Louisiana line, about a mile south of here, the story has it that a compass began to play tricks. The engineers thought the exceptional action of the needle was caused by some nearby metal.

Upon investigation some of these pioneers are said to have reached the conclusion that there was silver along Tangipahoa river on what was known as the Dickey place.

About 25 years ago, after the mine had been deserted for more than half a century, another boom started. A group undertook to reclaim the property, but were unable to obtain tangible results and dropped the project.

A group of Osyka citizens are reported to have purchased the famous site a few days ago for a moderate sum. They are planning to succeed at what their forefathers failed, it is understood.

QUARTER MILLION FOR NEGRO COOK

Attalla Feb. 15.—George Coleman, whose blood is said to be about one-half Indian and one-half negro, was a cook Wednesday for a carpenter gang on the Southern railway. Thursday he was worth $250,000, and he said he was going to keep on cooking.

Coleman, who is 75 yeaars old, received a check for a quarter of million dollars on Thursday from an aunt in Oklahoma, who had just sold a tract of land. Coleman and his aunt are both members of the Osage tribe and owned the land jointly.

The aged man sent the entire amount to a bank in Eutaw, to be keept on deposit here for him. Meanwhile he insists that he will keep his job

A later dispatch from Gadsden says: George M. Coleman, the negro cook on a Southern Ry. consttruction gang, reported to have received a large check from Oklahoma while stationed at Attalla has $358,000 in a bank at Eutaw, Ala., according to prominent business men of Attalla, who say they have investigated his case.

Just before he received the Oklahoma check, which was for $200,000 and not $250,000, he had $150,000 on deposit wiith the bank of Leeds, Ala., and $8000 in the Eutaw bank. His $200,000 remittance was from Charles Laymon, 2426 Walton street Oklahoma City.

Shirley for Solicitor

In this issue we are carrying the announcement of P. K. Shirley for Circuit Solicitor of this circuit, composed of the counties of Chilton, Autauga and Elmore.

Mr. Shirley is a man of rather serious turn of mind, about 39 years of age and has practiced law for the past 10 or 12 years. He served over two years in the army during the World War and was selected by the army officials at Camp Gordon, Ga., to prosecute some of the most important cases in that camp of some 80,000 men. In recognition of his ability the war department sent him to Camp McClellan, Anniston, Ala., where he spent practically all of his time prosecuting both misdemeanors and felonies for the United States government. After returning to Wetumpka he became the county solicitor of Elmore conty and for some two years through the county court he has been one of the leading factors in making Elmore county among the cleanest counties of the state so far as law enforcemeent is concerned. He was born in Elmore county, worked on the farm until he waas 17 years o fage and obtained means for his education by farm work, work in the cotton mills in Tallassee and teaching scchool. Upon his record and experience Mr. Shirley submits himself for your consideration as a candidate for Circuit Solicitor, which, according to ou rbelief, is one of the most important offices to be filled in this state. Mr. Shirley pledges himself, if elected, to use his best efforts and experience to aid in the enforcement of the laws in this circuit.

Card of Thanks

We take this means to thank the good folks of Clanton, who were so kind and helpful to us during the long sickness of our child in your good hospital. We wish to thank the entire hospital force and the town in general for its many kindnesses during our stay in your midst. We were sick and ye visited us; we were strangers and ye took us in. Inasmuch as ye did these things unto us, ye did them to Him who shall reward you even for efery cp of water if given in His name. Billy is doing fineand will soon be himself again. In His name we wish the town every good thing in 1926.

Thrills for Speeders.

Whether it is actually put into practice or not, we cannot vouch but a plan of dealing with speeders reported from a California town has much to commend it.

As a punishment for reckless driving, the offender is forced to take a ride in an airplane, piloted by an expert, who shoots through space at terrific speed, with variations in the way of dips, tail spins and a few loops. This treatment is said to be very effective in taking the speed mania out of the culprit and causing him to dread asecond sentence.

Automobile speeders are not as a rule particularly courageous. Generally they are just plain fools, who do not realize the danger to which they subject themselves and others. The treatment described above seems quite appropriate.

On December 1st, 1925, we turned over our stock of General Merchandise and Fixtures to a big Atlanta firm to be sold out, lock, stock and barrel. This was done for several reasons, the main one being that we had no assurance of the store house longer than the first of the year. Now that we have been able to make new arrangements, we will continue the business under the same management, with Miss Grace Foshee and Miss Etta Baker in charge. We invite our friends and former customoers to continue your visits to our store.

tute the main street of the town, which is approximately three blocks square. On this street there is a hazardous railway crossing and a public school building. Mr. Holcombe showed that for the protection of the citizens as well as the motorists, who pass through the town, it was found necessary to stop speediny through the streets and after many unsucessful efforts the town purchased a motorcycle and employed an officer with instructions to make the necessary arrests.

"Instead of 16 arrests as repoorted only six have been made at speed ranging from 23 to 41 miles per hour," said Mr. Holcombe. "We feel that an injustice has been done Calera by the insinuations that a speed cop had been employed for revenue. The objeect of Mayor Brown and the councilmen was only to protect the lives of the citizens. As a matter of fact the city council may rescind the law, fixing the speed limit at 10 miles and change it to 20 miles in the residential diistrct going south from the sign to the railroad crossing, where a speed limit of four miles have been established in lieu of a watchman bf the United States government as provided py the laws governing the construction of federal act roads. From the railroadwestward three blocks through the main street and past the school, the speed limit has now been fixed at 15 miles per hour. From this stretch to the sign on the north side of the town the limit was fixed at 20 miles per hour."

Mr. Holcomb also stated that one officer is now receiving a fee of $2 for each arrest but the arrangement is not regarded as satisfactory, and he expressed confidence that this objection would be remedied. Every effort has been made according to Mr. Holcombe, to protect the citizens and children of Calera against reckless driving and unnecessary speed through the town without unfairly treating motorists and he requested co-opeeration in taking care of the situation.

Mr. Brownell expressed appreciation of the board of directors of the Alabama Motorists association for the consideration shown by the mayor and public officials of Calera and for their readiness to co-operate with the efforts to find a satisfactory solution of the problem.

Nevertheless the directors in unison expressed themselves as opposing the speed cop fee system of enforcing speed laws and this phase of the situation will be more fully gone into.

BEWARE OF

IMITATIONS

BE SURE YOU GETGENUINE "VULCAN" CHILLED PLOWS and PARTS

Here are some of their great advantages—WELL FINISHED — STRONG and DURABLE—PERFECT FIT—AND OF LIGHT DRAFT.

When you buy a Plow, consider Quality first and Price second. The "Vulcan" Good Quality includes rib-strengthened mold, full chilled shin piece, interlocked point and standard. The strongest and most durable chilled point made.

Imitation points and parts do not fit properly, and a plow equipped with them can not do the quality of work expected. They break easy and are made of inferior material.

Be sure each part you buy bears the "Vulcan" trade mark, cast into the back of the share.

Best point this year, concave, self-sharpening, longer life than old ones,and will last twice as long as imitations:

Buy only genuine "Vulcan" repairs.

BRUISED BODY OF CONVICT EXHUMED

Son Brutally Murdered, Says Father

Sheffield, Feb. 21.—The report of the jury in the case of Hoot Taylor, the convict, who was dug up from his grave in a little cemetery on the side of the hill near Town Creek yesterday, made some startling and gruesome statements. Upon exami na tion of the body it was found that a number of scars and bruises were found upon it and the report as made and sworn to by the members of the jury makes interesting reading, the findings being fully stated as follows:

When asked for a statement after the examination of the body was completed, J. W. Taylor, the father, said: "It is just as I expected, I know my son had been brutally murdered in the Flat Top mines, and the result of the examination bears out my contention that he came to his death from a beating administered to him by two negro convicts employed at the mines. I expectto see the whole thing through and will go to the bottom of it to have the murderers of my boy punished to the full extent of the law. Hoot never suffered from heart failure in his life and was a tempe rate young man who did not have any habits that would bring an attack of the heart. Not one member of my family ever had this ailment and I know this boy did not suffer or die from it.

Denouncing as "infamous slanders"" the charges that Jas. Knox and Hoot Taylor were victims of inhuman treatment and personally offering a reward of $1,000 for conclusive evidence that the death of either con ict was irregular or unnatural, Chief Convict Warden Charles R. D avis Saturday issued his first statement since state authorities began investigating alleged atrocities at Flat Top mine.

As the official in direct charge of the Flat Top camp and the entire mining district of Alabama, Warden Davis asked the public to withhold judgment until the investi ations now under way are completed. He declared he personally asked Attorney General Harwell Davis to investigate the Knox case and offered to furnish his automobile and a chauffeur to relatives of Taylor "for use in ferreting out all the facts connected with the case."

Friends of Mrs. G. C. Harris will be glad to know that she has returned home from a Birmingham infirmary, where she recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

FARMERS POOL IS WELL PATRONIZED

Co-operative Marketing Exceeds Last Year

Montgomery, Feb. 15..... Today was the last day for receipt of cotton of the 1925 crop by the Alabama Farm BBureau Cotton association, the total receipts for the year's pool of the farmers' co-operative marketing organization being slightly over 106,000 bales.

The receipts of the Farm Bureau cotton association have this year greatly exceeded any amount ever before recorded by the association. The receipts for 1925, which was the record up to the present year were 80,-000 bales, showing an increase of about 26,000 bales for thiis year The amount of cotton on hand at the present time is worth approximately $10,000,000, according to Harry H. Houghton, an official of the cotton association.

Each year since the organization of the association the receipts have shown increase, but the amount of cotton turned in this year exceeds all previous years by a large percentage.

THUGS MAKE BIG HAUL ON HILL'S

Montgomery Store Robbed of $426

Dispatches from the capital city said: Police were busy searching today for the bold bandit who robbed the Hill grocery store at Highland avenue late Saturday night of $426. The robber, a unidentified white man, wearing a mask, pulled one of the boldest holdups staged here in some time and escaped without leaving any clue so far as investigations to date have been able to reveal.

Entering the store shortly before the closing hour Saturday night, the bandit covered A. J. Norris, manager of the store, with a revolver, forced him and three or four other persons who were in the store into the rear of the building and after taking cash to the amount of $426, escaped in a waiting attomobile.

LARGE SHIPMENTS CREAM FROM SELMA

Planned to Make That City Assembly Point

Selma, Ala., Feb. 18.—The Southern Dairies of Washington, which own and operate the Selma creamery plant here, has announced that they have already begun a million dollar ice cream and dairy plant at Miami, Fla., which will have a daily capacity of 10,000 gallons of ice cream and 15,000 gallons of milk. The directors of the corporation say that they are planning to make the Selma plant a great assembly point for whole milk and that they are prepared to buy and ship in unlimited quantities. They are now shipping from the Selma plant 12,000 gallons weekly, but the supply here is inadequate.

Candidate for nomination for United States Senator from Alabama. Mr. Black, born on a Clay County farm about 41 years ago, is an attorney of some 20 years experience and a graduate in law of the University of Alabama. He was at one time judge of the Birmin gham city court, and resigned as solicitor of Jefferson county to serve as a volunteer in the World War. He has also served as assistant to the attorney gener.l of the United States in the prosecution of a number of liquor conspiracy cases, in which work he was highly complimented by fed eral officials connected with the cases. He was in Clanton yesterday en route to Crenshaw county and promises a return visit here soon, having covered ten counties of the state already.

WINE CONSPIRACY FOUND IN CHICAGO

Big Profits Made In Sacramental Wine

Chicago, Feb 21.—A sacramental wine conspiracy, eclipsing anything thus far revealed in this branch of the Volstead act violation, came to light here with the arrest of five men as they sat discussing their business affairs at a fashionable hotel.

Deputy Detective Chief J. Stege says the combine has disposed of $1,000,000 worth of wine in this country in the last seven months. He estimates the profit at $1,000,-000.

One of the men, Maurice Kaminiski of Brooklyn, who is said to have confessed, gave Stege the whole story, the detective said.

Lori Cella of Elmhurst, N. Y., was named as the owner of vast Calfornia vineyards He shipped his grape wine to New York by way of the Panama canal. There it was turned over to rabbis, who can draw ten gallons a fear for each member of their synagogue.

The wine was withdrawn and turned over to Kaminiski at 34 cents a gallon. He in turn sold it to Jacob Brownstein and Nathan Goldberg, who shipped it to Chicago, where it was sold for $4 a gallon

HORSE AND MULE CENSUS IS TAKEN

Alabama Has 87,308 Horses, 296,652 Mules

In spite of the great production of automobiles, trucks and tractors, it would seem from the figures just made public that farmers are still depending largely on horses and mules to raise crops and haul the stuff to shipping points.

According to a statement issued by the department of commerce, Alabama, as a result of a farm census taken January 1, 1925, had 87,308 horses, including 5,276 colts under 2 years of age, and a total of 300,778 mules, of which 4,125 were colts, or a total of 296,652 mules 2 years old and over.

The figures shoy that Texas had the largest number of horses and mules of any of the southern states, figures being: Horses 2 years old and over 781,430, of which 59,-817 were colts under 2 years of age, or a total of 841,247. And as to mules Texas leads all the states in the Union, the figures showing 974,000 mules 2 years old and over, and 48,888 mule colts under 2 years of age.

EXTRA SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE

Body To Meet Following Primary, Is Report

An extra session of the legislature immediately after the state primary in August is the present plan of Gov ernor W. W. Brandon and his political advisors, according to information brought to Birmingham Monday by administration leaders, who spent the week-end at the state capital says the Birmingham Age-Herald.

They outlined the governcr's attitude as being that he will under no circumstances convene the assembly in advance of the primary.

"But you can absolutely count on a special session in August," is the way they put it."

The state and county primaries this year will be held on August 10. A new governor, a United States senator and various county and state house officers will be nominated at the same time.

The present legislature, however, will be convened in the event of an extra session during Gov. Blandon's term. The new assembly will take office with his successor.

THREE ARE HURT IN AUTO MIXUPS

All Were Travelers On B. & M. Highway

A coupe, driven by C. H. Rodman of Cedarville, Kas., went off the concrete about a mile north of Cooper Saturday night, striking a telephone pole and wrecking the front end of the car. Mr. Rodman sustained a broken arm. It is stated that a bus of the Blue Goose line, running on the B. & M. T. companys schedule was connected with the accident in some way.

In trying to take the turn at the Johnson farm Sunday Mrs. C. H. Maxwell and a lady friend from Birmingham left the concrete, hit a pecan tree and tore up the front of their car. Both suffered cuts and bruises and were carried home for treatment.

JONES ACQUITTED KILLING OF JONES

Row Started Over Running at Large of Cow

Columbiana, Feb. 18.—Lee Jones was acquitted in circuit court here today on a charge of killing Dock Jones. The killing occurred in July, 1923, in Shelby, at which time Lee Jones and Dock Jones had some trouble over a cow belonging to the defendant alleged to have been running at large and destroying crops of Dock Jones. The parties had a dispute in the morning of the day of the killinb and Lee Jones is alleged to have armed himself with a pistol and drove to town and found Doc Jones at a barber shop and shot him to death, it being claimed that Dock Jones was unarmed at the time. The defendant entered a plea of self defense.

At a former trial the defendant was convicted manslaughter in the first degree and was sentenced to serve ten years in the penitentiary, but the supreme court reversed the case.

REVENUE AGENT LOSES RIGHT TO BRING SUITS

Mississippi Leislature Has Abated Action

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 18.—One of the most far reaching pieces of work the Mississippi legislature has done since it convened was the passing of a bill today abating civil suits brought by the state revenue agent and prohibiting the bringing of further suits by that official under the anti-trust laws of the state.

The Brooks bill, which had been introduced with this object in view, has been so changed that the real object was lost and the Cook bill was introduced.

The Cook bill does not specifically set out the Ford suit instituted last summer by W. Jones Miller, but the provision of the bill are such that the $12,000,000 suit must be dismissed by the court in whose jurisdiction it is pending unless the governor and the attorney general agree to continuance of the suit. Their agreement must be made within 30 days and in writing.

SIX HUNDRED HOGS SOLD BY FARMERS

Biggest Sale of the Season Brings $18,300

Hartford, Feb. 21.—Hog sales brought the Hartford Co-operative Marketing association and individual buyers of Geneva county farmers about $18,300 last week at the largest sales of the season.

Six hundred were sold through the marketing association. Purchasers of the hogs paid $10.66 for tops or a total of $8,300. Geneva county farmers not members of the marketing concern, made sales direct to the buyers that totalled about $10,-000.

Good Men Needed

Just what the Democratic party of Chilton county proposes doing in the coming primary has not been revealed The News, yet it is our understanding in a general way that an active campaign will be inaugurated. We claim no distinction as a political prophecer, but it does appear to us that the party leaders and those who have influence in the party's progress would do well to take the people into their confidence at as early date as possible, give them the plans and facts on which the campaign will be based, and let real competent and worthy men get on the ticket as candidates for the various offices to be vacated. Then go before the voters on the merits not only of the party but of every candidate representing it, leave off the mud-slinging and success will crown our efforts. Placing a man in public trust will not reform him, be he Democrat, Republican or what not. Offer the people good, clean men against whom no charges of wrong can be verified, and the people will support them.

The South inherently is Democratic; we believe in the principles of Democracy, not so much because our daddies were Democrats although in their wisdom and experience they saw the real necessity for the party, but because of our economical position as connected with the commerce of the world, our racial relations and many other factors peculiarly fitted to and applicable only to the Southern states, our people adopted Democracy as the party of the people The party, as has been the case with all others, good, bad and indifferent, suffers its setbacks occasionally; but there is too much merit in Democratic principles that they should be done away with permanently.,,

One thing The News has never been able to understand —and perhaps never will: How in Sam Hill can a Democrat screw his conscience up to the point that he will vote for an avowed Republican, and yet lay claim to the theory that he is still a Democrat? "Yes," he says, "I voted for Bum Jumpson, and Bum's a Republican, I know; but Bum's a good fellow and I always liked him. Of course, my daddy was a Democrat and I am, too." On the same thesis, we presume, he might with equal justification say that he was a Methodist or a Baptist, but Father is a "pretty good fellow," good fellow," he wanted to see him do well, and so he attended Father Shake's church or that he is a Christian and believes in God, but the devils a "pretty good fellow," too, so he won't slight the devil.

Everyone knows that there are plenty of loyal, honest and competent men in the ranks of the Democratic party in Chilton county, yet in most cases they would be compelled to make a sacrifice of their business should they leave it for an active campaign and later in the loss of time and attention from it if elected to county office. But it appears to The News that, where such sacrifice is demanded for the welfare of the party these good men should go a long way in filling that demand rather than see defeat of others, not only, but defeat of the party.

Among the ways suggested for keeping young is the reading of newspapers. It is a good idea. People grow old faster when they get out of touch with our own throbbing present, but if they know what is going on, and get in every newspaper issue a reflection of their own community and the wide world, then they can talk with anyone. They convey the impression of brightness and wide-awake spirit and people like to meet them. What makes people grow old is the looking back too much at the past. They dwell in old scenes and lose interest in the present and people lose interest in them. When they read the newspapers their minds are full of interest in this rapidly moving age.

"The most disgusting stripe of humanity it has ever been oour misfortune to meet is the blatherskite who, upon accumulating a little of the world's goods after going through the same degree of poverty that we did in younger days, now assumes that better-than-thou attitude and feels and shows to the world that he is superior to the common herd—all, too, because he may have a few more dollars in the bank than we have. He's beneath the contempt of the average rabbit dog."—Harrodsburg Dispatch. Bats in his belfry, brother; well, you know "there are no pockets in a shroud."

The merchant or business man that gives his printing orders to an out-of-town concern has no complaint to make when the public use the mail order catalogues. Not long ago a merchant asked us to jump on the mail order buyers and we turned to his desk and found a piece of printing that was done out of his town by a traveling solicitor. He was not very considerate.—Exchange.

We thank our friends for their kindly compliments of The News, and while it may show some little indications of improvement it is yet far from hat we expect to make it. We hope to show more rapid as well as more noticeable improvements, however, from now on. It's a big job and will require time.,

Penalizing Small Towns

It is generally understood that the American system of government requires a separation of the executive, legislative and judicial functions.

Our state highway commission appear to be unaware of this, since they have usurped the authority of the courts and taken it on themselves to decide whether the laws of the municipalities through which the state highway passes are unjust and unreasonable, and further have decided to inflict a penalty upon those municipalities which incur their displeasure by depriving them of a highway to which they are justly entitled.

The democratic principles of local government harmonizes with the idea that the towns through which the highway passes are more familiar with the local condition that the state highway commission, and are better able to judge as to what is reasonable under the cirumstances.

Penal measures enacted with only a pecuniary end in view are immoral. But to condemn the small town for such rules as, on the face, are only traffic regulations, is to proceed on an assumption which may not be capable of proof.

If the regulations of these small towns are indeed unreasonable the courts are open to all who deem themselves injured.—A. R. Leishman in the Birminghan News.

BUILDS SUB-STATION

Alabama Power Co. To Supply Current To Goodwater

Goodwater, Feb. 18.—The Alabama Power company is constructing its sub-station just outside the town limits from which will be furnished the power for Goodwater enterprises and to light the town.

The station is located where the power line from Sylacauga to Alexander City crosses the Goodwater and Kellyton highway A few months ago the Alabama Power company purchased a local light plant.

The Dixie Construction company has for some time been surveying a line from Cherokee Bluffs to Sylacauga, where the power from the Cherokee plant will be transfitted to the Sylacauga station for distribution to other points it is stated.

MAN "HELD UP" HAD NO BOOZE

Here Is One of Sore Spots In Enforcement Law

Montgomery,.. Feb. 20.—Two prohibition agents were pondering a similar number of narro wescapes here Saturday, while Mrs. J. W. Roberts, wife of a Dothan automobile dealer, was suffering from a nervous shock as the result of a near-tragedy on the Memorial bridge road, a few miles from Montgomery.

Mr. Roberts explained he was approaching the bridge in his car late Friday night. His wife and two children were with him. As he neared the bridge, he said, two figures stepped into the roadway, waving flashlights. Thinking they were highwaymen, Mr. Roberts "stepped on the gas" and the men leaped aside with only a few inches to spare.

The prohibition agents, thus routed, fired several shots into the air as signals to others on the other side of the bridge, where the car was stopped. Explanations were made, and Mr. Roberts was permitted to go on his way without being searched. The dry agents were working under the direction of J. W. Adkins, deputy prohibition agent.

Mrs. Roberts, who suffered badly from the shock was given medical attention in Montgomery.

Sharing Prosperity and Helping to Produce It

The latest statistics furnished by the United States Census Bureau indicate that in the fourteen states served by the "Old Reliable" the ratio of prosperity to every 100,000 population is substantially greater than that of the United States as a whole.

By furnishing adequate freight and passenger service for both long and short distances and by constant striving for betterment in every department of its service, this Railroad is adding to the prosperity of the territory it serves.

Remember that in the matter of wages, taxes and maintenance expenses, the steam railroads of America are investing large sums of money which pay large returns in community prosperity. The railroads deserve your patronage. They are affording the highest type of transportation service every day in the year and are working shoulder to shoulder with you for community good.

Two gentlemen stopped on the street to talk to each other, one wearing a large diamond pin.

"Isaacs," said the other, "dot is a fine diamond you have on. Vere you get it?"

"Well," explained Isaacs, "my brother he died and left $450 for a stone. And dis is de stone."

Bringing Him Home Alive

Pat was visiting a friend in the lion country. Borrowing a gun he set off one day in search of game. Some time after his host heard a distant report and going to the window spied in the distance Pat hot-footing it for home and close behind him a huge lion. Pat reached the door in time to cry: "Quick, quick, Mike, open the door; I'm bringing chim home alive."

Scouts Hold Meeting

The Clanton girl scouts held their regular meeting in the home of Mrs. N. S. Johnson Friday evening. The regular routine of business claimed the usual interest, after which novel and interesting games were played.

The scouts of the Julia S. Tutwiler chapter felt quite important arrayed in their new uniforms on Friday evening. These girls are looking forwarl with absorbing interest to their camping trip within the near future. They plan to spend the weekend under tents in some inviting place, as soon as the weather moderates sufficiently.

STANTON NEWS

The senior B. Y. P. U. held its regular business meeting last Tuesday night at the home of Miss Francis Woolley. Quite a number were present. Chocolate and cake were served.

Mr. Winston Huff of Selma spent Sunday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Huff.

Miss Kitty Cattenghan of Clayton spent Sunday here.

Miss Alma Jones of Linden, Ala., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jones.

Mr. Curtis Apperson of Birmingham spent a few days here.

Mr. W. C. Dyer spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

There will be a fiddlers' convention at the Stanton high school, Saturday night February 27. Everybody is invited. Admission 30c and 20c.

Changes In School Faculty

Changes are noted in the grammar school faculty. Resignations have been tendered by Mesdames J. D. Broadhead of the sixth grade and E. V. Smith of the first grade. Mr. John Plier, formerly of the Providence school, and Miss Myrtle Jones have assumed the respective vacancies.

COOPER NEWS

Miss Bessie Smith returned Monday from Wetumpka, where she has been spending a while wiith her brother and wife.

Misses Tula and Lena Mims of Clanton spent Saturday night and Sunday visiting Misses Lottie Vance and Mary Wies.

Miss Jannie Allen is on the sick list, but improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cox of Marbury visited Mr. and Mrs. John Dennis Saturday.

Everybody is enjoying a real good moving picture show here. Clay's comedy show and wild west. It is good for a traveling show and everybody that can is taking it in.

Harrison Smith drove to Wetumpka Monday in the interest of his sawmill. Dewey DeLoch returned with him in the afternoon.

Mrs. Will Morris and children visited Mrs. DeLande Wednesday afternoon.

All the farmers are using the pretty sunshine days and will soon have their land in shape.

L. & N. President Dead

The body of W. L. Mapother, president of the L. & N., railroad, passed through Clanton on Saturday last on a special train en route to Cincinnati for burial. Mr. Mapother suddenly died in Cuba early this month while on a visit to that country.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for the kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our husband and father, also Dr. Down, for his faithful service. God bless you all is our sincere prayer.—Mrs. M. Askins and Children.

If They Didn't Pay

Failure of readers of the Kalamazoo (Mich.) Gazette to pay for their paper back in 1850 resulted in a paragraph in its columns bringing condemnation down upon their heads. Here is an announcement published December 13, 1850:

"Receipt No. 1—David Burrows of Colon, who owes for the Gazette, for three years, $6, may consider this a receipt in full, he having represented himelf independently poor and defied us to get the pay if we could. We hope he may go to heaven bottom side up.'"

Entertains Card Club

On Wednesday morning Hugh Simpson entertained the Clanton Card club. The Simpson home was prettily decorated for the occasion with pot plants and a profusion of daffodils. Bridge was played from three tables. Upon conclusion of the games Mrs. N. S. Johnson was found to hold high score and was awarded two dainty handmade kerchiefs. The two-course luncheon served by the hostess to her guests was very attractive and palatable.

Sewing Society

Mrs. Briggs Crumpton was hostess on Thursday afternoon to the Intermediate Sewing society. Clanton's young matrons applied their needles on dainty work, while engaged in social conversation during the brief hours of the afternoon. The hostess served a tempting salad course to her guests.

Regarding Charges

The Shelby County Reporter is another weekly newspaper of this section which regards its space as its stock in trade, and has this to say.

"The Reporter finds it necessary to call attention again to the fact that good nemspaper practice everywhere regards cards of thanks, obituaries and resolutions of respect as advertising matter. This paper, however, did not adopt the practice until a few months ago and up to that time ran all such matter without charge. Our friends will observe that we still carry a considerable volume of announcements of singings, community meetings of various sorts, school entertainments, etc., for which we make no charge, even though our friends frequently offer to pay for such matter.

"It often occurs that when a tribute of respect or some departed friend is sent in for publication the paaper has already given as news a full account of the illness and death of that person with such tribute as we are able to obtain. A tribute of respect is not news—it is no more fair to publish such matter free than it would be to ask a florist to donate flowers which make up so beautiful and tender a part of every funeral service."

Our rate for printing cards and obituaries is 1c a word."

Interesting Visitors

Crowded out last week.

The Nadler family of Birmingham, formerly of Gadsden, dined at Hotel Wilson on Sunday. The day was balmy and proved inducive to the Nadlers for sight-seeing. The son, Mr. Joe Nadler, has visited Clanton formerly, accompanying one of Birmingham's prominent druggists. It will be remembered by some that the Nadler sisters, one a violinist, the other a pianist, completed a trio of entertainers, who a few years ago gave an evening's entertainment in the high school auditorium.

The Nadler family decided upon going out to inspect lock 12, and declared themselves to be so delighted with the trip to Chilton that they shall in the future take frequent pleasure trips to our county.

EPIDEMIC OF FLU AGAIN PREVALENT

Birmingham Has Several Thousand Cases

Announcing that several thousand persons in Birmingham are ill with influenza ... warning against serious complications the epidemic is leaving in its wake, Dr. J. D. Dowling, health officer, said Saturday how the disease can best be combatted, ... the Age-Herald.

"The surest way," he said, "is to go to bed before you are sick. At the first sign of illness it is of the utmost importance to stay in a warm room until several days after the symptoms of illness have passed.

"To persons who feel they cannot follow this rule, the health officer gave this advice:

1. Avoid crowds, for flu is highly contagious.
2. Drink lots of water.
3. Take ample rest and recreation.
4. Maintain an even temperature in the home and office.

The epidemic has caused 128 deaths here since January 1, Dr. Domling said..

Joint Hostesses

[Intended for last week's issue

Mesdames. L. F. Gerald and Grady Broadhead were joint hostess on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, when they entertained in the home of the former. The Gerald home had been made ready for these brilliant social affairs with a St. Valentine decorative scene. The drawing room, library and dining room were united into an inviting and spacious apartment. Festoons of red and white hearts, filmy twile, beams of subdued candlelight radiating through petals of red creeping roses, handsome ferns, palms and flowering plants, crimson and white carnations, arranged in crystal and silver containers, emitting their spicy fragrance, made a combination that proved enchanting to the afternoon guests. Wednesday afternoon was given over to the playing of bridge, upon conclusion of which a beautifully embroidered buffet linen set, an artistic teapot and an embroidered toilet towel, were awarded respectively to Mrs. J. H. Alred, Mrs. Eric Hart and Miss Madelyn Orr.

Thursday afternoon's affair was designed as a reception, during the hours of more than fifty friends left cards. Refreshments for each occasion were skillfully designed, sandwiches, cakes, an bonbons were heart-shaped and served with tea and coffee. The musical program and readings of Thursday afternoon were appropriate and proved enjoyable.

Mesdames Gerald and Broadhead received congratulations from many appreciative friends on the sucess of the social functions designed by them.

Cow Testing Associations Invaluable Aid to Milk Production

Elimination of non-productive cows from milk herds increases net profits.

Getting more milk from fewer cows is the aim of the cow testing association. Hundreds of cases have demonstrated in a most striking manner that the weeding out of non-productive milk cows and better care for the producing members of the milk herd pay big dividends.

This point was strongly stressed in an exhibit at the International Dairy Exposition held at Indianapolis last October. An actual instance was given which disclosed the following facts.

A milk producer had a herd of six milk cows producing 27,000 pounds of milk annually. He joined a cow testing association. The first step taken was to weed out the non-productive cows, that is, those cows yielding insufficient milk to net a profitable income over and above feed cost.

The weeding out process left only four cows in the milk herd. But these remaining cows were fed according to their individual requirements. No sanitary or beneficial feeding measure was neglected. During stabling months, they were given plenty of clean bedding; stables were kept clean; the long hair on flanks and udders were kept clipped. The cows were brushed or wiped with a damp cloth before each milking. Utensils were sterilized. The stable was well ventilated and plenty of clean, pure water was given the cows.

A year from the time the member joined the association, his records showed an increase in milk to more than 28,000 pounds from the four cows as compared to 27,000 pounds from six cows prior to this period. There was more than a corresponding increase in butterfat.

The cow testing association consists of about twenty-six farmers who co-operate and employ a trained tester to test their cows for economical production of milk and butterfat. The tester spends one day a month on each farm and obtains a complete record of each cow's milk and butterfat production, feed consumed, feed cost, growth, and income, and income over feed.

The first cow testing association in the United States was that organized at Newaygo County, Michigan, in 1905. Since then, there has been a fairly constant growth until 1925 shows a tally of 732 cow testing associations with excellent prospects of the number doubling within the next three years.

Chiropractors Win Fight Against M. Ds.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 18.—When the fight between the chiropractors and physicians came up in the Mississippi legislature today in the way of a bill seeking to place the chiropractors under the jurisdiction of the state board of health, it was hard fought and both sides contested the right of way bitterly and determinedly. Thus it went down to defeat, 69 to 44.

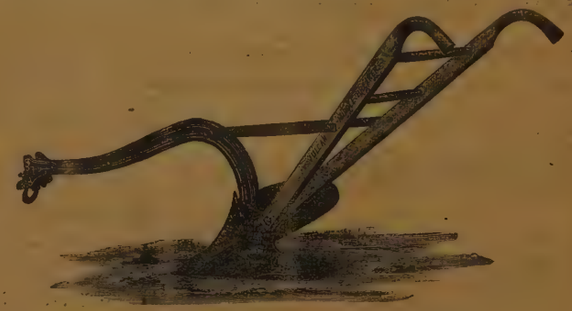
BEWARE OF

IMITATIONS

BE SURE YOU GET GENUINE "VULCAN" CHILLED PLOWS and PARTS



Here are some of their great advantages—WELL FINISHED — STRONG and DURABLE—PERFECT FIT—AND OF LIGHT DRAFT.

When you buy a Plow, consider Quality first and Price second. The "Vulcan" Good Quality includes rib-strengthened mold, full chilled shin piece, interlocked point and standard. The strongest and most durable chilled point made.

Imitation points and parts do not fit properly, and a plow equipped with them can not do the quality of work expected. They break easy and are made of inferior material.

Be sure each part you buy bears the "Vulcan" trade mark, cast into the back of the share.

Best point this year, concave, self-sharpening, longer life than old ones, and will last twice as long as imitations:

Buy only genuine "Vulcan" repairs.

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

VOLUMN 5 SIX PAGES CLANTON ALA., FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1926 NO. 24

MR. CONSUMER WILL STILL PAY FREIGHT

Rich Men Will Pay Less Tax Than Before

In an editorial explaining the effects of the new federal tax law the Birmingham Post says:

Senator Smoot, chairman of the committee, says nobody wants to pay taxes, and everyone thinks he pays them all. Which raises an interesting question: Who will pay the taxes finally under the bill Smoot's committee has reported to the senate. Well, for one thing, only two out of every 115 persons in the country will contribute directly to the treasury in income tax payments. The other 113 will pay in some other way..

The government will collect from income taxes some $1,681,000,000 should the senate bill become a law. About 2,000,000 persons will pay it. Rich men, with surtax rates cut from 40 to 20 per cent, will pay less than before.

This amount is less than half of what the government will spend during the next fiscal year. Something like $1,813,000,000 will come from other sources.

About $550,000,000, for instance, will come from the highly protected ariff. There's no secret about who will pay this. The consumer will—rich and poor alike, but mostly poor, for there are more poor people. The more dependents the consumer has the more he'll pay. His pay ments won't stop with the $550,000,000 either. By the time the final burden of the tax has reached him he will pay perhaps four or five times that through multiplication of profits in turnovers.

The consumer thus will pay around $2,500,000,000 because of the tariff. The government will get 20 per cent of it and protected interests will get most of the rest.

Miscellaneous internal taxes, taxes on tobacco, autos, et cetera-will contribute perhaps $50,000,000 more.These are widely scattered taxes, which will pay.

The main thing to remember is that the income tax henceforth will be paid by comparatively few citizens, anl that the rich will pay relatively less.

Many believe this emasculation of the income tax is unwise, and that it op ensthe doors to indirect taxes, which ar apt to take much more from the person who finally pays them than the government gets. Also, these indirect taxes violate the principle that those who have an excess of wealth should contribute relatively more to the expense of government than those of small means, because the ultimate consumer pays.

Also,many believe that it is a mistake to cut surtax reduce large accumulations of capital, and spread them among the whole people.

Don't think, Mr. Average Citizen, that by some magic hocus-pocus you're to be relieved of helping keep up the federal government thru the new tax bill. You"ll pay all right. You'll pay more eventually than you are paying under the present tax law.

MONTEVALLO MAN GETS TEN YEARS

Alfred Smith Is Convicted Of Murder

Columbiana, Ala., Feb. 27. Albert Smith, of Montevallo, was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary in the circuit court here this week.

Smith shot and killed Bradford, a prominent citizen of Montevallo, on January. 6, 1926, it was charged. It was the theory of the state that Smith, together with his brother-in-law, had conspired to kill Bradford on account of civil law suits pending between Gene Lucas, a brother-in-law of the defendant and Mr. Bradford. The defendant entered a plea of self-defense and the unwritten law. Mr. Smith on the day of the killing was working in Childersburg and came home unexpectedly for the night and on his arrival found his wife away from home and about four o'clock in the morning, it was alleged Smith met his wife coming in with Mr. Bradford and when Smith called to them to stop Mr. Bradford opened fire and then Mr. Smith shot and killed Bradford. Mrs. Smith testified in court that she had been out the entire night with Mr. Bradford and that she was not expecting her husband home that night.

The court suspended sentence pending an appeal and a bond was fixed at ten thousand dollars.

"SO HELP ME GOD" LEFT OUT OF OATH

And As a Result the Effect Is Killed

Huntsville, Feb. 27.—The fact that the final phrase "so help me God" was not used in an oath administered to Herman Cagle when he swore to the age of a girl in obtaining a license to wed her made it no oath at all and that he could not be prosecuted for perjury, is the ruling of Judge James E. Horton of the circuit court here. The point was brought out in a demurrer offered by counsel for the defense when Cagle was arraigned and when it was sustainel by the court, the charge against the defendant was dismissed.

OLD TIME FIDDLERS WILL HOLD MEETING

Event Marked For March 13 At Clanton

ANTI-LYNCH BILL NO LONGER DREADED

Not Thought Coolidge Favors Measure

A Washington dispatch of Saturday had the following to say regarding the anti-lynching bill introduced in congress a few days a.o:

The threat of the anti-lynching bill no longer hangs over congress, because the white house "spokesman" has not listed it among the "essential" pieces of legislation before an early adjournment.

The president never has indicated he favors such a drastic measure, which would transfer all criminal cases growing out of lynching to the feder al courts and would impose a fine of $10,000 upon any county in which a lynching occurred

The anti-lynching bill has been threatened as a reprisal against southern Democrats who voted to shut off debate on the world court. It has been said that a majority of senators favor the bill, which could easily be rushed thru the house But with cloture there has been no chance to bring the measure to a vote in the upper chamber.

Democrats s ay they will keep congress in session until next Christmas if necessary to defeat the bill The Democrats can at any time muster more than the necessary one-third vote to block clotur on the measure. Unless direct pressure should be applied from the white house, Repubican senatos will not dare to keep the anti-lynching bill up for action.

GOODWATER BLAZE DOES BIG DAMAGE

Starting At McCord's Mill; Thought Adcidental

Goodwater, Feb. 27.—Goodwater had its second fire within the past two weeks Tuesday night. The offices of Z. B. McCord and company, the corn mill of Henry McCord, together with 500 bushels of corn, and the engine and boiler rooms of the McCord & Co. were destroyed.

By hard work, however, the large McCord ginnery, the R. P. Harris Motor company and several buildings of the Southern Casket company were saved.

The loss is partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire was in the boiler room of the McCord & Co. he fire is not thought to have been of incendiary origin.

CANDIDATE LISTS FILLING SLOWLY

All Are Said To Be In For Bigger Offices

Hugh Sparrow, writing for the Birmingham News says:

With a governor and a senator to be elected and a number of state and county offices to be filled Alabama's political arena is now cleared and made ready for the primary of August 8.

About 30 days intervened Saturday before entrance barricades are to be lowered, and in view of the proximity of that date political interest not only in Birmingham, but throughout the state, had received a decided impetus.

Although certain candidates and their friends have opened offensives, political observers here the past week were concentrating attention directly on the field of probable candidates, and this phase of the race was being studied with interest

In both the senate and gubernatorial contests. It was generally conceded that the field of entries were practically complete. Five candidates. Thomas E.. Kilby, former governor; J. H. Bankhead, Jr., of Jasper; Samford Mullins of Alexander City; Judge J. J. Mayfield of Montgomery, and Hugo Black, Birmingham attorney are certified for senatorial contest with a possibility that L. B. Musgrove, Jasper capitalist, may become the sixth.

It was considered improbable that any late arrivals would enter the gubernatorial contest, and that when the fina date for qualification is passed, Chas. S. McDowell, Jr, lieutenant governor: A. H. Carmichael, of Tuscumbia, former speaker of the house of representatives; Harwell G. Davis, attorney general Bibb Graves of Montgomery and A. G. Patteson chairman of the Alabama public service commission will be the only contestants.

SMALL TOWN LAWS GIVEN HARD BLOW

Highway Body Threatens To Skip Some

Following is the text of the resolution passed by the Alabama highway commission on February 12, which was inadvertently omitted from the issue of The News which contained an editorial comment upon the matter. As that comment suggested, the order or resolution by the commission evidently had its inspiration in the alleged speed trap at Calera, and, as the order plainly says, it is theintention of the highway body to build roads "around" the smaller towns whose traffic ordinances do not conform to the august opinion of that body. Here is the resolution:

"Whereas, a great many of the towns and smaller cities of the state through which the state highwaay department and the federal government, with state funds, or the state highway department with state and federal funds have constructed highways are putting on very drastic speed regulations not warranted by congested conditions, the state highway department and the federal bureau of public roads feel that the people of Alabama using the highways are being unjustly restricted in the proper use thereof by such speed regulations.

"Now, therefore, in view of this condition, unless the said towns and small cities of the state will revise their regluations in a reasonable manner and to the satisfaction of the state highwa department, it will be necessary for the department to build around such towns so that the traveling public will not have to pass through them and to refuse in future to build any part of the state highways within such small towns and cities, except where the authorities thereof shall enter into an agreement with the highway department not to impose unjust and improper speed regulations on such stretches of highway as may be built within the limits of such towns or cities with state or with state and federal funds."

TAX REDUCTION BILL NOW LAW

Measure Is Signed By the President

President Coolidge Friday signed the $387,811,000 federal tax reduction bill, making it a law at 10:22 a. m. The law exempts 2,300,000 persons — "little fellows" — who paid income taxes last year from filing returns or paying taxes this year, and reduces income taxes materially.

Most important no-revenue provision of the meas re is repeal of income tax publicity, p laced in the law in 1924.

The new law, known officially as "the revenue act of 1926," will raise $2,365,189,000 acording to treasury estimates compared with $2,749,000,000 under the 1924 law in the calendar year of 1925.

Summarized, the bill provides:

Normal tax rates of 1½ per cent on the first $4,000 of taxable income, 3 per cent on the next $4,000 and 5 per cent thereafter, compared with 2, 4 and 6 per cent respeectively at pres ent and surtax rates ranging from 1 per cent on the income above $10,000 ranging up to 20 per cent on $100,000 compared with the present one to 40 per cent.

Personal exemptions are increased to $3,500 from $2,500 for married persons and to $1,500 from $1,000 for unmarried persons.

Exemptions for dependents remain at $400 each.

Reduction of the automobile excise tax from 5 to 3 per cent will save $46,400,000 to taxpayers, a total revenue of $69,000,000 being expected. Elimination of taxes on tires and other accessories amount to $25,000,000, but the $9,000,000 tax on trucks is retained. Lowering the estate tax will cut the year's revenue $15,000,000.

The gift tax repeal cuts the tax burden $2,000,000.

Cigar tax s are cut $4,000,000, the estimated revenue being $21,000,000. Other tobacco taxes are left unchanged.

Ten per cent tax on theater admission starts at 75 cents instead of 50 cents, cutting revenue from $33,000,000 to $24,000,000.

Stamp tax revenue will be cut from $46,000,000 to 41,750,000.

Alcohol taxes are cut from $40,000,000 to $21,000,000.

MUST SHOOT ONLY IN SELF DEFENSE

Ban Placed On Arresting Officers

Montgomery, Feb. 27.—State law enforcement officers of Alabama wil no longer shoot at law violators except in self defense.

This order has been issued by Chief W. K. McAdory, following reports of injury to people in raids on stills and in stopping autos suspected of carrying liquor.

The reports are that several people have been shot while running after failure to obey the officer's command to halt.

Editor's Chat

What the present management of The News set out to do here is mainly to give the people just such a paper in The News as they demand, looking forward to improvement in every way possible, of course. If you want an eight-page paper, patronized liberally by the business people, or a twelve-page or a twenty-four page, you will let that demand be known, consciously or otherwise, by your own attitude toward the paper—and you needn't think the publisher will not be the first to recognize that demand. If you are a Democrat—you don't have to be a politician to be either a Democrat or a Republican—you will have enough political patriotism in your veins to do a good turn by the paper. As a whole we usually get just about what we are willing to pay for in every effort.

So far as the short-comings of The News are concerned, no one is better qualified to "catch" them quicker Thirty-five years' experience in newspaper making has brought us to the critical stage along this line, insofar as our own publication is concerned, at least; and while we recognize the many deficiencies and errors that glare at us from these coldmns, and our heart aches for the magic wand for the cure of all evils, we know all too well that the best we can hope for is to make a little correction in one place this week, an improvement somewhere else next week, etc., until we can give you the limit of the capacity of the plant. The entire force of The News has been zealously engaged both day and nights for two months now in a determined effort both to keep up with the work of getting out the paper and job printing, and also to the endeavor of cleaning etc. Take a look at some few samples of job printing we have turned out in our display window, or samples and prices will be sent to anyone upon request. You cannot beat it, price, neatness and quality of paper considered, in Birmingham, Montgomery or elsewhere.

We earnestly solicit the co-operation of our readers in both a moral and material way. We must say that we are somewhat disappointed at the small percentage to either send or hand in the amount due on subscription On the other hand, we feel deeply grateful to all those who have paid up had a kind and encouraging word for us. If there is a single one on our list who does not want the paper continued to his or her address, kindly let us know directly or through your postmaster or mail carrier, and we will take your name from the list. But if you are due anything on that account, don't return the paper to us marked "Refused" until you pay up.

Until we can get the business operating more to our liking our advertising rates will remain at the same figures they are today—although, as we believe our business people understand, they are too low. We can get nothing now at as low prices as we did, say, in 1913, when the dollar was worth more than it ever has been since; yet advertising prices of The News today are just about the same as were the prices of those days, circulation considered in a similar way.

That "advertising pays" is a truth too well known to have any legitimate opposition. More money was spent for newspaper advertising last year than ever before in the history of the country not only but national advertisers, chain store and department store managers, etc., have announced they will spend more this year than last. We come to you with the hope and purpose of making your publicity matter entrusted to us pay you. Mr. Advertiser, we want to please you, and given opportunity, we feel that we can prove good all we have said.

THE EDITOR.

At last the Birmingham News admits what has been apparent to the average man on the corner for some time when, in speaking of the great number of deaths and injuries from auto accidents it says: "So, it rather looks as though speed is the underlying cause of most accidents." "Speed." That's the cause, and if eliminated as was suggested in these columns recenty there would be few accidents.

Again The News would like to say to the rural brethren that if a country weekly comes to this office and its editorial columns fail to get the "once over" by us it can be set down as an accident. We have a splendid list of exchanges and we appreciate every one of them. And, thanks to Brother Nunnelee, we now get the benefit of his ideas through the Centreville Press.

Considerable acreage has been broken up along the highway and the L. & N. in Elmore county, some in Autauga and North Montgomery, but the absence of the green oat fields seems to us an indication that these farmers will continue to buy their feedstuff.

Go where you will and you cannot find a town with prettier small residences or more of them in proportion to population than Clanton. Truly the building artist "turned himself loose" here.

Our Birthright

Everyone is entitled to civility. The greatest of teachers said: "Little children, a new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another." This is not simple—to love humanity. It is too often true that people resent each other; are inclined not only to think but to say unkind things and commit acts that are very harmful to others. Especially is there a tendency to be overbearing. Give some men and women a little authority and they are quick to exercise a domineering spirit toward those unfortunate ones who are compeled to submit to such, says the Southern Labor Review.

While humanity is not so lovely and lovable as the Creator's plan of divinity intended, and of which He has given us illustrations in His Holy Writ, yet if all would try to think kindly of one another then it would become natural to accord others fair treatment. There would be no spirit of imagined superiority in dealing with others, but the golden rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," would be the accepted order.

Think kindly, speak kindly in your dealings with others and at least, you will have no feeling of resentment ranking in another mind, producing disagreeable or rebellious thoughts.

CONVICT PROBE IS CLOSED BY STATE

Board Says Taylor Died a Natural Death

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 26—Hoot Taylor, former state convict, who died at Flat Top prison on Nov 21, 1925, came to his death from natural causes as reported by the state board of administration. That is the conclusion reached by L. A. Boyd, president, and Roi L. Nolen, associate member of the state board of administration, following an exhaustive investigation into the death of Taylor, which investigation was instituted and conducted by the board, by direction of Gov. W. W. Brandon.

In a letter to the governor transmitting their report, Mr. Boyd and Mr. Nolan state: "After conducting the investigation by obtaining statements from everyone who knows anything about the facts, we have reached the conclusion from the corroborative evidence of the witnesses examined that the deceased met his death in the manner as officially reported to this department, Nov. 21,

Suspicions About Wall Street and How They Arise

By FRANCIS H. SISSON, President
Trust Company Division, American Bankers Association

F. H. Sisson

WOULD-BE economists, political orators and the general public make frequent positive assertions about the functions of Wall Street without any realization of what constitutes Wall Street or what purpose it serves. Lack of knowledge breeds suspicion. Yet it is not difficult to understand the nature and function of Wall Street. Let us set down a few of the facts which account for the existence and nation-wide, as well as international, services of Wall Street.

There are $16 banks in New York with combined capital and surplus of about $1,400,000,000. Their deposits aggregate over $11,500,000,000, and during 1924 their total volume of business reached nearly $250,000,000,000. The New York Stock Exchange in 1925 sold 463,000,000 shares of stock and in 1924 $3,828,000,000 worth of bonds. Wall Street is the national credit and money market. It is just as essential that there be markets for money and for stocks, bonds, mortgages and other securities as for cotton, corn, tobacco, wheat, hogs and other commodities.

If Wall Street Were Destroyed

Wall Street is the natural evolution of the forces of trade and finance. It exists because there is imperative need for it in the nation's business. If some cataclysm should destroy the financial district of New York we would see frantic efforts to re-establish it so that trade and industry could continue. If the production and marketing of agricultural and industrial commodities did not need such a financial institution, Wall Street would not exist.

We depend upon the farmer to help maintain the general level of prosperity. Wall Street as a money market is called upon to finance the growth and marketing of farm crops. Many Wall Street bankers were born and raised on farms. If they were not thoroughly familiar with agricultural requirements, they could not hold their present positions in the financial world.

In the period of deflation, Wall Street suffered proportionately as much as the farmer. The aggregate losses of Wall Street banks mounted to a staggering sum. Wall Street is not an independent institution, but an organic part of the country's business system, necessarily reflecting the ups and downs of business.

Four Billion Dollars

An approximate estimate of the main items in Wall Street's financial operations in handling farm crops shows that New York banks for the purpose of agriculture put out commercial loans to the value of one billion dollars, hold bankers' acceptances for another billion, buy commercial paper such as cattle and sheep loans for a third billion and carry balances of country banks for a fourth billion. Thus Wall Street furnishes a $4,000,000,000 river of credit annually to produce farm products and float them to market.

The outward flow to rural banks enables them to make the required advances on farm crops and for warehousing and handling cotton, tobacco, wheat, raisins, peanuts and countless other products. Outside of his own personal efforts on his farm, Wall Street is the biggest single factor in the prosperity of the farmer. After these commodities have been moved to market, the money used in handling them returns to Wall Street for investment. New York is the largest security market in the country and offers a use and market for the idle capital of the rural banks between crops.

Funds from every part of the country flow to New York, attracted by the greater opportunity for their profitable use found in this center. Thus the accumulations of deposits are large, and in turn the openings for the useful employment of these funds in the facilitation of trade, industry and investment are upon a correspondingly ample scale. It is clear that these funds must be employed safely, constructively and to the real service of the business community. Otherwise they would inevitably soon be withdrawn.

Huge Investments Help Farmers

These huge investment operations in Wall Street are of significance to the farmer. Much of the $10,000,000,000 invested in farm mortgages was advanced by Eastern financial institutions. In no sense is Wall Street's interest in agriculture local or sectional. The main function of New York financial institutions is to send money where it is most needed.

Another service rendered to agriculture by Wall Street is the purchase of Farm Loan bonds, Joint Stock Land Bank bonds and the debentures of the Intermediate Credit Banks. There is a total of $1,451,200,000 of this paper outstanding, of which New York banks took about one billion.

Wall Street loans to country banks are made at low rates, usually below 4½ per cent. The local banker's rates to his customers are adjusted to local conditions, which cannot justly be laid at the door of Wall Street.

General financial service to other industries related to agriculture also helps the farmer substantially. Wall Street loans to the packers, railroads, millers and farm-machinery manufacturers to help them serve agriculture.

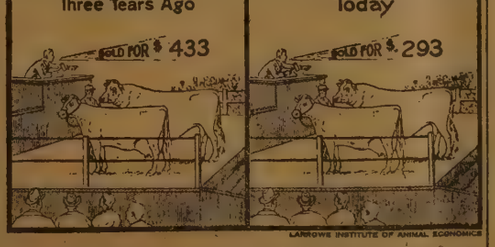
Wall Street is as necessary and serviceable in the handling of credit and capital as is the cold-storage plant in caring for seasonal perishable products. The necessity of such a credit center in a country with a $60,000,000,000 annual business is obvious.

What the People Want

Every great international bank in New York maintains close relations with thousands of other banks in the United States and in every foreign country of any importance. The movements of commerce and investment are supported upon this interrelated system of domestic and foreign banks. Thus it comes about that the products of the farm, factory and mine are financed by these banks all the way from the producer to the foreign consumer.

Wall Street in the discharge of its true functions as the nation's reservoir of capital and credit includes the whole business community in its field of operations. Its control lies with the people. Their demands govern it, and their presence or absence from the market determines its trends. Wall Street prospers as farming and industry prosper. Its service is to the people of the whole country and, for them, to the people of other countries. It is the direct reflection of American agriculture, industry and commerce.—From the Country Gentleman.

Bargain Pure Bred Prices Boost Dairying Profits



A PURE-BRED sire is the first step to profitable dairying, according to the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics, which is urging farmers to take advantage of prevailing low prices of good breeding stock to organize their herds for greater production. A pure-bred bull and cow which three years ago sold for an average of $433 at auction may now be obtained for only $293, statistics show.

"Sire profits" may make all the difference between a farmer's labor income of $500 a year and another farmer's income that is twice that amount. In one agricultural college survey it was found that whereas the average labor income on farms heading their herds with pure-bred bulls was $837 in a year, farms using grade bulls returned a labor income for the year of only $489. But even as he breeds up better cows, the farmer can realize a greater profit from the cows on hand if he will but give more attention to proper feeding. The average cow under ordinary farm conditions is not producing profitably because her grain ration lacks milk-making elements or because she is underfed or overstuffed with poorly balanced feed.

There are "poor" pure breds as well as "good." "Pedigree" alone only guarantees pure blood, not results. It takes a good cow, a good dairy ration and good management to succeed. Records of performance and the actual test are what need to be watched in these days of business tangles.

MAKE MORE MONEY FROM COTTON

Greater Yield Per Acre Important In Solving Problem.

J. G. Pridmore.

The amount of money, or net profit which the farmer gets out of his cotton crop is determined very largely by the yields made on each acre. Generally speaking, the larger the yield per acre, the greater the net profit to the farmer; whereas smaller yields per acre give him proportionately less profits.

As evidence of the truthfulness that yields govern profits, we have, in addition to the experience of the individual farmers, much information from state and government surveys, showing that there is a close relationship between yields per acre, and profits in growing cotton, and that the larger yields give the farmers more money for their efforts.

Since yields do govern profits to the farmer, and since profit is what the farmer is working for, he should strive to make use of every means possible that influences and makes for bigger yields.

While there are several factors bearing directly upon yields per acre, chief among these is the kind and quantity of fertilizer used. In fact, there is a very close relationship between yields per acre and the kind and quantity of fertilizer used. That being true, the farmer interested in making most profit on his cotton should give very careful consideration to the selection of the kind, and quantity, of fertilizers used in the production of this crop.

With this in view they should keep in mind the fact that fertilizer is to be used primarily in supplying plant food for the growing crop, and that best results will be obtained by getting fertilizers that have been properly prepared, processed, well ground, finely pulverized, and thoroughly mixed, and which carry plant foods, phosphoric acid, nitrogen, and potash in the proper balance, or ratio, and in the proportion needed by the cotton plants; this applied in liberal quantities, preferably at, or just prior to planting time.

To this end we strongly advise the use of from 800 to 900 pounds per acre of a fertilizer containing from 10% to 12% available phosphoric acid, 3% to 4% nitrogen, and from 3% to 4% potash, on the sandy natured lands, particularly those in the Coastal Plain area, which should be supplemented with a side dressing of 100 to 150 pounds of nitrate of soda, or three-fourths this amount of sulphate of ammonia.

On the heavier soils, such as those in the Piedmont region, we advise the same quantity per acre of the same kind, but with slightly less potash or the heavier soil types, letting the fertilizer be supplemented in this case with a side dressing of nitrate of soda, or sulphate of ammonia, as is recommended for the Coastal Plain, on sandy natured lands.

Purchasing Power of Alabama Cotton

The purchasing power of the Alabama's total production of cotton lint on December 1 as compared with the same date in former years is the highest since the beginning of the war. The average annual value on December 1 of cotton lint in Alabama from 1909 to 1913 was $81,843,960. The value of the crop on December 1, 1925, was $126,158,000 or 53 per cent above the 1909 to 1913 average. Taking the general price level for December 1, at 160, the purchasing power of the cotton crop for 1925 is 96 as compared with 85 for 1924, 74 for 1923, 34 for 1920 (the lowest in recent years), and 100 from 1909 to 1913.

The purchasing power of cotton per pound for the 1925-26 season (at 20 cents per pound) is 109. For 1924 it was 118 and for 1923, 152. The purchasing power per acre in 1925 is estimated at 109, as compared with 106 in 1924, and 51 in 1923. The 1909-13 average is taken as 100.

The purchasing power per acre of cotton in Alabama in 1925 was the highest since 1918 when it was 112.—From "Farm Economics," Auburn, Ala.

TEST IS MADE OF WILSON DAM LOCKS

Gates and Valves Work Satisfactorily

Florence, Feb. 27.—Saturday marked another mile stone in the progress of the great Wilson dam when water for the first time was turned through the big locks on the north side of the dam for the purpose of making a test of the gates and valves in the locks. It was more than satisfactory to officials and engineers Very little work remains to be done on the lock, which measures 300 feet in length and 60 feet in width and a lift of about 90 feet.

There are about 950 men emp loyed now at Wilson dam and this number will be reduced as soon as certain parts of the work is finished. All major jobs at the dam has been completed and all machinery tested, Erection of bascule bridges over locks on north side will be finished in about 30 days, Laying of paved road across the dam will be completed in about 60 days, and Wilson dam will be started in about 10 days In fact, practically all the work that remains to be done at the dam is in the nature of carrying away from buildings, removing rdbbish and constuction of some roads in the reservations. The eight master turbines installed are already to run full time, as testing has been completed and they were found ready to generate the thousands of horsepower. Dam No. 1 is also fitted and all that is being done here now is clearing away rubbish and beautifying the grounds.

COMPLAINTS HEARD ABOUT STRAY DOGS

There Is a Law Against Running at Lage of Dogs

Montgomery, Feb. 27.—"A large number of complaints each year are registered with the department of game and fisheries of the state relative to the promiscuous running at large and roaming at will of a large number of dogs," says Commissioner O. T. Quinn of that depatment.

"It is claimed," said Mr. Quinn, "that these free-roaming dogs of all grades and kinds destroy a great many ground nesting birds and eggs each season. They not only take heavy toll of the bird life of the state, but also destroy a great quantity of live stock and domestic poultry."

It is pointed out by Mr. Quinn that the legislature of 1915 passed an act which if enforced by proper authorities in the several counties in the state would go a long way toward protecting game, domestic poultry and live stock. This act, he declares, provides that a person owning or having in his possession any dog or dogs shall kee same confined and failure to do so is declared a misdemeanor under section 3221, Criminal code of 1923, and is punishable by a fine of not less than $2.00 nor more than $50.00.

It is pointed out, however, that the owner of a dog may allow such dog to accompany him without violating any statute, and that the statute does not apply to dogs properly licensed and tagged. It is further shown that the statute becomes of full force and effect only upon adoption by the Courts of county commissioners, or boards of revenue, of the several counties of Alabama.

COOSA FARMERS TO PLANT LESS COTTON

Plans of Farmers Include More Corn

Goodwater, Feb. 28.—Coosa farmers have begun to make plans for another crop. From reports there will be less cotton and more corn planted this year than last.

There will be a considerable amount of commercial fertilizers used and cotton planted will be heavily fertilized and worked more intensively.

Meeting of Interest

On Thursday, February 18 the executive committee of the Chilton county association met with the pastors and workers at the courthouse in Clanton for the purpose of discussing some plans for the future work.

The first thing unanimously agreed upon was to try to carry out during the month of March Alabama's educational program, leaving it with the pastors to arrange the program as near as possible to meet the needs of their different churches.

Another important agreement was to resume the pastors' and workers' monthly meetings. The date set on which to meet is Mondays following the fourth Sunday in each month. Therefore, March 1, at the courthouse, is the date of the first meeting. All pastors and workers are asked to co-operate in this work.

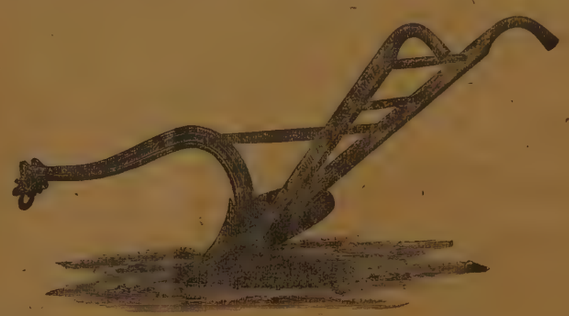
IMITATIONS

BE SURE YOU GETGENUINE "VULCAN" CHILLED PLOWS and PARTS



Here are some of their great advantages—WELL FINISHED — STRONG and DURABLE—PERFECT FIT—AND OF LIGHT DRAFT.

When you buy a Plow, consider Quality first and Price second. The "Vulcan" Good Quality includes rib-strengthened mold, full chilled shin piece, interlocked point and standard. The strongest and most durable chilled point made.

Imitation points and parts do not fit properly, and a plow equipped with them can not do the quality of work expected. They break easy and are made of inferior material.

Be sure each part you buy bears the "Vulcan" trade mark, cast into the back of the share.

Would Establish Federal Department Education

HOPE SEEN FOR EDUCATION BILL

Believed Measure May Be Passed at Present Session

There is strong hope, in fact belief, among people interested in education that the educational bill often presented will be passed at this session of congress. The General Federation of Women"s clubs, with 26 other national organizations supports this bill, and Alabama club women should write their representatives in congress of their inerest in its passage, says the Birmingham News.

The National Educational association gives the provisions of the educational bill to be introduced as follows:

Creates a department of education with a secretary of education in the president's cabinet.

Provides for co-ordination of certain educational work of the federal government by transferring the bureau of education, the federal board of vocational education, the Columbia Institution for the deaf and Howard university to the new department.

Provides for investigation and research in education, the results of which are to be made available for the use of local school officers in establishing and maintaining more efficient schools.

Provides a means for reducing dpulication in the educational work of federal executive departments by creating the inter-department conference on education.

Authorizing appropriation for conduct of work of the department.

A department of education would enjoy the prestige necessary to the conduct of extensive educational investigations that involve a large number of school workers. Such studies could be economically conducted by a single research agency such as a department of education and the results given general circulation.

A department could have ready for distribution at the request of school officers, information as to the best methods of teaching, as to results of research concerning the school curriculum, as to the most business-like methods school accounting budgetry procedure and as to the steps necessary to ensure economical and well constructed buildings.

Only a department of education can expect to enjoy the resources or the prestige that is essential to the great work to be done in making the education of our children less of a guess work and more of an intelligent procedure.

Tradition and guesswork still play too large a part in determining educational procedure. Children's' talents are often but partly developed and their time wasted by poor methods of teaching. Material that is of little the value at present or in the future takes up too large a part of each child's course.

Guesswork in education is costing millions each year. The sum of $17,500,000 would be available annually if more intelligent procedure brought about a saving of but one per cent in present saved would be available for offering all children better opportunities.

The educational bill gives no control over education as has been feared by some of the cautious ones. The farmer is not controlled by the department of agriculture because this department conducts investigations of tremendous value to the farmer. The work of this department has increased the farmer's productivity by millions of dollrs yearly.

CANDIDATES BUSY IN COOSA COUNTY

Seven Seek Sheriff and Assessor Offices In Coosa

Goodwater, Feb. 28.—The announcement of George W. Steele of McCord's for tax collector of Coosa county, brought the number of aspirants for this office up to one dozen candidates. The others who are seeking this office and who have already announced are: E. L. Boyett and C. O. Dozier of Rockford; N. R. Martin and M. F. Hodnett of Equality; J. W. Dunlap and W. M. Goggans of Hissop; B. A. Taylor of Weogufka; Mabry Townsend of Lauderdale; C. S. Corley of Kellyton; J. C. Pinson of Hanover and S. A. Thomas of Goodwater.

The race for assessor has not attracted so large a number of candidates, yet three have qualified for this race, as follows: T. L. Burk, incumbent, and running for a third term; John B. Robbins of Speed and C. B. Livingston of Kellyton.

With the formal enttry of W. C. Adams, which is expected Monday there will be four for this place, the other three being R. O. Snider and M. C. Waites of Rockford, and Milton Harris of Nix burg.

Work started this week on what will be both a beautiful and commodious residence just south of the Hodges hotel, which is being erected by J. B. Downs and we understand will be occupied by his son and family, H.F. Downs.

The building will be of pressed brick construction and contain six rooms. Of modern design and its location being convenient to the business section of the city, it will prove a valuable addition to the large number of real pretty residences of the medium size variety which are already occupied here now.

Democrats Will Get Control, Says Garrett

Tennessee Representative Says Party Leaders Are Not Only Hopeful But Militant and At Work

Atlanta, Ga., March 6.—An early return of the Democratic party to power in congress was forecast here Saturday by Representative Finis Garrett, minority leader of the house and veteran Tennessee representative.

Garrett spoke here before the Atlanta Bar association. His address dealt principally with the technical effect of his proposed amendment to the federal constitution, designed to change the method of amending the constitution in future by making it obligatory that the amendments shall hereafter be approved by legislatures which have been elected subsequent to the proposal of the amendment being acted upon.

In an interview Garrett declared the outlook for Democratic success in the congressional elections this fall is exceedingly optimistic.

"The outlook brightens every day," said Garrett. "The chances of capturing the house are better than ever and in the states that will elect senators the Democrats are favored by issues and circumstances.""

He declared the Democratic organization is active and militant and party headquarters in Washington is functioning excellently in co-operation with the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

POSSESSES VIOLIN SAID 217 YEARS OLD

Montgomery Man Has It, And In Good Shape

A Montgomery dispatch says a violin 217 years old is now in the hands of L. C Hill and is said to be in good condition with the exceptional feature that it needs a virtuoso to produce the music for which it is noted.

The violin bears the inscription 'faciebat anne 1709" and has the initials "A. S.," which indicated that it was made by the famous old violinmaker of Cremonia, Italy, Antonius Stradivarius.

Mr. Hill said that he believed the violin was the oldest in the world, but that he was only able to account for the history of it through the past 75 years. It has been in his possession for 24 years. His son, J C. Hill, a high school student here, is now learning the first lessons of violin on this 217-year-old instrument.

BRYAN PROPERTY IS VALUED AT $668,303

Commoner Had Land Valued At More Than $300,000

Miami, March 6.—The late William Jennings Bryan left an estate valued at $668,303, it was disclosed in an affidavit filed in probate court by three appraisers. The items listed in the Commoner's will and their value follow:

Furniture and household articles $2,903.25; cash on hand and in banks, $6,827.23; land contracted for sale, $358,644.76; mortgages receivable, $104,480.08; life insurance, $12,647.52; land contracted for purchase, $38,000; stocks and bonds, $49,338.54; royalties from news syndicates and books, $1,992.86.

The appraisers fixed the value of "Marymont," the family home near Cocoanut Grove, Florida, at $50,000. Mrs. Mary Baird Bryan, the Commoner's widow, is executor of the estate.

County Executive Committee Meets

Although the day was very inclement Wednesday, the committee was called to order promptly at 10 a. m. by Chairman Adams, with the spacious parlor overflowing with the members, both ladies and gentlemen who braved the elements to faithfully discharge their duty in shaping up real policies for the betterment of Chilton county.

It was a most harmonious and co-operative assembly and many excellent talks were made and much important business transacted. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereaas, It is a deplorable fact that in all political organizations under our system of government there springs up an element of "pie counter" hunters, who either wish to "rule or ruin." and who breed discord and dissension in the party and whose loyalty depends on the size and durability of their piece of "pie."

Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the Executive Committee of Chilton County and the party that it represents that we sincerely deplore the conditions and desire to condemn that spirit and here and now do pledge ourselves to support the Democratic party, county, state and national and all of its duly nominated candidates for office.

ADVANCES THEORY CHRIST'S HEIGHT

Said To Have Been Only Five Feet, Two

London, March 6.—The theory that Jesus Christ was a much smaller man than he has been represented is advanced by Dr. J. Rendel Harris, one of the greatest living authorities on Old Testament history. Dr. Harris considers that the words contained in a recently deciphered Syriac document thought to be part of a hymn written by Theodore, a Greek, support the belief that Christ was only five feet two inches high.

He quotes the Apostle John according to the Acts, as saying: "Oft times he would appear to be as a small man and uncomely, and then again, as one reaching up to the heavens.""

The estimate of five feet two is worked out by Dr. Harris from the writings of St. Ephron, the Syrian, which contained the following:

"God took human form and appeared with a stature of three human cubits, while at the same time sustaining all things He rose upon us little of stature."

Dr. Harris estimates three human cubits at five feet two inches

SEVEN STRICKEN IN ONE FAMILY

Illness And Deaths Due To Attack of Trichinosis

Pine Bluff, Ark., March 8.—With his little daughter at the point of death from trichinosis, a rare, deadly disease, J. H. Shepard today was stricken with the same malady. He is the seventh member of his family to develop trichinosis, which resulted from eating pork three weeks ago.

His wife died Tuesday; Ethel, aged 6, and John, aged 10, their children, are critically ill from the disease at a local hospital. Mrs. Shepard"s parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, and her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Taylor, also were stricken and all are in a serious condition.

The meat which brought the rare disease was killed soon after last Christmas. It was not smoked well enough and was not cooked done when served at the dinner.

Sharp pains running thru his body gave Mr. Shepard the first indication that he was suffering from the disease. Dr. F. M. Smith, county health officer, announced that a test showed trichinosis in Mr. Shepard's blood. The germs have the effect of deadening the muscles.

At a local hospitaal it was said that Ethel Shepard"s death was apparently but a matter of hours, while it was not expected her little brother could live over two or three days.

God's Wonderful Love

1 John, 4-7. Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God..

8. He that loveth not, knoweth not God; for God is love.

9. In this was manifest the love of God toward us, because that God sent His only begotten Son into the world that we might live thru Him.

10.. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins.

11. Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

The Bond Issue.

It is a difficult matter for The News to believe that the people of Alabama would right now or at any other time soon saddle upon themselves and their children an additional bond issue of such huge dimensions as seventy-five millions of dollars for good roads, although admitting that we need improved highways. That's a tremendous amount of money, not only, to be repaid in principal, but would require another tremendous amount to be paid annually for interest.

While not clamping our approval or veto upon any candidate for governor yet announced, we find some interesting figures in a statement by Attorney General Harwell Davis. Here is the condition that will confront the Alabama citizen in case the proposed bond issue carries, according to Mr. Davis.

Proposed bonds	$75,000,000
Authorized bonds	25,000,000
Port bonds	10,000,000
Old bonds	9,500,000
Total	$119,500,000

Figuring at about the average best, these bonds would probably bear interest at the rate of 4¼ per cent, which would mean an interest charge of around five million dollars annually.

We need the roads; yes, true enough. But do we need them that badly?

We want to help in the work of boosting our fine little city. Won't you help us help Clanton?

Proposed For New Educational Department

For the information of our readers The News prints in another column a rather detailed item from the Birmingham News concerning the new educational bill now before congress. As is the case with all proposals for new legislation, there are some good points in this measure; and, according to the way we see it, there are also possibilities for trouble in it, especially when we consider the South and our methods of conducting educational institutions as regards more particularly our racial relations and conditions.

In the first place, as we understand it, the bill proposes a federal department of education, with a superintendent or chief clothed with authority to solve all the educational problems ofthe country; he would be a member of the president's cabinet, and would hold his right of office under the appointive power of the president.

The Roman Catholics are fighting the proposition, of course; and this fact really is one argument in its favor; because Roman Catholicism is wedded to its parochial schools, and would never lend its influence either to a derangement of its provincial as well as arbitrary system, or to the building up of a great public school sysfor the American boy and girl.

Considering the measure however, as regards its probable effects upon the South from a racial standpoint,, we fear that it contains potential troubles. The federal administration would never appropriate money for any governmental purpose without first assuring itself that it would hold the controlling hand in both its disbursements and in having federal agents on the ground to see that all federal policies, including the bale ofred tape, were carried out.

Some will say, "We have a federal department of agriculture, and we get along all right with it." True enough, but friends, there's quite a difference between the open corn or cotton field and the closed room of the "little red school house," in the latter of which your boy or your girl is now protected from every social evil possible, and whose deskmate is of a known and authorized color.

The News believes that our educational system should be left exclusively within the power and control of the individual states, but once a federal department of educaton is authorized and another brick from the foundation of our once boasted policy of states rights will have been removed....in addition to making possible other evils which we cannot see definitely now.

It used to be, "Smile, d.... you, smile." But in our later day it looks as though if left to some folk, it would be a crime to smile. What has become of the oldtime mirth-juggler, with a voice like a Nebraska buffalo, who on his way to office or home stopped for a moment "on the corner" with a friend or two, and gave vent to those oldfashioned "hah-hahs" that would turn over your fun box a hundred yards away, whether you knew what he was laughing about or not?

Sometimes clothes make the man, but they don't make him pay for them.

Please Be Careful To Whom You Pay

In our efforts to get our books straight and keep them that way; and, too, the information having reached us that in two or three instances small amounts had been paid to parties in no way authorized to have collected them, we want to caution our friends not to pay anyone outside The News office any sum on any account with The News unless the collector presents you with a Printed receipt, signed by The News and countersigned by the collector. The printed and properly signed receipt, of course, is your protection, and will avoid worry and annoyance later. No one will be in possession of these receipts except bona fide collectors for The News.

We read a statement recently to the effect that about 65 per cent of the population in Southern prisons today are white men and white women, as compared with about 35 per cent in the pre-Volstead days. This appears to us as rather a sad commentary, yet easily understood. It must be conceded that since this reversal of conditions has come about since the enactment of the Volstead law, then prohibition law violation is responsible for it. White people have greater opportunities for manufacture and rum-running also, yet withal are more frequently paroled—for seldom does a negro get a parole or pardon for this offense.

Have you a friend whose loyalty you would not question, who always seems to understand, who does not expect more of you than you know your capacity to be, who is interested when you are pleased, or sympathetic when you are sad, who shows you that he values your good will more than he does the dollar in your pocket? Have you? Think twice before you answer, and if you have, stay by him, stick to him, and if ever need be give him the shirt off your back, even if its the last one in your own wardrobe. A good friend and true is a God-given asset in this day of dollar chasing commercialism.

"No such place as a burning hell," some people say. But, friend, there must be—or something a little worse. Else how or where could equitable justice be meted out to the foul-mouthed gossiper, who with the poison venom from their evil tongues are ever ready in either starting or continuing some hint, or question, or bold assertion against the character or reputation of a fellowman or woman, who is doing possibly the best they can or know, but whose load is heavy and who needs and deserves sympathy and understanding instead of censure? Yes—that place of justice must be pretty warm to say the least.

The farmer knows that the price of cotton today is close to or perhaps below the cost of production, and in our feeble judgment, it will not go to higher levels next fall, possibly fluctuating between 18 and 20 cents. So the only safe and sane way for the cotton farmer is to raise plenty of foodstuffs; then he is assured of his "living" anyway.

Speed On Highways

Echoes are still heard in the state press from the recent threat of the state highway commission to route state roads around small towns unless such towns enacted speed regulations in accord with the wishes of the state commission. Of course, there was never any justification for such threats by the highway commission.. It has no more to do with the police regulations of Alabama's cities than it has with the health rules of Timbuctoo.

The governing authorities of the towns of this state are the aldermen or commissioners elected by the people of those towns and they are empowered with not only the right, but the obligation and duty to make traffic regulations which will best promote the safety of citizens. Such authorities have high regard for the laws under which we all live and laws regarding the safety, health and welfare of their own people are of more vital importance to them than to the transients passing through in cars, whose comfort the highway commission feels is being jeopardized by having to slow down in corporate limits. There is an old saying that the man who is in the biggest hurry to get somewhere usually has the least to do when he gets there Certainly, the safety of Alabama's children is worth all the inconvenience that may be caused motorists by forcing them to drive carefully through towns. Says the Chilton County News, published in Clanton on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway:

"It should be remembered that in many incorporated localities the school and church buildings were located on what is now known as the state highway, usually the most prominent as well as the most accessible 'street' in the town. Fortunately such is not the case in Clanton, so we have no personal argument with that phase of the matter.. But there are many towns in the state where the schools and churches are located on these trunk highways and in some cases the playgrounds for the children are situated across the roadway from the building. Then shall the tourist, the motorist or the speeders, as you will be permitted to tear through these smaller towns without regard to the safety laws thrown around these children or other citizens as enacted by their own fathers and brothers, who are acquainted with local dangers more than anyone else?"

Of course, the Chilton County News is right—and the highway commission is in an indefensible position in assuming to make traffic regulations for the states highway inside the corporate limits of cities. It is apparently only another example of the high-handed and domineering policy that has been pursued in meeting the state's highway needs. It is evidenced in this as in reckless waste, favoritism in routing and lack of permanence in construction..

The present highway administration has spent nearly $50,0000,000. What has it to show for it? Anyone who travels Alabama's roads can answer that question.—Montgomery Journal.

American Railroads Operating With Remarkable Efficiency

Bettering all previous best records, even eclipsing the remarkable achievements of 1923 and 1924, American railroads during 1925, gave further evidence of their soundness and progressiveness. The public's attention is drawn to the following extraordinary record of accomplishments:

Handled the greatest freight traffic in history, measured by the number of cars loaded with revenue freight; the total number being 51,065,000.

Throughout the year, there were never less than 103,000 surplus freight cars and 4200 surplus locomotives in serviceable condition, thus virtually eliminating transportation delays.

Handled the greatest freight traffic for any month on record, in October, when it amounted to 5,537,408 carloads, exceeding by 1.5 percent the previous high record made in October, 1924.

Reached a total of 1,124,436 cars loaded, for the week ending August 29, the greatest for any one week on record, exceeding by 12,091 cars, or 1.1 percent the previous high record made in the week of October 25, 1924.

The average daily movement of all freight cars in October was 32.2 miles, which exceeded by one and one-half miles the previous high record.

Loading of merchandise and miscellaneous freight, including less-than-carload-lot freight, during the year was the greatest on record, exceeding by more than two million cars the record of one year ago.

The average load of freight, per train, for the month of August, was 796 tons, the highest ever attained, being an increase of 26 tons over the previous record, made in October, 1924.

FARMERS HAULING OUT FERTILIZERS

Cost of The Product This Year $20,000,000

Fertilizers for the 1926 crops, principally cotton, is being hauled out of Clanton every day of the week now, and the farmers are a busy set. In the southern part of the state, where the seasons are a little earlier and they have a soil containing more sand the farmers are more advanced in their work.

Deliveries of fertilizer are in advance of former years and the same congestion of country roads from railroad stations by loaded fertilizer wagons all over the state is reported. To the layman. at this early season, this may indicate a purpose on the part of the farmer to use more fertilizer this year than last. P. O. Davis of the Auburn farm bureau has another idea about it, however, and here is what he says:

"This may not mean that the total amount of fertilizer used by the Alabama farmers will be greatly in excess of that of 1925. Under the stimulus of co-operative buying. which is fostered and promoted by the county agents and by state and county farm bureaus, commercial fertilizer is being bought earlier than formerly to avoid congestion during March and April, and also to have it on hand before time to put it into the ground, thereby avoiding interference with plowing and other farm work

"Following a satisfactory year in 1925 with commercial fertilizers, present prospects are that the farmers of Alabama will spend around $20,000,000 for fertilizer this season. Most of it will go into the ground during March and April cotton being the chief crop to receive it."

EXPRESSION A. Y. D. TO REPLACE F. O. B.

Hudson-Essex Builders Said Responsible

You have probably seen the group of initials for the words "F. O. B." thousands of times. It is said that no other grouping of letters or words in all written history has been printed so many billions of times as "f. o. b. Detroit." Not even the most famous sayings of history andliterature can begin to approach it The total might even run into trillions or other numbers entirely too large for comprehension.

Now overturning the entire history of the motor car business an important manufacturer, Hudson-Essex, has has announced th eentire discontinuance of the phrase and the practice it represents. From now on, all Hudson-Essex dealers will quote prices in their advertisement which are the full and actual prices at which a car, equipped, will be delivered to a buyer at his home. The day of a long list of "extras" is in the discard, so far as these organizations are concerned.

The question now is will a y. d., meaning at your door, displace f. o. b. generally?

Took Crowd Riding.

R. H. Sartar took a crowd joy riding a few days ago. Those enjoying the trip were: Miss Rena Rembert, Mrs. Blassingam and Tom Thornton. They motored to the gap of the mountain, Dakes' pond, Thorsby and back home.

Newspapers Are Polling Prohibition Sentiment

WETS DOMINATE IN STRAW VOTE

Vote 12 to 1 In Favor Change Of Prohibition Law

New York, March 13.—The country is now engaged in the most extensive referendum on a question of national policy ever attempted—the newspaper polls on prohibition.

Four hundred newspapers from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico, are taking straw ballots in their communities to sound out sentiment.

Dry leaders have warned prohibitionists not to vote, charging the poll is not representative, that it is dominated by wets and that repeating by interested voters is not prevented.

Wet leaders point to the balloting in which their cause thus far has a dominating lead as proof that the country is tired of prohibition.

The United Press has gathered figures from 34 newspapers, representative of large and small cities, and of all parts of the country as a cross section of the vote and found that in those cities more than half a million votes already had been cast. The figures stood:

For repeaal or modification of the Volstead act, 480,154; against any change in the present law, 40,859.

This showed a ratio of nearly 12 to 1 for the 34 polls considered in favor of changing the law.

In the instances where papers have asked an expression on both repeal and modification the latter has usually been favored heavily over a complete repeal.

New York has shown a poll of more than 40 to 1 in favor of changing the existing conditions.

California, a wine producing section, is about 10 to 1. according to the newspaper figures in favor of a change.

The supposed dry districts of the middle west in their newspaper polls are represented as overwhelmingly in favor of changing the law.

It is significant, however, that in almost every case the vote is heaviest in favor of modification, complete repeal being less favored in the tabulations.

Aunt Mary Judkins

Aunt Mary Judkins, colored, who lived on the premises of M. A. Goss, died on Thursday evening.

Aunt Mary belonged to a class of the faithful, of whom there are few remaining. She has been employed in the service of Mr. Gore's family for nearly fourteen years. She formerly lived in Wetumpka and belonged to the well-known family, whose name she bore. Many friends in Clanton were saddened over her passing.

Nothing is easier than fault finding; no talent, no self-denial, no brains, no character are required to set up in the grumbling business.

VERBENA COMPLETES FINE SCHOOL HOUSE

Of Native Red Sandstone, and Cost $30,000

The News understands that the new school building has been completed at Verbena, and the matter reported officially to the department of education at Montgomery.

Chilton county and the state at large, as for that matter, feels proud of the community spirit manifested by the people of Verbena in their intreest in providing better educational facilities for their young. They went to work with a determination to improve conditions along this line, and the result is one of the neatest and most conveniently constructed school buildings in the state, unique in the sense that it is built of red native sandstone, quarried near town, and cost about $30,000. Aside from being modern in every respect, the school will provide complete elementary and junior and senior high school courses.

BRIDGE AT REESE'S FERRY SOON OPEN

Cost $400,000 And Ready for Service In April

Information from the state highway department the first of the week was to the effect that the Reese's ferry bridge over the Alabama river on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway will be open to traffic in about a month. The bridge engineer of the department, H. H. Houk, says that the bridge is completed except for the cresoted subfloor on the swing span and the asphalt surfacing on the entire bridge. The bridge will be opened during the first half of April, he stated. The cost of the big bridge will approximate $400,000.

Grading of the road is practically completed on both sides of the bridge from Montgomery to Mountain Creek, it was stated.

The highway commission today voted to improve the Birmingham highway in view of the early opening of the Reese's ferry bridge. The work of placing gravel on bad spots on the road will be undertaken immediately.

CLAY GRAND JURY RETURNS 40 BILLS

Nearly All the Court's Time Devoted To One Case

Goodwater, March 14.—The grand jury of Clay county yesterday made its final report returning 40 indictments, 27 being for felonies and 13 for misdemeanors having docketed 65 cases.

The circuit court had been in session during the entire week, but most of the time has been consumed in the trial of a damage suit of Mrs. Lester against Dr. S. J. Gay, the jury returning in an hour's time after the case was given it a verdict for the defendant. The criminal docket will be taken up next week.

Will Try New Method On the Southern Pest

More Boll Weevils Are Expected This Year Than Has Been The Case For The Past Five Years It Is Announced—Cost About $7.00 Per Acre To Exterminate Them The Airplane Way

AIRPLANE WAY OF KILLING WEEVILS

Said To Have Proved Good In Louisiana

An Associated Press dispatch says: "Way down south in the land of cotton," the boll weevil is preparing for a killing. Things have never looked better for him, or worse for the growers of cotton. Last year the staple crop of the south enjoyed comparative immunity from this insect pest, but the department of agriculture already has sent out warning that the boll weevil may be expected in greater numbers in 1926 than in the last five years. Some predictions have it that the cotton fields will see greater hordes of this voracious and destructive eater up of profits than they have since 1915.

But while the boll weevil forces are still deep in hibernation, dreaming their dreams of conquest, a counter-campaign is being planned by an enemy, man. It is a battle that will be waged with the latest tools of science. The methods have been tried and approved, it is now a matter of giving them a broader scope to meet the greater menace and fill a growing demand for protection.

Even now a score of airplanes are being conditioned to fight the boll weevil. Their tactics do not involve machine guns and bombs, but they are just as deadly. They spread a feast of death from the sky; the boll weevil will eat it and the cotton is saved. It is a scheme worked out by Dr. B. R. Coad of the United States department of agriculture..

Essentially the aerial war on the boll weevil consists of dusting the growing cotton with an impalpable mixture of caalicium arsenate. A specially designed Huff Deland plane is now used exclusively for the work. It is fitted up with a hopper that carries the poison dust and is driven by a Wright whirlwind 200-horse power motor, the blast from whose propeller sends calicium arsenate swirling back in a 200-foot wide trail of cloud as the plane passes over the cotton field from five to twenty-five feet above the growing plants. The plane crosses and recrosses the field, turning the flow of poison dust off and on as the borders are crossed until the entire crop has been dusted. By using an airplane it is possible to dust 500 to 1,000 acres an hour, while the most efficient method of ground dusting covers not more than four or five acres in the same time.

It is claimed that the tremendous friction imparted to the particles of poison dust by the 100-mile gale from the propeller charges them with static electricity. The result is said to be that the dust particles are drawn magnetically to both the upper and lower sides of the cotton leaves and cling there even if the poison is not applied when the plants still are wet with dew. Thus no portion of the plant is left unprotected and the boll weevil who follows his natural inclination to eat is a casualty after the first or second bite.

In addition to the contract satisfactory work is assured by the fact that the operations of the aerial dusters are supervised and governed by a board of federal and state agricultural authorities who have power to make the plane go bacg and do over, free of charge, any job that has not been properly performed.

As to the benefits of dusting the state experiment station in Louisiana, the state where the majority of airplane dusting is done, found from a survey of 525 farms that the chemical warfare against the weevil gave an average increase of 374 pounds of seed cotton an acre. This represented an increase in income of $40.75 an acre, while the cost of dusting was 7.60 acre. The profit obviously is worth while. Comparative cases of ground application by ground methods and by airplane have been more exhaustively done by the Louisiana college of agriculture than by any other source..

The average expense of ground dusting on 200 farms and experiment stations all over the south, it was found was $7.15 an acre for five applications of calcium arsenate. The aerial dusters charge a contract price of $5.35 an acre for the first three applications and approximately $1 an acre thereafter, thus making the two methods of application about the same in cost, although their relative convenience to the farmer is scarcely comparable.

Mrs. Henry Burnett

After a brief illness the spirit of Mrs. Henry Burnett passed away on Sunday night. The patient was carried to a Montgomery infirmary where she underwent an operation for appendicitis and where she remained for a week, when death relieved her of her pain. The body of Mrs. Burnett waas brought home on No. 2 Monday morning, where it lay, surrounded by friends and a wealth of magnificent floral offerings, until removal to its final resting place at New Cedron on Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services were conducted by Dr. S. J. Ezell.

The News shares with the bereaved the deep sorrow caused by Mrs Burnett's death.

No Plans Yet Made For Construction of Bridges

TO MAKE REPAIRS ON STATE HIGHWAY

Planned Later To Pave Entire B. & M. Road

Saturday's Montgomery Journal said: The state highway commission Thursday voted to improve the Birmingham-Montgomery highway through Autauga county by graveling the worst of the places on the highway in view of the early opening of the Reese's Ferry bridge. Work of placing gravel on bad spots on the road will be undertaken immediately.

It is planned to eventually pave the entire highway between Birmingham and Montgomery, but it is considered advisable to wait until the road settles before laying pavemeent the present condition of the highway in Autauga county being regarded as too "green" to warrant paving at this time.

The highway commission adjourned Thursday to meet again April 5.

INCREASE SHOWN IN POLL TAX PAID

Is Thought Vote Will Be Heavier This Year

According to figures from the state auditor's office, poll tax receipts in Alabama to February 1, last, were considerably in excess of last year, which was an off year in politics and about the same as the poll tax payments by voters who were qualified to vote in the last gubernatorial election in 1926.

Receipts from poll tax payments to March 10 of this year totalled $277,748. This figure represents nearly complete collections, with several thousand dollars more probably to be reported.

Last year, to March 10, the amount collected was $194,857; and for all of last year, $195,154.50. Four years ago in 1922, the receipts to March 10 totalled $280,329.50, and for the entire year $283,667.50. It is thus indicated that complete collections for the present year will be about the same as four years ago.

World War veterans and others who are exempt from poll tax payments were also exempt four years ago. Accordingly, if the vote cast in the election this year is in the same proportion to poll tax payments as four years ago it would be expected that the vote would be about the same as poll tax payments are about the same as four years ago. In the Democratic primary held in August, 1922, the total vote cast for governor was 297,368.

It has been predicted, however, that the vote this year will be heavier than four years ago, as there are more offices to be filled, the election of a United States senator coming this year at the same time as the election for governor, and it is believed that the campaign this year will be considerably warmer than in 1922.

FERTILIZER TAGS SALES INCREASE

Nearly Half Million Tons Fertilizer Sold

Figures given out by W. B. Griffin, chief clerk in the state department of agriculture, shows a considerable inexcess in tonnaage of fertilizer bought by Alabama farmers this year.

From October 1, 1924, to March 13, 1925, receipts from fertilizer tags by the state department of agriculture totalled $92,050,66; from October 1 to March 13, 1926, $129,164 95, a gain of $37,114.29.

The fertilizer tonnage for the period ending March 13, 1925, was 206,835 tons; for the period ending March 13, 1926, 430,549 tons, a gain over the preceding season of 123,714 tons.

ALA. HASN'T FUNDS TO BUILD BRIDGES

Congress Gave Consent, But Provided No Cash

Montgomery, March 14.—Passage by congress of bills for construction of six navigable streams in Alabama does not mean that the bridges will be constructed at an early date. It merely means that Alabama congressmen are active in behaaf of their districts and are hoping that further revenues will be made available by the state and federal government for use in road building in the future.

The state highway department has made no plans for the construction of the bridges, according to information Saturday. It has prepared an official chart, which indicates that the state needs about sixty bridges, but it does not have funds with which to build them. John A. Rogers, president of the highway commission and chief exponent of the proposed bond issue of $75,000,000 for road building, has urged that $15,000,000 of that amount be set aside for the construction of bridges. But the money has not been made available.

Before any bridge can be constructed across a navigable stream the consent of congress must be obtained. Passage of the sixteen bills by the senate merely means that congress has given its consent and doesn't mean that any funds have been provided. The bills did not carry appropriations for the construction.

The announcement from Washington said the bills provided for five bridges across the Coosa, one near Chnldersburg, one near Pell City, another near Wetumpka and another on the Clanton-Rockford road between Chilton and Coosa counties; three across the Tennessee, one near Scottsboro, another near Whitesburg ferry and another near Guntersville; four across the Tombigbee, one near Aliceville, one near Jackson, another near Gainesville (home of John Rogers of the highway commission) and one on the Butler-Linden road between Choctaw and Marengo counties and three over Pea river near Samson, Geneva and Elba.

Bible Thought

The Lord will destroy the house of the proud, but He will establish the border of the widow.—Prov. 15:25.

The Prohi. Straw Vote

It would seem to the layman that the same "ways and means," so to speak, which brought about prohibition are now destined to lay a part in creating a sentiment against that law. That is, as everyone knows, the rough-shod, arbitrary and indecent tactics of whiskey people sounded the death knell of old John Barleycorn. Now in methods of enforcement arresting officers, courts and pardoning boards in many instances have assumed just as radical positions, both for and against the offender. Hence the present agitation the country over concerning the law.

Hence, furthermore, the demand for the straw vote now being conducted by four hundred daily newspapers of the various states—for there was a demand for this or some similar expression by the people, or these four hundred publishers would not have recognized it. This straw vote, in which considerably more than a million ballots have been cast to date, and the crest is reported as having not been reached yet, indicate that the people are not satisfied with the law—and to the extent of about 12 to 1.

Prohibition leaders have advised their friends not to take any part, not to vote, in this experiment, in which they may possibly be justified. But it strikes The News that the overwhelming majority of the vote will show as being in favor of repeal or modification will most assuredly have its bearing upon congress, where the wets no doubt intend to carry it as early as possible.

An Anniston daily, it is reported discontinued reporting its local vote because of the smaall percentage of voters taking part, and gave as its theory for their refusal to do so the thought that "it is apparent that Anniston people are not in favor of voting on a question they consider already settled." The question may be settled in our statute books—but that's as far as it goes, much as it may be regretted. Far from being "settled," it is almost as red hot and boiling over in the minds of the people as it ever was. God grant the day when it shall have been "settled" once and for all.

The News feels that the position taken last week in these columns concerning the proposed new federal federal board of education struck a responsive chord in the minds of those who really think profoundly of such important questions, since we have heard favorable comment upon the editorial in question. Teaachers, whose only benefit from the law, as we understand it, might conceivaably be a small increase in salary, should look twice on the results which might follow before lending it their influence.

It would seem that the more the newspapers condemn the practice of sending supposed "news" to us by every organization able to rent a typewriter and pay the postage on their propaganda, the more "news" they pour into us. But we are well heeled with ex-banana crates.

Congratulations to the Birmingham News upon having reached on Sunday last its 38th birthday anniversary. Mr. Hanson is a "born" newspaper man, as has been so well attested in the success of the News under his management.

If we could ever eliminate that desire from the American system to regulate the other fellow, our books would soon be relieved of the burdens they carry now in the way of foolish, freakish "blue" and other "you-shall not" laws.

When you get to the list of "Alabama made" products, don't forget to include that home-made sandstone school building at Verbena.

Wade in, Mr. Candidate, let the people know what you want to do for them. They're not mind readers. Besides the party needs you.

We object. Referring to "Alabama made" products, the Montgomery Journal copped our similar phrase, already in type, concerning the home-made red sandstone school house at Verbena before we had time to get out the paper.

It may be bad taste to laugh out loud, but it is a sure sign of good digestion.

Kilby Candidacy Has Endorsement Of Ex-Gov. Comer

Alabama's Two Business Governors Have Long Been Associated In Politics

Thomas Erby Kilby

Nothing that has taken place in the present senatorial campaign has created more interest in the state at large than the endorsement of the candidacy of former Governor Thomas E. Kilby, the only business man in the race, by former Governor B. B. Comer, who is generally credited with being one of the strongest political factors in the state.

Declaring that Governor Kilby "impressed his strong business capacity on the affairs of the state," which he left "in splendid conition,' and expressing the belief that he would "carry the same business capacity into the affairs of the nation," Governor Comer says he will support Kilby because he knows that every human and property interest will have his intelligent consideration in the event he is elected to represent the state in Washington.

Governor Kilby is making his race for the senate on his record as governor. He contends that no man should be elected to this highest office within the gift of the people who has not given an account of his stewardship in public service. With that idea in mind, he appointed former Governor Comer to the United States senate as an expression of appreciation on the part of the people of Alabama for the service he had rendered in rescuing the state from railroad domination and corporate control.

Ever since Kilby was a member of Comer's Sunday school class at the First Methodist church in Anniston, there has been a close personal and political relationship between the two men. They think alike on all public questions, and will go down in history as Alabama's two greatest business governors.

In his letter endorsing Kilby for senator, former Governor Comer says:

"Dear Governor Kilby: In your candidacy for the United States senate to succeed Senator Underwood, you have my unqualified endorsement. I have known you for many years, known you in different positions and in all, including that of governor, which I regard as one of the highest positions I have found you working in the interest of the people. You have made good.

"There are people in Alabama who think that I made the state a good governor. These same people, I am sure, think that you also made a good governor. You certainly impressed your strong business capacity on the affairs of the state and left same in splendid condition, and I feel sure that you would carry the same capacity into the affairs of the nation and that as the years went by your usefulness would improve and that you would reflect credit upon the state.

"There will be other candidates, good men. I shall support you, my friend, because I know that under you every interest, both human and property, will be forcefully and intelligently cared for. Faithfully yours,

"B. B. COMER."

DRUG MAN FOUND DEAD IN STORE

John W. Caldwell Passes Away At Goodwater

Goodwater, March 13.—John W. Caldwell, a prominent citizen and druggist of this place was found dead last night in his store. He was sitting in a chair when found and it is not known how long he had been dead, as the store closed about 7 o'clock. Death is supposed to have been caused by heart trouble. Mr. Caldwell had been in poor health for some time.

He was reared here, but later moved to Birmingham, where he lived, being connected with the Southern railway as a conductor and other positions. He later returned to Goodwater and went into business.

Burial will take place here Friday, it is announced.

Date Extended

Records of sales of Stone Mountain Memorial coins in this state has been extended to March 31, instead of March 17, according to advices from the capital city.

Farmers around here have begun to realize that necessity is the mother of invention, and it is really delightful to the eye as we watch our neighbors prepare their watermelon patches. You bet we keep the location of these patches in mind, lest we forget by time they get ripe.

Birthday Celebration

Arthur Littlejohn was host to about a dozen friends on Thursday evening when he celebrated in honor of his twentieth birthday. The friends of the honoree combined judgment and purchased a desirable watch chain that is designed to be a reminder of the happy occasion.

An elaborate 6 o'clock dinner was served to the jolly party of friends, after which the evening hours glided by in the enjoyment of popular games and mirthr-orovoking jokes.

Mrs. Gerald Hostess

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Gerald was hostess to the Clanton Card club.

The handsome home was made redolent for the occasion by the arrangement of quantities of narcissus and other spring flowers.

Upon conclusion of the gamee Mrs. Frank Callen was found to hold the high score and was awarded a set of napkins. The booby fell to Mrs Grady Reynolds.

The hostess served a tempting salad plate with iced tea to her guests.

Convention a Success

The fiddlers' convention Saturday night was a pronounced success. There were attractive prizes that had been donated by Clanton business firms. Each fiddler did his best. A large and appreciative crowd attended, and the promoters, Circle No. 2 of the Methodist W. M. U., realized from the project a purse of fully $290.

After the entertainment the Methodist ladies escorted the musicians around to the Minor cafe, where a bountiful and well prepared dinner was served.

Howard Glee Club

The Howard Glee club's concert, given in the auditorium of the high school, came fully up to the high standard attained by it some years ago. The audience was representative and appreciative. The program in its entirety was splendid.

The club mascot, Ellard Nunnally, a child of presumably less than ten years, delighted his audience in acts of his own.

The entertainment was fostered by the W. M. U. of the Baptist church, who received as their share of the proceeds nearly $35.

Her friends will regret to know that Grace, the attractive little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ezell, has been quite ill She shows some improvement today.

Macedonia—Obituary

Our community waas saddened last week, March 12th, by the death of our beloved friend, husband, father, stepfather, grandfather and stepgrandfather, John Proctor Nix. Brother Nix lived to the ripe old age of 84, having lived all these years in Chilton county, and had lived 59 years at his residence when he died He for more than a half century was a loyal member of the Macedonia Baptist church.

He was living with his third wife, and to these was born one son,, M. L. Nix. His first marriage was to Miss Rasberry, three children blessed this marriage, J. M. and W. D. Nix and Mrs Mattie Freeman.

His second marriage was to Miss Olive Glass, two children came by this marriage, Dr. W. M. Nix and Mrs. Etha Vines.

His third marriage was to Mrs. Anna Ward, she having four children, T. I. and J. A. Ward, Mrs. J. C. Veazey and Mrs. J. R. Merchant, and all these sets of children, and step-children are devoted to each other as one family. There are many, many grand-children and stepgrandchildren and they all loved grandfather dearly, and he loved and was interested in every one of them, in fact, he was a friend to all. Always had a pleasant greeting for every one. He was a broad-minded, public spirited man, with an uplifting, Christian influence, not only in his community, but wherever he was known, and when any question of right or wrong engaged most earnest attention of the populace John Proctor Nix was always known to be on the right side.

On last Sunday morning at 11 o'clock quite a host of relatives, friends and neighbors met at his place to escort him to his last resting place, Macedonia cemetery.

The following served as pall-bearers: Dr. Kincade Pope Pane, J. J. Hayes, J S. Wright, Hinter Rasco, F Rasberry and C. McCarty.

The funeral services were conducted by his life time friend, Rev. R. M. Honeycutt. The very lavish and beautiful floral offerings bore testimony of the loving memory in which he was held He was put away in a concrete vault built by Brother G. W. Freeman.

Good-bye; "grandpa," not farewell,
For in heaven we'll meet again;
And in joyous anthems tell
Christian lives are not in vain.

J. C. VEAZEY.
A step-son-in-law.

Judge and Mrs. Louis Reynolds paid a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Bridges of Bessemer during last week.

CLANTON STUDENT EXPLOSION VICTIM

Clyde Foshee Hurt At Tuscaloosa

Tuscaloosa, March 16.—Clyde H. Foshee, senior art and science student at the University of Alabama, is resting comfortably in the Druid City hospital after being the victim of an explosion in the chemical laboratory Saturday.

With Dr. J. Stewart Lloyd he was doing some extra work in the laboratory. He had just condensed a flask of ammonia by boiling and was adjusting the blaze under the burner when the flask exploded. In addition to burning his face it was at first feared he would be blind, but reports from the hospital indicate his sight was not impaired.

Fosbee's home is in Clanton, Ala. He is a fellowship instructor in biology under Dr. Graham.

Aunt Patty Smith

Another of the old pioneers of Clanton passed to the Great Beyond Saturday last in the death of Mrs. Mary Smith, relict of the late Patrick Smith, and known by a wide circle of friends as Aunt Patty, aged 95 years. The funeral ceremony was conducted by her pastor, Rev. S. J. Ezell, of the Baptist church, and J. Mell Martin had charge of the burial arrangements. Six sons and two daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and one of these, Mrs. Nannie Crichton, nursed her mother thru her latter years of invalidism and blindness.

A most estimable mother has gone to her reward and The News extends sympathy to all who are bereft of her love and presence.

Mrs. J. A. Pierce

Friends and relatives in this section were grieved to learn a few days ago of the death at her home near Gateman, Miss., of Mrs. J. A. Pierce, nee Miss Annie Bryant, aged 35 years, following only a few days illness from pneumonia and influenza. She is survived by her husband and six children. The remains were received here and taken in charge by J. Mell Martin on Thursday of last week, and interred in Bethlehem cemetery, Rev. I. Moore conducting the funeral rites. Because of illness neither Mr. Pierce or any of the children were able to attend the funeral.

Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

Doubtless Not

Black: "I can read my wife like a book."
White: "I bet you can't shut her up so easily."

Safeguarded

A woman went to the banl and asked for a new checkbook. "I've lost the one you gave me yesterday," she said. "But it doesn't matter. I took precaution of signing all of the checks as soon as I got it —so, of course, it won't be of any use to anyone else."

Tough Luck

An actor who was stranded in Seattle and wanted to get to San Francisco, finally managed to raise just enough money to buy a second-class steamship ticket. The voyage lasted almost three days. The first day the actor stayed all day in order to keep from thinkinng how hungry he was, for he didn't have a cent. The second day he couldn't sleep any more and had a hard time of it. On the third day he couldn't stand the pangs of hunger any longer. In desperation he decided that he would rather submit to arrest and imprisonment than to do without food. All the while he was eating he pictured himself in the San Francisco jail. However, he thought he might as well be game, so, calling the waiter to him he asked jauntily:

"How much is my bill for this dinner?"

And the waiter replied: "Not a cent, sir; your meals are included in your ticket."

Should Be Easy

"I can't remember the words of that new song," said the girl, returning from the musical comedy.

"That makes it easier," returned her father. "Now all you've got to do to make home haappy is to forget the tune."

Looking Ahead

Warden to released convict: "I'm sorry; I find we have kept you here a week too long."

Convict: "That's all right. Knock it off next time."

Waiter: "No, sir; it's always been like this."

Farmers Restless

Childersburg, March 14.—The farmers seem to be restless about not being able to do any early corn planting A considerable amount of ground has been broken during the few dry days. Heavy rains during the present week some sleet and snow March 10, and light frost on Friday, March 12, has held up work.

One reason why there is so much politeness in this world is because so little of it is used.

GOODWATER GETS "JUICE" A-PLENTY

Alabama Power Co. Turned On Current March 11

A news dispatch from Goodwater says the Alabama Power Co. turned on its current there for the first time on Thursday, March 11. The substation has been completed and the wires have been brought into the town and everything is now in readiness for the power company to begin distributing current for lighting and manufacturing purposes.

Several months ago the Alabama Power company purchased the municipal light plant on Hatchett creek, which has been in use for about 20 years, and the old plant it is stated will be dismantled soon.

The water power on Hatchett creek was not sufficient to generate the required electric power for lighting and manufacturing purposes and in an election held to indorse the sale of the plant resulted in practically unanimous vote, the sale following soon thereafter formally.

Here are some of their great advantages—WELL FINISHED — STRONG and DURABLE—PERFECT FIT—AND OF LIGHT DRAFT.

When you buy a Plow, consider Quality first and Price second. The "Vulcan" Good Quality includes rib-strengthened mold, full chilled shin piece, interlocked point and standard. The strongest and most durable chilled point made.

Imitation points and parts do not fit properly, and a plow equipped with them can not do the quality of work expected. They break easy and are made of inferior material.

Be sure each part you buy bears the "Vulcan" trade mark, cast into the back of the share.

Best point this year, concave, self-sharpening, longer life than old ones, and will last twice as long as imitations.

Buy only genuine "Vulcan" repairs.

Prisoner's Death Goes To County Grand Jury

CONVICT DIED IN LAUNDERING VAT

Report of Attorney General On Knox Death

Following is the report of Attorney General Davis after his investigation of the death of James Knox, Flat Top convict:

"An exhaustive investigation of the death of James Knox, who died at Flat Top August 14, 1924, has been made. The death certificate certified him to be a suicide.

"A resume of the voluminous testimony, which is in irreconcilable conflict, prompts me to state the following conclusion as the most probable.

"1 James Knox did not die as a result of bichloride of mercury poisoning, self-administered.

"2 James Knox died in a vat used as a laundering vat for hospital linens, located in the yard of the prison near a hospital, where he was placed by two negroes.

"3. The doctor performing the necrosy upon the body of James Knox stated the following conclusions as to his death:

"It seems most likely that James Knox died as a result of heart failure, which probably was caused by a combination of unusual exertion and fear, acting upon an abnormally small heart, which in turn was inefficiently controlled by a "weak and depressed nervous system." Thus his death seems to have been largely if not entirely accidental. He surely was not scalded nor beaten to death. Drowning and strangulation are remote possibilities. After death it seems that a discoloring poison was injected artificially into his stomach through the natural passages in order to simulate accidental death or suicide.'

"Homer Anderson, hospital steward and chief witness, who testified Knox committed suicide by chewing up bichloride of mercury tablets, perverts his own testimony. So testifying he admits he made no effort to give an antidote or use a stomach pump to remove the poison, nor to send for the prison physician, who resided within a very shoort distance of the hospital.

"Copy of this testimony has been placed on file with the solictior of Jefferson county, in whose judicial circuit the death of James Knox took place"

The Jefferson county grand jury is urged by Governor Brandon to look thoroughly into the death of James Knox, Flat Top convict. The statement is included in a letter written on Thursday by the governor to L. A. Boyd, chairman, and Roy L. Nolan, associate member of the state board of administration.

Gov. Brandon requested that the state board of administration co-operate with the Jefferson county grand jury in its probe and also to aid the circuit solicitor in the prosecution of any person who may be indicted in connection with the death of Knox.

WETS VICTORIOUS IN NEWSPAPER POLL

More Than Three and a Half Million Vote

A United Press dispatch from New York first of the week said: Newspaper polls o nprohibition came to a climax Saturday night after meeting with a public response that constituted the largest unofficial referendum ever held in this country on a public question.

Regarding the significance of the polls, which purported to show a five-to-one public sentiment in favor of some change in the prohibition laws. there is a considerable discussion. The wets are jubilant and the drys are aloof. Anti-Saloon league officials maintain that the straw ballots were the work of liquor propagandists and that the drys, being satisfied with existing conditions, could not have been expected to vote.

It is doubtful if either side expected the magnitude of public interest. On the basis of returns compiled by the United Press Saturday it seems that some 3,500,000 votes have been cast. The total may exceed considerably more even than that figure, since some newspapers did not join with the 425 which in three separate groups co-operated in printing ballots. Some of the final figures will not be available until next week.

New York, represented in three polls, was "wet" by a wide majority, as might have been expected. Of the nation"s largest cities Boston an Atlanta were the two in which prohibition made the best showing. The polls did not show as much geographical variance as was predicted. Kansas and the Carolinas are believed to be the only states assuredly in the dry column.

The polls already have occasioned comment in congress and in the opinion of wet leaders are to be used in backing various bills seeking modification.

The grand total of these are: For prohibition, 511,-981; against prohibition, 2,-627,579.

Coolidge Secured Only One Request Made Of Congress--Muscle Shoals

REPUBLICANS FACING CRISIS IN THE WEST

Democrats Will Lose No Member From Next Session of Congress, But Certain Republican Members Now Sitting Are Sure To Be Found "Conspicuous For Their Absence."

A dispatch out of Washington Monday, said: The Republicans at the head of whom is the president of the United States are anxious that this session of congress be quickly adjourned so that the members might return to their homes and engage in the game of politics. The president's anxiety is unquestionably based on his fear lest Democrats capture the senate as a result of the forthcoming elections. Democrats will lose none of their sitting members because all of them hail from certain Democratic territory. Certain sitting Republican members will be retired beyond peradventure, and in view of renewed reports of discontent from the northwest, the situation from a g. o. p. standpoint is significantly precarious.

During the last session of congress the president secured only one request he formally made of congress, namely that a commission to study Muscle Shoals be raised. All his other recommendations were rejected or ignored. In this session he has fared only little if any better and his leadership if it ever was established has broken down. Were he to lose congress or either branch of congress this fall it would forecast a continuation of his failure even to the conclusion of his term.

The president is so anxious to send his congressional politicians home that apparently he would neglect some important legislation. Representative John Tilson, leader of the Republican majority in the house, has announced that as far as the house is concerned, congress could adjourn next week If the enactment of appropriation bills were the sole business of the house the assertion of the leader would be accurate. But the house has not touched on legislation calculated to give the farmers a relief approximating that which the Republicans in the very beginning of their reign following the expiration of the term of Woodrow Wilson, so readily granted the manufacturing east. It is likely that the house leaders regard the problem, involving the fate of the farmers impossible of solution. While there are western Republicans who seen animated by a sincere desire to aid the farmers if possible, there are eastern Republicans—and they are in positions of leadership—who apparently are not so sincere. Mr. Tilson indicates that congress should give up the problem without even making an attempt to solve it.

COTTON GINNINGS 16 MILLION BALES

Census Bureau Says Alabama Ginned 1,355,767

Washington, March 21.—The census bureau Saturday issued the following report showing the number of bales of cotton exclusive of linters, ginned from crops of 1925 and 1924, respectively:

Total running bales, counting round as half, 16,103,586 and 13,639,399. Round bales included, 351,119 and 314,325.

Cotton remaining to be ginned, included 80,882 and 19,383.

Average gross weight of bales, 4,9.5 and 499.6.

Equivalent 500 pound bales gross 16,085,965 and 13,627,-935.

Cotton ginned, (exclusive of linters, running bales by states: Alabama, 1,355,767; Arizona, 115,359; Arkansas, 1,593,$29.; California, 120,-915; Florida, 90,194; Georgia, 1,192,082; Louisiana, 911,540; Mississippi, 1,974,-335; Missouri, 293,129; New Mexico, 64,704; North Carolina, 1,146,569; Oklahoma, 1,680,051; South Carolina, 928,586; Tennessee, 513,020; Texas, 4,047,009; Virginia, 53,856; all others, 23,439.

GERMAN CANNON GIVEN ALABAMA

Four To Be Placed on Capitol Grounds

A dispatch from Montgomery says that the first consignment of German cannon captured in the World War was received at the capitol today, as part of the quota of World War trophies alloted to Alabama by the federal government. The shipment comprised two 150 millimeter heavy howitzers, with carriages, one 150 millimeter short howitzer with carriage, one 76 millimeter minewerfer mounted on wheels an done 77 millimeter light field piece with carriage.

Four of the guns will be placed on the state capitol grounds, while one of the heavy 150 millimeter pieces will be reconsigned to Ozark. Alabama receives World War trophies from the federal government on the basis of number of men furnished to the military service in the World War and arrangements have been made for the distribution of the states share among the counties on a similar basis while some of the trophies will be placd at the capital.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSE INSPIRES COMMENT

Verbena Undertaking Carries Splendid Lesson

The Montgomery Journal in an editorial concerning the new home-made red sandstone school building at Verbena, has this to say:

Out of Verbena, Chilton county, comes a good story with a lesson in it for the people of other counties and, indeed, for the people of the state as a whole. They have just built a new $30,000 school house and is built out of beautiful red sandstone, quarried close to where the new building now stands. This school building becomes a striking and impressive object lesson for the pupils who are to study in it, for it will show them in rather eloquent fashion, what we can do with the things we have in Alabama and will help to stimulate their interest in the development and use of the manifold natural resources of this commonwealth.

It wil carry its own lessons to economy also, for here is a case where a school building was almost dug out of the ground on which it was to stand. Workers just took this material out of the quarry where nature had stored it, cut it into convenient shapes, and made a school house of it, thus saving the time and cost of long hauls and other expenses incident to rehandling and putting to a use of value a resource that otherwise would have remained idle.

Use is the only thing that gives value to anything.. Idle wealth is not wealth at all. It is as useless as "a painted ship on a painted ocean."

There is insiration in the Verbena example. Alabama is pregnant with resources. We can grow and make and build nearly everything we need out of our own raw resources, and we ought to do it, for such a course soon would convert Alabama into an industrial and commercial empire and give to this state the name and fame rightly belonging to it.

This Verbena school house was not merely "made in Alabama," it was made of Alabama, or at least of a part of Alabama, and that is an interesting fact and an example, too, worthy of emulation.

Wyatt-Cagle

Mr. T. E. Wyatt, editor of the Union-Banner, and Miss Alpha Cagle were quietly married at the home of the bride at Mitchell Dam on Thursday afternoon.

Immediately after the marriage the couple left for a brief honeymoon to be spent in Birmingham and other points. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt will be domiciled in an inviting cottage on Second avenue and Second street.

The marriage came as the culmination of a romance that traces its incipiency to the campaign put on by the Union-Banner during last autumn. when Miss Cagle made a memorable record in her work for the Union-Banner. During that time Miss Cagle made many friends in Clanton. These join with The News in extending best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt upon this felicitous occasion.

CONGRESS TO HEAR WET LEADERS' PLEA

Entering Wedge Driven For Prohi Change

A Washington correspondent writes: Prohibition in America entered a new phase Saturday, a little more than six years after its advent.

For the first time since the passage of the Volstead act, congress will consider seriously means of modifying the law to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and wine.

By a vote of 4 to 1 the senate judiciary sub-committee Friday agreed to recommend open hearings on the subject. The full committee, although overwhelmingly dry, is expected to ratify the recommendation Monday.

Under the program the hearings will begin early in April. The wets will be given six days to present their arguments and the drys an equal period.

The wets hailed the committee's decision as a distinct victory, which will ultimately lead to a modification. Heretofore, congress has refused even to consider any change in the law.

Senator Edge of New Jersey, wet leader, announced that testimony by that side will be largely confined to suggestioins of changes in the law under the constitution. He said there was no use wasting time demonstrating that the Volstead act is a "'failure, as that has already been established."

The subcommittee recommended that hearings be confined strictly to modigication measures.

The wets will concentrate upon the Edge bill to change provision of the Volstead act limiting alcoholic beverages to one-half of one per cent and write into the law instead the words "intoxicating in fact." This would leave the question of what is in fact intoxicating squarely up to the supreme court to decide. It would include wine as well as beer.

The committee will also hear arguments on the Bruce constitutional amendment, giving the government control of manufacture and sale of liquors, similar to the Canadian system; the Edwards 4 per cent beer bills, the Edge bill removing all restrictions on liquor prescriptions by physicians and the Edge 2.75 per cent bill.

Editor's Chat

A recent account of an experiment tried in an eastern state in an effort to determine the relative value of edvertising to the regular advertiser and to the advertiser who used printer's ink only at long intervals is interesting.

Two merchants carried approximately the same line, quantity and quality of goods, including in their general merchandise well selected men's and women's furnishing goods It was privately agreed that they would each take one page space in their local paper for advertising a sale day, both on the same day, and both quote the same prices so far as possible, no extra inducements to the trade other than lowered prices to be offered

The result, the account says, was that, whereas the regular advertiser's store was crowded all day with eager buyers and he enjoyed a splendid trade, the non-advertiser, while increasing his sales somewhat for the day, fell far behind his neighbor when his receipts were totalled

What did it mean? Simply that the regular advertiser had established his name—his reputation—with the readers of the local paper, they knew him through previous advertising, they had confidence in what he said, they were reading his advertisements—were looking for any announcement he might make—and when he made it they were ready for him.

On the other hand, the intermittent or casual advertiser, while feeling to some extent the beneficial results of letting the people know what he offered for one day, lost the benefits he might have had because the public was not acquainted with his methods, or, generally speaking, his "newspaper reputation" for reliability, and the chances are that the increase in the volume of his trade for that day came principally from new customers with a desire not only to get their money's worth, but also to get acquainted. Thereafter, too, was and is his most favored time to continue his advertising; for, all things being equal, he could easily persuade a large share of that first day's custom to continue with him and get them into the practice of reading his ads regularly. Otherwise it will drift away to the regular advertiser. And what else could he expect if he doesn't invite the trade, let it know what he has and at what inducement?

The News wants to be of real service to the advertisers who patronize our columns, and one thing we well know: It offers you the best, the largest bona fide list of good substantial readers before whom you may place your messages at a lower cost to you than can be found anywhere else in the state, so far as our knowledge goes. As we have explained before, our rates are too low—but we will talk about that some other time

When you give us your publicity matter rest assured of these things: That the people of this territory who comprise the buying public will read your message; that you are NOT doubling up over any other advertising to scarcely a noticeable extent; that you will pay us exactly the same price for the same space that any other advertiser pays us, and that whether you feel the effects today or tomorrow, beneficial results to you are sure.

THE EDITOR.

Select Good Men

It seems to The News that if ever a time existed when the tax payers of this state should be careful and devote their profoundest thought to their selection of candidates for the more important offices especially, that time is right now upon us. The next state and county administrations will bring tremendous responsibilities to rest upon them including the spending of your tax money for educational purposes; for the building and upkeep of roads and bridges; new taxation laws will doubtless come up for settlement, definite solution and disposal of the convict question will be proposed, and the good Lord only knows what number or nature of local laws will be presented to the legislature.

As has always been the case, the usual number of pie hunters and professional office seekers will offer their "services" for the various offices—men who have no further interest either in you or the welfare of the county or state than goes with the soft soap he so fluently and generously hands out to you and his prompt signature to his pay check.

There are good and well meaning men in every campaign, of course; and in the campaign in Chilton county this year the voters will have the assurance that those who offer for office on the Democratic ticket will be the "choice of the flock," so to speak. Necessity will demand this course of action, not only for the welfare, improvement and progress of the county and state, but for the perpetuation and continuation of Democratic principles in our fair Southland, the real home and the cherished background of true Democracy. For, as Dr. Huddleston so well said at the recent meeting of the local executive committee, the sentiment which impels the Northern man to vote any other but a Democratic ticket can be understood; but that it is virtually inconceivable how a Southern man, bred and born, can so far forget or neglect the great party of Democracy, whose principles so aptly fit his case and defend him and his interests and his fireside from his cradle to his grave.

As has been suggested, the list of Democratic candidates in Chilton will probably not be a large one. But of those of whom The News has heard as prospective candidates, it can truly be said that all enjoy the honor of having the confidence and esteem of their fellowmen; they are honest, straight-forward and forward-looking citizens, men whose time and service in office might perhaps mean a sacrifice to them, financially if not in other ways, but whose interests in the successful operation of governmental affairs and the advancement of their county and state will over-balance any sense of selfishness.

Get your thinking caps on, voters, this year as never before. There is no escaping the fact that the voter himself, or herself now....is largely responsible for the adverse tax laws, school laws and generally rotten and unfair governmental conditions of which so much complaint is heard Study your candidate, not only as to what he promises, but what do his neighbors think of him and what has he accomplished both for himself and for his fellows. Your ballot is indeed a worthy instrument Keep it sacred.

We pass laws to force a man to pay taxes on his dog; appropriate that tax money toward the maintenance of fat jobs and the balance if any, to the curing of dog bites. But we skimp along on five to seven months schools and never a word about forcing men to pay their poll taxes. Let's reverse these conditions

The pocket pistol is a potential man-killer; that is its purpose in our plan of life; and as worlds of evidence in court records show, it is usually carried with the purpose for which it is intended.

Here's a long arm and a hearty handclasp to Brother Wyatt upon his good fortune in severing the chains of single cussedness.

MARBURY HIGH GYM DESTROYED

Origin of Fire Unknown; Building Worth $6,000

Marbury High school suffered a severe loss early Saturday when fire destroyed the gymnasium and its equipment. It has not been determined, we understand, just how the fire originated. The building was valued at $6,000. Cost of the equipment has not been announced but it is said some insurance was carried on this.

Reflection from the blaze was plainly visible in Clanton and many here saw and commented upon it.

Mrs. Oscar Jones Hostess

Mrs. Oscar Jones was hostess on Wednesday afternoon to the Card club. The Jones home was prettily decorated for the occasion with handsome potted plants and spring time blossoms.

Upon conclusion of the games the prize, a beautiful vase, was awarded to Mrs. John Browder. The booby prize, a prettily grown potted geranium, fell to Mrs Frank Callen. The hostess served to her guests delightful refreshments.

Wade-Oglesby

Invitations have been issued to the wedding Wednesday evening, April 7, of John Bruce Wade and Miss Gladys Fuller Oglesby at the Presbyterian church in Centreville. The prospective groom was reared in Clanton, while the beautiful bride-to-be has often visited here, and both enjoy a wide circle of friends.

The News extends congratulations and best wishes to the happy young couple.

Court In Session

The civil docket was taken up this week upon the convening of circuit court, with Judge Smoot presiding and Mr. Bateman looking after the solicitor's end of it. Criminal docket will engage the attention of the officials next.

Both the grand jury and court adjourned yesterday, the latter to resume Monday with the grind of criminal cases. Grand jury returned 12 true bills.

TO BE MEMORIAL TO ALABAMIANS

Reese Bridge To Be Dedicated To Vets

Montgomery, March 21.—The Alabama department of the American Legion will dedicate the Reese's ferry bridge on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway as a memorial to Alabamians who lost their lives in the service of their country in the World War, according to announcement by Capt. Landon G. Smith, state commander of the American Legion.

The highway commission some time ago turned over the matter of dedicating the bridge to the state department of the American legion. An appropriate program will be arranged and the day of the dedication is expected to be memorial day for Montgomery and Autauga counties. The dedication will take place about the middle of April, the exact date and program to be announced later, Captain Smith said.

The bridge will be completed and opened for traffic the first half of April, according to H. H. Houk, bridge engineer. The approaches to the bridge will be graveled and gravel will be placed on bad spots on the highway all the way from Hunter"s station to Marbury. It is planned to make these improvements by the time the bridge is opened

POPULATION U. S. GIVEN 117,135,817

Alabama Figures Placed At 2,526,001 By Census

The population of continental United States will be 117,135,817 next July1, the census bureau estimated, the figures being an increase of 11,426,197 since the last federal enumeration in 1920.

Since July last the bureau recorded a gain of 1,755,723. The estimate was based on actual census counts in eight states last year, and on data concerning birth, deaths, immigration and emigration since 1920.

Alabamas population is estimated at 2, 526,001.

OPENS CAMPAIGN IN HIS OLD HOME TOWN

Judge Hugo Black Fires His First Gun In Ashland

Judge Hugo Black, candidate for the United States senate, made his first public utterances to a large crowd in his old home town, Ashland, Clay county, Saturday last. Some of his policies included:

1. Pledges to serve the people as a whole, and not a particular group or clique, and to represent Alabama as a practical and not a "theoretical" prohibitonist.
2. Strict law enforcement.
3. Low tariffs and tax reductions
4. Continuance of federal aid, development of port of Mobile and improvement of Alabama"s waterways.
5. Opposition to immigration.
6. Care for indigent ex-service men.
7. Government operation of Muscle Shoals, insuring cheap fertilizers for dirt farmers.

Mr. Black prefaced his address with the following remarks to his friends and others of his native town:

"I am happy to be home again. When vital questions face a man he goes home in thought or person Ambition first stirred my heart and urged me on to effort while I lived here among you. The soil on which I stand is sacred to me by reason of hallowed memories, Only a few hundred yards away repose the ashes of the father who cherished hopes of my success and the mother whose worn and wrinkled hands pointed my way to truth and light and faith.

"The times cry aloud for men in public office who have not lost the common touch. Wealth is piling up in the hands of a few with ever increasing power.

"But the mass of America's common people work and live and die without any representation adequate to cope with those who seek to rule and so ooften actually succeed in doing so.

"The time has come to Alabama to seek officers whose practices rise to the level of their professions and whose past actions and environments give assurance that the rights of the common people will have the sympathetic representation which they deserve. Is it proper to select men to represent the people with the knowledge that they would be compelled to change the entire course of their life if they carried out their promises? As the twig is bent so the tree will grow, and if in later years the tree is a victim of the axe, it will fall the way it was bent"

Touchinp upon the question of ex-soldiers, Mr. Black told his audience that, altho many seem to have forgotten it, the nation owes a debt of gratitude to the boys who left their homes to serve in the World War, and that this obligation should not be ignored.

"If I am your United States senator and it is in my power to do so, no honorably discharged soldier shall die a pauper's death," he said, adding that "it is tragic generosity that extends the debt of Italy for 62 years at 1½ per cent and lets loyal Americans die neglected paupers."

Mr. Black told his audience that he was unable to spend thousands in campaign and other advertising undertakings, and that he would conduct the finances of his efforts for the senate along strictly conservative lines.

Discussing farming and Muscle Shoals, Mr. Black said, in part:

"The farmer should get a fair price for what he grows and not have to pay an unfair price for what he buys Such condition does not exist today. The farmer's rights must be protected. Co-operative marketing and all other methods by which a fair price for farm products can be obtained must be safeguarded. Examine each candidate and see if his environment allows him to have and exercise a sympathetic understanding of the farmers' needs.

"Everybody knows that a cheap fertilizer means profit and prosperity to the farmer and that high-priced fertilizer means debt at the end of the harvest We want cheap fertilizer, and I am heartily opposed to making any privately-owned power company a gift of Muscle Shoals. The people's money built it and it belongs to them h

"If you want your great property at Muscle Shoals given away to the Alabama Power company, or to any other privately owned power company, do not vote for me. God put it there for the benefit of all the people and the people should have it."

BANKHEAD COMING CLANTON TUESDAY

Will Address Voters At Court House at 1 O'clock

Hon. John H. Bankhead of Jasper, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the United States senate from Alabama, will address the voters at the court house here next Tuesday, March 30,at 1 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended everyone to come out. The ladies are especially invited.

There are five candidates in the race for this position, one of whom is sure to succeed Senator Underwood, who is not a candidate. The voters would do well to keep posted concerning the platforms of the candidates. Come out and hear Mr. Bankhead; you'll enjoy it.

SHOALS BILL MADE INTO LAW AT LAST

Way Is Now Open For The Reception of Bids

A Washington dispatch of Saturday said the resolution creating a congressional committee for the reception of Muscle Shoals bids became a law this afternoon when the senate accepted without a roll call the amendments attached by the house to its own amendments. Senator Deneen of Illinois, Heflin of Alabama and Sackett of Kentucky were appointed by Vice President Dawes to represent the senate on the special committee, and Representative Morin of Pennsylvania, James of Michigan and Quin of Mississippi were appointed by Speaker Longworth to represent the house.

This committee will hold a preliminary session Monday at which plans of procedure will be discussed and after which formal notice will be given that it is prepared to receive offers. It is anticipated that bids will be submitted by the Union Carbide company, the American Cynamid company, the Hooker-Whit e -Atterbury combination, the Alabama Power Co., its associates, and possibly Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer.

Fraud Order Issued

Many persons have been victimized by the Zenith lawn Accessory company, a firm with numerous mail addresses, engaged in selling a grass seen mixture for lawns under the coined name "Herbae Prati." The post office department has denied the company the use of the mail. According to the United States department of agriculture grossly erroneous statements as to its suitability for lawns have been made.

An analysis of the mixture made by the department seed testing laboratory showed it to be composed mainly of meadow fescue and Italian rye grass. The victims paid as high as $1.50 a pound for the mixture; whereas, according to the department, the constituents of the herbae prati mixture could have been purchased from reputable seed firms for not more than 12 to 20 cents a pound.

The postal fraud order has put a stop to the use of the mails by the firm, but traveling agents are still active throughout the country, especially in the southern states at present, selling herbae prati by house to house canlers.

Davis Withdraws

Montgomery, March 20.—Attorney General Harwell G. Davis announced late Friday his withdrawal as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Alabama. In announcing his withdrawal from the race, the attorney general gave as his reasons that he is not financially able to bear the expense of thecharacter of campaign which present conditions make necessary to succeed. He made it plain that his withdrawal is not in favor of any other candidate for gubernatorial honors.

AUTAUGA CRIME IS ON DECREASE

More Building In Prattville Than Ever

Prattville, March 21.—The circuit court came to a close yesterday. It was supposed to have been in session two weeks and only three days were consumed in the civil docket and the criminal cases three days and a half. There were only 14 indictments found by the grand jury and 17 cases were carefully investigated. Out of the number of indictments there were three convictions one white and two negroes Only one prohibition violator was found and the other two were minor offenses.

The revival meeting at the Methodist church, which has been carried on by Rev. C. S. Talley, came to a close Friday night. It has been a most successful meeting and remarkable attendance of the high school and grammar school at each one of these services has been very helpful to the pastor.

There is more building going on in Prattville than has ever been carried on at one time before.

A large quantity of fertilizer has been hauled out and the farmers are well advanced for the season. More than 5,000 pecan trees have been put out in this neighborhood since the first of January.

Sewing Club Entertained

Clanton's Young Matron's Sewing club was entertained yesterday, Thursday, with a spend-the-day party by Mesdames Loren Smith and Joe Higgins in the home of the former.

Spring flowers in tones of gold were used to decorate the Smith home. A bountiful four-course dinner was served the guests at noon The place cards, decorations and the menu embodied suggestions of Easter. Sewing on dainty finger-work proved a happy pastime for the guests.

EDUCATION BOARD AT STANTON HIGH

Announced This School To Operate Eight Months

Editor The News:

The members of the county board of education were welcome visitors to Stanton Junior High school Friday, March 19. Class work was discontinued during the hours of their visit and the entire student body with the teachers assembled in the auditorium, where a short, but interesting and amusing program consisting of music, speeches and class stunts, entertained the visitors. This program was in charge of Mrs. J. B. Northrup, teacher of music in the school

H. A. Harris, principal, spoke a few well chosen words in behalf of the school and gave the information that Stanton school would run eight months, carrying all the grades and retaining all teachers, thus preventing any interruption to the years work. By this splendid co-operation Stanton community has indeed applied Alabama's slogan, "Every Child an Equal Right," and the board highly commended the citizens and Mr. Harris for the untiring interest shown. Each member of the board responded to requests for short talks. they were interesting and appreciated.

Immediately upon completion of the program the home economics class, under the splendid supervision of Miss Margaret Cottingham, teacher, faultlessly served a delicious five course luncheon, all of which were prepared in the school, and too much cannot be said in praise of the young ladies whose skill in cooking was so ably shown,

The board expressed themselves as delighted with the conditions in Stanton school and they were extended an invitation to repeat their visit. The gentlemen seated at the table were: Messrs. Lawrence, Vines, Smith, Robertson, Billingslee and Harris.

about Taking Chances

American railroads are striving to reduce the number of accidents, both among their employes and the public generally.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad employs approximately 52,000 people; about 45,000 of these are employed in hazardous occupations, and it is a matter of pride on the part of this Railroad to state that the number of injuries and fatalities per year is constantly being reduced.

In the year 1923 there were 4,303 injuries among L. & N. employes, with 60 fatalities. During the year 1925 there was a reduction to 2,852 injuries, or one-third, and to 44 fatalities, or one-fourth.

In 1925 the L. & N. handled over 10,400,000 passengers an average distance of about 70 miles, without a single fatality, and with only 9 persons injured, in train accidents. In fact, as convincing evidence of the L. & N.'s remarkable safety record, there has not been a passenger killed in a train accident in the past six years, notwithstanding it has handled over 80,000,000 passengers an average distance of about 60 miles.

Safety devices of every sort are employed in this Company's shops and on every mile of track.

The American railroads are preaching and practicing "Safety First." Let everybody help.

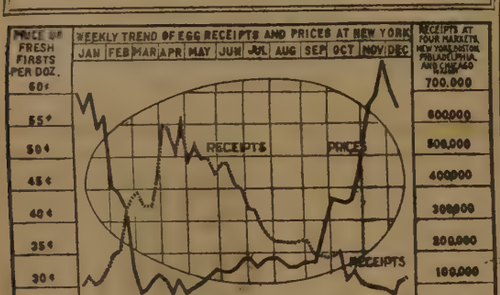
Egg Eaters Increase in 1925 Prices Highest in Five Years



EGG prices during the past year were higher than they have been since 1920, according to the annual review of the egg market made by the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. While there has been very little difference in the total production this past year as compared to 1924, the higher prices during 1925 indicate larger consumer demand.

SUCCESS IN AMERICA AN OPEN HIGHWAY

How Four Boys of Humble Origin Have Become Chiefs of the Greatest Financial Organization in the World.

Broad highways of achievement are wide open to all in America no matter how humble their beginning, it is brought out by a writer in Forbes Magazine, telling of the successive elevation of poor boys to the chieftainship of the most powerful association of financial power in the world.

"Nowhere is opportunity so democratic as in caste-free America, nowhere is recognition for faithful service so little conditioned by inherited position and wealth," the article says. "The bounty of America in bestowing her rewards of great success upon those of modest origin is again notably manifest in the rise of Oscar Wells to the presidency of the American Bankers Association.

"The son of a tanner, John H. Puelicher, was elected to this eminence in 1922. Circumstances ended his public schooling in the seventh year and he went to work in a carpet store in Milwaukee. At sixteen he entered a bank as a clerk, rising step by step until he became president. Recognition of his abilities as a banker and civic service through public education in sound economic understanding brought him the highest reward from his profession.

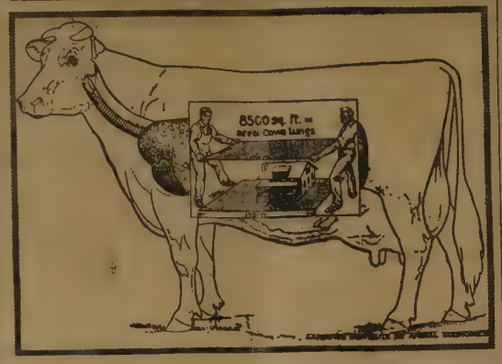
"A former country school teacher, Walter W. Head, born in a farm hamlet in Western Illinois, was elected president of the association in 1923. He gave up teaching and a salary of $75 to enter banking at $40 a month in a small Missouri town. He subsequently became president of a bank in Omaha, the largest in Nebraska and a dozen neighboring states. The position he occupied in advancing agricultural welfare during the period of depression led to his being called the 'Granger President of the American Bankers Association.'

"From Irish immigrant lad to supreme head of banking in America epitomizes the career of William E. Knox, president of one of the largest savings banks of the country in New York. His business career began as an office boy in a publishing house, and he later entered the bank as a clerk. Experience with humble people in their problems of personal finance and his inculcation of economy in all matters attracted country-wide attention.

"Oscar Wells, who rises in 1925 as successor of these men, was born in an old weather-boarded log cabin house in the Missouri River bottoms of Platte County, Missouri. He became an orphan when three years of age, losing his parents in an epidemic that ravaged the countryside. He passed under the care of an uncle, head of a small country bank in Platte City, a town of a few hundred inhabitants, growing up on a farm and receiving his early education in a rural school. He later entered Bethany College, West Virginia, but at the end of his junior year he had to quit college and go to work in the bank."

His subsequent career was one of steady progress, first to higher positions among small country banks, then to larger city banks in Texas, where he rose to the top. In 1914 he was chosen first governor of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank and served through the opening period of the establishment of that institution. He resigned to become president of a bank in Birmingham, Alabama, which has grown under his administration to be one of the largest and most successful institutions in the South.

Cows Lungs Cover City Lot



IF THE spongy sacks which form the lung of a cow were spread out flat they would cover a city lot 50 by 170 feet, according to an estimate made by experts of the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. To keep this mass of flesh functioning normally, over 3,000 cubic feet of fresh air are required each hour, which, served to cows in buckets as is water and grain, would mean 320 three-gallon pailfuls every hour for each cow.

A cow needs air (oxygen) to purify her blood, to digest and assimilate feed and turn it into heat, body repairing material and milk. Add to the well-ventilated barn a plentiful supply of fresh water, good roughage and a correctly mixed dairy ration, and you have all the essentials for abundant milk making. It is this lack of fresh air on many farms during the long winter months that is believed by practical farmers to be the underlying cause for much of the sickness among the animals.

HUGE GROWTH IN SCHOOL SAVINGS

New York.—School savings in the United States for the year 1924-1925 increased in aggregate bank balances by $5,500,000, with a growth of 680,000 in the total number of pupils participating, it is shown in reports made to the American Bankers Association, which declares that the returns encourage belief in the permanence of school savings as a part of the educational program in the public schools.

During the year the number of reporting school savings systems increased from 683 in 742 districts to 760 in 1,557 districts, the number of schools from 9,080 to 10,163, the number of pupils participating from 2,236,226 to 2,869,497, the deposits from $14,991,535.40 to $16,961,560.72 and the bank balances from $20,426,144.64 to $25,913,481.15, says W. E. Albig, in charge of the Association's savings activities.

Since 1920, the first year for which comprehensive statistics are available, the number of schools having school savings banking has increased 271.4 per cent, the enrollment in school savings districts 278.9 per cent, participants 520.2 per cent, deposits 506.1 per cent and bank balances 516.8 per cent.

Loren Smith, who is pursuing a course in pharmacy, spent Sunday at home, returning to Birmingham in the afternoon.

BEWARE OF

IMITATIONS

BE SURE YOU GET GENUINE "VULCAN" CHILLED PLOWS and PARTS

Here are some of their great advantages—WELL FINISHED — STRONG and DURABLE—PERFECT FIT—AND OF LIGHT DRAFT.

When you buy a Plow, consider Quality first and Price second. The "Vulcan" Good Quality includes rib-strengthened mold, full chilled shin piece, interlocked point and standard. The strongest and most durable chilled point made.

Imitation points and parts do not fit properly, and a plow equipped with them can not do the quality of work expected. They break easy and are made of inferior material.

Be sure each part you buy bears the "Vulcan" trade mark, cast into the back of the share.

Best point this year, concave, self-sharpening, longer life than old ones, and will last twice as long as imitations.

Buy only genuine "Vulcan" repairs.

Plants In Clay Also Soon To Be Revived

Goodwater, March 27.—Prospects for revival of the graphite industry in this section is good. The Ceylon Graphite company west of here is working a number of men reconditioning its plant, and it is stated will install the latest machinery for their plant, and expect to be ready for operation within the next 90 days or sooner. The Alabama Power company will soon begin to reconstruct its power line to this place.

One or two of the plants in Clay county are making preparations to begin work again.

The Ceylon plant was the last to close down after the war and operated day and night for several years It is said that the new plant will employ 50 or more people.

WETUMPKA WARDEN HAS RESIGNED JOB

State Board Was To Make Investigation

Montgomery, March 27.—While an investigation of charges of misconduct loomed, J. O. Benton, warden at Wetumpka prison, resigned Saturday. Complaints were filed by two former employes with the state board of administration, which will drop the proposed probe.

Warden Benton's resignation takes effect May 1.

State Transfer Agent P. C. Herbert has been named acting warden at Wetumpka, with instruction to perfect an organization before Warden Benton leaves.

FIVE CARS TROPHIES COMING TO ALABAMA

War Material Captured From The Germans

Five carloads of World War trophies captured from the Germans and allotted to Alabama have been shipped from the arsenal in New Jersey, according to information Thursday afternoon from the state military department. One carload was shipped to each of the following points. Birmingham, Montgomery, Mobile, Huntsville and Anniston.

Alabama was allotted a quota of World War trophies by the federal government on the basis of the number of men furnished to the service by this state during the war, and the state's quota has in turn been subdivided among counties on a similar basis. The trophies include cannon, rifles, bayonets and a number of other articles of captured war material.

George Thomas, aged 96, died last Thursday at the home of his son, L. W. Thomas, four miles north of Clanton, and was buried Friday at the Alridge graveyard, five miles south of Clanton. The funeral was conducted by Rep. W. W. Robinson.

THREE SENATORIAL CANDIDATES HERE

Bankhead, Black and Kilby Deliver Speeches

Hon. John H. Bankhead of Jasper, Judge Hugo Black of Birmingham and Ex-Governor Thomas E. Kilby of Anniston, all candidates for the United States senate to succeed Senator Underwood, were in Clanton this week, the first two coming Tuesday and the latter Wednesday and all speaking in the interest of their candidacy at the courthouse. Mr. Bankhead had advertised his coming in last week's issue of The News, and Governor Kilby's' coming was also advertised through the medium of handbills, but apparently Judge Black's appearance was rather in the nature of a surprise.

The candidates were accorded a courteous welcome and the closest attention by an exceptionally large crowd, although a steady downpour of rain fell throughout Tuesday, the courthouse being packed to its capacity. The candidates were in fine fettle and the crowd apparently enjoyed their speeches very much.

Only one other candidate now remains in the race since the withdrawal of Mr. Mullins of Alexander City—Judge Mayfield—but The News understands that he has been ill for some little time.

MAN CONVICTED OF CHALLENGE TO DUEL

Is Given Two Years Term In The Penitentiary

Albany, March 27.—A two-year term in the penitentiary following his conviction on a charge of offering a challenge to fight a duel was the strange fate which overtook Monroe Burch, Cullman planter, at the recent term of circuit court there, it became known here with the return of Solicitor D. C. Almon and Judge C. Kyle to their homes years' experience as a prosecuting attorney that he had encountered the conviction of a man on such a charge. Burch was charged with haping offered a challenge to Grady McCoy. another well-known farmer of the Logan section of Cullman county.

Solicitor Almon stated that it was the first time in his 20 years' experience as a prosecuting attorney that he had encountered the conviction of a man on such a charge

Burch was charged with having offered to fight a duel with another farmer.

Mrs. John Page Hostess

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. John Page was hostess to the Clanton Card club.

The Page home was made unusually attractive for the occasion with spring time blossoms and growing plants. The games were enthusiastically played; prizes were awarded and tempting refreshhments were served to her afternoon guests.

Anti-Prohibitionists Not To Have Easy Walk-Over

LEAGUE PREPARES TO BATTLE WETS

Will Be On Ground When Hearings Start

Washington, March 27.—After five years of more or less inactive duty the "shock troops" of the Anti-saloon league are being mobilized to battle the wets again when the beer hearings start in congress April 5.

Church organizations, the pro-Vol stead prohibition organizations, the temperance unions and other dry groups will gather under the banner of the Antisaloon league to combat the wets at the hearing, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the league, said today.

'We have sent out the call to organizations all over the country and expect to be able to show definitely thru testimony that prohibition has been successful,' Wheeler declared.

The list of wi tnesses will be announced Monday, he said. Wheeler will make a trip to Chicago to debate the prohibition question by radio with Clarence Darrow Saturday.

Meantime a deluge of letters from all parts of the country telling of the shocking conditions due to prohibition are pouring in to Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, according to his statement,

Bruce, who is one of the most active wets in the senate, declared that "some of the letters reveal corruption of the most serious character in cities throughout the country."

The senator is hopeful that his proposed amendment to the constitution which would bring back liquor under the Canadian system of government supervision will be passed.

"There are really only about eight or nine prohibitionists in the senate, altho politically there are many,' he said.

SPOUTING OIL AT TREMENDOUS RATE

Over 1,000 Barrels An Hour Its Production

Enid, Okla., March 27.—With all available tankage filled more than 100 men worked last night building earthen basins to catch the oil from the Sinclair-Hartley well No. 27, which came in yesterday in the Barber-Covington field for more than 1,000 barrels an hour. Oil company officials today declared it was not only the largest well that has ever been drilled in Oklahoma, but one of the largest in the United States

Wells as large have been drilled in other states and in Mexico, they said, but seldom has the oil been of high gravity such as the Hartley well is producing. This one well doubled the entire production of the Garber-Covington field.

Driller-in at the well said that the tools were purposely left in the hole to hold down the production as much as possible as no tankage was available. No accurate guage was possible as the flow was directed into the earthen basins, but the well apparently had not dimnished its rate of production.

Old Fashioned Quilting

Mrs. J. W. P. Murphy, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J M. Robinson, was hostess on Thursday at an old-fashioned quilting spend-the-day party. A number of Clanton matrons attended the affair and reported a big time.

Within the Murphy home were stretched for quilts and all the guests partook of the old-fashioned pastime of quilting. At noon the hostess served a sumptuous dinner.

CHINESE GREATEST BUYERS OF BIBLE

Society Distributed Over Nine Million Copies

New York, March 27.—The biggest demand for the Christian Bible came from the Chinese.

That was the surprise contained in an exclusive announcement made to Editors' Feature service today by Arthur C. Ryan, an official of the American Bible society, which in 1925 printed and distributed 9,069,000 copies of the Scriptures in 150 languages.

"The five languages in which the most copies of the Bible were printed," Mr. Ryan said, "were Mandarin Chinese, English, Japanese, Spanish and Arabic."

Chinese copies mounted to 4,092,700 or almost 20 per cent of the society's total output.

English copies totalled 2,860,000 and were sent to every part of the world. Japanese version reaching a total of 982,900 filled a demand for the Scriptures in Japan, Korea and all parts of the far east.

Spread of Bible interest in Spain and South America was said to be responsible for the large number of copies printed in Spanish. This language took fourth place with a total of 361,200.

Arabic speaking countries, Egypt, Syria, Zanzibar, North Africa, Mesopotamia, Palestine and some parts of Turkey, used 125,000 Arabic Bibles.

REFERENDUM NOW PLAN IN CONGRESS

Would Have States Conduct Poll

Washington, March 27.—A joint resolution calling for a national referendum on prohibition in the congressional election of 1928 was introduced by Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, and leaders of the congressional bloc.

The resolution invites the individual states to conduct the referendum in connection with elections to the 71st congress. The 1928 presidential election will come at the same time, however.

The resolution provides as to how the referendum should be held under supervision of the postmaster general and the secretary of commerce.

The question to be submitted to the voters would be:

"Shall the congress amend the national prohibition act so to allow the manufacture, sale and transportation of beverages containing as great an amount of alcohol as is lawful under the contitution provided that such amendments shall not interfere with the constitutional powers of the several states to legislate with respect to intoxicating liquors as each state may deem proper."

In states where the legislatures or authorities have made no provision for a referendum by July 1, 1928, the postmaster general and the secretary of commerce would be empowered to make arrangements for the referendum in that state.

The resolution would authorize the appropriation of a sufficint sum for administration of the referendum such as desired by the secretary of the treasury, who would reimburse the states for any money spent in conducting the referendum.

COAL MINE FIRE IS BELIEVED OUT

Has Burned Steadily For Past Twenty-two Years

Jasper, March 27.—After raging 22 years, fire in a coal mine a mile and a half west of Jasper, has gone out, it was believed Saturday, when reports reached here that the clouds of smoke, which have been pouring out of the shaft were gone and no signs of the blaze could be found.

It was thought possible, however, that the fire might still be going full blast underground.

The fire in this mine owned by the Brilliant Coal company, is believed to have been the most expensipe in Alabama. It is estimated that over half a million tons of coal have been destroyed.

Efforts to extinguish the blaze were abandoned many years ago.

CROWS ACQUITTED VANDALISM CHARGE

Their Menu Consists Also of Many Pests

The crow is not as black as he is painted, in the opinion of the department of agriculture, and it recommends the farmers inflict the death penalty on them only in extreme cases. 'Sprouting corn is only one item of a large and varied crow menu which includes many insect pests, the department says

A trap has been invented which will really catch the wary crows, the department asserts. recommending its use in employment of warnings to the feathered pirates where they are too numerous.

WILL COTTON SELL AT TWELVE CENTS?

Such Is Prediction Of This Texas Official

Edinburgh, Tex., March 27.—Twelve-cent cotton was predicted for this year by G. R. Terrell, Texas commissioner of agriculture, who is here today on an inspection trip

Although he will not make his report on cotton acreage until June he predicted a planting of more than 18,000,000 acres in Texas alone and said the indications are that a tremendous crop would be made despite the campaign for reduced acreage.

Bible Thought

Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me.

In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself; that where I am there ye may be also.

And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know.—John, 14-4f.

Study Them

Some very timely questions asked by the Montgomery Journal of the candidates offering for Alabama offices just now are well worth the consideration of voters everywhere. Among those suggested by the Journal we find the following:

"What are their qualifications for service in the offices to which they aspire? How are they grounded in private life? Could they serve the public interest to the exclusion of every other interest in the event of a conflict between public and private interests? Have they courage and capacity? Are they fundamentally honest? Are they ambitious to the point of danger? Would they think more of personal advancement in politics than they would of the advancement of the public interest and the welfare of the state? Will they keep their promises to the people who are asked to elect them?"

You might have asked and considered the same questions of other candidates in previous elections—and possibly been disappointed in your judgment. No matter. Don't give up—now, of all times, anyway. Your nation, your state, your country all need men of foresight and wisdom too much now for the voter to slacken his interest in their affairs.

It doesn't make any difference whether you want to go in from the flu, whether you are too busy to quit work just then or whether pressing engagements or business matters call you to stick on; if you have a real, sho-nuff case you don't' give a continental with a hole in it for all these matters—and in you go.

"Seeking Traces of Old Races In Many Places."—Headline Montgomery Journal. We suggest that headwriter get a job in a poetry factory.

Doesn't Mean Anything

Columns and pages have been written and printed concerning the recent newspaper poll of wet and dry sentiment over the country, and the wets seem to have been so favorably impressed with the results of the vote that it has heartened them to go before congress with their apeal for modification or repeal of the Volstead law, using that vote as their backing.

It is true that a considerable vote was polled, both for modification and for repeal as compared with th eopposing vote of prohibitionists. It is a well known fact, too, that the wets were more interested than were the drys in the contest. In fact, dry leaders over the country advised those friendly to the law to take no part in the poll and the small total dry vote cast showed the result of that advice.

After all, the newspaper poll means little—nothing, in fact, so far as the repeal of the law is concerned. Congress might possibly—but not hardly—go ahead with all the preliminaries necessary for its repeal, insofar as congress can go, but in the end it would simply amount to money and time wasted. For it must be remembered that the legislatures of 36 states must declare themselves opposed to the present law and take the proper steps to nullify it before we could really count ourselves on the road to repeal. And how many state legislatures do you suppose would take such action? The News would guess a total of possibly five or six.

Good friends we believe that out of the large list of readers on our list there will always come a sentiment strong and loyal enough to support The News, insofar as a local subscription list can sustain a local newspaper, and we feel proud and thankful for the large number of bona fide subscribers that we have And now let all take enough interest in the paper to see that your subscription is kept paid in advance.

Untold thousands of good men have been ruined, their reputation for integrity and honesty blasted, by reason of debt, not that they did not want to pay every cent promptly, or were indifferent in their efforts to pay but simply because they could not possibly raise the money they owed when hard-boiled creditors pressed them to the wall. If given a chance we are old-fashioned enough to believe that almost any man will pay his honest dues. We have a sneakin' idea that the Great Creditor of all will ask some mighty embarrassing questions one day of some of the money creditors of this life.

"If I were Tom, I'd"—'He ought to" do it, "my" way, mouth of the gossip—the small-bore reformer. "He ought to" do it, "my" way is the meat in the cocoanut. But do you suppose you would do things differently from the way Tom is doing them if you were in Tom's shoes? Did you ever stop to think that Tom has just as much right to his opinion as to how to conduct his business as you have yours? When you say Tom ought or ought not to do so and so you set yourself up as having more sense than Tom has—and the chances are that your listener is also acquainted with some of your own weak spots.

Wastebasket Gets 'Em

Every week we are compelled to hand over to the wastebasket one or more interesting communications because they are unsigned. We really want news notes of your neighborhood in The News every week, and no one except the editor shall know who does the writing if you do not wish your name to appear. But—again—we must have somebody's authority for printing anything. Please sign yonr name to every communication, or the wastebasket will surely get it. As we have explained before, we must do this for protection of the correspondent as well as The News.

What has gone with the proposition to put on a farm agent in Chilton? The News believes that the farmers of this county would profit immeasurably by the establishment of such an agency here. not only, but that they would be so well pleased they would never wish to give it up We are speaking, of course of the placing here of a farm agent competent and qualified to carry on his work to the benefit of every farmer, big or little, rich or poor. Such a man could be of untold value in organization work alone this year.

The Texas secretary of agriculture expects Texans to plant 18 million acres of cotton this year, and predicts 12 cents for the staple next fall. If Texas plants that much cotton it can reasonably be expected the rest of the country will put in a bumper acreage. Cotton barely held on to a price close around the production cost the past season; and a big crop this year is certain to send the price below the 1925 levels

We have a larger list of subscribers at Thorsby, Verbena, Maplesville and some other towns nearby than some newspapers we know have in the town in which they are printed A mighty good opportunityt for the merchants of these towns to get their advertising before their own home people.

Woudn't you like to make the editor's' heart beat gladly by paying up that delinquent subscription bill?

Miss Annie Williams, one of Billingsley's beautiful young ladies, accompanied by her brother, Hugie, while in town shopping and visiting among friends, paid The News a pleasant call Tuesday.

K. M. Vinson Makes Change

Just as we go to press we learn that Mr. Kin Vinson, who for a number of years has been connected with the Clanton Motor company, has joined the Polk Bros. Motor Co., Inc., as salesman for Chevrolet cars and trucks.

We understand that Mr. Vinson accompanied W. M. and Geo. C. Polk to Atlanta on Wednesday morning to attend the Chevrolet dealers meeting and banquet.

We wish for Mr. Vinson much success in his new connection and we predict that the already popular Chevrolet car will be seen in increasing numbers on the streets of Clanton.

Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc., were very fortunate in obtaining Mr. Vinson as salesman.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR POPULAR CAR

Chevrolet Sales Increase One Hundred Per Cent

According to Geo. C. Polk, local Chevrolet dealer, the sales of Chevrolet cars and trucks for the first quarter of this year is exactly 100 per cent more than for the same period last year in this territory.

This sales increase, according to Mr. Polk, is attributed to the fact there has been many wonderful improvements incorporated in the Chevrolet in the last eighteen months, and also that the car buyer of today has learned to check value for value when buying, and they find they get more real value in the Chevrolet.

Mr. Polk says it is nothing uncommon for a prospect to call at their salesroom and say, "I have been advised by a friend who is driving a Chevrolet that I should let my next var be a Chevrolet so I want to see what you will allow me for my ——— on a new Chevrolet."

This proves that the people who are driving Chevrolets are well pleased with them and want to see their friends driving Chevrolets.

Mr. Polk says that if the Chevrolet factories will supply them with cars, they will make the next quarter show 200 per cent increase over the same period last year.

Hurrah for Mr. Polk. We love an optimist, and here"s hoping the factories will increase production and they can get the cars.

John Bunyan, the young son of Mr. annd Mrs. J. D. Yeargan of Enterprise, was brought to Clanton to be operated on for tonsilitis and aneoids Tuesday, and withstood the operation well, we understand. His parents and an aunt, Mrs. Minnie Vance, accompanied the young man, and all were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bates.

FRIENDSHIP NEWS

Health is very good at present except for colds which are brought on by the spring weather.

Farmers around here are becoming very deeply interested in their occupations now, as it is time to plant corn

Sunday was our regular preaching day and a very intersting discourse was delivered by our pastor, Rev. W. P. Lowery, on the subject of "Confession."

Sunday afternoon was the appointed time for our singing society, and we had a very large crowd present. It was given up to be the best singing held here in a very long time. Directors for the afternoon were: A. D. Huett, C. R. Robinson, Archie Devaughn, O. L. Devaughn, Nester Miller, J. W. Cagle, M. Lockhart, W. M. Devaughn, Jessie Baker, A. O. Boswell, Johnnie Miner. During the time devoted to singing, we were given two very good quartets, one by Jessie Baker and the other by Prof. W. M. Devaughn.

Organists for the afternoon were Misses Lena Mae Devaughn and Olive Baker; Mrs. O. R. Robinson, Mrs. Jessie Baker and Mr. C. H. Robinson.

We were more than glad to have so many people out and we are extending a hearty welcome to one and all to come every fourth Sunday afternoon.

Fiddlers' Convention

There will be a fiddlers' convention at the courthouse Saturday night, April 10th, the proceeds to go to the Methodist church. All fiddlers are especially invited. The people are so well pleased with the other convention that they are anxious for another one. We hope to have a large crowd, and will prepare seats for all that come. The program will be published next week.

The price of admission will be 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for all under 12 years old.

We want to express our gratitude for those that came to the last convention and we promise all a better time next imte. Yours truly.
Ladies of the Methodist Church.

Coffee at the Table

As many cups as you want

The convenience of this electric percolator will take you by storm. Coffee at the table. Delicious coffee made quickly but slow enough to get every bit of flavor from the coffee bean. And if you like more than one cup of coffee it is not necessary to run back and forth to the kitchen to satisfy your desires. The delight of electric coffee has to be experienced to be appreciated.

Enjoy These Benefits of Electric Coffee

The benefits of electric coffee are many. Coffee can be made right at the table; it is made to taste like coffee should taste and not like hot water slightly flavored; it can be made quickly and without trouble; no sooty pot to clean afterwards, just rinse the percolator with water and it is clean and fresh as new.

Resolve NOW to get these benefits of real coffee and stop in and get one of these electric percolators TODAY. They may be purchased on our easy payment plan.

Hen's Own Egg Factory Is Run Like Real Plant

IT'S A whole egg or none for the hen, according to the Carrowe Institute of Animal Economics. Being an honest manufacturer she does not make half an egg. Her egg "factory" is run like a real plant. When the yolk is made it is then passed into another department where it is surrounded by white, then into a third where it is encased by a layer of the purest form of carbonate of lime, forming the egg shell, after which it is ready to greet a hungry world.

The average hen lays about 72 eggs a year, mostly during warm weather. She should manufacture twice that number, state the institute's experts who in experimenting with hundreds of laying hens, discovered surprising differences in the number of eggs produced by various poultry rations. If the hen's egg-making apparatus fails to work up to a standard of efficiency it is probably not the hen's fault, but rather that of the poultryman who unknowingly does not provide her with the food material the hen requires to keep all three egg-making departments working full time. When the hen is fed sound grains and an efficient mash containing egg-making nutrients that make for the greatest efficiency in her plant, she can't help but make eggs! Feed is the most important single factor in egg production. It is also the biggest item of cost. Profitable results cannot be secured with poor rations.

In addition to providing the best rations for egg production the wise poultryman will watch his flock, to continuously cull out the naturally poor layers, thus building up a flock of heavy-laying fowls. Every effort should also be made to see that the hens are comfortably housed, especially in winter, because dark, damp, dirty quarters may nullify all the advantages resulting from culling and better feeding.

BAPTISTS READY; GREAT ADVANCE

April Ingathering For Co-operative Program Is Feature of Forward Move.

PLAN FOR BIG CONVENTION

Special Emphasis Is Laid On Spiritual Preparation for Gathering of Forces at Houston May 12-16

Conditions favor a distinct advance on the part of Southern Baptists in 1926 along many lines, according to information received by the headquarters of the Co-operative Program Commission of Southern Baptists.

This body, charged by the Southern Baptist Convention and various state conventions with providing adequate support for foreign missions, home missions, ministerial relief and Baptist schools, hospitals and orphanages, is seeking to so increase and stabilize the income of the denomination as to provide adequately for all these enterprises through a regular budget. In this connection the Commission is seeking to enlist as nearly as possible every member of every church in making regular weekly and monthly offerings to this general budget which is distributed among these seven causes on percentages proportionate to their various needs.

DR. F. F. BROWN, KNOXVILLE, TENN. PREACHING CONVENTION SERMON.

Approximately $9,200,000 for these objects was received during 1925, it is announced, but inasmuch as only $4,698,000 of this amount was in distributable funds some of the objects suffered for lack of sufficient cash. Under the leadership of the Commission a definite effort is being made to secure as much or more money as was contributed in 1925, but in undesignated amounts so that each cause will get its proportionate share.

Receipts By States

The receipts for 1925 through the various state offices were as follows: Alabama, $352,308.67; Arkansas, $239,333.66; District of Columbia, $48,000; Florida, $223,665.88; Georgia, $480,868.54; Illinois, $81,951.17; Kentucky, $514,800.61; Louisiana, $312,499.70; Maryland, $91,200.00; Mississippi, $580,736.76; Missouri, $230,344.13; New Mexico, $63,981.64; North Carolina, $691,718.44; Oklahoma, $137,869.61; South Carolina, $484,584.70; Tennessee, $390,287.44; Texas, $873,407.30, and Virginia, $346,066.05. The remainder of the $9,200,000 received in 1925 consisted largely of special gifts to foreign missions and the building fund of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

An outstanding feature of this effort of the Commission is a special cash ingathering for the month of April, when every one of the nearly 4,000,000 white Baptists of the South will be asked to make as generous an offering as possible to the whole Co-operative Program, this money to be distributed proportionately among the seven general causes embraced therein.

Convention Prospects Good

In the event this April ingathering attains the goal set for it, it will make it possible for the various Southwide Baptist enterprises to report great relief in their financial situation to the Southern Baptist Convention at its session in Houston, Texas, May 12-16.

The committee on program for this year's convention, in the hope of giving that session the largest possible spiritual emphasis, has arranged for a special season of prayer and worship in the Convention auditorium at Houston for Tuesday evening, May 11th, preceding the opening of the Convention on Wednesday morning. At this preliminary service J. Fred Schofield of Birmingham, Ala., will lead the song service; Dr. W. A. McComb of Gulfport, Miss., will lead the prayer meeting and Dr. H. R. Holcomb of Mansfield, La., will preach a brief sermon. Another innovation in this year's Convention program calls for the closing of each morning and evening session with a brief sermon by a representative pastor. Dr. Fred F. Brown, Knoxville, Tenn., will deliver the main Convention sermon on Wednesday morning.

FARM NOTES

Poison oats clean up the gophers.

Try sweet clover and you won't regret it.

An acre of alfalfa for every dairy cow is a good aim.

A bonfire of leaves is willful waste of that which belongs to the soil.

Ideas gained at the fairs last year will be of no use unless you put them to work this year.

The crop planted on poorly prepared land is already half lost; plow deep and thoroughly.

Prediction for 1925: It will be just as profitable to keep down farm expenses as to increase the income.

* * *

Trimming out fence corners with a scythe has rather undeservedly become a lost art in many sections of the country.

BANKERS SURVEY STATE BANK LAWS

Find That Movement for State Guaranty of Bank Has Gone Into Eclipse.

New York.—A survey of state banking laws conducted by the State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association shows marked progress toward greater uniformity and more efficient bank supervision, it is declared by Frank W. Simmonds, in charge of the division, in a statement giving the results of the investigation. He says that the movement for state guaranty of bank deposits appears to have gone into eclipse.

"The division has urged that the office of bank commissioner be freed from politics and all other functions of state government and tenure be made more secure with sufficient compensation and discretion to attract men of outstanding ability," Mr. Simmonds says. "Gratifying progress has been made during the past year in important bank legislation in many states. Idaho, Wyoming and Oregon led the list by adopting entirely new modern banking codes, while Texas and Montana have new codes in preparation.

Uniformity Among State Laws

"The survey shows that it is generally agreed there should be a high degree of uniformity among the states in laws dealing with certain fundamental principles of bank organization, regulation and supervision, and that there is a strong tendency in this direction. We find a very definite trend toward increasing the minimum capital requirements of banks to $25,000; creation of banking boards to act in an advisory capacity with the state bank commissioner, and legislation empowering bank commissioners to take complete charge of insolvent banks and to liquidate them as distinguished from liquidation through the courts.

"We find also a trend toward legislation providing for closer supervision and regulation of building and loan associations; more equitable taxation of bank stock; legislation providing for merger, conversion or consolidation of banking institutions; the legalizing and regulating of what is known as 'departmental banking'; broadening the field for investment of funds of saving banks and trust companies, and increasing the power of the bank commissioner as to granting or denying charters for new banks, and authorizing his making reasonable rules and regulations governing bank management and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof.

"Additional general characteristics of state bank legislation are for increasing the compensation of the bank commissioner and lengthening his term of office of four, five or six years, with power to appoint necessary deputies and examiners; legislation providing for the reduction of mandatory bank calls to three and reducing the number of examinations required by law annually to one; making issuance of worthless checks a misdemeanor; limiting or prohibiting an officer or director of a bank borrowing from his bank unless his collateral is approved by a majority of the board of directors, and limiting or prohibiting the opening of branch banks.

Eclipse of Guaranty Movement

"The question of state guaranty of bank deposits appears this year to have passed into an eclipse, so far as the extension of the idea is concerned, notwithstanding the fact that state guaranty laws were recommended by the governors of two states, and bills were introduced in several of the states, all of which were defeated. The general tendency, so far as state guaranty of deposits laws are concerned, is distinctly the other way, the indications being that several states now having guaranty laws are trying to free themselves from this legislation. Oklahoma has abandoned the plan of state guaranty of deposits, and this year the South Dakota legislature has repealed the state guaranty law and has referred the repeal to the people at the next general election for ratification."

BANKERS RAISE FUND OF $500,000 FOR EDUCATION

A fund of $500,000 to endow scholarships and research in economics in American colleges was recently established by the American Bankers Association in celebration of its Golden Anniversary. The intention of the Foundation is to promote education in the direction of sounder general economic understanding. Half the total sum represents subscriptions by the American Bankers Association, the American Institute of Banking and individual bankers, and the other half quotas assigned to bankers in each state. The Association gave $50,000 from its reserve funds, and the American Institute of Banking, through individual subscriptions from its members, who are chiefly clerks in the banks, subscribed $25,000. Numerous subscriptions of $5,000, $2,500 and $1,000 each were made by individual bankers in all parts of the country.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON "BAD LUCK"

"The Brownes are the unluckiest people I ever saw, Aunty," remarked Emma, as she and Aunt Emmy walked by their house. "They were just getting on their feet after James lost so much money in stocks. Maud told me only last week that he was putting his savings in government bonds now. Yesterday his office was robbed and the bonds stolen out of his desk. Five $100 bonds gone. It's the only money they have been able to save since he lost his savings in that radio stock."

"That certainly is bad luck, if you call it bad luck," commented Aunt Emmy. "I call it stupidity, myself."

"Stupidity! Why Aunt Emmy, how could James know that thieves would get in his office!" exclaimed Emma. "It doesn't seem stupid to me."

"I don't want to be too hard on James, my child, but if he had only used ordinary precautions, he need not have lost what was for him a large amount of money on that radio stock and he surely need not have had those bonds stolen."

"Why Aunty, James isn't a mind reader or a fortune teller."

"No, of course he isn't. But neither is every successful business man a seer. Luck is ninety per cent common sense. If James had gone to his banker and asked him to look up the radio company whose stock he was thinking of buying, the chances are that he never would have bought it after he got the bank's report. Banks can get the record of any company issuing stock and if the company is not well financed, if it has not been paying dividends, if the officers of the company are not men with clean, honest records, the bank can find that out. The radio company that James invested in made a disgraceful failure a month after he bought his stock. If he had taken the trouble to find out something about it first, doubtless he would have that money today."

"Well, Aunty, that may be true about the stock, but who in the world would anticipate thieves?"

"Anybody who reads the papers today knows that thieves are pretty active," said Aunt Emmy dryly. "Why ignore them? If James had kept his bonds in a safe place, at a bank, he would have had them yet. James has been careless, if not actually stupid. His bad luck is mostly James himself."—Anne B. Aymes.

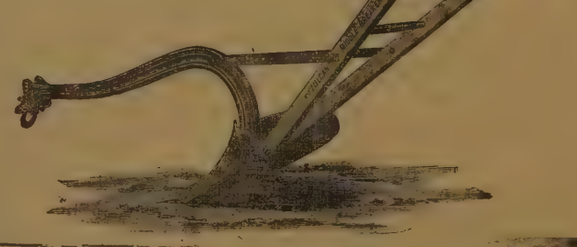
IMITATIONS

BE SURE YOU GET GENUINE "VULCAN" CHILLED PLOWS and PARTS



Here are some of their great advantages—WELL FINISHED — STRONG and DURABLE—PERFECT FIT—AND OF LIGHT DRAFT.

When you buy a Plow, consider Quality first and Price second. The "Vulcan" Good Quality includes rib-strengthened mold, full chilled shin piece, interlocked point and standard. The strongest and most durable chilled point made.

Imitation points and parts do not fit properly, and a plow equipped with them can not do the quality of work expected. They break easy and are made of inferior material.

Be sure each part you buy bears the "Vulcan" trade mark, cast into the back of the share.

Best point this year, concave, self-sharpening, longer life than old ones, and will last twice as long as imitations:

INTERESTING RALLY AT SHILOH CHURCH

Splendid Session With Dinner On Ground

One of the most interesting church rallies to have been held in the community in a long while was that enjoyed by a large crowd at Shiloh church, near Kinceon, Sunday last. Much time of the day was consumed in instructive talks by well known church workers, and credit for the success of the rally, we understand, should go to the Rev. T. J. Deason, pastor at Shiloh, through whose interest and untiring work in its behalf the coming together of the people there proved an event long to be remembered.

Probate Judge H. M. Howard of Elmore county prominent in church and Sunday school work, made a most interesting address, using as a title for his theme "Value of the Church." Rev. Hand followed him with "The Resurrection of Christ' as his subject. One of our local church workers, J. L. Johnson, was on the program and entertained the large audience with a talk on "The Needs of the Church" which was enjoyed very much. Revs. Faulkner, Billingsley and J. D. Deason also held the attention of the people very closely up on the same subject.

Dinner was served at the noon hour on the grounds, and it was the opinion of all who partook thereof that the good ladies of the community are the best workers after all, and they "do" know how to appease the appetite of man.

ALUES OF FARM PROPERTIES DROP

crease Amounts to More Than 25 Per Cent

A shrinkage in the value of American farms and farm buildings from $66,316,002,602 in 1910 to $49,546,759 in 1925 was estimated by the department of commerce Tuesday in a preliminary report on the latest agricultural census. The decrease amounts to a little more than 25 per cent.

Farm acreage in the same period declined from 955,883 715 to 924,889,380 acrs, and the departments division of land economics calculated the decline in the average acre value of land and buildings at 22 per cent, and for land alone at 28 per cent. Value of farm buildings, it explained, increased 6 per cent.

The 1925 figures, compared with those for 1910 indicated an increase of 35 per cent in the average farm value, but considering the drop in the purchasing power of the dollar during that interval, the economists concluded there was actually a net decline of 10 to 12 per cent during that period.

Sam Upchurch has returned to his studies at Virginia military institute.

462 CANDIDATES IN THE NEXT PRIMARY

222 Want To Go To State Legislature

Approximately 462 candidates are now duly qualified and eligible to compete for the various state offices in the Democratic primary of August, according to the first official list of office seekers released late Friday by ChairmanR. B. Evins of the Democratic state executive committee, says Sunday's Birmingham News.

In announcing the names of those who qualified Judge Evins declared, however, there is a possibility that one or two names may have been inadvertently ommitted, due to the unprecedented number of last minute declarations received Thursday.

The list showed that two hundred and twenty-two candidates have qualified for the lower house in the legislature from which number 105 will be elected. There are 74 candidates for membership on the Democratic executive committee, 61 candidates for the 35 vacancies in the Alabama senate and 43 who are seeking election as solicitors of the various judicial circuits of Alabama.

Moreover, there are three candidates for commissioner of agriculture, two for state auditor, two for state treasurer, five for four vacancies as circuit judges, five for the United States senate, 16 for representatives in congress four governor, 6 for lieutenant governor, four for attorney general, five for secretary of state, three for associate justices of the supreme court, two for justices of the court of appeals, four for public service commission and one for state superintendent of education.

ENTERPRISE PEOPE INJURED IN WRECK

Misses Williams Requires Medical Treatment

Four or more people of the Enterprise community while riding in a truck near Lock 12 Sunday were injured when they were sideswiped or otherwise run into, it is said, by a sar driven by Reuben Willis and carrying as a passenger Ed Wyatt. Misses Louella and Estella Willis were brought to Clanton for medical treatment, the others being able to continue on their way or return home.

We understand warrants have been issued for the arrest of the two young men.

A news item from the state caital a few days ago said that Alonzo (Lon) Brasher convicted in Shelby county last September of distilling and given a year and a day to 13 months in the penitentiary, and Martin Giles, convicted and sentenced to six months for violating the prohibition law, has been pardoned by the governor.

EACH SIDE GIVEN WEEK OF HEARING

Lines In Prohi Fight Are Drawn Closely

Washington, April 4.—Sharp lines for the impending battle between the wets and the drys have been drawn by the senate judiciary subcommittee.

Chairman Means announced that beginning Monday the wets would have six days each without interruption fro the drys, except such cross examination as might be conducted by members of the committee.

The same will hold true when the drys are presenting their case week after next.

After the two sides have had their days in court the committee itself may decide to hold a further investigation on its own account. That will depend upon the facts developed and the charges made with respect to enforcement of the Volstead act.

GENUINE LIQUOR IS ALMOST GONE

Sources Of Supply Cut To 20 Million Gallons

Washington, April 4—America's enormous consumption of bootleg liquor since prohibition was disclosed Saturday by figures at the treasury department, indicating that the sources of supply for intoxicating beverages have been cut approximately to 20,000,000 in the United States.

"Virttually all this liquor, redistilled from industrial alcohol, smuggled into the country, diverted from medicinal supplies and illegally withdrawn from warehouses went into bootlegging markets, according to treasury officials.

Andrews asserted that the supply of genuine liquor has almost disappeared from the market through the drive against smugglers

A Washington correspondent says:

The Americans are asked to pay the war claims which Germany should pay and probably will pay ultimately but not soon enough to suit American claimants.

This in substance is the situation that has arisen as a result of the tangle over alien property and claims of families of Americans who lost their lives in the Lusitania disaster, as well as property claims.

The congress of the United States has hesitated to permit German property held in America to be returned to German citizens, amounting to more than $400,000,000, until some arrangement was made to pay American claims against Germany amounting to about $250,000,000. Now it is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Ogden Mills, of New York, with the approval of the treasury department, that the United States issue bonds to pay American claimants and allow German property to be released at once.

In support of the measure there are alined al l persons who want to regain possession of seized property and those who have unsatisfied claims against Germany. The only thing lacking has been the money to finance the transactions. The treasury would borrow in varying amounts so as to pay off the $250,000,000 and then collect the same amount from Germany over a period of eight years or more out of receipts from Germany through the Dawes plan annuities.

CHURCHES GROW WITHIN PAST YEAR

Catholics Lead List, With Methodist Second

The annual census compiled by the Christain Herald shows that 47,000,000 persons are members of churches in this country, a gain of more than 800,000 during the pastyear. According to the census, the members lead the list with the various Methodist sects having 8,920,140 second. The third rank in numbers is taken by the Baptist denominations with 8,397,914.

15 MILLION TO BE SPENT ON LOCK 18

Located Six Miles Above Wetumpka On Coosa

The Alabama Power company Friday put over 1,000 men to work on preliminary construction at the company's new hydro -electric plant, six miles above Wetumpka on the Coosa river, says the Age-Herald.

The new plant is to be known as Lock 18, and when completed will represent an investment of approximately $15,000,000.

Lock 18 will be one of the largest hydro-electric developments in the south and will supply current for a score of cities and towns between Wetumpka and the gulf. Several years will be required to complete the giant project. The Coosa river plant will be virtually a duplicate of the vast developments at Cherokee Bluffs, which is now well way and shortly to be completed. It is the company's second $15,000, 000 hydro- electric development within the state. The dam to be erected at lock 18 will be one of the highest in the south or approximately ninety feet.

Preliminary construction includes a railroad line to connect with the Louisville and Nashville main line at Elmore station for handling the thousands of tons of material o every kind used in the project. Approximately 1,000 permanent workers will occupy camps near the dam and there will spring up a bustling town with cook houses, commissaries and medical departments.

McDOWELL IS URGED TO TAKE IT ALL BACK

Only Declaration That He Favored Bond Issue

Cha. S. McDowell, candidate for governor, is being urged by close personal friends and political supporters to repudiate his previous declaration in favor of a seventy-five million dollar bond issue and to recommend that the issue be limited to thirty-five million dollars, says the Montgomery Journal. This fact has been established in political circles. Mr. McDowell has made no public statement to indicate that he has changed his previous declaration in support of the program outlined by John A. Rogers, president of the highway commission.

Mr. McDowell delivered an address at a dinner given by John A. Rogers, president of the highway commission, last year in which he pledged his full support of the seventy-five million dollar issue, which had ben dollar issue, which had been proposed by Mr. Rogers and called upon Governor Brandon to assemble the legislature into special session for the submission of thebond issue to the voters.

This is the only platform declaration that has been made by Mr. McDowell.

Live Agent Is Needed To Lead Farm Work

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR SUCCESSFUL FARM

County Agent Is Given First Place In List

Prof. L. N. Duncan, director of Alabama Extension Service, in an address over the radio, gave the following as the "Ten Commandments" of successful farming and rural home building in Alabama:

1. "In each county there should be an upstanding highly-trained, courageous, energetic county man and woman agent to lead the movement supported by an adequate staff.

2. "There must be a constructive, business-like, nonpartisan, non-political organization of farmers under their own leaders.

3. "Distribution of crop acreage on ea ch farm as will result in:

a "Production of feed to supply farm live stock.

b "Production of food as may be economically grown.

c "Production of food and feed commodities for sale as may be economically grown and marketed..

d "Growth of only as many acres in cotton as can be fertilized and handled under boll weevil conditions and labor scarcity.

e "Development and main tenance of soil fertility to a degree as will result in profitable yields.

f "Elimination of costly labor peaks and economical distribution of labor over the season.

4. "Such increased use of machinery and work stock as will enable farm labor to compete with other section in production and to meet varying prices in relation to demand.

5. "Growth of live stock needed for farm use and such surplus of live stock products as may be economically grown and marketed..

6. "Recognition and practice of the principle of quality and production to find the most profitable consumption.

7. "Recognition and practice of principle of co-operative buying and selling of farm commodities and orderly marketing.

8. "Use of the least expensive system of farm credit that agriculture may enjoy equal benefits with industry and commerce in credits.

9. "Hearty co-operation with official agencies in disseminating dependable information as to farm practices and production.

11. "Farm homes built for convenience and comfort and a standard of living for the family in keeping with American life."

MULLINS GIVES UP IN SENATE'S RACE

Says He Hasn't Funds To Fight It Out

J. Sanford Mullins, light wine and beer candidate for the United States senate, has quit the race. He made his formal announcement of withdrawal Sunday. His statement said he did not have the funds necessary to make a campaign of the state.

Mr. Mullins entered the contest about three months ago with the declaration that the Volstead act should be amended so as to permit a higher alcoholic content in beverages. He never perfected an organization and in political circles it did not appear that he had obtained assurance of any appreciable support. He was the only acndidate who suggested that the laws prohibiting the handling of liquors should be changed.

An Even Break

Under the above head the Jasper Eagle says:.. We've talked to many rural residents and we've reached the conclusion that the only reason a man or a woman buys from a mail order catalogue is because somebody was enterprising enough to send them the catalogue. In running through it they discovered something that they would like to have, and since the price suits th em they sit down and order it....without ever thinking that the thing can be secured here at just as fair a price, and with a great saving in time. So we have come to believe that the old idea of fighting fire withfire is a good one.... that the only way home merchants can hope to hold home trade is to meet the catalogue man half way....put your message into the same nomes he is putting his catalog. There is one way that itcan be done ....one way you can get it into the home, and keep it there, and that is through your home-town paper. You are entitled to an even break with the catalog man....and thecolumns of this paper offers you an excellent opportunity to break even with him.

'Believe nothing you hear and only half you see'" was rather a drastic old chestnut; but, afer all, it comprised the element of a lot of virtue.

Evidently a rather furtive effort was made a while ago to swing Alabama politics back under the rules of the convention system but such a protest went up from various quarters that the idea seems to have been abandoned. Everyone, we suppose, admits there are defects in the primary plan; and there are defects in the convention plan,too — vastly more, so far as we can see, than the primary ever has developed. We have as satisfactory election laws as any state so why kee up the agitation for a convention?

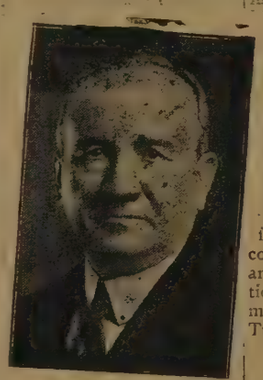
The Alabama Educational Association says it will require an increased expenditure of 36 million dollarsfor the state's educational needs for the next four years. More children are in school more are entering together with increased prices in modern living, are said to be the causes. And all of which will probably mean compulsory payment of poll tax.

Speaking With Authority

We are told in the bible that Jesus spoke as one having authority. But today, if one speaks as having authority, he is at once termed dogmatic, cocksure, intolerant; and some preachers fearing the stinging criticism of these Bible doubters many of whom have had university training, begin to compromise, and then to wobble, and then to flounder, and after awhile to preach to empty pews. People don't care to listen to men who have to put a question mark after every sentence they utter. But the man with God's message, out of God's word, intelligently and passionately preached, will never lack for listeners. Brethren, there is a veritable attack being made on the Bible today. Let us stand by it—read it—and look to Good for the results. We may be termed old fogies and many other opprobrious names but if the Holy Spirit blesses our preaching to the joy and edification of the people, it doesn't matter a great deal what the preacher is called. The big things is to live right and to preach God's Word. — Alabama Christian Advocate.

KILBY'S RECORD ON PROHIBITION HAS FEW EQUALS

Courageous Man Who Will Stand Pilched Now



Thos. E. Kilby

The brewers and distillers of the United States, aided by foreign liquor interests, are now spending millions of dollars in an effort to break down the national prohibition law. In every state in the Union the campaign is being waged with a zeal unprecedented since the eighteenth amendment was ratified and the Volstead law enacted. The next congress promises to be a veritable prohibition battleground. Accordingly, it is of vital importance that we elect to the house and senate able, courageous men who will stand hitched on this issue.

Few men in the United States have a record for the enactment and enforcement of prohibition laws equal to that of Former Governor Thomas E. Kilby, now generally regarded as the leading candidate in the race for senator from Alabama. In his platform that record is summarized as follows:

"From 1905 to 1909 I was enforcing the law as Mayor of Anniston, and I demonstrated that prohibition can prohibit. In 1909 I was a member of the committee in Anniston working for the 1909 amendment. In 1911 I was in the state senate working for prohibition. In 1915, as Lieutenant Governor, I was protecting prohibition by appointing a major ity of prohibitionists on every senate committee. In 1918 I was working for the 18th amendment. In 1919, as Governor, I was recommending to the legislature the repeal of the two-quart law and signed hte bill that repealed it and placed upon the statute book in its stead the bone-dry law, and at the same time I was creating the law enforcement department. Through the following four years ot 1923 I was enforcing the law. In 1924 I int roduced into the Alabama delegation to the National Democratic Convention a resolution that was passed, with a proviso proposed by me, that neither the delegation nor any member thereof should do anything or countenance ance anything that would tend to weaken the Volstead act or that would strengthen the candidacy of Al Smith for the presidential campaign.

"Now, on the basis of that record of the past, I place this promise for the future: In case I am elected, I shall stand in the Senate firmly for the preservation of the 18th amendment and for the Volstead Act and against any movement that may be proposed to repeal or weaken either."

Kilby keeps his platform promises. Every plank in his platform for governor was written into law. In like manner he will strive to fulfil [illegible] as senator.

The Old Reliable's 1925 Record

This Railroad has just completed its greatest year of service to its patrons and to the South, and the following statement is submitted in the belief that its details will interest that public which has made possible this banner year:

Carloads of freight handled, approximately	2,000,000
Number of tons handled	66,800,000
Higher than best previous year by	12.5%
Number of passengers carried	10,381,000
Average journey of each passenger (miles)	65.57
Employes in service	61,700
Total payroll	$76,751,000.
Improvements made during the year	$17,400,000.
State, Federal and other taxes paid, over	$ 7,000,000.

That the management of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad anticipates an even greater volume of business during this and succeeding years, and that it is preparing to take care of this business, is indicated by the fact that the appropriation so far for 1926 for standard equipment and other modern roadway facilities, approximates $26,000,000.00, and this figure will be enlarged as the year progresses.

A great trunk-line railroad system is the finest industrial asset a community or city can possess. The above statistics indicate the great value of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad to the South, where 96% of the "Old Reliable's" mileage is located.

They went down to help start up a by-product plant and while there they will visit other points of interest in Florida.

These three youths are very popular among the younger social set of Birmingham and will be missed greatly by their friends.

Letter Of Appreciation.

There will soon be built a new Rosenwaul school for the colored people of Thorsby. We have worked very hard for this new school Through the work of the effort of the Parent-Teachers association, we were able to qualify.

We wish to make special mention of our white friends who co-operate dso nicely with our P. T. A. in contributing when called upon. Some manifested enough interest to visit our meetings that were held in the interest of the new school.

Too much cannot be said in behalf of Mr. F. A. Gulledge, who gave the land. We have a worker in the person of Sister Lucy Hopkins, who has not achild, but raised $40 for our school.

Candidate Opposes the Big Bond Issue

A. H. Carmichael, candidate for governor, spoke to a medium sized audience here Saturday. He said he saw in the lieutenant governor's advocacy of a $75,000, 000 road bond issue a carefully laid scheme to build up with this money the greatest political machine in Alabama's history. He said not more than $35,000,000 worth of bonds should be authorized as more would make the tax on automobiles and gasoline confiscatory.

The Tuscumbian ridiculed every plank in the McDowell platform and charged that the "machine" already is planning to run F. D. McArthur Birmingham lawyer and campaign manager for McDowell as the "accepted gubernatorial candidate in 1930." He assailed the Eufaula candidate's position on convict leasing and charged him with "passing the buck to the legislature." Mr. Carmichael said he needed no commission to help him remove the convicts from the mines if he was elected.

A fine young man came to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jones Thursday night, April 15.

GOVERNOR FREES VETERAN GEORGE

86 Year Old Confederate Is Out Of Mine

A Montgomery dispatch of the 16th said: Granting a parole to John M. George, 86, veteran of the war between the states who was convicted in Hale county of violating the prohibition law sentenced to six months at hard labor and payment of a fine of $500 and costs, whose case recently attracted such widespread comment, Gov. Brandon in his letter of parole issued Thursday stated:

"Upon the recomendation of the solicitor, I have carefully examined the record in this case and it is shown that this applicant was a frequent violator of the law. He received a fair trial and was represented by able counsel. The court properly found him guilty and gave him proper sentence. Much sentiment was created for him on the grounds that he was a Confederate soldier. The fact that a man was a soldier does not license him to commit crime. The record discloses that he took the oath of allegiance to the federal government and has applied for a federal pension. If he deserves parole he should have it without regard to whether he fought on one side or the other.

There is no question as to his guilt, but being a very old man and his days on this earth are few, and believing that he can yet be saved and his life of crime corrected I have concluded to parole him during good behavior with understanding he lives a clean life, obeying the law and any violation of these conditions revoke his parole. I hereby parole him during good behavior upon the payment of costs."

VERBENA MAN LOSES LIFE NEAR ALEX. CITY

KILLING IS CHARGED TO TWIN BROTHERS

Slain Man Said To Have Lived At Verbena

In its account of the killing of George Kimbrel of Verbena among other things the Alex City Outlook says:

Ed and Julian Alston, twin brothers, were arrested Sunday morning about 9 o'clock, charged with the robbery and murder of George Kimbrel, all workmen for the Dixie Construction Co., and camped on what is known as the Camp place, about 17 miles from Alexander City, and near Young's Ferry.

From the best information obtainable, it seems that the Alston brothers, with young Kembrel, left the camp Saturday afternoon together, the Alston boys having a shot gun with them.

On the return of the brothers to the camp, and the absence of Kembrel being noted, inquiry brought out what seemed conflicting statements from the brothers, when suspicion was aroused and the boys were held prisoners by one man while another made a trip to Dadeville to notify the sheriff.

Upon the arrival of the sheriff, the boys, it is stated, confessed to the sheriff, and told him where the body was hidden. They were carried to the scene of the murdr and the body of Kembrel was found, in a branch, the top of his head being blown off from the discharge of a shot gun.

The boys were carried to the county jail at Dadeville, where they will be held, pending action of the grand jury.

Kimbrel's widowed mother, sister and brother arrived here about 4 o'clock Monday morning in a truck and took the body of their son and brother to their home, near Verbena where it was buried.

Young Kembrel leaves a mother, sister and two brothers, one of whom has both legs off above the knees. George Kembrel, it is stated, sent most of his money to his mother each pay day to assist in her support.

Robbery was the purpose of murder of Kembrel, according to officers who state that the Alston boys state they took $16.03 off the body of Kembrel. One brother had $10 in his pocket and the other had $6.

The Alston boys were twins, and had recently married twin sisters, it is stated. The home of the Alston boys near Central, in Elmore county, and the home of Kembrel was near Verbena, in Chilton county.

FORTY-FOUR BLOODED JERSEYS FOR FARMERS

BETTER CATTLE IS IDEA FOR SHELBY

Farmers Are Improving the Breed Now

Last week's issue of the Columbiana Reporter had this to say of the farmers of Shelby who are improving their dairy cows: County Agent A. A. Lauderdale returned Friday from Starkville, Miss., where he spent the first part of the week buying cows for the dairy farmers of Shelby county. He was assisted by W. W. Clark of Calera and Roland Lester of Columbiana, each of whom bought some cows and a pure bred Jersey bull. Forty four cows and two bulls in all were bought.

The scrub bull has been practically eliminated in the dairy section of Miss., Mr. Lauderdale states, being even more scarce than are pure bred bulls in Shelby county now. The farmers have fine pastures and grow hay and other kinds of feed in great abundance.

But with all their success in dairying with its resulting prosperity, the Miss. farmers, Mr. Lauderdale says, have not a single advantage over the farmers of Shelby county. Our soils are just as good for pasture and feeds as are theirs and we have a better market. The Bordon plant atStarkville is buying milk under contract at 20c a gallon. The price received for milk in Birmingham ranges from 30c up, being an average of about 35c a gallon for the year round.

COOSA MAN HELD GUILTY OF MURDER

Nibbett Is Given Sentence Of 12 Years

A news dispatch from Rockford says: Doyle Nibblett was sentenced to 12 years in the penitentiary following his conviction in criminal court here Saturday of the murder of Ellis Thomas Dec. 5, 1924. A previous trial resulted in a mistrial.

The present trial began Thursday, the case going to the jury Friday. The jury returned its verdict of second degree murder at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning and sentence was passed immediately by Judge E. S. Lyman.

Thomas was shot from ambush in the streets of Kelleyton.

Sunday School Day

Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson, wife of the pastor of the Methodist church, handed in the following announcement concerning Sunday School day services at that church:

Sunday School day will be observed at the Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:30. An interesting and instructive program is being prepared. The public is cordially invited to be present.

WETS MAP OUT HEAVY PROGRAM

Will Go After Representation In Congress

News items out of the national capital say that the wets have mapped out an extensive program for the coming primaries and congressional elections as ar aftermath of the senate prohibition investigation, now nearing a close.

Realizing that the only hope of modifying the Volstead act lies in the possibility of electing more wet senators and congressmen, the association against prohibition is resolving itself into a non-political organization to throw speakers and perhaps funds into the districts where wets are running for office.

Particular attention will be paid to elections in New York and Connecticut, altho other states may be added.

METHODIST SAY ENFORCE LAWS

Bishop Advocates A More Strict Enforcement

A special correspondent in Washington for the Scripps-Howard publication says: A five-fold plan to have the federal government tighten enforcement of the prohibition law was laid before the senate investigation today by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

In the name of 2,000,000 members of his church, Bishop Cannon detailed evils of the liquor traffic and attacked existing efforts of the present enforcement agencies to dry up certain wet centers in New York, Maryland and other damp states.

Bishop Cannon's plan was:

1. To secure effective enforcement, the work must be committed to those who believe that the prohibition law is a good law.

2. It is also insisted that adequate salaries should be paid to secure such men as are qualified to enforce so important and difficult a law.

3. Whatever number of men are necessary to properly enforce the law in any section.

4. The government should appropriate whatever money may be necessary to enforce the law.

5. More stringent penalties should be inflicted upon violators of the law.

"We demand," said the propsoal "that the national prohibition law be enforced in any wet section of country at no matter what cost in men or money, that the rest of the country may be protected from the lawless, defiant liquor traffic and its patrons high or low, just as one country is protected from the foot and mouth disease among cattle or cholera and smallpox among persons which may be prevalent in another section."

T. J. McDonald and J. T Parker, two good citizens of Calera, called to see us Saturday.

PROFITS TO COME FROM LEASE

Muscle Shoals Would Return Millions to Lessee

A dispatch from the nation's capital to the Scripps-Howard newspapers gives some idea of the huge profits that be made by the company or individual who succeeds in obtaining control of Muscle Shoals. It says:

Any private company that succeeds in obtaining Muscle Shoals will at a minimum make $1,347,971, 464 profit during the next 50 years.

That estimate was made today by Judson King, director of the National Popular government league.

King published the figure in a printed attack on the administration's plan to lease the giant government power plant to one of seven bidders now negotiating with a congressional committee.

The estimate was conservative, he declared, being based on the "violent assumption" that the lessee would make only one-fifth of a cent profit on each kilowatt of electricity sold. War department engineers expect the government plant to generate at least 2,190,000,000 kilowatt hours a year, which at one-fifth of a cent profit would net the lessee $4,380-000 yearly profit. King compounds this at six per cent to get the complete profit over a 50 year period.

The Alabama Power Co., one of the group of bidders for Muscle Shoals, admits it made $5,184,426 profit from sale of electricity last year and says it sold about 1,200,000,000 kilowatt hours. That would be half- a-cent profit per kilowatt hour, or more than twice King's estimated profit.

The company under temporary arrangement is purchasing the present output of the government plant for one-fifth of a cent a kilowatt hour. It si selling electricity to small home consumers at maximum price of 10 cents a kilowatt hour.

Democratic Names To Go Under Rooster In Chilton

BOY SCOUTS GATHER TEN THOUSAND CANS

A Splendid Way To Rid Town Of Cans

Last week's Columbiana Reporter said: Tin cans lying about in Columbiana have been reduced in number about 10,000 during the past week by the activity of the Boy Scouts. The prize of three dollars offered by the Culture club and a tent offered by the Exchange club to the patrol that gathered the largest number of cans was captured by the Bull patrol of which Frank Ellis is the leader. The individual prize of $2 offered by the Culture club to the individual scout gathering the largest number of cans was won by Francis Leonard who succeeded in rounding up 2,320 cans.

Good Meeting Held By The Committee

Last Wednesday promptly at 10 a. m. the Chilton county Democratic executive committee met, according to call, in the parlors of the Wilson hotel.

A very large and enthusiastic attendance of committeemen andvisitors were present and many matters of party interest were thrashed out and definitely settled. Among other things it was decided to go into the primary with a full county ticket and "have all names printed under the rooster."

The field is now open for any candidate who desires to throw his hat into the ring and get busy.

File your announcement, with the corresponding fee, with Chairman Adams. The field is open and the chances to make "your calling an election sure" are truly and candidly bright.

Hon. L. H. Ellis of Columbiana, our next state senator, was present and made many hearts glad with his words of council and advice. He has a fellow feeling for Chilton Democrats, and is also going to distinguish himself, as well as our district, in the next general assembly. X

THEO LACEY SET FREE THIS WEEK

Convicted Of Taking State Funds In 1912

In the news out of Montgomery Saturday was an item about Theo Lacey, embezzler of state funds to the amount of about $127,000 in 1912 as follows: Unless Theo Lacey dies before Wednesday, Alabama's most famous embezzler will achieve his ambition. He wants to die without a shadow of prison resting on him.

Altho Lacey has been at liberty on paroles for more than a year, his term officially ends Wednesday and he will then pass entirely from all control of the state.

Lacey is now in the real estate business in Florida. Advices to Governor Brandon say that he has never fully recovered his health and never will.

Lacey was chief clerk of the convict department when he disappeared with more than $127,000 of the department's funds. That was in 1912 and he eluded officers for a year, voluntairly surrendering in 1914. On Feb., 21, 1915, he was sentenced to a totol of 16 years for grand larceny. His sentence with good behavior allowance expires April 21, 1926.

Lacey was granted liberty on a temporary parole in March, 1925 and has been free since then.

R. W. Heflin, one of the substantial citizens out on Route 5, was a pleasant caller at The News office Saturday.

The Voting List

According to list of qualified voters of Chilton county as published by the probate judge there are approximately 4,390 persons entitled to the voting privilege.

In all of such published lists there are discrepancies, of course: and the Chilton list is no exception. The thing to do, if your name is not on the published list and you know that it should be there, is to go at once to the probate judge and have the error corrected. You have only one more week in which to do this. Go and attend to it today.

Among other things needed in Clanton in the way of local industries of the smaller class is a good laundry. With such a large territory right at its doors as prospective customers, small towns nearby which now are forced to patronize city laundries the same as Clanton, together with the local patronage, it is difficult to see why an enterprise of this sort would not do well here.

Just a place to eat, to work, to rest, a scheme of things so arranged that loved ones may have food, shelter, raiment and what else in this life should mortal man crave? Given these he is usually satisfied; but when the program is interrupted he has a right to protest in whatever way that may seem e to him.... Clipped

One of those figure jugglers says there is an opportunity in one line of type in a newspaper, such as this one line you are reading, for the appearance of 6,000 errors, typographical and otherwise. So you see what a green pasture a newspaper man grazes in....and then ask yourself, would you be exempt?

The Lions is the new name of the Montgomery baseball team just reorganized and which will open festivities with the Columbus, Ga., team tomorrow on its home ground. Here's wishing the Lions the penant this season.

The Limit?

London.....Rolled hose and bare knees are to be the vogue if modes shown at the latest exposition prevail, although, caricaturists have devoted attention for months to the ugliness of English womans knees. The maximum weight of summer raiment, complete will be thirty ounces.

The new income tax law has a sentence reading: "Let us imagine you have a salary of $10,000 per year." Might as well stop right there; our imagination simply will not bulge to that extent.

If your name is not on the published registration list, and you think it should be there, go to the probate judge and have the error corrected. Just a week now in which you can do this.

The News is informed that the Methodists are arranging a very interesting program for Mothers Day to be observed on the second Sunday in May, to which services everyone is invited.

Change Management

It will be noticed in the ad, on the last page of today s News, a change of management took place in the Clanton Service Station this week when G. M. Wyatt assumed control, vice L. M. Latham.

Mr. Brown, connected with the enterprise, was in to see us first of the week and says the new station, which opens for active business tomorrow, starts out under the most favorable prospects, and that it proposes giving the public real service, as its name implies. Read their ad in today's News.

The News office enjoyed a visit by A. H. Carmichael, candidate for governor, while here on his speaking tour Saturday. Mr. Carmichael is a splendid gentlemen of the old school, pleasant in conversation and easily makes friends wherever he goes.

NOBODY HOME WHEN MAD DOG APPEARS

Columbiana Is Scene Of Dog Fight

A news item from the capital of Shelby says: As the audienec was leaving the debate on "The Educational Needs of Alabama," between groups of students High schools, a mad-dog tore through their midst. Presto, and every tree on the campus was draped with human anatomies, some clinging wildly to meager twigs. Others more bold, leaped from turf to stone until the sheriff filled the air with pistol shots.

No one was able to determine just when, or how the animal passed out of the [illegible] but towards dawn the excitement abated and the members ventured home

CHIEF CURLEE WILL WEAR NEW UNIFORM

Friends Come To Rescue With "The Price"

The tacky party at the skating rink Friday night was a very successful as well as enjoyable affair and was indulged in by quite a large number of local people.

The purpose of the party the raising of enough money with which to purchase a uniform for Chief of Police Curlee, was carried out successfully also, and $44.05 was collected. Prizes were awarded, that of $5 for gentlemen to Jesse Teel, and little Miss Clyde Jones won second prize as being the tackiest dressed.

HEALING BY FAITH IS FATAL TO CHILD

Parents Would Not Permit Medical Aid

Nashville, Tenn., April 25. —Little 3 year old Edith Eden, rescued from the home of her parents in north Nashville, where she had lain ill for six months without the care of a physician, died today at the general hospital.

The little girl was taken from her home after the father, James Eden, and brother, T. Eden, had shown fight in an effort to bar the entrance of a physician called by the juvenile authorities and after they had submitted to arrest in preferenc to violating one of the principles of their religion, according to police.

A medical examination showed the child was in the last stages of pneumonia.

The baby became ill with influenza six weeks ago. During that time the mother and father, parents of nine children, had depended upon their faith to cure her police disclosed. Daily as the child grew weaker, pneumonia developed. Other adherents to the same creed joined in their efforts to effect a healing through prayers in an "unknown tongue"

The father and son are being held charged with cruel and inhumane treatment and disorderly conduct.

Girl Scout Returns

Mrs. N. S. Johnson, after a fortnight's absence of the Julia S. Tutwiler chapter, girl scouts of America, returned home on Thursday afternoon. The first part of Mrs. Johnson's stay was spent in a training camp in Irondale, Mo. The latter part of her time was spent in attending a national convention of girl scouts in St. Louis.

Mrs. Johnson crowded many interesting experiences into her two weeks' absence from home.

SUFFERS AGONY TO SAVE DYING BABY

Pin Had Lodged In The Child's Throat

Washington, April 26. — Dr. Joseph Larkin put his finger down a baby's throat impaled it upon the point of a safety pin opened point upward and saved the infant's life.

Medical instruments had failed to remove the safety pin, because it had opened in the baby's wind pipe.

Realizing that the baby had but a fe wminutes to live if it were not removed, Dr. Larkin hooked the pin deeply into the flesh of his index finger and despite excruciating pain, as the point gouged him almost to the bone, slowly worked it out, removing it just as the baby's pulse stopped beating

Quick application of artificial respiration brought the child, Albert Mack, Jr., ten months old, back, and he was later taken home from the hospital, little worse for his experience.

The child swallowed the pin while playing at home.

BRIDGE FINISHED AT GOODWATER

Said To Be Highest In The South

Goodwater, April 24. .... The new railroad bridge spanning Hatchett creek has been completed by the Virginia Bridge Co., and a crew is painting the span. This bridge, 114 feet high from water to top rail, is said to be the highest south of the Ohio river. It is about one-fourth of a mile in length

The new road bed of the Georgia Central has been completed to the creek, and within a couple of months the grading will be completed to Parkdale when the change will be opened up.

The new road from Goodwater to Parkdale will elimi nate steep grades andcurves and reverse curves.

FAVORS NATIONAL PROHIBITION VOTE

Gary Says Opinion Of A Majority Should Control.

News dispatches say that Judge E. H. Gary head of the U. S. Steel Corporation and long looked upon as one of the nation's leading crusaders for temperance, favors a national vote on the prohibition.

"I believe that the opinion of the people, intelligently and honestly obtained, should control in all such questions as modification of the prohibition laws," Gary said in an interview.

BRIDGE NOW READY OVER THE ALABAMA

Formal Opening To Take Place May 4

A news item in the Montgomery Journal of Saturday said the Reese's Ferry bridge over the Alabama river is finished, except for a final "clean-up," according to information Saturday from H. H. Houk, bridge engineer of the state highway department. The graveling of approaches on the north side of the bridge has been completed, and only a couple of days work remains to be done on the south side approaches, he said.

Mr. Houk stated that the bridge will easily be ready for the formal opening and dedication on May 4, when the big bridge, an important link on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway will be dedicated by the American Leigon, with National Commander McQuigg as the principal speaker.

YOUNG MAN DROWNS IN WALNUT CREEK

Horace Johnson First Victim Swimming Season

Peculiarly sad was the tragic death on last Friday afternoon of Horace Leonard, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Johnson.

The child, as was his daily custom, went to the pasture for the cow. On passing the branch of Walnut creek that flows near the railroad trestle South of Clanton, Leonard felt tempted to venture in swimming. The child's clothes lying on the bank of the creek bore mute testimony to the anxious searchers an hour later of the boy's unkindly fate.

The remains were interred in Walnut Creek cemetery at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Rev. Golden officating.

The News joins many friends in sympathy for the bereaved.

The Gossip

Editor The News:

Sophie Irene Loeb, one of the able writers for the Montgomery Journal, has the following to say about the ever present gossip, which I am asking The News to kindly reproduce:

Give The Gossip Absent Treatment

With life fast leaving her, a young woman bewails the poison of the evil tongue. Thus the end of one life is laid to the door of gossip —too weak to bear it.

It also marks a tragedy that will cause sorrow and suffering to many other people.

Before the tragedy she gave up her position in a store to try to stop the "talk" but was unable to do so. They would talk and forever gossip.

When, oh, when will the person not concerned quit prying into the affairs of others? When, oh, when, will there be such a ban put on baneful gossip that it will forever be crushed?

If people had attended to to their own business two lives might have been saved and made useful. The affair would probably have adjusted itself, since the young woman was willing to give up work and sacrifice her own feelings in order to make it so.

But the evildoers continued their work and her effort was without avail. They continued to hound her and blacken her name until her sensitive spirit could not stand the strain.

When, oh, when, shall we make laws so that the idle gossiper will probably get behind bars where he or she belongs and where bitter tongues will go unheeded?

If it were possible to sum it all up, the largest per cent of human sufferings would be traced to the malignant methods used by the creature who lives on gossip; who forgets to cleanse his own soul in attacking the purity of another.

As a general thing, in many cases, punishment comes, even if late. The evil word, like a bullet, cannot be recalled, but times without number it rebounds and hits the sender.

Yet when it does not, there is one big remedy left to society against the gossip—a remedy that cannot fail.

If every person would eliminate the gossiper from his list of acquaintances the wrongful one would soon find he was wasting his deadly arrows on the desert air, and his aims could therefore be defeated.

When one comes to you to whisper evil of another, remember that if this trait is in his makeup, tomorrow he may do the same thing with you as a victim.

If you turn a deaf ear to him and decry his soul-killing wares, you help break the back of his traffic. This should not only be the desire, but the duty of every body who hopes for fair treatment for himself from his neighbors and from the world at large.

Break it up wherever you find it; let the gossip realize he is working on fruitless ground. Make him understand that you see through him and show him how ignoble he is in your eyes.

If each person would take this bit of responsibility in the protection of his brother-and- sister humans, the world would be a much better place to live in, and many an unnecssary pain would be prevented.

A little of the old Chinese adage goes a long way: "See not, hear not, speak not, evil of anyone."

CURB ON PARDON POWER IS URGED

Attorney General Strikes Brandon Blow

Montgomery. The Governor of Alabama should be stripped of his power to grant executive clemency without the recommendation of the board of pardons.

This drastic recommendation is contained in the biennial report of Attorney General Harwell G. Davis transmitted to Governor Brandon. It created some surprise at the capital, where it was regarded as an outgrowth of the number of times Brandon has disregarded recommendations of the pardon board.

The board of pardons, he said, acts only in an advisory capacity and its recommendation has no binding effect upon the governor.

In my opinion, the authority of the board of pardons should be increased to where its favorable recommendation is a prerequisite to the right to appeal to the governor for clemency, said Mr. Davis.

FERTILIZER SALES SMASH RECORDS

Over Half Million Tons Are Sold Already

According to a statement sent out by the state department of agriculture all records of fertilizer tonnage sold have been broken this year. Fertilizer tonnage, the department says, as indicated by sale of fertilizer tags from the department of agriculture for the present season, to April 24, was 593,104 tons. For a like period ending April 24, last year, which witnessed an unusually heavy use of fertilizer, the figure was 572,32p tons. The present season thus far shows a gain of 20,782 tons over last year.

The fertilizer volume this year has even surpassed that of the memorable year of 1924, the statement said. Present indications are that the tonnage this year will pass the 600,000 ton mark.

He presented it to the Marconi Wireless Co., and it was immediately photoradioed and reproduced in New York Samuel Roper, also of the radio corporation, received the check and cashed it at the Bankers Trust Co. 20 minutes after it was written.

18,871 FARMS LOST STATE SINCE 1920

Only 92,918 Own Land For Tilling

Fiugres relating to farms tenure announced by the department of commerce show that in 1925 Alabama had 237,228 farms, as compared with 256,099 in 1920, a loss of 18,871. Alabama farm owners numbered 92,918 in 1925 compared with 107,089 in 1920.

The number of farms operated by managers in 1925 was 417 as compared with 741 in 19p0. Farm operated by tenants in1925 numbered 144,198, compared with 148,269 in 1920.

The per cent of Alabama farms operated by managers in 1925 was 60.7, as compared with57.9 in 1920.

Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi did not vary much. During the five year period the number of farms in the United States decreased from 6,448,343 to 6,371,617; the number operated by owners decreased from 3,925,090 to 3,863,334; the number operated by managers decreased from 68 449 to 40,775, and the number of tenants increased from 2,454,804 to 2,462,528. The per cent of all farms operated by tenants in 1925 was 38.6; in 1920, it was 38.1.

Wrong View

If you want to tickle a "weakly" newspaper editor let him look down the column of a big daily and see where he has been quoted. He will smile, shake his head and say "they are on the job." —Moundville News

The tawdry germ may yet be found in the veins of some members of the Fourth Estate, but, we believe, few in number. It is a pleasure for the average of us to be quoted, to know that men of brain power and experience give space in their publications for the product of our thought. And we are just as willing that they should comment upon that thought, whether favorably or adversely makes little difference to us, for we know that all cannot agree.

But, brother, we for one, can't swallow without an upheaval that reference to small-town editors about "tickling" the craft, the cheap sentiment implied in designating its membership as "weakly" and how they prattle over the great (?) discovery that a "big" daily has condescended to reproduce an item from the said "weakly's" columns.

In just what sense is the word "weakly" meant? If reference is made to the financial end, why leave the odium on the country press? For we know of some "big" dailies already heavily encumbered along this line, which must call upon their stockholders with embarrassing frequency for necessary expense checks. And don't forget that some of the best writers of the country were supplied the "big" dailies from the little country print shop.

It all depends on whose dog is hit. "Uncle Jawn" of the Talladega Home, doesn't spoon up much with the idea of a seventy-five million bond issue. But Uncle Jawn gives the whole works away when he says: "One reason why Talladega county is so content about all this talk about road tax and road bonds is because it has fared so well in road building."

"The Montgomery Advertiser is a representative of the old guard variety of journalism," says the Chattanooga News. While we have not agreed with "Grandma" on every proposition in the many years past we have had the pleasure of her regular visits to our exchange table, the editorial policy of the paper has always been found earnestly working in behalf of a bigger and better Alabama, and there is certainly no better state newspaper anywhere. Incidentally, we might all be better off could we be tagged as representatives of the "old guard"—in every way.

Chevrolet News

All previous production and sales records are to be shattered by the Chevrolet Motor Co. during 1926, according to Geo Polk, well known local motor car dealer who has just returned from Atlanta, where he attended the annual convention of Chevrolet dealers from Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee.

The local automobile merchant says that there were almost 500 motor car men in attendance at the great sales conclave and he returned to his home with the "big picture" of the Chevrolet program for the coming months. In addition to the dealers who attended the merchandising conference and the annual banquet there were many prominent bankers present from all section of the south.

R. H. Grant, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co., a man who is internationally recognized as one of the outstanding sales executive of the auto industry, presided at the sales convention and was the principal speaker at the dealers' banquet. The commander-in- chief of the Chevrolet sales forces was accompanied to Atlanta by his executive staff, which includes a group of nationally known specialists who head various divisions of the vast Chevrolet organizations, and according to Mr. Polk, it was the largest delegation of automobile factory executives that ever invaded this territory.

H. J. Klingler, assistant general sales manager, acted as toastmaster at the baanquet, and J P. Little, manager of the parts and service division, was one of the speakers. M. D. Douglas, regional sales manager, the man who exercises general supervision over the Chevrolet sales organization of the Dixie region was also among the speakers L. S. Costley zone sales manager, with headquarters at Atlanta, officiated as host to visiting dealers and factory officials during the convention.

Other members of Mr. Grant's staff, who attended the Atlanta merchandising meeting were: William A. Blees, manager certificate sales division; Sidney Corbett, manager fleet sales and track division; W. G. Lewellen, assistant sales promoton manager; T. G. Johnson, regional sales promotion manager; R. K. White, general sales promotion manager, and J. E. Grimm, Jr., advertising manager.

The meeting at Atlanta was one of a series of similar gatherings being held in 25 of the largest cities in the United States.

During 1926 the Chevrolet Motor Co. is to conduct the greatest newspaper advertising campaign that has ever been programmed in the entire history of the motor car industry, states the local Chevrolet dealer. More than 4,000 American newspapers are now in the Chevrolet schedule, and the great co-operative advertising program which is being run in addition to the regular national campaign, has made a consistent advertiser out of every Chevrolet dealer in the practically every city, town, hamlet and village in the United States and many foreign countries.

"Without question," says Mr. Polk, "the great sales record of 1925, which totalled more than half a million Chevrolets, will be eclipsed during the present year. At this time sales are far aheaad of the production schedule and every one of the 13 plants operated by the vast Chevrolet organization are running at capacity in an attempt to keep up with the unprecedented demand for the Chevrolet products.

"This," says Mr. Polk, gives some idea of the great damand for the Chevrolet production at this time."

NOTICE

Of Filing Bill of Complaint by the State of Alabama, Complainant.

Vs

One Ford automobile 1924 model, respondent.
In the Circuit court of Chilton County Alabama.
In Equity.

The bill of complaint of the state of Alabama, on the relation of G. C. Walker, as deputy solicitor of Chilton county, Alabama, against one Ford automobile, being exhibited to me, and it appearing therefrom that on the 22nd, day of March, 1926, one Albert Thomas did transport in one Ford automobile, 1924 model, certain prohibited liquors and beverages, from one point in the state of Alabama to another, and that said automobile was on said day seized by the sheriff of said county and said bill of complaint praying that said automobile be declared forfeited to the state of Alabama, and for an order of condemnation and sale thereof.

IT IS THEREFORE, ordered and decreed that notice of the filing of said bill of complaint be given for three successive weeks in The Chiton County News, a newspaper published in the town of Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama, and that that all persons claiming or asserting any right, title or interest in said automobile be required to appear and assert such claim by th 26th day of May, 1926, and that failing so to do the said right, title or interest will be forever barred.

Given under my hand, this the 25th day of April, 1926.

Geo. F. Smoot,
Judge 19th Judicial Circuit.

Ribbon Cushion Adds to Coziness of Room

Use an oblong cushion, not too large, for the foundation. Cover it with wide ribbon or silk of a color that will harmonize with the decorations of your room. For the loops choose a narrow ribbon about one or one and a half inches wide of the same or of a contrasting color. Cut the top of the cushion cover. Bind or cord the edges. Loop the ribbon and sew the loops to the under side of this oblong. The loops should be two inches long if one-inch ribbon is used, or two and a half inches if wider ribbon is used. Gather some of the narrow ribbon on one or both edges and pin it down to form the flowers. Stitch the ribbon in place. Three different colors or shades of one color should be used for the flowers; green ribbon for the leaves and green embroidery silk for the stems. Make the tassels of silk or ribbon to match the flowers.

White Evening Gown Is Prominent This Season

White as the shade for evening wear is one of the outstanding features of the modes of the winter, and it is astonishing how varied in type these white evening dresses are and how different and individual.

A great deal of their difference lies in the choice of materials, for nothing could be farther apart in resemblance than the white chiffon frock of the debutante and the rich brocaded gown of the matron.

In line they vary quite as much as in material and it is hard to say which are loveliest, the filmy bouffant models or those with a slim grace of line as subtle as it is distinctive.

Slim frocks of chiffon or satin-finished crepe are delicately beaded in crystal or silver or flounced with silver lace, and the effect is almost transcendent in its fragile loveliness. They are about the most flattering frocks that one could wear, which no doubt is the reason for their vogue. Others are trimmed with ostrich or marabou, while white velvet banded with ermine or white fox fashions several of the most striking gowns of the year.

TAXES Alone Consume the Revenues

from More than 1/5th of this Railroad's Mileage ~

Consider the above statement again—the earnings of more than 1,100 miles of the Louisville & Nashville's 5,042 miles of road are required to satisfy the tax collectors, local, city and federal. Railroad taxes are constantly and uninterruptedly increasing from year to year, the staggering sum of one million dollars per day having been paid by American railroads during the year 1925 in various forms of taxation.

This Railroad's net revenue for 1925, after paying all direct operating costs and before the payment of taxes and various corporate expenses, was $6,712.00 per mile. The total tax accruals, including property assessments for public improvements, reached the high-water mark of $7,400,000.00.

A simple calculation, therefore, shows that the revenues of 22% of this Road's mileage were paid into the public treasuries for purposes of taxation. Last year the Louisville & Nashville Railroad's taxes were substantially greater than the amount of money paid in dividends to the owners of this property, who assume all risk and responsibility for the Road's operation.

Railroads of the United States are not only affording the best transportation system on the face of the globe, but they are, by their tax payments, making possible the operation of schools, building of roads and support and maintenance of city, state and federal institutions.

Putting Farm Work Horses in Condition

Progress in farm field work in the coming months depends largely on the condition of the work horses. Soft from the winter's rest, farm work horses require conditioning just as an athlete requires training for his test.

Every farmer knows that two or three weeks spent in a gradual toughening and conditioning of a horse for the heavy work is more than made up before the season of heavy field work is over. Not only does this conditioning include breaking them in to the long hours of hard pull that they must undergo, but applies as well to breaking them in to a working ration.

It is poor practice to allow a horse to pasture on much new lushy grass if he is to go on a strenuous work schedule. A little grass is good for him, helps to condition him, but he must have oats, bran or old corn, or still better, a combination of the three and good sound hay. These are the best possible rations in the spring and early summer. The horse that is fed a major ration of grass soon gets soft, sweats profusely, lags and quickly plays out. Oats, bran, corn and hay will give him stamina and leave him in the best condition at the end of the day.

By treating old Dobbin fairly, getting him ready for spring work with daily exercise, keeping him thoroughly groomed, especially while shedding, and a work ration instead of his winter feed will pay big dividends in a short time.

If the horse takes a long time to shed his coat, this can be facilitated by thorough, frequent grooming and if this does not do the work, a clipping all over will get him through the shedding period quickly. After the horse has started to work in the field, it is advisable to bathe the shoulders and neck two or three times daily with cold, soft, salty water or with white oak bark tea which toughens and cleanses the chafed parts.

A prominent veterinarian states that excessive sweating is remedied by clipping the horse. Excessive sweating weakens the animal and it is doubtless quite advisable to clip him to relieve this condition. It is also true that this practice enables the horse to be thoroughly groomed in much less time than when it retains its long winter coat of shaggy hair.

An Explanation of the Proposed Road Improvement Bond Issue

Authorizing the State to Issue and Sell $75,000,000 of Bonds To Build and Maintain Roads and Bridges In the State of Alabama

For the information of readers of The Chilton County News we publish the following list of questions and answers concerning the proposed authorization by the state of $75,000,000 in bonds for road building purposes, the questionnaire having been issued by the state highway commission in pamphlet form:

Section 1. The state is authorized to issue and sell $75,000,000.00 of bonds to build bridges?

Q. Why is it necessary to amend the constitution to get money to build roads and bridges.

A. Because Section 93 of the constitution forbids the state to lend its credit to do road and bridge building.

Q. Cannot the roads be built by tax ation?

A. Yes, but to get enough money to build the roads the tax payers would have to pay four times as much taxes as he does now. The amendment prevents the raising of taxes.

Q. When bonds for $75,000,000.00 are authorized, will they all have to be sold at one time?

A. No. Bonds of the seventy-five million would be sold along from year to year, just as bonds of the twenty-five million have been sold.

Q. When were the twenty-five million dollar bonds authorized?

A. On January 20th, 1922.

Q. When were the first of these bonds sold?

A. The first bonds for one million dollars were sold July 20th, 1922.

Q. How many of the twenty-five million dollar bonds have been sold?

A. Twenty million.

Q. Have any of these bonds been paid off?

A. Yes. Two million and five thousand dollars have been paid. A half million more will be paid off on December 1, 1926.

Q. How long will it take to pay off the balance of the twenty-five million?

A. They can all be paid in the next fifteen years.

Q. Does the money to pay interest and principal on these bonds come out of the taxes on lands or other property?

A. No. The principal and interest are paid out of the licenses on automobiles and trucks.

Q. What is the justice in this?

A. Well, if the state makes the owenr of a truck or automobile pay license to use them, it is as little as the state can do to furnish the owners of these vehicles a good road to use them on.

Q. How is the principal and the interest on the proposed $75,000,000.00 to be paid?

A. By a tax on gasoline something that may be used as a substitue for gasoline or any device used to propel motor vehicles.

Q. How much would the tax on gasoline be?

A. The tax on gasoline would be three cents per gallon.

Q. Will a tax on gasoline take care of $75,000,000.00?

A. Three cents per gallon on gasoline at the present rate of consumption will pay the principal and the interest on a little over fifty-seven million dollars.

Q. How then, can the difference between $75,000,000.00 and fifty-seven million be taken care of?

A. In the first place, these bonds would be paid off from year to year just as the twenty-five million are being paid off, and there would never be $75,000,000.00 out at any one time. In the second place, the consumption of gasoline is increasing all the time and will continue to increase with the building of every mile of good road. If the three cents per gallon on gasoline would take care of but five million of bonds only five million could be sold because of this provision in the amendment. "None of these bonds shall ever be sold unless the income from a tax on gasoline, its substitutes, or on any device used to propel motor vehicles is sufficient too pay interest on bonds and set up a sinking fund to retire these bonds when due.."

Q. With this safeguard thrown around this proposal there would be no danger in voting two hundred million, would there?

A. No. No matter how many bonds were authorized to be sold, they could not be actually sold unless there was enough money in the state treasury from the tax on gasoline to pay off what was sold, principal and interest.

Q. If all of these $75,000,000.00 can't be sold, at once, why authorize so much?

A. For many good reasons. First, in the end it will take $75,000,000.00 or more to build the roads and bridges. Look at North Carolina, a state three thousand square miles smaller than Alabama. North Carolina has already spent over a hundred million dollars on roads. It spent on roads last year nearly twenty-eight million dollars and plans to spend fifty or a hundred million more. Second, it costs seventy-five thousand dollars to hold an election to amend the constitution. Third every time the question of raising money to build roads comes up some small bore office seekers without merit in themselves try to make capital out of it by disparaging its proponents and by throwing suspicion on the motives of those who would build up and not tear down their state. These nicelodeons are pursuing the same tactics and are making the same statements about the $75,000,000.00 bond issue that were made against the $25,000,000.00.

Q. What statements and predictions were made against the twenty-five million dollar road bonds?

A. The opponents of the bonds put out a statement of the bonded indebtedness of the state. They showed what the state collected in taxes, told how much interest the state would have to pay on the bonds. said that the schools and other interests of the state would suffer. That the tax payer would be smothered under a burden of debt. Predicted that the credit of the state would be gone, that those advocating these bonds were grafters and in general that no greater calamity could befall Alabama than to authorize twenty-five million dollars for road building?

Q. Has a single one of these evil predictions come true?

A. No. The state was never more prosperous. It is spending millions more for schools than it ever spent before, more for child welfare, more for health, more for old soldiers and more for roads, and is on the threshold of the greatest era of prosperity it has ever known.

Q. How is the credit of the state now compared to the time when the first road bonds were sold?

A. Much better. The first road bonds paid four and a half per cent interest, the last three millions sold pay only four per cent.

Q. Has anyone grafted out of the road bonds?

A. No. It is impossible to do so because of the law which the chairman of the Highway Commission had passed, to-wit: "No one connected with the sale of these bonds shall receive a commission or be compensated in any form for the duties performed."

Q. Has all of the money for bonds gone into roads?

A. Yes, every single dollar.

Q. Will all of the seventy-five million go into roads?

A. Yes.

Q. Does the Highway Commission sell road bonds?

A. No.

Q. Does the Highway Com mission handle any of the state's money?

A. No, not a single cent.

Q. Who sells road bonds?

A. A commission of which the governor is chairman.

Q. What is done with the money when bonds are sold?

A. It is put into the state treasury.

Q. Who buys what is used by the highway commission?

A. The state board of administration.

Q. Has the state board of administration any connection with the highway department?

A. None whatever.

Q. What connection has the Governor with road building?

A. No road can be built without his aproval.

Then to get roads, the Governor must be in favor of road building.

A. Yes.

Q. If he isn't friendly to road building what will happen?

A. The roads will not be built.

Q. Is it possible for anyone to graft or profit out of the road funds?

A. If you can conceive of a collusion between the governor, the state board of administration, the chief of the state examiners, a dozen or more engineers and three highway commissioners, yes, otherwise, no, for someone of this number would be sure to complain that he did not get enough of the spoils.

Q. Why is all this clamor against the highway commission?

A. Just politics. The highway commission challenges any of its critics to show where a dollar of road funds has been dishonestly used.

Q. What motive has the Fredrick I. Thompson papers for slandering Governor Brandon?

A. Fredrick I. Thompson suffers from the worst case of Narcissus Complex which anyone was ever afflicted.

Q. What is meant by Narcissus Complex?

A. people troubled with this disorder think a clock won't run unless they wind it. Governor Brandon will not let Fredrick I. wind the state clock.

CURIOSITY IS FATAL TO STUBBORN MULE

Rubbed Noses With Airplane Now Mourned

Yazoo City, Miss. April 30.—Curiosity killed a cat—and a mule. Deep interest in aeronautics yesterday caused a mule at the landing field to attempt to rub noses with an airplane propeller, and today it is mourned by its owner. The mule had to be driven back several times as S. F. Whittaker, local aviator, attempted to take off. Just as the pilot applied the power, the mule made a break for the plane, reaching it just before it left the ground.

Death to the mule, a broken propeller and a day's delay for the pilot resulted.

A Visit To Our Capital City Proves Interesting

Lots of Business Is Being Transacted There Now As Compared With That Of Other Days

Perhaps you have made a visit to your capital city of Montgomery; perhaps not. If you have it proved interesting upon the first occasion, at least, didn't it? So with us—only the regretable part of this story is that our first sensations of the joy aforementioned came to us in the years gone by. And what a joy that wa. Imagine if you can a Coosa county kid in (to him) the biggest city in the world; his first view of an electric light; his first ride on an electric trolley car—"no pushee, no pullee, but run like hellee"—his first visit to the plant of a daily newspaper—we had just learned "the boxes" in the old Coosa Advocate office—when the Advertiser had installed a linotype type etting machine, and to this day we have our name obligingly set by the operator in one "slug"; imagine this untutored youth in the hands of the experienced barber, getting a hair cut, shave —the first shampoo, shine—anything so courteously suggested, even had that been a permanent wave. Yeah, we'd have taken that on, too, if the barber, had thought of it. Why? well gentle reader, be charitable.

But back to our knittin': There's quite a difference between a visit to Montgomery now and of 30 to 40 years ago, even for we older heads. It was noticeable to this writer that just before the advent of the auto as our national vehicle of transportation, Montgomery seemed to be within the throes of depression. Comparativly little business was transacted; people appeared sluggish, slow dna with little definite purpose in view.

What a different attitude now! Montgomery now would impress the visitor as one of the most progressive, hustling cities of the South. And nowhere else under the God's blue canopy, we believe, can be found more genuine, cordial hospitality and courtesy to the stranger within its gates than our own, and very dear, old Montgomery. Ask an officer to direct you and the chances are he will go with you to your point of destination; make some inquiry of a citizen, and you receive the most courteous reply.

We renewed several old friendships and met others whom we hope always to list as friends. One of the latter, Advertising Manager Tuttle at the Fair, is well and favorably known to many of our local old-time citizens, as he was in business here in the years agone. Also Mr. Jones, proprietor of the Washington hotel, who was a Clanton merchant a few years ago.

Up at the capitol we had the pleasure of shaking hands with some more old friends. Governor "Bill" and Frank Julian were out at lunch, but we have an idea Fitz Hooten, being an ex-printer, hasn't yet acquired fashionable luncheon ideas, so we corraled him in the treasurer's office. Many of our people remember Fitz as the editor of the Alexander City Outlook until Mr. Wade, another Tallapoosa county man, got into the governmental game as secretary of agriculture, when Fitz went in as clerk. We are not sure as to just whether age or getting married or what did it, but Fitz has actually sprouted a few gray hairs. Otherwise, however, we could see little difference from the old Outlook Fitz.

Sid Blan is as active as an ant in a tar bucket, and makes everyone feel at home around his department. Aside from being a mighty good newspaper man, Sid is a candidate for secretary of state this year, and his friends say if you want to be on the winning side and never have regrets for your vote, cast it for Sid Blan.

Those "boys" on the Montgomery Advertiser always make a fellow welcome too, and it's a pleasure to chat with them. Grover Hall, the editor, is never busy to exchange a kind word; "Spang" and his pens and pencils as he deftly portrays his thoughts in cartoon form are always a source of interest to us, too. There are others in the 'shop' of course, who extended the fraternal hand in a way that only printers know and can appreciate— Messrs. Tucker news editor, and Fonville in the teletype room; Ford and Martin in the makeup room, etc. The teletype, a new invention is another of the labor and time savers. simply a tin box in which is arranged a specially designed typewriter, writing on a self-contained roll of paper without the assistance or touch of a human hand. The news coming into the office over the wires from the news gathering headquarters, St. Louis in this case, as it is typed in central office is reproduced rapidly and continuously by the keys on the local machine, doing away with the telegraph editor altogether. Clicking off the paragraphs so accurately and rapidly without the aid of anyone, the machine leaves rather a weird impression upon one.

Down at Alex Rice's, the big department store we had a pleasant half hour with Messrs. Miller and Fritts, the heads of the advertising department of that big store Incidentally, keep an eye on our advertising columns for big values from Rice's. They have an ad with us today. Mr. Miller had just returned from a buying trip to New York. "I was able to obtain

The most important question in the minds of the people of Alabama today politically and economically speaking is the question of good roads. Shall we or shall we not authorize the issuance of a sum of money one dollar or one billion dollars, for that purpose, and what assurance have we that any amount of funds would be expended legitimately and to the best interest of all concerned?

When the proposition first was introduced. The News frankly admits that it opposed the idea. As everyone knows, the question usually comes in the blunt fashion of "Do you favor or oppose the issuance of seventy-five million dollars by the state for the construction and maintainance of roads in Alabama?

Our first impression led us to say "No". Neither would we change that impression now if the question must be answered literally as it is quoted..

But, friends, this question is a big one; and it is well worthy of your most considerate thought and investigation. And when you do that, you will find quite a bevy of "incidentals" which do not appear on the surface of the question. For instance—and right here is where we struck the snag which converted us to a favorable attitude toward the measure.

In the event that the state votes favorably to the issuance of the bonds, it does not mean that the state actually and immediately will float bonds to the amount of seventy-five million dollars. (Read in another column the little list of questions concerning this which we print for your information.)

Your vote in favor of the issue of bonds simply authorizes—get that— authorizes the state to go that limit in borrowing for road improvement.

Suppose, as a parallel case, you'd go to your banker and say, "Mr. Smith, I'm a farmer out on Route A, where I have a pretty good little farm, making a little money, but I'm not getting ahead just as I would like. This year I want credit for $1000. Next year I shall want credit for at least $5000 in orderto carry out my present plans of improvement. Understand, now, I merely wish to have the assurance that I can get this $5000 if I shall need it; otherwise, if my requirements do not run that high, of course, I shall only call for whatever those requirements may demand; and if I shall call for nothing then I shall be under no obligation to you whatever. If I do need the full amount, then I shall be under obligations for both the principal and the interest—or any part thereof. Will you assure me now that I can get this money if my needs demand it next year?"

"Yes," replies Mr. Smith, the banker. "I understand that you merely wish to assure yourself of sufficient funds with which to carry out your contemplated improvements. If you only need $500, then you will only call for that amount; or if you shall need the full $5000, then you can get it."

Whether you do or do not understand, gentle reader, it requires a vote of the people to authorize the privilege of making an appropriation for the construction of roads in Alabama. Without your favorable vote, this appropriation cannot be made. And so it is if you vote favorably as a whole for the issuance of seventy-five million dollars for road improvement, you do not mean by that vote, nor can it be construed to mean, that you favor the throwing onto the money market of Alabama general funds bonds to the amount of seventy-five million dollars. But your favorable vote would mean that, if carried the state would be assured of a sum not exceeding seventy-five million dollars, to be drawn from according to its needs for road construction and mantainance only..

Undoubtedly the time is near at hand when our people will wonder at any protest over this small amount for the purpose indicated. Other states are appropriating more than we contemplate without a whimper. It does not mean the saddling of an unreasonable amount of money upon our children; even though it did, they would get the benefit of it. It does not mean the additional cost of one cent to the land-owner as tax upon his property. The money for the payment of these bonds would come, as specifically provided for from the sales of gasoline, the tax upon which would be slightly increased.

Then comes the question of the administration of our road—and other—laws, in the event of the authorization for the seventy-five million in bonds.

Charley McDowell is the pronounced advocate of the bond authorization..

Charley McDowell is a citizen of Alabama, with just as high regards for the welfare and progress of the state as perhaps anyone else. Lots of mud-slinging has been directed at him; his political enemies are busy in every section. But go into his own home town, ask his neighbors and acquaintances go back through his record of service for the state, and you will find it all clear, all favorable to the people and in the interest as a whole for the people of the state. So much for that part of Mr. McDowell's connection with the proposition under discussion.

Lots of mud has been slung at John A. Rogers, chairman of the highway commission, too. His name and that of Mr. McDowell, in fact, in certain quarters, are synonymous with graft, unfulfilled pledges, potential robbers of public funds and Helen Maria only knows what else. But, good friends you know as well as we do, "politics make strange bedfellows."

This humble scribe has known John Rogers for many years, personally and through the press. Suppose you owned a nice little home located on perhaps 500 acres of fairly fertile land in Alabama, your honest obligations were provided for and you had a nest-egg in the bank which would amply provide for your future, as as well as that of your devoted better half and other immediate loved ones. Suppose, then, you had it within your power as a state official to impose a tax or burden in any other name upon the people of the state as a whole by which they—including yourself, remember—would suffer from its legal operation. Do you conscientiously believe that you would press the button by which the machinery of such a burden would be imposed, not only upon everyone else, but yourself as well?

That's the position in which you find both Charley McDowell and John. Rogers today. If McDowell is elected governor of the state, certainly he would want a highway commission in sympathy with his views in order to carry out the improvement and development of Alabama roads so badly needed today.

If John Rogers carries out his road improvement plans and wishes, he necessarily must have a state governmental head who shall be in sympathy with his program.

You know that we must trust someone. Someone as governor; someone as head of the highway commission. Authorization for the issuance of twenty-five million dolars for roads has already been made; twenty million dollars of that money has been spent, and practically every section of the state has felt the beneficial effect of the expenditure of this mony. Where can you find any section with a protest of any importance that it has not been benefited by the twenty-five million dollar bond issue? Certainly Chilton county has benefitted by reason of it, and the good results are not yet at an end.

Advocates of the bond issue do not ask a thing of its opponents more than that they should give the subject the careful thought and study that it deserves. Read the little questionaire in another column, and if there still is any lingering doubt in your mind, write your Highway Commission, Montgomery, and you will receive a prompt and courteous reply to anything you may ask.

Bankhead For the Senate

(An Editorial)

Hon. John H. Bankhead has been an active candidate for the United States Senate for eight months. He has visited practically every county and has made speeches in various sections of the state. It is generally admitted that he has conducted a dignifiedand gentlemanly campaign.

He has refrained from en gaging in campaign methods that are little and narrow.His appeal has been to the common sense and goodjudg ment of the people. He has not sought to stir anyprejudice or passion. His appeal has been addressed sole-ly to reason. His method of campaigning has receivedhigh commendation from many quartres. The people are looking for a man to fill the officeof United StatesSenator according to the standards es-tablished by great Senators of the past. They want a man who is honest, and able and faithful and capable. They want one whose heart beats with the struggles and aspi- rations and hopes of the plain people. They want one who can hold his own in any forum: one who can measureswords with all and give ground to none. They wantone of high character; purity in personal life; broad minded and generous. They want one who is in full accordwith their moral, education al, economic, and spiritual aspirations. They want one who has been a student ofhistory and the science of government. They want onewho is frank and open in all his personal and public re lations. They want one who is practical and has abundanthorse sense. They want one who knows how to get re-sults and who has the energ and enthusiasm necessary for achievement.

John H. Bankhead possesses in eminent degree all of the above qualifications. In John H. Bankhead Alabama has the opportunity to secure a United States Senator who will arouse the pride and merit the confidence and appreciation of the people of our great state..

PERSONALS

Because of illness in the force of The News first of the week and a "balk" in our linotype later in the week, much local matter is unavoidably omitted from today's issue. We hope to be running smoother than ever next week.

He's Entitled To 'Em

From the realms of the upper world yesterday came the ominous buzz and whizz of many voices of the insect tribe over the office of J. Mell Martin, the funeral director, and had Mell not once lived "over the line in countryland," he might not have recognized it. But to Mell's trained ears, it was familiar.

Cause: A flock of honey bees, starting point unknown sizzed and hummed over Mell's office until he decided they were really freindly and meant no harm.

—Mell screwed his courage up to the sticking point that he actually hived that family of bees into a neat little bungalow all their own; and Mell expects a goodly supply of real fresh, yard honey on his breakfast table hereafter to which, of course, he expects to invite many of his friends.

The only deficiency of making his home representative of the old adage about this being a land of milk and honey, says Mell, is for some kindly and productive Mrs. Cow and family to come along and join forces in the supply of those essentials—and he promises her a good home and kindly care as long the grass grows green.

for our retail trade some wonderful values at remarkably low prices on this trip, and we are glad to announce these to the Chilton people through The Chilton County News," said Mr. Miller. "We have a class of trade from your county which we appreciate very much, and you can say to your good people that we are always glad of the opportunity of taking special care of their needs. Montgomery feels very near to the people of Clanton and vicinity in many ways, and cheerfully welcomes your people here."

Around at the Hotel Conyers you'd scarcely find a more congenial bunch including Mr. Conyers, himself, who is "one of the boys" on all occasions. Night Clerk Cone never slights an opportunity of giving guests a hearty welcome or attending personally to every little detail which might add to their comfort and convenience. And, of course, Day Clerk "Dad" Jones, while not much interested in the Charleston, is very active on the job, and devotes his efforts faithfully toward making the hostelry a real home.

Order For Publication

To Non-Resident

The state of Alabama Chilton county, Circuit Court, In Equity. John H. Traylor, complainant, vs W. C. Dyer et al., defendants.

In this cause it is made to appear to the register by the affidavit of J. B. Atkinson that the defendant is non-resident, and that his place of residence and postoffice address is unknown and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is of the age of twenty-one years: It is therefore ordered by the register that publication be made in The Chilton County News, a newspaper published in the county of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said T. L. Gass, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 7th day of June, 1926 or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 5th day of May, 1926.

Increases In Pensions

Washington. May 1. — President Coolidge late today signed the bill to increase pensions of Spanish war veterans and their dependents nearly $19,000,000 annually.

At the same time, in a formal statement, he said his approval was not to be taken "as an encouragement to further laws for large continuing appropriations." He gave a warning that it might be necessary to increase taxes if governmental expenditures greatly increased.

MAN HURT IN AUTO SMASH NEAR TOWN

Carried To Montgomery With Broken Hip

David Nichols of Girard, Ala., is in a Montgomery hospital with a broken hip received, it is said, when an automobile in which he and two companions had accepted a ride to Birmingham, overturned on the highway between Verbena and Clanton early Thursday night., says the Montgomery Advertiser.

Following the accident passing motorist are said to have assisted the driver of the overturned machine to right his car, after which he proceeded on toward Birmingham, leaving the injured man and his companions by the roadside, it is said.

A passing physician, according to the report of the accident, administered aid to the injured man.

R.Lyles, driverof one of the cars of the Studebaker Independent taxi line, which operates between Birmingham and Montgomery, accompanied by M.A.Moore, another driver of the line, found the injured man beside the road and brought him to Montgomery, where he was taken to a hospital.

According to Lyles and Moore, Nichols is said to have stated that the number of the car in which they were riding was 209901-B and that he did not know the name of the man withwhom they consented to ride to Birmingham.

IS FIRST CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY OFFICE

D. M. Martin Is First on The Democratic Ticket

In our column for the convenience of candidates will be found the announcement of D. M. Martin of Maplesville for the office of tax collector of Chilton county.

Mr. Martin is so well and favorably known to the people of this county that anything The News might say would be to repeat what is already known of him. Suffice it, then, to repeat, in part, that his acquaintances know hi mas a man of absolute integrity honesty, fidelity to a worthy cause and loyalty to a friend. He has made a success as a farmer and in the rearing and education of an interesting family. Although Mr. Martin has never asked for any office, he has served faithfully and well his duties as a member of the county Democratic executive committee. If honored with the office of tax collector of Chilton county, The News feels no hesitancy in saying that the affairs of that important office would be in worthy, efficient and accommodating hands.

ALTON B. PARKER VICTIM OF DEATH

Was Candidate For The Presidency

New York, May 10.—Alton B. Parker, who rose from the obscurity of a youth, spent on a New York state farm to bear the standard of the Democratic party against Theodore Roosevelt in the presidential race of 1904, died today while riding in an automobile through Central park.

He contraced a cold three days ago and had been under a physicians care. He was on his way to his country home in Esopus, N. Y., with his wife and nurse when he was stricken with a heart attack. Death was almost instantane ous.

Chevrolet News

One of the most important advertising conferences ever held in the automotive industry has just been concluded in the general offices of the Chevrolet Motor Co, located in the General Motors building in Detroit. Chevrolet dealers from various sections of the country were called in for a two day session during which all phases of the Chevrolet advertising plan were covered.

So satisfactory was this conference in its distribution of new ideas and advertising suggestions, based on dealers experiences in widely scatter-er territories that plans have been made to arrange regular monthly meetings. The dealres will assist in making the Chevrolet cooperative advertising campaign the great est plan ever produced for any group of retail merchants

J. E. Grim, advertising manager, presided at the meeting, assisted by members of his advertising staff. Talks were given on advertising art, preparation of copy, direct mail advertising and outdoor advertising.

The cooperative advertising campaign now under way in addition to the regular national schedule was reviewed. Dealers learned that through the cooperative plan Chevrolet advertising is now appearing in more than 4,000 American newspapers making every dealer, large and small, a consistent newspaper advertiser. The vast circulation of these papers, tied up with the copy used in the national schedule, gives Chev rolet a great national cover-and assures uniformity of the message broadcasted.

Aside from the product itself, Chevrolet officials said no other one element had done so much toward increas ing Chevrolet sales as the cooperative plan enthusiastically supported by the dealers.

County Board Commends State Highway Commission

Resolutions By Chilton Commissioners Declare Chilton Has Roads Which Will Compare Favorably With Any In The United States

The following resolutions were passed by the board of commissioners of Chilton County in session here this week:

That, Whereas, the state of Alabama through the Highway department has constructed a cement road through Chilton county, said road being in length about thirty-five miles, and that,

Whereas, Said road has recently been completed with the exception of occasional gaps over unsettled fills, said road being Federal Aid Project 100-A and 100-B. That,

Whereas, Some parts of said road have been in constant use for twelve months and out of the total length of said road approximately twelve blocks will have to be replaced; and in view of some criticism of said road, the Commissioners court of Chilton county, Alabama, on this, the 10th day of May, 1926, hereby declares and publishes the following resolutions:

First. We regret the fact that any criticism of this road should have come from any citizens of Chilton county, in view of the fact that Chilton county without practically any cost has been fortunate enough to have constructed through it a road of this character.

Second. We believe that we have 35 miles of road that compare favorably with any constructed in the United States, and we want to compliment the Highway department for their splendid co-operation during the construction of this road and the satisfactory manner in which they dealt with the public in regard to right-of-way, sewers and turnouts.

Third. Lastly, be it, resolved, That the Commissioners court of Chilton county, Alabama, extend its grateful appreciation to the Highway commission for this splendid road.

EVEN EELS HAVE CAUGHT FASHION

This One At Tuscaloosa On The [illegible]

Tuscalossa, May 10. — Now this may be the story that W. M. Cribbs, local merchant, told Mrs. Cribbs as an excuse for being late for dinner. But its Cribbs' story and he's going to stick to it. Cribbs was fishing on Lock 12 for trout. Suddenly a mighty tug on his line. Cribbs tugged also, heaved suddenly, and a four-foot eel sailed out of the water securely hooked.

Swinging it over his head, Cribbs didn't notice that a University of Alabama co-ed standing back of him. Neither did the co-ed see the eel. The eel wrapped around her neck and was severely choking her when several men pulled it off. "The young lady was badly frightened by the unusual event," says our country correspondent.

Naturally.

SHADY GROVE

Saturday and Sunday was our regular preaching date, Rev. G. B. Golden as is his custom delivered two inspiring sermons. The attendance was a little bettre than usual.

The nice rain that fell Sunday was appreciated, it helped the crops greatly.

Mrs. E. L. McKinney is at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Headly, who is very ill.

Dewey Mims and Miss Annie Lee Pinson were hapily married Sunday. All their friends wish them a smooth voyage through life.

Mrs. L. A. Jackson, farmer of Orlando, Fla., who has been the guest of Mrs. J. F. Dubose, left Monday for Montgomery.

49 COUNTIES ARE NOW CATTLE TICK FREE

Little Progress Made In Only Three Counties

R. E. Jackson, federal inspector, announces that cattle ticks have been entirely eradicated in 49 of the 67 counties of Alabama. Not a single herd in any of these counties is quarantined, the federal inspector said.

In 15 of the other counties there are a few herds still infected with cattle parasites, said Dr. Jackson, while in three counties very little progress has been made. These counties are Clarke, Washington and Choctaw.

Cessation of work there is responsible for the presence of ticks he said. War on ticks has been begun more than once, but stopped each time before the pests had been stamped out. The counties are still quarantined. Mobile and Baldwin are also under partial quarantines because several herds in each of them are still infected.

WORK SOON STARTS ON NEW POWER LINE

Will Carry Light And Power To Columbiana

Last's weeks issue of the Shelby Reporter said: It is reported that the construction crew of the Alabama Power company is coming this week to begin construction of the power line from Calera to Columbiana. Camp will be made at Shelby Springs it is said and the crew will work in two directions.

The building of the power line should complete the long delayed work of bringing light and power service to Columbiana, the town having been wired some time ago and the substation having been built recently.

Hudson-Essex News

A new high record both for manufacturing cars and for selling them at retail was established by the Hudson-Essex organization in March according to figures gathered ta the Hudson plant and forwarded to distributors and dealers throughout the country.

This was not only the largest March the company ever knew, it was said, but was also the largest month it has had this season.

In the month, more than 31,000 cars were manufactured and shipped, which is an increase of more than 75 per cent over the March of a year ago, which was itself an unusually good month. According to the best information available, this 31,000 cars was the largest number of six cylinder cars ever made and shipped in the history of the industry. Despite the unseasonable weather all over the country, more than 90 per cent of these cars were sold at retail, another record-making achievement.

Buyers of automobiles are scrutinizing values closer than ever before. They appreciate it when an organization sets out to save them money on every part of their motor car investment. My experience, said Mr. Bates, Hudson- Essex local dealer has been too that the frankness and candor of the A. Y. D. idea is liked best of all. The at-your-door idea lets the buyer know at the start of the transaction just what the car with equipment will cost him, delivered at his door

It is a bit of progressive merchandising introduced into the automobile business by Hudson-Essex, and it estab lishes a practice which I believe is bound to become universal because the real boss of the industry, the public, has shown that it likes it.

Rev. Haughey pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, returned home from a trip to the southern part of the state first of the week, and stated that Mrs. Haughey was expected home from the hospital yesterday.

GOODWATER VICTIM DISASTROUS FIRE

Railroad Will Furnish Water For Town

A news dispatch from Goodwater Monday said: Saturday morning early fire broke out in the restaurant and store of John and Hattie Coppage on West side of Main street and soon spread to the filling station of Arthur Shurett and the garage of Frank Pruett, destroying it within a short time. The furniture store of E. Robinson was also threatened.

The filiing station and garage had just been completed and belonged to W. L. Crew and was one of the best in town, being located on the corner of Main and Weogufka streets. No insurance was carried. It has not been ascertained whether or not there was any insurance on the other building.

The town has just closed a contract with the Central of Georgia railway to deliver water for the consumption of the town and to fight fire in the business section of the town. The reservoir will be located on a hill overlooking the town and will have an ample supply of pure water furnished from Hatchett creek. Work will soon begin on the reservoir and water mains.

A completed list of voters of the county has just been completed by Judge George B. McDonald and published. There are over 2,000 qualified voters of the county. In several of the precincts there are almost as many women voters as men.

Buy Horse Meat

Japan has placed an order for 25,000 pounds of horse meat with Alberta packers a sa trial shipment for what may develop into an extensive trade, according to Geo. Hoadley, provincial minister of agriculture.

"The horse meat will be prepared and shipped to Yokohama, Japan, by a firm in Calgary," said Mr. Hoadley.

"The provincial department of agriculture has encouraged the development of a traed in horse meat. There are thousands of good sound horses in Alberta which are too small for farm work purposes, but which could be profitably utilized by their farmer owners in this way."

Road improvement is going to be made, in Alabama as elsewhere, regardless of the jealous and peevish opposition, many of whom indulge in the pasttime of knocking the proposition for no other reason than that they are "agin" anything and everything anonunced for the progress and betterment of the county or state. Our better judgment suggests that we had better build roads and enjoy them now than put off the job for the coming generations. What would be our plight today had it not been that the foresight, labor and money of our forebears made preparations for us?

Greenville people run up to Montgomery over the Brandon highway to attend a ball game or a matinee and return within a few hours. A few years ago a motor trip to the Capital City was an adventure but now it is a drive of a few minutes. Recently some Birmingham people went out for a drive, but finding the road so good, they kept going until they drove up to the home of a Greenville relative. There's no doubt that, in spite of accusations, the highway department has made wonderful progress in Alabama.— Greenville Advocate.

The News enjoyed a brief visit this week by our old friend J. W. E. Gulledge. He is one of the "delegates" in the big "convention" of 1861-65 of the Lost Cause, where he "fit bled and almost died" in defence of his fair Southland. Mr. Gulledge, although considerably past the Bibilcal three score and ten allotted man, is in splendid health, active in body and mind and talks interestingly of the days gone by.

The governor of Alabama may not have reformed more men than all the preachers and churches in the state for the same length of time, but his plan and that of the board of pardon of the state, to give the fellow who hasfallen "A chance" is well taken and should meet the approval of all good citizens. The governor of Alabama and the pardon board are carrying out the spirit of the bible.—Luverne Journal.

There is a fortune awaiting the Cleburne county man who will invent a device for making both ends meet.—Cleburne News. Our misfortune has been in that just about the time we had succeeded in getting both ends to meet, some fellow moved the other end.

Say It Now

If with pleasure you are viewing
Any work a man is doing,
If you like him, or you love him,
Tell him now.

Don't withhold your approbation
Till the parson makes oration
And he lies with snowy lilies
O'er his brow.

For no matter ho wyou shout it,
He won't really care about it
He won't know how many teardrops
You have shed.

If you think some praise is due him
Now's the time to slip it to him,
For he cannot read his tombstone
When he's dead.

Comparisons

That fellow successfully rode over Niagara Falls some years ago, slipped on an orange peel the other day and killed himself. That is like standing up against all those German drives only to be killed by a war bride after the armistice.—Montgomery Advertiser.

An old roadster we once knew said he would be perfectly happy to know that he should die gloriously drunk, but he had a fear of dying a "natural death."

What would happen in this state if all who slanderously gossiped were fined? —Alabama Farmer. Don't know about fining them, but if sent to jail, who'd act as turnkey or keep house?

According to the figures of W. P. Helm, one of the best newspaper writers of the day, the federal internal revenue bureau last year investigated two hundred and thirty-three thousand tax payers of the country at a cost of twenty-five million dollars and collected two million dollars. Is the game worth the candle?

Set your stakes to come to the speaking by Mr. Rogers at the court house on Saturday, May 21. Don't take community gossip for your permanent opinion. Hear it first hand, and you will be in position to know definitely whether you favor or oppose the bond issue.

Uncle Jawn of the Talladega Home says Talladega county has fared mighty well in the building of good roads by the highway commission. So has every other county in Alabama, Uncle Jawn.

Lots of virtuous talent goes to waste in this world through the energy of the hammer-bearer.

FEDERAL DRY MAN WOUNDED IN RAID

Ten Moonshiners Use Shot Guns On Agents

Oneonta, May 10.—R. W. Buckner, federal prohibition agent, was believed to be dying here tonight as the result of wounds received when a party of dry law enforcement officers and ten moonshiners waged a gun battle at a still site fifteen miles from here late this afternoon.

The clash occurred on the edge of St. Clair county when the prohibition squad attempted to raid a still guarded by the moonshiners, it was reported here. The raiding party was driven off temporarily, but returned to the attack early tonight after being reinforced. The battle was said to be still raging at 8 o'clock tonight.

SAMARIA

Sunday, May 9th, was our regular preaching day at this place and an unusually large crowd attended the services.

At 10 o'clock there was a Mother's Day program as sponsored by the State Baptist Board carried out by the girls of the Sunday school of this place, the program being followed by the regular Sunday school lesson.

At 11 o'clock Rev. B. F. Dykes, our pastor, delivered a very forcible and impressive sermon on the subject, "A Christain Home," which I am sure was enjoyed by all.

Rev. Dykes has been called to the care of the church at Boyles, and has accepted the care of same, therefore he tndered his resignation at our church Sunday. We are all truly sorry to give him up but feel that he can do a greater work at Boyles, hence we accepted his resigna toin and are glad to know that he is able and willing to take up a larger field of work and we join in praying God's blessings upon his efforts in his new field of labor.

Mayor Gunter's Speech Dedicating Reese Bridge

Following is the speech delivered by Mayor Gunter of Montgomery at the dedication of the Reese Ferry bridge:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

This bridge dedicated today to Alabama's soldiers living and dead, who took part in the greatest conflict of the ages, is a tribute to courage.

A man may possess every other tribute that makes for greatness, but if he lacks in courage the best is not in him and the best will never come out of him.

Courage is that quality that causes a man not only to face death without fear, but to meet life with its duties, its sorrows and disappointments cheerfully and unafraid. Measured by these standards the men to whom this bridge is dedicated were not lacking in any element of greatness.

This bridge is the gateway between North and South Alabama.

It is an invitation to our brothers in the valley of the Tennessee, in the great industrial cities of the minera section to come to see us, that we may know and love each other better. That we may come to realize that we are but one great family, bound together, not only by the ties of blood, but by a common purpose to make of our state the best, the most prosperous and the happiest home ever possessed by the children of men.

This bridge is a work of art. It is as useful as it is beautiful. It will serve us and pass on to our children They will see in it the handiwork of their fathers and rise up and call us blessed. It will inspire them to carry on, doing for their children what we are trying to do for ours.

Let me repeat, what we are trying to do for ours, for there are those who would trade off the future of their great state, pull down the men among us who are making such structures as this wonderful bridge possible and wreck its institutions to gratify a little personal ambition or to satiate a mean vindic tive spite.

This bridge, calm poised beautiful and majestic, is a symbol of thehighway department of Alabama. It is prophetic. It says goodbye, not only to the muddy banks of a dangerous river but also to its treacherous enemies, with the hearts of hyenas, but wearing the garbs of men.

FORTY HOMICIDES RECORD FOR MONTH

Twenty People Take Lives In Alabama

According to reports from the office of the state bureau of vital statistics and the board of health, a copy of which was received by The News this week, homicides were responsible for the deaths of 40 people in Alabama during March, 7 white persons and 33 negroes. Suicides numbered 20, which included 18 whites and 2 negroes.

Accidental burns resulted in 58 deaths; accidental discharge of firearms 8; accidental drowning 4; mine accidents 5; railroad accidents and automobile accidents were responsible for 21 deaths each. Six deaths resulted from typhoid fever, 2 from malaria, 9 from measles,2 from scarlet fever, 28 from whooping cough and 7 from diptheria.

Total of 589 persons died from influenza and 441 succumbed to pneumonia. Pulmonary tuberculosis was fatal to 216, and 232 died from other forms of tuberculosis. Cancer was responsible for 95 deaths; pellagra 29; apoplexy 112; diseases of the heart 247. Deaths in March from all causes totalled 3,237, the death rate for the month being 15.3.

Total of 5,427 births were reported as having occured in Alabama during March, the birth rate being 25.7.

BLACK IS SETTING STRENUOUS GAIT

Has Made Visit To Every County In State

The Birmingham Post on Saturday last said: For rapidity of movement and territory covered, Hugo L. Black, a newcomer to state politics is setting a pace thato ther other candidates for the U. S. senate are finding hard to equal.

Black, a Birmingham attorney, has been continuously on the road for the last 30 days and his headquarters here announced that he has been in every county in the state and in some of them twice.

He has delivered more than 60 speeches in the last 30 days and has traveled more than 2,000 miles.

A week's itinerary for Black gives a sample of his activities. Saturday he was at Wadley, Opelika and Montgomery. Sunday he was to spend in Selma and next week he really moves rapidly

Monday he will be in Birmingham; Tuesday at Rogersville; Wednesday at Munford, Hillsboro, Courtland and Leighton; Thursday at Martin, Allsboro and Littleton; Friday at Smooth Pine Phil Campbell, Hackleburg and Hodges; Saturday at Vina, Red Bay, Russellville and Belle Green.

Black travels alone in an Overland automobile and apparently expects to wear out the car before the primary in August.

LOCAL PREACHER TO GO TO CONFERENCE

Rev. Stephenson Will Represent Clanton Church

The Southern Union Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, which includes Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky in its territory, will send a large delegation of clergymen and others to the quadrennial convention of the world's general conference of Adventists which will be held in Milwaukee, Wis., May 27 to June 14.

This will be themost representative missionary convention ever held in the world when 119 nations will be represented and 252 languages. It is expected that there will be a delegation of 8,000 members of the church in attendance, the majority of them coming from the United States, the home of the church.

The delegation will be under the leadership of Bishop G. W. Wells president of the union conference who will give a report of what has been accomplished during the past four years in the territory over which he presides, and will be able to tell of success in allfeatures of the church.

Every local conference in the union will be represnted by its presidents as follows: C. B. Stephenson of Clanton C. W. Curtis of Louisville, Ky.; W. R. Elliott of Jackson Miss., president of the Louisiana-Mississippi conference, and H. E. Lysinger of Nashville.

CHANGES PLANNED IN POSTAGE RATES

Five Classes Of Temporary Tariffs Modified

Material changes in five classes of temporary postal rates approved last year have been agreed upon by the special joint congressional postal committee. They are:

Reduction in rate on private mailing cards from two cents to one cent.

Reduction of the rate on transient second class mail matter—newspapers mailed by individuals to one cent.

Establishment of a rate of not more than two cents on return postal cards sent out by business firms with the collection to be made after their return.

Rearrangement of the special handling rate on parcel post packages so that in place the standard 25 cent charge there will be a graduation, with a 15 cents rate for packages weighing not over two pounds; 25 cents for packages weighing from 2 to 10 pounds and 35 cents for packages over 10 pounds.

MAKES SUCCESS OF SHOALS OPERATION

Government Gets Only One-fifth of Cent For Power

Earl Sparling, one of the correspondents at Washington, has an interesting article in his papers concerning Muscle Shoals, included in which is the statement that, although the consumer pays around ten cents per kilowatt hour for "juice" generated at the Shoals and distributed by a private power company the government receives only one-fifth of a cent from the company for it. Here is what he says:

Government operation of Muscle Shoals has met its test.

A six-months trial run by war department engineers, according to figures made public, proves the government can operate and completely maintain the plant for a total yearly cost of only $270,000.

Only 87 men are required to operate the $150,000,000 project.

Tho the government is forced to sell the power now being generated for only one fifth of a cent a kilowatt hour, efficiency of operation will allow a net profit of at least $ 30,000 for the first year, it is estimated. This profit will be made with the power plant running at less than half its intended unit capacity.

Only eight generating units are in operation now Eighteen are to be installed eventually.

The power generated is being sold to the one present possible customer, the Alabama Power Co. So efficient has been the operation that the latter company has made not a single protest since the government electricity was first turned into its lines.

This proved efficiency of government operation is probably the greatest argument administration leaders will have to refute in their battle to lease the project away 50 years to a private company for private profit.

The administration leaders face the important fact that the government operating the project at less than half capacity, if it could get only one cent a kilowatt hour, would make $3,500,000 profit a year.

None of the private companies bidding for the full capacity plant have offered anything like that sum.

The selection of R. B. Vail of Bay Minette, as the vice-chairman of the McDowell campaign, with headquarters in Montgomery, and of Chappel Cory, of Birmingham, as manager of the campaign of Colonel L. B. Musgrove has added impetus to both the gubernatorial and senatorial contests.

Bonds To Amount Of $20,000 Voted By City

Vote Cast Saturday Was 157 For The Issue 14 Against

CLANTON GRAMMAR BUILDING ASSURED

When Completed Will Cost About $50,000

Clanton citizenry did the big, magnanimous thing Saturday and voted to authorize the city to issue bonds to the amount of $20,000 for the construction of a modern building for the grammar school. The vote as tabulated showed 157 for and 14 against the proposition, a majority of 143.

It is understood that the building completed will cost approximately $50,000, and will be constructed along the most modern lines, with every care looking toward hygienic, efficient and appropriate design, and according to plans and specifications approved by the state department of education.

The state and county also will assume a portion of the cost of the building, and it is hoped that work of construction can begin within the next few weeks, so that it may easily be ready for occupancy at the next session of school.

100 LOTS SOLD AT PRATTVILLE SALE

Land Brought An Average Of $600 Per Acre

The Montgomery Journal a few days ago said: Every single lot in the Prattmont Heights subdivision which is situated approximately one mile East of Prattville was disposed of in the auction sale Wednesday. A total of 100 lots were sold at the sale, th land bringing anaverage of $600 an acre.

The total amount received for the 100 lots was $29,800 This is the second large sale to be conducted by the Britt Davis company, the first being last month in the Prattville district and amounting to approximately $25,000.

John Anderson, bookkeeper for the Prattville Cotton Mill company, received the Chevrolet automobile which was given away at the auction sale.

About 490 automobiles were parked at the scene of the auction sale Wednesday and more than 2,000 people were on hand to bid on the lots. Prattmont Heights is situated on the land of Judge C. E. Thomas of Prattville.

BUSINESS METHODS MUST BE PURSUED

Secretary Jardine Talks To The Farmers

In his talk to the farmers at Montgomery last week, as reported by the Advertiser, Secretary of Agriculture Wm. M. Jardine said that co-operative organizations, orderly marketing, avoidance of over-production wherever possible and the use of business-like mthods are the things which the American farmer must learn if he would make agriculture a paying business, according to Secretary of Agriculture Wm. M. Jardine, who delivered an address at a lunch eon at the Country Club Friday afternoon.

Secretary Jardine said there are no legislative "cure alls" for the ills of the American farmer. He said no government in the world can overturn the law of supply and demand and that the price of a given commodity is bound to drop if the market is suddenly flooded with that commodity, or if it is over-produced.

"I am not down here to make speeches," said Mr. Jardine, in beginning his address. "I came down here to get information, to hear of the farm problems of the south at first hand. I want to know all I can about southern agriculture. I am pretty familiar with the corn and wheat belts and I want to know as much as I can about the south."

The Beneficiaries

Rash, misleading and oft times untruthful statements by the individual or newspaper will not get a cause very far along the road to its goal. In its fight against the proposed seventy-five million dollar bond issue, the Age-Herald says:

"Much activity is being shown by road contractors who have been the direct beneficiaries of the $25,000,000 road bond issue and who will be the greatest and most direct beneficiaries from the $75,000,000 bond issue if it is voted by the people."

Won't the people generally who shall use these roads after their completion come in as the greatest beneficiaries?

Returning from Montgomery a few days ago, after riding onto the concrete, a Birmingham dective was heard to remark: "I had rather pay all the taxes Alabama now assesses against me and an additional five cents per gallon on gasoline and have the privilege of such roads as this, than revert to a system of no taxation whatever and go back to the old system of road maintainance and building in maintenance and building in vogue fifteen or twenty years ago.

Worth Remembering

It was Jesus Christ of Nazareth who said: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

Likewise, it was Saint Paul of Tarsus, apostle and servant of Jesus Christ, who said: Render therefore to all their dues, tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honor to whom honor."

Such Is Politics

It is seldom that a governor goes out of office as popular as he went in, says the Centreville Press. All the patronage and favors of office have been dispensed and people seldom take the time to give one credit for what he has done.

The present governor has not left any stone monument to his glory, but in all matters that effected the welfare of the state and the people he has acted for its betterment. He has pardoned hundreds, and in most of these cases he has done so on the recommendations of presiding judges and solicitors and jurors who tried the defendants. The governor has been humane and has been the means of reforming many a young man who has thoughtlessly got caught in the meshes of the law. The governor has not done all things like you and I would probably have done, but in most instances better.

We believe in giving a man justice, but just at this time his administration is being criticised for political reasons and for no good that could come of it in the way of reforms.

Regardless of your politics don't miss the discussion on road building at the court house tomorrow.

BIG EXPANSION FOR CHEVROLET

Detroit, May 15.—The largest expansion program in the history of the Chevrolet Motor Co., involving the expenditure of $10,000,000 and increasing the company's production facilities to a peak capacity of 1,000,000 cars per year will be inaugurated June 1, according to an announcement just made by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co.

Building plans have been completed, macchinery ordered and by Jan. 1. 1927, the company will be fully prepared to build 1,000,000 Chevrolet cars during the year, under the program company employes numbering 20,000 during full time operation will be increased proportionately.

Closed body production facilities will be 750,000 annuallyconstituting 75 per cent of the total production of Chevrolet cars.

Sixty per cent of the $10,000,000 will be spent in installing improved machinery and equipment of the most modern type and the remainder will be expended in erecting additions o various plants of the company in the United States.

With present equipment capable of producing 750,000 cars a year unable to meet the demand for Chevrolet cars and reports showing the factory production greatly oversold the building program calls for additions to seven of the company's plants

Mr. Taylor For Sheriff

Eleswhere in this issue of The News appears the announcement of J. R. Taylor of Cooper, Beat 10, for the office of sheriff of Chilton county.

Mr. Taylor was born and reared in Coosa county and is the son of Mr. H. J. Taylor He has been actively engaged in farming all his life and thoroughly understands rural life. That he is one of Chilton's best citizens can be attested by his neighbors in Beat 10 and scores of other citizens who have known him all his life. He is calm, considerate and deliberate in all of his undertakings and never jumps at conclusions until he knows the ground on which he is standing.

In addition, Mr. Taylor is a man of unimpeachable character whose entire life has been an open book of service in behalf of humanity In conclusion, his friends claim that he is just the kind of a man that Chilton county needs for sheriff.

$78.00 Every Time Your Watch Ticks

—A Daily Total Expense Bill of $340,000 for Operating Costs

That's what it cost the Louisville & Nashville Railroad during the year 1925 to deliver the high type of freight and passenger service which has earned for this system the name of "The Old Reliable." Every day, this Railroad paid to its employes, citizens of the South, who contribute to the prosperity of the community in which they live, the sum of $186,000.00 in wages. Each day, this Railroad paid to the mine owners of the South the sum of $21,000.00 for fuel. Every twenty-four hours during 1925, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad paid $62,000.00 for materials and supplies. Every day during 1925, it paid in city, state, local and federal taxes, the sum of $20,000.00—while $31,000.00 per day was required for interest on its bonded indebtedness and $20,000.00 per day for rents, casualties and miscellaneous items. Figured down to the minute, it costs the Louisville & Nashville Railroad $78.00 in operating expenses every time your watch ticks.

Do you realize and appreciate what an important factor the American railroad is in promoting the prosperity of each and every citizen?

During the past five years, a daily average of $47,700 has been expended for permanent improvements, in order to enlarge the capacity of the L. & N. system.

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

VOLUMN 5 — CLANTON ALA., FRIDAY,FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1926 — No. 36

Mr. Rogers Speaks To Interested Audience

Mr. Mullin, Montgomery Advertiser staff writer, was at the speaking here on Saturday last. Hear him tell about it:

A representative assembly of Chilton county voters Saturday afternoon heard John M. Rogers explain the proposed $75,000,000 bond issue for good roads and liberal applause greeted him. At the conclusion of his address numbers of voters crowded around Mr. Rogers, congratulated him and assured him of their support for the bond issue.

Chairman Rogers was assured at the conclusion of his address that Chilton county is overwhelmingly behind the bond issue proposal and will vote for the amendment when it is submitted.

Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds, of Chilton county introduced Chairman Rogers as "Alabama's greatest road builder, an honest man." Judge Reynolds in his introductory remarks, said he was in favor of a continuation of the road building program. He told of a visit he made sometime ago to Washington to see Thomas McDonald, chief of the good roads bureau of the federal government. "Do you know John Rogers?" he was asked by Mr. McDonald. "I certainly do," said Judge Reynolds. "Well, you know an honest man," Mr. McDonald rejoined.

During the course of his remarks explaining the bond issue proposal, Chairman Rogers turned for a moment from his subject to strike back at the opponents of the $75,000,000 bond issue, who are said to be backing A. H. Carmichael for governor. He was referring to that circle of the educational forces whose members, political gossip says, are for Mr. Carmichael. "We are, I suspect," said Chairman Rogers, "getting education a little too far fro mthe people. If the people are competent to select a state superintendent of education by ballot they are certainly competent to select their own county superintendent. It costs more now to buy books for a child than it used to cost for my books, breeches and food, when I went to school." Spontaneous applause greeted these references to education by Chairman Rogrs.

When Judge Reynolds in introducing Chairman Rogers said: "We do not want anybody else at the head of the road department," there was also general applause in the a udinece. In fact, everybody in the audience it appeared, joined in.

Chairman Rogers opened his remarks by referring to the amount Chilton county will get out of the $75,000,000 bond issue. "Chilton county," he said, "will get $757,000 out of this new bond issue. This will build your county fifty-six miles of new highway. It will connect your county seat with the county seat of Bibb county. It will connect your county seat with the county seat of Coosa county. It will construct that part of the Montgomery - Tuscaloosa highway which will extend through a part of your county. And when we connect your county seat, Clanton, with the county seat at Rockford, in Coosa county, we will have to bridge the Coosa river. That will cost an additional $300,000, but this will not be taken out of Chilton's allotment, because we propose to set aside $15,000,000 for the construction of bridges in Alabama.

Chairman Rogers seemed to amaze the audience when he said that already out of the $20,000,000 issue, $2,000,000 in bonds have been retired this year. He said this indicated that there need be no fear on the part of the voters that a road bond issue will be a burden on future generations.

Chairman Rogers explained each section of the proposed amendment. He said that under the amendment road bonds cannot be sold below par and cannot bear a greater interest than six per cent. In this connection he explained that Alabama road bonds not only bring par but a premium and that the last bonds sold only bear interest at four per cent. He said Alabama has the best credit of any state in the Union.

Chairman Rogers explained the proposed three-cent additional gasoline tax which will be used to pay the interest on the bonds and provide a sinking fund for their retirement. He explained that the amendment provides that no bond can be sold until the amount of the gasoline tax is capable of not only paying the interest on the bond but provide for a sinking fund to retire it as well. In this connection Chairman Rogers explained that the legislature could levy a tax not exceeding three cents to take care of this bond issue. He said under the law as it exists now the legislature can levy any size gasoline tax it wants to and that the proposed amendment would prevent the legislature from levying more than the three cent additional tax.

Chairman Rogers paid his compliments to those who are opposing the $75,000,000 bond issue. "When you find these fellows coming around and saying '$75,000,000 is too much,' you look right closely into their past records and you will find that they said $25,000,000 was too much when we were trying to get that amendment over. You will find that at heart they are opposed to a bond issue at all. You will find them opposed to building roads now. We have had a careful survey made of the whole state. The highway department knows how much money it will take to construct the bridges which are needed. You need 56 miles of new state highways in Chilton. If you issue less than $75,000,000 in bonds you will get that many miles less of highway. Every other county in Alabama has its highway needs as you haev and we must deal fairly by every county."

Judge L. H. Reynolds and other Chilton county voters said after the address of Chairman Rogers that Chilton county will be found in the march of progress when the bond issue is submitted and will vote for it. Judge Reynolds said Chilton county needs the additional highways which will be provided by the $75,000,000 bond issue and the only way the county can get these highways is by supporting the bond issue.

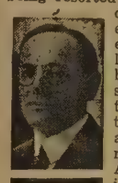
HOW ENDLESS CHAIN SELLING PLANS ARE USED TO ROB SAVERS

W. R. Morehouse Continues His Exposures of Modern "Gold Brick" Schemes—American Bankers Association Official Tells How Life-Time Savings Are Wiped Out.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE,
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

ARTICLE NO. II

I FIRMLY believe that promoters and high-pressure salesmen are becoming more and more crafty. Shrewder ways are being resorted to in order to trap the novice investor. It is deplorable that the investor does not profit by experience and is victimized a second time in his endeavor to recover that which he has already lost. It is the old, old story of trying to recover, but in the attempt losing. This very hour thousands of hard-earned dollars have slipped from the grasp of the calloused hands that earned them into the clutches of unscrupulous skin-game artists. Tomorrow the scenes of today will be re-enacted with a new and larger list of victims. A month from today depositors will still be pouring an ever increasing volume of their savings into the hopper of unwise investments. A year from today the same tragedy will be re-enacted unless our savings bankers come to the rescue and help to stop this nefarious business of defrauding and swindling our savers of the fruits of their labors.



W. R. Morehouse

Here is a typical case. A group of men undertook to promote a vending or self-serving machine. Their plan called for the sale of $27,000,000 worth of leases in the United States. Similar projects previously started throughout the United States had failed. As a matter of fact, the average daily sale of one of these self-service machines was only $3.10, which in itself made it impossible for a machine to produce sufficient revenue to make it profitable. Servicing the machines was another obstacle which had not been successfully overcome. In three months the promoters were successful in selling over $2,500,000 worth of rights to use these machines.

$40,000 in Savings Lost by One Man

I know of one man who withdrew $40,000 from a savings bank and invested it in this promotion. He told me it represented the accumulations of a lifetime. "And now I have lost it all," he said in a trembling voice. "I haven't a cent left and I am past sixty years of age—too old to work!" he added.

Of the more than $2,500,000 invested by savers, over $1,000,000 was taken by these wiley promoters as commission. Think of making a commission of over $1,000,000 on $2,500,000 of sales in about three months' time! Think of what this more than $1,000,000 of commission represents,—think of the struggles and the sacrifices of the men and women who saved it! With some it was saved penny by penny over a period of years. Think of the sorrow it caused,—the heartaches, the misery and the disappointment which followed in the wake of the collapse of this promotion. Think of the old man who lost $40,000—all he had been able to save during his lifetime. Think of the widow's mite, for she lost it also. All that is left today of the original investment is less than 10 cents on every dollar.

Here is an endless chain scheme which relieved working girls of a portion of their savings. The loss ran into many thousands of dollars. The scheme is to sell silk hose to girls by getting them to act as selling agents. A hosiery company rents offices in the shopping district. Soon an attractive offer is made through the local newspapers by cleverly worded advertisements in which it would appear that any young lady can secure five pairs of hose worth $8 a pair for only $1. In other words, $40 worth of silk stockings for only $1! Without stopping to analyze the proposition or to consider how impossible it is for any concern to stay in business and sell $40 worth of silk hose for $1, thousands of young women instantly fall for the scheme.

How Endless Chain Catches Victims

Here is how it catches its victims. Each victim pays $4 and receives three one dollar coupons which she must sell to her friends, and the friends must come in and pay down $4 each, get three coupons each which they must sell to three friends and then these friends must perpetuate the schema by selling coupons to their friends and so on indefinitely.

Here is where the promoters make a clean-up. One of the conditions which must be met before the young woman who purchased the first coupons receives her $40 worth of hose for $1 is that all three to whom she sold her three coupons must come in, pay down $4 each for three more coupons and then go out and sell them. Before the three have done this, one or perhaps all three get "cold feet" on the proposition and, rather than go out and "soak" three of their friends $1 each, they simply give up the job and charge their loss to experience. But in doing so they also block the girl who purchased the first coupons from completing her contract, and of course she, too, loses the money she invested in the scheme.

At a glance the loss appears to be small, but the truth is the scheme is capable of such great expansion that it soon takes in hundreds and thousands of victims. This is but one of many endless chain schemes in use today in the United States.

(Article III will deal with bond swindles and loan shark plans for robbing people of their savings.)

Davis Indicted

Chas. R. Davis, Sr., warden at Flat Top prison mines until the present investigation, last week was indicted on a charge of first degree murder in the death of James Knox, Flat Top convict. With him were indicted Cecil Houston, pictured as the killer of the prison mines, and three other convicts.

One indictment — that against W. A. Bates, former deputy warden—has already been returned in the death of another convict and it was predicted that there would be other indictments before the final report is returned.

WRANGLING COMES AGAIN IN SENATE

Wet and Dry Fight In That Body Renewed

The battle between the wets and the drys in the senate was renewed Monday with the formal reporting of the administration's new dry law enforcement bill from the judiciary committee.

Chairman Means of the subcommittee which held extended hearings on the prohibition question, declared it was based upon the experience of that department in enforcing the Volstead act.

Coincident with the submission of the committee report, Senator Edge, Republican, a leader of the wets, issued a statement in which he asserted that the new measure was a "direct and unmistakable" admission taht the Volstead act can never be enforced. He added that the proposed amendments to that act indirectly encourage law violation.

Senator Means expects to call up the bill in the near future, but the wets predict that it will not be passed at this session.

While the senate was receiving the administration measure, the house passed and sent to the senate a bill authorizing an appropriation of $9,000,000 to be used in the construction of ten cutters for the coast guard which is charged with controlling liquor smuggling from the sea.

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL DIES IN COMMITTEE

Similar To Dyer Proposal Adverse 9 to 3

By a vote of 9 to 3, the senate judiciary committee has refused to report the McKinley anti-lynching bill, a measure similar to the Dyer bill, as passed by the house several years ago, but died in the senate under the fire of a filibuster by senators from southern states.

Under the terms of the measure, any county in which a lynchnig took place would be required to forfeit $10,000 to the victims estate and any state or county officer who permitted a mob to lynch a prisoner for whom he was responsible would be subject to a penalty of not more than five years in prison or a fine of not more than $5,000 or both.

"COMFORT" CHOSEN INSTEAD OF "OBEY"

Methodists To Cut It From Marriage Ceremony

Memphis, May 17—Methodist wives of the future will not have to obey their husbands if the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, accepts the report of its committee on revisals in the discipline.

The committee recommends that the word obey be stricken from the wedding ceremony as well as the word serve. In its place the committee believes "comfort him" would be more appropriate and would make the vow easier for matrimonial aspirants of the future.

Family Reunion

Sunday, May 23, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. I. M: Deason there was a family reunion at the home of their eldest son, J. B. Deason, near Thorsby in New Salem community. There were present six of I. M. Deason's children all that survive the old couple, and 25 of their grandchildren, and five living ones absent, one in the U. S. navy four others providentially hindered, and one great-grandchild, all to represent the family of I. M. Deason and wife.

All came with well filled baskets of good things to eat, large tables were prepared in the beautiful shady yard and heavily laden, with dinner and wholesome drinks consisting of good water, milk, lemonade, cream and coffee, all served a bountiful feast. There being much left the table was covered and before the parting hour many estimable friends came and later the table was uncovered and all served supper, there being 60 at the table.

Then came the home going and sad parting, not knowing whether all would ever meet on earth again as grandfather and grandmother are in declining health and days of age. But farewell, all, if we never meet again on earth we hope for a better home.

Mrs. Chairty Deason.

News Force Sick.

It has been almost impossible to get out this week's issue of The News on account of illness in the force, both of the editor, who is also make-up and ad man, janitor, etc., and his daughter, Mattie, who has charge of the linotype, and who is yet under the physician's care. Bear with us, friends; we'll try to be running normally as soon as possible.

Six Reasons, Also

Jesse M. Thomas, a Cincinnati advertising man, listed six results of good advertising in a recent address. They state clearly and concisely the benefits of advertising, and are herewith reproduced, says the Birmingham News.

1. Advertising answers questions. It gives the buying public information about the articles which you sell.

2. It guarantees merit. Advertised goods have a standard to live up to.

3. It increases the volume of business through increasing sales.

4. It reduces overhead. As volume of sales rises the amount of overhead, which must be charged to each sale is reduced and in thisway the profit is increased.

5. It instructs users. Proper methods for using article and labor saving hints are a strong point of certain kinds of advertising.

6. It creates good will.

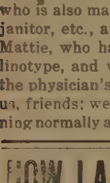
HOW LAND SWINDLERS AND LOAN SHARKS DEFRAUD THEIR PREY

W. R. Morehouse Reveals Further Schemes by Which Poor Widows Are Bereft of Their Savings—Unbelievable Frauds Are Worked on the Uninformed.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE,
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

ARTICLE NO. III

LAND swindles are almost as common as sand on the seashore. Here is one. A widow was left alone in the world with but $6,000. She was urged to take a free ride into the country to look over a new town site. Just a pleasure ride, she was told. No obligation on her part. She accepted the invitation with no intention of parting with her precious $6,000, but she fell among high-pressure salesmen and in an unguarded moment she affixed her signature to a contract to purchase a vacant lot for the $6,000 cash she had in a savings bank.

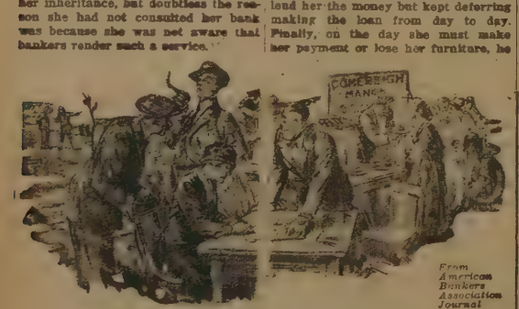


W. R. Morehouse

Thirty days after she drew out her account for what she supposed was a business lot she received a notice that her monthly instalment of $6,000 was due, being a $1,000 payment on each of six $6,000 lots. Strange as it may seem, not until she received this notice did she read the contract she had signed. Instead of buying one $6,000 lot and paying for it, as she meant to do, she had signed a contract to buy six $6,000 business lots and the $6,000 she drew from the bank had been applied as a first payment of $1,000 each on the six lots.

Had she gone to her banker she would have saved herself the loss of her inheritance, but doubtless the reason she had not consulted her bank was because she was not aware that bankers render such a service.

this same shylock for assistance and this is how he handled the case. He led the woman to expect that he would lend her the money but kept deferring making the loan from day to day. Finally, on the day she must make her payment or lose her furniture, he telephoned her to call. It was now too late for her to make any other arrangements for borrowing the funds. The shylock had planned it so that she would be at his mercy and would have to accept his terms. He charged her $650 for a loan of $165!



From American Bankers Association Journal

A Widow Fell Among High Pressure Land Salesmen

Sad is the lot of the savings depositor who, after losing his savings through wild-cat speculation, is driven to desperation for funds and finds it necessary to borrow money to meet an emergency such as sickness or unpaid rent. Let me give the facts about two cases of the many with which I have come in contact.

The Loan Shark at Work

The principal characters in the first case are a man, who must borrow $350 to place his wife in a hospital to save her life, and a loan shark, who demands every ounce of blood. In desperation the borrower applies to this loan shark for the loan of $350.

This is what it costs him—the amount is almost unbelievable but I obtained the exact figures first hand and I can vouch for their correctness—this man was obliged to give his note for $925 for a loan of $250! The day he got the note the shark sold it to an innocent holder and it became an obligation binding upon the borrower. Think of paying $925 for a loan of $350!

Here is another. This time there is a woman in the case. The woman needed $165 to meet a payment on her furniture or lose it. She turned to

How the Shark Does It

Doubtless your curiosity is aroused as to how this shylock can get away with such a deal. Here are the facts. He charged a large commission for making the loan and also included a wide range in fees such as for drawing up papers and notarial fees. On top of this he required the borrowers to buy stock in his company which was worthless. Then he required them to take out through him life insurance to about one hundred times the amount of the loan for which he received a liberal commission. In fact, he resorted to every imaginable scheme in order to bleed them of the last drop of blood they had to give. And the unfortunate thing about it all is that the borrowers in these two cases found it necessary to meet such exorbitant terms because they had already lost their savings through ill-advised investments.

Muscle Shoals

How Properties Will Be Operated In Interest Of

Farmer, Manufacturer and Taxpayer

Under Plan Recommended by Joint Congressional Committee

An investment of $20,000,000 in synthetic ammonia and phosphoric acid plants using the same modern and economical processes now producing more than 300,000 tons annually of nitrogen in Germany, Italy and other European countries, enabling these countries to discontinue importation of Chilean nitrates for fertilizer. The same nitrogen fixation process is now producing over 20,000 tons of nitrogen annually in plants built in this country since 1918. The process is almost as well understood and as standard as the turn-plow. Identified with the Muscle Shoals Fertilizer Company as officers are men who built and operated some of these American plants. The contract is to produce 20,000 tons of nitrogen in fertilizer, within six years, containing 72% plant food, increasing to 30,000 tons and then to 40,000 tons annually as the market demands require. Forty thousand tons of nitrogen in fertilizer is the equivalent of 1,000,000 tons of mixed fertilizer if used in an ordinary (4-8-4) fertilizer brand.

FERTILIZER

Fertilizer sold direct to users at cost of production plus 8%. Its manufacture, methods of selling, territory in which sold, the cost price, and all other details is supervised, determined and safeguarded by a farmer board selected and removed by the Secretary of Agriculture. All power dedicated to fertilizer at cost of production.

Continuous experimentation, research and investigation in cooperation with government and state authorities to develop improved and cheaper methods for predoction of concentrated fertilizer and application to the soil.

Faithful performance of fertilizer obligations guaranteed by Muscle Shoals Power Distributing Company on penalty of forfeiture of entire contract (power and fertilizer) in event the fertilizer company defaults.

POWER

Distribution of surplus power for farm, home and factory through interconnected transmission lines accessible to power plants of 1,420,000 horsepower capacity, enabling sections of several states to secure a reliable source of power which are now dependent on small isolated steam plants, thus affording the South the opportunity for continued industrial growth. Operation of the Muscle Shoals power plants, in conjunction with auxiliary steam and hydro plants in other sections, securing thereby maximum efficiency and utilization for public use so far as is possible of the complete installation of 600,000 horsepower at Muscle Shoals.

Power sold at rates fixed by public authorities within the states where the power is used, thus guaranteeing rates not in excess of a fair return to the local distributing company.

Forty million dollars to be expended on developments and extensions of power plants at Muscle Shoals and for transmission lines, making for greater industrial progress and community growth.

MONETARY RETURN

On the $150,000,000 invested at Muscle Shoals, including $50,000,000 in Wilson Dam, the government will receive $136,300,000, by the end of the lease period and still be in possession of its property, improvements and enhancements. No other piece of war-time property has been sold for anything approaching its cost or utilized for so useful a peace-time service and yet maintained for immediate use in future wars.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

In time of war or other emergency, the entire properties are subject to recall. Muscle Shoals power plants operated in an interconnected power system provides the nation with approximately 2,000,000 horsepower of energy (greatly increased as other power projects in the South are built) available for immediate use either at Muscle Shoals or elsewhere for essential war-time operation. Instead of being dependent upon the flow of one river, power may be transmitted either to the nitrate plants or elsewhere from several streams in different water sheds or from coal, gas and oil fields.

FUTURE EXPENDITURES

Under the proposal not another dollar of the taxpayers' money needs to be expended at Muscle Shoals.

THE FUTURE

The South, developing faster than any other section of the country, will continue to do so as long as it provides the first essential to industrial and agricultural progress,—cheap, reliable power at the point where the manufacturer and the farmer can use it to the best advantage. Divorcing a large source of power from a general system would be productive of ill results, the same as if the use of a navigable section of the Tennessee River were limited to the transportation requirements of one community. Power from a public stream, like its navigation value, increases in efficiency and usefulness as that use extends over the largest possible territory in conjunction with power from other sections.

Muscle Shoals nitrate plants and Muscle Shoals power, used first in the production of cheap fertilizer and second in turning of wheels of industry and lessening the burdens of farm and domestic life achieves its greatest benefit to the greater number of people and at the same time ready to perform its highest function,—national defense.

A NEW ADDITION

The establishment at Muscle Shoals of a $20,000,000 fertilizer concern at once becomes the largest single industrial acquisition in the South in many years, and initiates the tonnage for incoming raw material and outgoing finished product for water transportation to distributing points throughout much of the agricultural sections of the nation.

Young At 60, Or Old At 40? Diet Decides

Women are as old or as young as their state of health. A woman may be young at sixty years or old at forty. It all depends on her physical well-being.

Youth and beauty have a foundation in sound health. And food is easily the most important item in health. In giving consideration to the subjects of diet and beauty, women should not forget the food essentials that make for the preservation of teeth, hair, figure and complexion.

Blame for round shoulders, flat chest and poor teeth among women is due in large measure to faulty diet, or, specifically, to a lack of lime and phosphorus. Milk, or evaporated milk, which is simply cow's milk with 60 per cent of the water taken away, is especially rich in lime.

Because of the concentration of evaporated milk, which is regulated by government standards, it is of double the richness of ordinary market milk, as is shown in the following table:

Ordinary Milk.
Fat	3.5 to 4 per cent
Sugar (lactose)	4.5 to 4.75 per cent
Proteins	3.5 to 4 per cent
Minerals	.7 to .75 per cent
Evaporated Milk.
Fat	7.8 to 8.2 per cent
Sugar (lactose)	9.5 to 10 per cent
Proteins	7.5 to 8.2 per cent
Minerals	1.4 to 1.4 per cent

A quart of milk a day for adults is recommended by doctors not only because of its high mineral content, but for the reasons that it helps keep the digestive tract in proper condition, strengthens the body to resist disease, and gives proper balance to the diet.

Salads also play an important part in the dietary. Some sort of a salad, lettuce, tomato, fresh fruit, cabbage or vegetable, should be eaten at least once a day. Neither is the daily menu complete without a generous quality of coarse, leafy vegetables, valuable for their high vitamin content. Fruit juices also have very beneficial properties.

If a woman follows out the rules of diet, birthdays to her will be nothing more than an excuse for a celebration.

Milk Gives Most Food Value At Least Cost

Milk gives more food value for each cost than any other food known to man, according to Herbert C. Hooks, secretary of the Evaporated Milk association.

H. C. Hooks.

"Dietitians are unanimous in advocating the use of milk by men, women and children," said Mr. Hooks. "Milk and evaporated milk supply some of all the materials necessary for the growth and maintenance of the body; they furnish energy for work, play and warmth.

"Milk helps repair the wear and tear of the body. It is as good as meat for building muscle. Moreover, it is cheaper. A quart of milk will supply as much protein as seven ounces of sirloin steak or four large eggs. Milk, particularly evaporated milk, which has twice the mineral content of market milk, is one of the best and cheapest sources of lime, which is a form of calcium. Infants and growing children need lime to build bones and teeth. It is just as necessary for adults to keep their bones in good condition. One quart of milk, or one pint of evaporated milk, furnishes as much calcium as ten large oranges, thirty-two eggs or twenty pounds of beef. Milk also is a valuable source of phosphorus and supplies a certain amount of iron.

"By some authorities milk is said to be an aid in longevity. Dr. Herman Bundesen, health commissioner for Chicago, gives his prescription for long life as follows: Drink one quart of milk a day and mix with one hour of sunshine. Repeat ad infinitum.

"Due to the efforts of health officials to get across to the public the message of milk, its general use in the United States has advanced tremendously in the last decade. This is especially true of evaporated milk for reasons of its convenience and economy. Housewives know there is no fear of obtaining contaminated evaporated milk, because it is not only the best grade of market milk rendered double-rich by dehydrating, but it is sterilized as well."

Happy Wedlock Sure Thing If Bride Is Cook

By KATHRYN ST. JOHN

Haphazard meals yearly ruin thousands of marriages. Most marital ships would maintain an even keel if brides knew cooking.

Many of the first year's troubles between newlyweds would be avoided if the wife were capable of preparing foods with an experienced hand. Wives are to blame for the failure of many business men in the final analysis. The business man's health depends a great deal on what he eats. And it's up to his wife to see that he gets the right kind of food. A healthfully balanced diet goes a long way toward making the tired business man less fatigued.

The expert home manager sees to it that her husband never comes home to a delicatessen lunch. There is a carefully planned meal waiting for him. The real housewife knows that an unbalanced diet means trouble and avoids it. Likewise, she appreciates the fact that variation in her menus is important. In this connection the following recipes have been selected as an aid to the home manager:

Frozen Salad.

⅓ cup mayonnaise ⅓ cup candied cherries
½ cup diced pineapple ½ cup diced bananas
4 tbsp. pineapple juice 2 tbsp. lemon juice
¼ cup cream ⅓ cup evaporated milk

Mix the fruit and juices. Combine milk and cream, chill and whip; then fold in the fruit and mayonnaise. Pour into a mold and pack in equal parts of salt and ice. Serve on lettuce leaves. This serves eight.

Orange Bavarian.

1 tbsp. gelatin 1-3 cup evaporated milk
¼ cup cold water
1 cup orange juice 1-3 cup whipping cream
2 tbsp. lemon juice
⅛ tsp. salt ⅔ cup sugar

Soak gelatin in cold water, add fruit juices, sugar and salt. Heat in the top of a double boiler until gelatin dissolves. Strain and set in pan of cold water. When mixture begins to set, fold in the evaporated milk and cream which have been beaten stiff.

Banana Ice Cream.

6 very ripe bananas 2 cups evaporated milk
½ cup lemon juice 2 cups cream
1¼ cups sugar ½ tsp. salt

Scrape off adhering fibrous portion on surface of peeled bananas. Mash and rub through a sieve. Add the rest of the ingredients in the order given and stir until all are well blended. Let stand for 20 minutes so that all sugar may dissolve. Freeze in a 1 to 6 salt-ice mixture. This recipe makes ½ gallon cream.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEET HELD AT VERBENA

Good Talks and Big Dinner Enliven Day

The fifth Sunday meeting at Verbena last Sunday was in many respects a grand success. The congregation was called to order by the local pastor, Rev. J. H. Roberts and after song service Rev. E. A. Norris conducted a short devotional service and then the meeting proceeded to organize by electing J. Z. Mims chairman for the day. After the organization the progra mwas taken up and the subjects spoken to as arranged in the program excepting the subject assigned to Rev. J. H. Roberts. We had not kept our eyes on the clock and ignoring the fact that "The wheels of time wait for no man," so by request of Rev. Roberts we postponed his subject and he gave way for the sermon at 11:30.

Dr. S. J. Ezell, having failed to secure a state worker to make the address at this hour, spoke to the text, "The Things that Count Most." I do not believe that I have ever heard a better sermon fall from the lips of man. The Doctor seemed to be beside himself in his delivery and the sermon was so appropriate to the times and the occasion. It was indeed unfortunate that each church in the district did not have a representative present.

At the noon hour there was a bounteous dinner spread under the spreading oak tres by the good ladies of the community and everyone present ate to their appetite's content and there were several baskets of the fragments left.

To the sorow of the meeting there was a marked degree of absentees on the afternoon program, but in spite of this fact we had several real good lectures on the various subjects for the afternoon.

The chairman was especially gratified to see the number of pastors present that there were. The lack of the pastors of the Association to take an interest in he Fifth Sunday Meetings has been a proble mfor the last few years that we hope now will be eliminated in the near future.

Our pastors and churches are now put on notice that if not providentially hindered we will have another meeting of this kind on the Fifth Sunday in August somewhere in the bounds of the Unity Association and each pastor is expected to attend and at least one delegate from each in the association.

At the conclusio nof the program the following resolution was unanimously adopted by the delegates and visitors to the meeting: Resolved that we the delegates do here express our thanks to the Verbena Baptist church and community in general for the gracious hospitality in entertaining the Fifth Sunday meeting of the Unity Baptist Association."

J. Z. Mims, Chairman.

Bud Jones For Sheriff

There are probably few men in Chilton county never having held public office who are betterr known han W. W. Jones—familiarly known as Bud Jones, the "cow man," farmer, devoted husband, loyal friend and all-round clean-cut, patriotic progressive, sober and honest citizen. He is a product of Chilton and while never having offered his services in public capacity, he has ever been faithful to the tenets of Democracy. Of profound demeanor and quiet disposition, he has also adhered to the principle that every man has a God-given right and privilege to the exercise of his own honest convictions. And now he is before the voters of his home county for the office of sheriff.

The popularity of Bud Jones among all classes of people, his honest and fair dealing with his fellowman, his pleasant personality, his cheerful and gratuitous help in any case of distress, his unimpeachable life conduct have served to endear him with all who know him; and with all this—and more—there exists within the heart of Bud Jones that innate sense of duty and justice which allows no compromise with evil or the shady side of any question.

"Really I had no desire to offer myself for the office of sheriff of Chilton," said Mr. Jones to The News man, "or for any other office, as for that matter; but upon the continued insistence of many friends in various sections of the county, I have legally qualified as a candidate. I have no promises to make other than that, if elected, I shall be governed in my official acts by the code of Alabama, and while I appreciate as much as any man the value of true friends, I shall have no 'pets.' To every man a square deal, shall be my motto, and I trust that my friends will support me upon this basis—one of the links in the chain of the golden rule of my past life."

VALUE OF THORSBY BERRY CROP $60,000

Cash Was Paid For All Shipments This Year

Thorsby, May 28—Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers' Association, organized in 1903, has established a reputation as growers of good quality products, properly prepared for market, also for fair and honest dealings with its customers.

The strawberry season just closing, has been preeminently the best in the history of that organization. Upwards of 10,000 crates of 24 quarts each, have been grown, by about 250 members scattered over an area of mor than 75 square miles. Owing to a favorable season and intelligent cultural meth ods learned by experience the crop has been of excellent quality and harvested in fine condition. When brought in they were carefully inspected and honestly graded and marketed.

Buyers were on hand who offered top prices for cash, f. o. b. Thorsby. As soon as the car was loaded the firm to which it was shipped was notfiied by wire regarding the number of crates, the quality or grade of the berries and the price their representative bought them for. A check for the amount was immediately mailed to the association.

There were no consignment shipments and no guessing what the returns would be.

The aggregate of cash returns for the season's crop has been nearly $60,000.

Makes A Mountain Out of Ant Hill

Chairman John A. Rogers of the state highway commission, who made a very interesting and instructive talk to the Chilton county people at the court house here on May 22, needs no defense at our hands for any action, political or therwise, that he might take. But in order to keep the record straight, we consider it only political justice to Mr. Rogers, Judge Reynolds and the Age-Herald itself to offer a few corrections of statements contained in an editorial in that paper a few days ago.

It should be remembered by the reader that the Age-Herald, the Thompson chain paper, has fought Charles McDowell and the proposed authorization of a good roads bond issue so persistently and with such political venom and hatred that the people who read it are wondering if there's not a nigger in the woodpile somewhere; and the editorial referred to has the appearance to us as resembling the act of a drowning man catching at a floating feather for relief.

The Age-Herald makes much of the self-asserted phrase that the speaking was "presided over by the Republican leader of the county," and for this reason "the Democrats of Alabama cannot fail to be somewhat astonished."

As we understood it at the time, and as events proved then and later, the Rogers speaking at Clanton was not a political meeting insofar as the urge of any particular candidate or the espousal of any political doctrine was concerned. It was a highway—a better roadway—meeting, when Mr. Rogers was expected to outline what the highway commission had done and what it intended to do, and Mr. Rogers fulfilled that expectation to the satisfaction of every listener. Political issues were not discussed, and not once did John Rogers in his speech mention the name of Charley McDowell, notwithstanding that the Age-Herald says he did.

The A.-H. said that the Democrats are "astonished" when they find Mr. Rogers "working hand in hand with such a well known Republican leader as Judge L. H. Reynolds," and the meeting was "presided over by the Republican leader." To go back a little, we know that Judge Reynolds had no knowledge whatever of the original invitation which brought Mr. Rogers here. We know also that Judge Reynolds was selected by a Democrat, not to "preside" over the meeting—for there was no "presiding" to be done—but simply to introduce Mr. Rogers to the audience. This he did in a very courteous way, devoid of any political reference, grand-stand play or political bias.

In this connection it might be worth remembering that the same identical "Republican leader" "presided over" and introduced the Age-Herald's most substantial shareholder, Gov. Comer, when the governor was on the war path for the anti-saloon league here a few years ago. But did the A. H. declare then that the Democrats were "astonished" over the governor's act? Not enough that you could tell it.

Surely the esteemd Age-Herald editor's pen backfired on him when he wrote: "Mr. Rogers proposed $75,000,000 bond issue for roads is not before the people of Alabama except indirectly." If that question is not directly before the people of this state, whether they be Democrats, Republicans or members of any other party, we'd like to know what it takes to put an issue before the people.

"Power Companies' Bid Far More Advantageous"

Says Government Advisory Board, in its report to Joint Congressional Committee. Described as better from standpoint fertilizer production, financial return to Government and future investment of people's money. Report published below, together with excerpt from public record, showing why and by whom, board was appointed:

Excerpt From Deneen Report, No. 672, Sixty-Ninth Congress

"Your committee invited the Hon. Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War; the Hon. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior; the Hon. William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, members of the Federal Power Commission—and the Hon. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, to confer with it and requested their aid in securing the services of technical experts and advisers to assist the committee in its work. They suggested the organization of an advisory board and recommended the following persons, who have assisted the committee in its investigations and negotiations:

"1. Brig. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, Assistant Chief of Engineers, United States Army.

"2. Mr. Paul S. Clapp, representative Department of Commerce.

"3. Dr. S. C. Lind, Associate Director Fixed Nitrogen Research Laboratory, Department of Agriculture. (Dr. F. G. Cottrell, director of the Department of Agriculture, was the representative for the Department of Agriculture until he left for Europe on April 16.)

"4. Mr. C. A. Bissell, Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior.

"In addition to the foregoing, the following gentlemen assisted materially in the studies:

"Lieut. Col. George R. Spalding, Corps of Engineers; Maj. Max C. Tyler, Corps of Engineers; Maj. Philip B. Fleming, Corps of Engineers; Mr. F. A. Ernst, Department of Agriculture; Maj. James H. Burns, Ordnance Department, United States Army; Maj. Glen C. Edgerton, Chief Engineer, Federal Power Commission; Dr. P. E. Howard, Ordnance Department, United States Army."

Report of Government Advisory Board

The results of an analysis by the Government Advisory Committee were summarized in the following letter:

April 23, 1926.

Hon. Charles S. Deneen,
Chairman Joint Congressional Committee on Leasing Muscle Shoals, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator Deneen: In accordance with your verbal request, your advisory committee has given consideration to two revised bids, one from the Air Nitrates Corporation and American Cyanamide Company, and the other from the associated power companies.

We have endeavored to make a comparative analysis of these two bids from the following main standpoints:

(a) National defense.
(b) Fertilizer benefits to agriculture.
(c) Distribution of power not required for national defense or in fertilizer manufacture.
(d) Monetary return to the United States.
(e) Additional expenditures required by the United States or other considerations to be given by the United States.
(f) Guaranty of performance.
(g) Situation at end of lease period.

* * * The outstanding points under each head may be summarized as follows:

(a) NATIONAL DEFENSE—Both bidders provide in a satisfactory manner for maintenance of properties in a state of readiness for national defense. The Air Nitrates Corporation until Congress shall decide that this is no longer necessary. The Associated Power Companies until the Secretary of War shall so decide.

(b) FERTILIZER AND BENEFITS TO AGRICULTURE—It appears from this study, so far as the production of fertilizer is concerned that, because of the seemingly better assurance of reaching the 40,000 tons of nitrogen production and through a process of present and apparently future greater possibilities for lessening costs, and also because of the larger invested capital which will in itself be an incentive to keep up production, the proposal of the Associated Power Companies is more advantageous. It is believed, however, that the feature of a discontinuance of production because of a storage of fertilizer containing 5,000 tons of nitrogen would be improved by an amendment requiring one year's production in storage.

(c) DISTRIBUTION OF POWER NOT REQUIRED FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE OR IN FERTILIZER MANUFACTURE—The bid of the Air Nitrates Corporation provides that surplus power will be available to the lessee, the American Cyanamide Company, and/or its subsidiaries for use in their own local industries at Muscle Shoals, for other local industries, and for distribution in Alabama and other States. The Power Company bid provides for distribution of surplus power through a system of transmission lines already constructed and in operation covering a large territory in Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, South Carolina, and North Carolina. These lines are tied in with auxiliary plants operated by interconnected companies. This gives opportunity for fullest utilization of surplus power, both primary and secondary, and from this standpoint the Power Company's bid carries out more fully the spirit of the congressional resolution.

(d) * * * The installation of Dams Nos. 2 and 3, and, in the case of the Power Company's bid, the steam plant, return to the United States under the two bids will be as follows:

MONETARY RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES:

(Note: The Power Companies' offer in this respect was amended after this report was compiled. The revised figures follow):

Rental Payments on Properties as They Stand Without Obligation of United States to Expend Further Sums

Air Nitrates Corporation

Dam No. 2	$ 75,569,000
Annual Average	1,510,000
Headwater Improvements	None
Total	$75,569,000
Annual Average	1,510,000

Associated Power Companies

Dam No. 2	$88,200,000
Annual Average	1,766,000
Headwater Improvements	48,000,000
Total	$136,200,000
Annual Average	2,718,000

If United States Builds Dam No. 3, the Net Return Will Be

Air Nitrates Corporation

For Dams Nos. 2 and 3	$ 95,739,000
Annual Average	1,914,780

Associated Power Companies

For Dams Nos. 2 and 3	$131,348,000
Annual Average	2,626,960

These estimates indicate that financially, i. e., looked at from the standpoint of the United States and its taxpayers, the Power Company's bid is far superior.

(e) ADDITIONAL CAPITAL INVESTMENT REQUIRED OF THE UNITED STATES BY BIDDERS—Air nitrates bid requires additional capital investment by the Government of $39,360,000, while the Power Company requires no additional appropriation by the Government. * * *

The air nitrates bid sets up as a prerequisite the granting to a subsidiary of the bidder by the Federal Power Commission, of preliminary permits for the Cove Creek, Cenator, Melton Hill and Clinton Dams, all on Clinch River, and issuance by the commission of licenses therefor if desired by the company. The Power Companies' bid requires no permits or licenses. * * *

The Power Companies' bid, in that it does not further complicate the situation by requiring further additional appropriations and further license commitments, is the more advantageous offer.

(f) GUARANTEES OF PERFORMANCE—The American Cyanamide Company definitely guarantees the performance of the obligations of the Air Nitrate Corporation. The Associated Power Companies do not appear to provide a definite guarantee on the part of the distributing company for the performance of the fertilizer company, beyond the provision of capital, and the ownership of the common stock. In this particular the Cyanamide Company is better.

(Note. Subsequent to this letter the Power Companies' offer was amended to provide for a forfeiture of both power and fertilizer contracts if the fertilizer company defaulted in its contract.)

(g) CONDITIONS AT END OF LEASE PERIOD—Both bidders provide for recapture by the United States of additional generating units and/or other power facilities built by lessee at own expense, and both bidders abandon to the United States all buildings and equipment built on leased property by and at the expense of lessee for manufacture of fertilizers.

Air Nitrates Corporation reserves right to remove within reasonable time all buildings and equipment built by it for other purposes. Both bids are satisfactory in this respect.

Inasmuch as both bids are satisfactory from the standpoint of national defense, and the Associated Power Companies' bid is so much better from the standpoints of fertilizer performance, financial return to the United States, and freedom from complications incident to additional appropriations, in the opinion of your committee, the Power Companies' bid is far more advantageous.

Respectfully submitted,
EDGAR JADWIN,
Assistant Chief of Engineers (War).
PAUL S. CLAPP (Commerce).
S. C. LIND (Agriculture).
C. A. BISSELL (Interior).

TRAVEL
is the Great Broadening and Educating Influence

Plan this summer to see a different part of the world from that in which you live. See some of the great God-made, as well as man-made, wonders of the universe.

Different climate, different environment, different people—these are the things that make a vacation trip beneficial, from the standpoints of health, of pleasure and of mental stimulation.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad is the great vacation line, affording excellent through service to the mountains, lakes, seashore, inland watering places, big cities and points of general interest. Ask any L. & N. Passenger Agent to help you plan your vacation trip.

Each year more people are traveling greater distances on American railroads. During 1921 the average ride of each passenger on this Railroad was but 45 miles, whereas during 1925 the average ride was 68 miles.

This Railroad carried 16,861,000 passengers during last year.

Thos. E. Kilby

There are 11 lawyers in Congress from Alabama,—not one business man. Ex-Governor Kilby is the only business man running for the United States Senate versed in state affairs, with legislative and executive experience. He knows your needs. He increased appropriations for farm demonstration work from $40,000 to $162,500 per year. He inaugurated the good roads movement. He built 587 rural school houses. He increased the annual apportionment to common schools from $2.86 to $4.59 per child for 800,000 children. He is leading the fight for the manufacture of fertilizers at Muscle Shoals, opposing the power company monopoly with all his might and favoring Henry Ford. He is a prohibitionist true and tried. He has a record of performance. Compare it with the record of others. The farmers of Alabama need one such business man at Washington.

One Ford automobile 1924 model, respondent.

In the Circuit court of Chilton County Alabama.

In Equity.

The bill of complaint of the state of Alabama, on the relation of G. C. Walker, as deputy solicitor of Chilton county, Alabama, against one Ford automobile, being exhibited to me, and it appearing therefrom that on the 22nd, day of March, 1926, one Albert Thomas did transport in one Ford automobile, 1924 model, certain prohibited liquors and beverages, from one point in the state of Alabama to another, and that said automobile was on said day seized by the sheriff of said county and said bill of complaint praying that said automobile be declared forfeited to the state of Alabama, and for an order of condemnation and sale thereof.

It is therefore ordered and decreed that notice of the filing of said bill of complaint be given for three successive weeks in the Chilton County News, a newspaper published in the town of Clanton, Chilton county Alabama, and that all persons claiming or asserting any right title or interest in said automobile be required to appear and assert such claim by the 15th day of June, 1926, and that failing so to do the said right, title or interest will be forever barred.

Given under my hand, this the 25th day of April, 1926.

GULF NO-NOX MOTOR FUEL STOPS KNOCKS

Turns Mountains into Mole hills

FOR many years mechanical engineers struggled to build automobile engines of higher compression. As compression is increased the power line goes up and the fuel consumption line goes down—ordinary gasolines would not withstand this higher compression without knocks, clicks, or detonations—accumulated carbon deposits increased this compression by decreasing the size of the combustion chamber—and the audible sounds of the engine distress grew louder.

It has been our good fortune to produce a gasoline that positively eliminates clicks, pings, and knocks.

Gulf No-Nox and Carbon are Power Twins

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel withstands compression to a high degree; carbon, increasing the compression of the engine, ceases to be a nightmare as long as it does not interfere with valve action. In other words, it puts carbon to work. More power and greater efficiency is thereby accomplished, resulting in greater mileage.

With GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel in your tank—step on it—you will get the story better than we can tell it.

This Guarantee goes with it

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—that it positively will not heat the motor summer or winter.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

VOLUMN 5 — CLANTON ALA., FRIDAY JUNE 11, 1926 — NO. 38

Land Tax Would Not Be Subject To Proposed 75 Million Bond Issue

For the information of readers of The News we publish herewith a list of questions and answers by E. F. Allison concerning the proposed seventy-five million dollar bond issue:

1. In what way does the proposed $75,000,000 bond is sue differ fro mthe usual bond issue?

A. On a usual bond issue, interest is paid for the length of time the bond is to run. For instance, a bond issue to be payable in thirty years carries interest each year for thirty years and then the amount owed is as much as it was when the debt was made. The $75,000,000 bonds proposed for highways and bridges differ from these bonds in this way: A part of the principal of the bond, as well as the interest, is paid each year, so if a bond is issued to run for 20 years, at the end of the 20 years there is no balance due on this bond. It is paid, both principal and interest. These kind of bonds are known as amortization bonds. The word amortize means to kill off slowly. When applied to a bond, it means that the bond is paid off, principal and interest, from year to year, so that the final payment discharges the debt in full.

2. What amount of bonds could be sold on the present consumption of gasoline?

A. In 1925, the 2-cent tax on gasoline which goes to the counties, brought in over two millions of dollars. This amount of annual revenue would take care of about fifty-seven million dollars of 4 per cent thirty year bonds The state is paying only 4 per cent interest on its highway bonds.

3. How long would it require to retire these bonds fro mthe revenue derived from the proposed 3-cnt gasoline tax?

A. These bonds could be retired in about 25 years.

4. What per cent of the proceeds of these bonds as sold would go to the actual contsruction of roads?

A. Every dollar of the bonds sold would go in the construction of roads.

5. How could the expenses of the highway department be paid, other than actual cost of coustruction?

A. The expenses of the highway department can and will be paid in the future just as they have been paid in the past and are now being paid; out of the license tax for tags on cars and trucks.

6. From what funds have the expenses of the state highway department been paid during the expenditure of the existing twenty-five million dollar bond issue?

A. The expenses of the highway department have been paid out of the license tag tax which the owners of cars or trucks pay for the privilege of running his vehicle.

7. After paying this expense, what becomes of the balance of the fund from which said expenses are paid?

A. First, there is set aside from this fund money to pay the interest on the bonds sold and to set up a sinking fund to retire them. The first bonds of the twenty-five million were sold on the 20th of July, 1922 and out of the license tag $2,200,000.-00 of these bonds have been already paid off. The balance of this money is used to maintain the roads built by the state free of expense to the counties. In 1925 the highway department expended for the maintenance of the highways already built by the state and the federal government, $500,786.80. Th Federal government does not help the state maintain highways.

8. What is the present income of the sale of automobile license tags?

A. From October 1, 1924, to October 1, 1925, the state fiscal year, the amount paid for license tags tax was $1,-945,959.99. For the first six months of the state fiscal year beginning October 1, and running to March 1, 1926, the state has collected in license tags $2,058,055.09. This is onl y80 per cent of the license tags tax as 20 per cent of this tax stays in the counties where the cars are owned.

9. How many more miles per gallon will the average car run on good roads than on poor roads?

A. A car will go at least twice as far on a gallon of gasoline over a good road as it will go over an ordinary common road. Experiments conducted by several states show that a car will go more than twice as far on a good road than it will over a common road, but i tis safe to say that it will go at least twice as far.

10. Do you believe it to be a fact that the three cent per gallon on gasoline will not only pay the interest on and retire the bonds, but will at the same time give the automobile owner who pays the tax, enough additional miles per gallon and added life of his car to really reimburse him with a substantial dividend besides?

A. I don't believe this to be a fact, but I know it to be a fact as attested by experienced users of cars the world over. Anyone can prove this statement to his own satisfaction by driving the same distance over a state highway as he does over the average country road and then measuring the amount of gasoline used on these trips. As to the added life of the car, it is safe to say that a car will last at least three times as long when used only on an improved highway than it will if used on the cross-country roads.

11. Who would actually pay for the retirement of these bonds?

A. Those who use automobiles and trucks on the road and only those who use these automobiles and trucks. These bonds do not effect the man who drives a wagon or buggy or rides horse back or walks on the road in any way; but the man who drives a motor vehicle over these highways, whether he lives in Alabama or some other state would pay for these highways. He would pay, however, for only as much of the highway as he used. If he don't drive but ten miles in one year, he would only pay for the use of ten miles of road.

12. What has been the increase in the revenue derived from the presnt 2-cent gasoline tax since it has been levied?

A. The 2-cent gasoline tax went into effect in March, 1922. It was operative for that year for ten ten months. The amount collected from this tax in 1923 was $751,958.63. This gasoline tax goes to the counties. The counties for the ten months of 1923 each received $11,223.26. In 1924 each county received from this source $25,081.02. In 1925 each of the 67 countties received $31,838.74. This is an increase from 1923 to 1925 of over 200 per cent.

13. Do you consider that this increase in revenue has been brought about by the improved condition of state roads?

A. To what other cause can it be attributed? The country has been prosperous and for that reason there would be more gasoline used whether the roads had been improved or not, but the greater amount of this increase in the use of gasoline as every intelligent man will admit is due to the buildin gof more highways. As soon as a state builds a road, the people who live in that section formerly forced to use horse drawn vehicles substitue for these horse drawn vehicles, automobiles and trucks.

14. Do you propose to pay interest on the bonds and retire them out of the revenue derived from the 3-cnt per gallon gasoline tax on gasoline only?

A. Yes, it is to be written in the constitution, section 6, to secure the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest on highway bonds, the state shall legally levy a tax on gasoline, a substitute for gasoline or on any device used to propel motor vehicles, but never in excess of 3 cents per gallon on gasoliue.

15. Could the state levy a tax on any other property to meet its obligations of interest and sinking fund in the event the proposed 3-cent gasoline tax was insufficient?

A. The 7th provision of the amendment reads: "None of these bonds shall ever be sold unless the income to the state from a tax on gasoline a substitute on gasoline or on any device used to propel motor vehicles is sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds sold and set up a sinking fund to retire them when due." With this provision the money would have to be in the treasury to take care of whatever bonds are sold before they could be sold.

16. After fixing 3 cents per gallon on gasoline to pay interest and retire these bonds, could the state levy a greater amount?

A. No, no greater amount on gasoline could ever be levied than the amount that is fixed in the constitution. To levy a greater amount would require a vote by the people of the whole state giving th state the right to do so.

17. Need the tax payer have any fear of having his assessment raised on tangible property in order for the state to be able to pay interest on and retire these bonds?

A. None whatever.

18. This seems very much like a pay as you go plan.

A. Yes, it is a pay as you go plan for those who ride the roads must buy the gasoline before they can drive a car. The plan proposed does away with the objections to the usual way of issuing bonds, as well as the attempt to pay as you go which would bring about a raise of at least 150 per cent on present ta xes and combines all of the advantages of both a bond issue and pay as you go plan. The method is very simple. The state uses its annual income, which is brought about by a three cent gasoline tax and can then borrow a big amount of money at a low rate of interest with which to build its roads and highways. By this method and this alone can the present generation hope to enjoy good roads. All of the other methods suggested means that men and women of middle age will be dead long before Alabama has a system of improved highways.

T. M. Barnett

Funeral services for Thos. M. Barnett, 72-year-old planter of Mitchell Station, who died at the home of his son-in-law, J. H. Gulledge, at Verbena, Thursday morning, will be held at Greenwood cemetery on the arrival of the 10:30 L. & N. accommodation train in Montgomery.

Mr. Barnett was a prominent planter of Mitchell Station, a native of Montgomery county and a member of the Methodist church.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. H. Gulledge, of Verbena, one son, Dr. T. M. Barnett, of Atlanta, and one sister, Mrs. S. F. Surratte, of Montgomery.

OVER TWO MILLION FOR ADVERTISING

And Like It So Well Will Increase Amount

Boston.— Declaring that the newspaper is the best advertising medium for the sale of automobiles that has yet been discovered, Paul G. Hoffman, vice president of the Studebaker Corporation of America, in addressing 300 New England salesmen of the company at a luncheon here recently, urged dealers to advertise librally in order to increase their sales.

He declared that the Studebaker company last year spent $2,000,000 in newspaper advertising, and that the 1926 advertising campaign would be even greater. He said advertising would create a grater market and therefore greater profits. He warned against using occasional copy saying continuous copy is the only kind that is worth while as the cumulative effect of consistency will bear fruit next year and the year after.

CHILTON CONVICT IS RECAPTURED

Robert Wilson Had Escaped From Kilby

Montgomery, June 1.— Recapture in Atlanta of Robert Wilson, one of three Alabama convicts who made a daring escape over the walls at Kilby prison, Sept. 7, 1925, was reported Thursday to Roy L. Nolen, associate member of the state board of administration. Wilson was convicted in Chilton county, April 3, 1925, of grand larceny, and sentenced to prison for four years.

Ernest Powell, who escaped at the same time was arrested in Birmingham a few days after his get-away.

George Angelo, the third man, was arrested in New York several months ago of burglary.

BURIED FORTUNE IS FOUND AT DEMOPOLIS

$200,000 In Gold, Buried In War Time, Dug Up

Demopolis, May 31—Buried gold of civil war days valued according to curent estimates as high as $200,000 has been unearthed near Jefferson, 18 miles from here, by Gayus Whitfield, of Middlesboro, Ky., with the aid of an ancient map found among papers of his father, C Boaz Whitfield, Alabama pioneer.

Discovery of the gold was confirmed here today, but the exact amount has not been made public.

Boaz Whitfield was one of the richest of Alabama's pre-war citizens. Three brothers were also wealthy. They were sons of General Nathan B. Whitfield, builder of the famous "Gainswood" show place in this part of the state.

Thirty-five negroes worked in relays to unearth the hidden treasure. Guided by the old map the money was found in an old powder can which crumpled at touch.

ALEXANDER CITY TO GET NEW FACTORIES

Coffin Factory and Battery Industry Start Up

Alex. City, June 1.— Alexander City is the home of a new industry. The Motors Supply Co. is now manufacturing batteries in their shop here and the battery is meeting with a harty response by the motoring public.

M. S. C. is the name of the new battery and is made in two different types. An 11 plate and 13 plate, the 11 plate and battery has 100 amperes and the 13 plate battery 120 amperes.

With the help of local capital, a coffin factory has been organized in Alexander City, and work has already started on building the factory.

It will be located just outside the city limits on the highway and will give employment to a large number of workmen, some of whom will be skilled workmen, drawing fancy wages.

LIFE FOR MURDER OF HIS BROTHER

Secured Confession Of His Wife 's Infidelity

Louisville June 3— Arthiur Bowles, 36 of Blossburg, Ala. was to begin the first day of his lifetime sentence in the state penitentiary here Friday following his conviction of murdering his brother, Jesse Bowles, May 9.

Bowles, who plead guilty without a show of emotion, killed his brother in the victim's grocery store at Oklona, He told officers, following the shooting, that he had obtained a written confession from his wife admitting improper relations with his brother.

When Kein's brother refused to sign the confession so that he could secure a divorce, Bowles declared he shot him. Bowles' wife and daughter were in court when the sentence was passed.

Take Summer Course

Misses Hixie Mae and Liller Belle Golden of Walnut Creek and Jewel and Pearl Minor of Clanton, left Monday for Alabama college at Montevallo where they will take a course in training for teaching.

These are studious young ladies of noble character and high ideals. We wish for them much success as they prepare themselves for lifework.

The Business Man

Of the 12 members of congress from Alabama 11 are lawyers,—not one business man. Former Governor Kilby is the only business man in the race with experience in legislation. He knows the needs of Alabama. Send him to the United States Senate. (Paid political ad. by Kilby Club Anniston.)

Withdrawal Notice

I hereby withdraw from the race for nomination for Tax Collector of Chilton county, in the coming primary. D. M. Martin.

Are Both Right? Or Wrong?

Probably it means "wasted sweetness on the desert air," but those who know him will doubtless heave a little sigh of sympathy for Ex-Governor Comer in the matter of the Age-Herald's support of a candidate for governor opposed to Mr. Comer's choice. For, as the old gentleman says, the Comer family owns the Age-Herald, half the stock in the paper and about an equal share in the Montgomery Journal, both edited by Fred I. Thompson. Regardless, the two papers are fighting the candidate selected by the ex-governor sometime ago, and Mr. Comer says he "truly regrets that Mr. Thompson could not bring the Age-Hearld to see it just that way." No doubt Governor; no doubt.

But the most puzzling question to Mr. Comer's friends over the state about the matter, several of whom we have heard express themselves, is, what ever possesser a man of Gov. Comer's business and executive ability, his usually clear and distinct qualities of foresightedness to allow himself to be drawn into a contract by or through which he should put up the money—furnish the artillery—for the destruction of his own political craft or that launched by his friends?

There's no grounds for saying it's a personal matter and has only to do with two friends or business associates. It won't work, because, on the one hand the Age-Herald modestly(?) acclaims its great and influential destiny in Alabama journalism as the unbridled, unhaltered and unharnessed champeen of the dear peepul's rights and privileges, by heck: and on the other it must be admitted that Gov. Comer yet retains a big following of friends over the state who look to his leadership to blaze the trail for their political course.

So, is Mr. Comer right in his support of Mr. Carmichael? Or the Age-Herald wrong in its support of Mr. Patterson? Untangle it yourself. The Montgomery Advertiser suggests that Messrs. Comer and Thompson get on the huskings and debate the merits of their respective candidates to a frazzle. Here's another—which no doubt will go the way of the Advertiser's suggestion. Let Mr. Comer and Mr. Thompson "Jeff" for editorial supremacy of the Age-Herald; five throws each, winner of the greatest number of nicks to be given unmolested future control of the paper's editorial page, and loser to support winner's candidate.

Verily, "politics do make strange bedfellows;" and it could be imagined as a possibility that Gov. Comer may feel as if he had acquired a flock of fleas in his journalistic experiment.

Black For Senator

In your state there are five candidates for United States senate. Of this number, three are millionaires. One had an illustrious father, another had a gubernatorial career, the third millionaire has the title of "A man of many campaigns," another candidate had a "near-gubernatorial" career, and still another, Hugo L. Black, of Birmingham, is running on his own merit.

This race is very extraordinary, in fact, one of the most unusual office-seeking campaigns ever held in Alabama. Hugo Black is one of the most unique campaigners, having no expensive newspaper advertising, and no so-called personal letters mailed to every voter in the state, as most candidates do. A letter to every voter in the state costs more than any candidate is allowed by law to spend for his entire campaign. Mr. Black is merely seeing and talking to the people, bringing his views "home" to them. His numerous friends are doing the same. The best man for an office is seidom so strongly supported by public opinion as Hugo Black is in Alabama.

Hugo Black's strength and popuplarity is growing by leaps and bounds, because the people realize that he stands for their real interests and has the ability to uphold the ideals of the state of Alabama fearlessly and courageously.

Are we to judge a man's worth and ability by his numerous public offices? Some of our greatest statesmen held few, if any public office, before being called upon to represent their people in the halls of congress. A man often plays to the crowd and politicians become sport in that game.

This country needs in the United States senate, a clean and fearless man to fill Senator Underwood's place. We need a man whose life holds no shadows where ghosts of drunkness and immorality may lurk to weaken his influence. We need a man who has always obeyed the law; a man far above the temptations of that great money-power whose tentacles reach out and destroy. We need a man whose hardships and self-denial have fitted him mto understand the masses of the people in whose cause he has been working for so many years.

We quote Mr. Black as follows:

"I am in favor of the following:"

Reduction of tariffs and taxes where possible.

Abolition of useless offices and bureaus.

Continuance of federal aid to good roads.

Advancing the interests of the free American public schools.

Full development of rural delivery.

Closing the gates to further immigration until we can Americanize those already here.

Development of the Port of Mobile and Alabama waterways.

The passage of laws to assure people that no American soldier shall die a pauper's death, nor receive a pauper's funeral.

Payment of debts of foreign nations to the United States on the same basis that honesty demands—which is —in full.

Voters! don your thinking caps, and rally to the support of Hugo Black, a deep student of the needs of the people, an able lawyer, a man of broad vision and faith endowed with superior talents, who will use his ability in service to all the people all of the time.—Leeds Enterprise.

NOTICE

Of Filing Bill of Complaint by the State of Alabama, Complainant.

Vs

One Ford automobile 1924 model, respondent.
In the Circuit court of Chilton County Alabama.
In Equity.

The bill of complaint of the state of Alabama, on the relation of G. C. Walker, as deputy solicitor of Chilton county, Alabama, against one Ford automobile, being exhibited to me, and it appearing therefrom that on the 22nd, day of March, 1926, one Albert Thomas did transport in one Ford automobile, 1924 model, certain prohibited liquors and beverages, from one point in the state of Alabama to another, and that said automobile was on said day seized by the sheriff of said county and said bill of complaint praying that said automobile be declared forfeited to the state of Alabama, and for an order of condemnation and sale thereof.

It is therefore ordered and decreed that notice of the filing of said bill of complaint be given for three successive weeks in the Chilton County News, a newspaper published in the town of Clanton, Chilton county Alabama, and that all persons claiming or asserting any right title or interest in said automobile be required to appear and assert such claim by the 15th day of June, 1926, and that failing so to do the said right, title or interest will be forever barred.

Given under my hand, this the 25th day of April, 1926.

GULF NO-NOX MOTOR FUEL

STOPS KNOCKS

Turns Mountains into Mole hills

FOR years the carbon knocks, clicks, pings or detonation in automobile engines have been a menace to motor efficiency and a sore spot to the motorist. GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel has turned the old time carbon bugaboo into an asset, in fact it has put carbon to work.

No-Nox and Carbon are Power Twins

Compression is power—Carbon adds compression—No-Nox withstands compression and the combination gives wonderful motor efficiency.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel not only withstands the high compression of the modern automobile engine—but also the added higher compression caused by carbon deposits on the walls and piston head which increases with the age of the car;—clicks and knocks are eliminated—greater efficiency is accomplished—followed by more power and greater mileage.

This Guarantee goes with it

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—and will not heat in summer driving.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

For Tax Assessor

In our announcement column this week will be found the card of M. C. Broadhead, a well and favorably known citizen of Clanton and candidate for tax assessor.

Mr. Broadhead is a "product of the soil," having been reared on the farm, and through systematic saving and clear judgment he entered and has made a success of the mercantile business, in which effort he has been engaged for the past 26 years.

Having dealings with his fellowman throughout the time referred to, often with others of less patience, less sympathy and less of a brotherly spirit, Mr. Broadhead has established an enviable reputation for fairness honesty of purpose, always exemplifying the spirit of live and let live to such an extent as to win the friendship of all with whom he comes in contact.

Always faithful to Democratic principles, never having asked for public office before, a real good and capable man, The News respectfully asks the consideration of the voters in his behalf.

VOLUMN 5 | CLANTON ALA., FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1926 | NO. 39

MADE $700 PER ACRE —BUT NOT ON COTTON

Mr. Headley Not Operating Boll Weevil Hotel

The strawberry season just closed in this section has been a very successful one from both a financial standpoint and that of the quality of the berries produced. The News has no figures as to the acreage in cultivation this year, but we understand the local crop was considerably larger than that of any former season. An item in these columns recently from Thorsby stated the crop there this year sold for $60,000.

E. H. Headley, one of the progressive citizens out on Route 8, who has swapped his cotton acreage for straberry acreage, was in to renew his subscription to The News several days ago, and brought to town a load of as finely flavored berries as we ever tasted. Not only were they of an exceptionally fine flavor, but bore an equal record in size—great big, red luscious specimens that would bring the water to a wooden Indian's mouth. It was noticeable to The News man, too, that the berries produced here are free from the sharp, ultra-acid taste so common in many berries, but instead leave nothing to be desired in sweet relish.

Mr. Headley stated to The News man that he had about two acres in strawberry cultivation this year, and that his receipts would amount to approximately $1,400.

The boll weevil "never touched" Mr. Headley.

LUCK IS FAILING FOR MR. COOLIDGE

Defeat For His Third Term Aspirations Loom

Leo Stack, Washington political correspondent, says: Coolidge's luck has deserted him.

The next Republican national convention instead of being a ratification meeting as was the Cleveland convention of 1924 may witness an old fashioned free for all fight for the presidental nomination.

If the Coolidge tide of reverses continue to run as strong for the remainder of the summer as it has the past few weeks President Coolidge will not even be able to designate his successor, much less win for himself a third term.

These are some of the outstanding impressions in political Washington of the sweeping victory in Iowa Monday of former Senator Smith W. Brookhart.

It has stunned administration well-wishers, even the most ardent Coolidge admirers are pausing to take stock.

Republican senators, collectively, are a gloomy lot. In quick succession they have seen their ranks thinned by the elimination of McKinley of Illinois; Pepper, of Pennsylvania; Stanfield of Iowa, one of the patriarchs of the senate.

While the administration champions have gone down to defeat, one by one, senators have observed that the wily James E. Watson, of Indiana, got himself a renomination because he refused to cling to the presidential vine. Watson literally repudiated Coolidge in Indiana.

The Iowa returns are regarded as proof that the rural west has turned against the president.

It is virtually two years before the next Republican presidential candidate will be nominated, but if Coolidge reverses continue thruout the summer and Democrats are successful in November elections, Washington will not be at all surprised to see several presidential candidacies formally launched before Christmas.

NEGRO GUEST OF COOLIDGE JEERED

Haitien Negro and Wife Lunch With President

Washington, June 15. — Louise Borno, negro, president of Haiti, with his wife were invited to the White House Tuesday to be luncheon guests of President Coolidge.

The Haitien executive found a more friendly attitude here than he did on his arrival in New York, where he was greeted with jeers whn he landed.

Official courtesies accorded to foreign visitors holding offices such as his are being accorded. His entertainment program was arranged by the state department and plans were made to avoid anything which might be construed as a slight such as the delay in the firing of the salute of 21 guns due the head of a nation in New York harbor.

STRONG MAN ENTERS UNCLE SAM'S ARMY

Just Think What He'd Do As A Biter

Montgomery, June 4.—Holding the fort should be easy for this new soldier.

He is Charles A. Miller and he claims to be the strongest man in the world and has just enlisted at Montgomery for three year's service.

Among his accomplishments he numbers biting nails in two, holding up a platform with 26 people on it, pulling 10,000 pounds with his teeth as well as letting a touring car roll over his chest for pastime.

He lets anyone break a 200-lb. rock on his chest with a sledge hammer, also.

FREE MAIL SERVICE NOW FOR WETUMPKA

A news dispatch from Wetumpka says: Notice has just been received by the postmaster that the post-office department at Washingon has authorized the installation of free delivery service within the city limits of Wetumpka.

The free delivery is announced as effective August 1. The news of this improvement in mail service is received in Wetumpka with much gratification.

DAD'S DAY

Sunday next is Father's Day, and the local Methodist church has arranged a very interesting program for Clanton people and vistors.

The News feels that the appointment of one day in the year in which we can "remember Dad" is a beautiful and appropriate custom. In hurry and scramble and chase after commercial interests—the Dollar, in other words—we only too often neglect many of the little amenities due poor old, plugging Dad which, if rendered him during life instead of banking his silent tomb with flowers when he shall know nothing of it, would go far toward making his life happier, not only, but would create within ourselves a really closer relationship with the Great Father of all.

Many of the Dads who will be with their loved ones Sunday next will not be with them upon the same occasion one year hence. Granting that Dad is with you now, how would you feel to have the absolute knowledge that yours would "cross over the river" before another Dad's day arrives?

The day in your life will probably come when your reflections will impress you that the most you ever did for Dad's comfort or welfare will appear very little. Make his heart glad today, at any sacrifice to yourself. And whether your attentions are kind or unkind, Dad will be the first to see and feel it.

If You Feel Discouraged This Should Help You

Many local people know Paul Oden, the Maplesville boy, handicapped from birth by blindness, but few know of the attainments he has scored in the recent years of study for the ministry. With pleasure The News reproduces the following "feature" article concerning this worthy young man as it appeared in Monday's Birmingham Post:

Paul Oden today held the degree of bachelor of arts from Howard college.

He was graduated with two honors—the Pi Kappa Tau honorary fraternity and the prize for the highest grades in Greek.

Not remarkable?

Wait a minute. Paul Oden has been blind from birth.

Oden is one of the most remarkable men in Birmingham and has overcome handi caps that would have paralyzed a less courageous man. In four years he has completed the regular prescribed course at Howard for an arts degree and done it with the highest honors.

To "make" Pi Kappa Tau the student must get a majority of "A's" thruout his four years and never less than "B."

Oden is from Maplesville and plans to go into evangelistic work now that he has graduated.

The man has achieved what he has done by tremend ous work. Not only did he have to learn as ordinary students do, but he was forced to write his own text books as companions read from the original.

He did this by printing the books in Braille, raised type. He has a metal punch and an awl with parchment books.

His mind is the marvel of the college. As an example it is pointed out that last summer he borrowed a Greek grammar in Braille and made a copy for himself. During the summer he learned the Greek alphabet and in the fall immediately began reading the Gospel of John and Xenophon's "Retreat of the 10,000."

Oden is a cheery figure. He is very small, with brown hair and a pleasant voice. He laughs frequently and is usually singing to himself when alone.

He goes about the campus and East lake as rapidly and as confidently as a person with eyes.

"I do it by hearing," he explains. "I can't explain it to you, but I know, for instance, where the first step of the stairs is and I know when there is something in the way. I ca nhear it.

"Downtown is quite simple. I judge my movements by those of people around me. I can hear them going and coming and I know whether the light is red or green. I can hear it."

Oden speaks of "seeing" just as would a normal person.

"I remember seeing you," he told the reporter, and cited a college companionship in proof.

Poor Old John Bull

A London dispatch says that 420 Lancashire mills employing approximately 100,000 workers engaged in spinning American cotton closed Tuesday as a result of the coal shortage and general depression.

Seventy-five per cent of the mills spinning Egyptian cotton will close during the week, many not opening again even if the coal strike ends soon.

Mrs. Jones Entertains

Quite a pretty affair was the reception given by Mrs. Hugh Jones Monday afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Minnie MerlePinckard.

The Jones home was made redolent for the occasion by the artistic arrangement of many cut flowers against a background of many handsome potted specimens.

The honoree of the occasion, together with others who are visiting friends in Clanton stood with the hostess in a receiving line.

Delightful fruit punch was served the guests upon their arrival, followed by other tempting refreshments.

ALEXANDER CITY IS TO PAVE ITS STREETS

Work Costing $100,000 To Begin At Early Date

Alexander City, June 11. —Alexander City is about to embark on a huge paving project, action of the city council this week making this possible.

The mayor and council have decided to put before the citizens a proposition to pave with concrete or other suitable material approximately 15 strets and avenues of the city, work to start at an early date.

The amount involved in this project is well over $100,000 and an ordinance authorizing the work was passed at a regular meeting Tuesday night.

The specifications on file in the office of the city clerk call for a six inch base of concrete and to come up to certain other specifications.

REFORMERS WRECKING LIBERTY OF NATION

Can't Legislate Man Into Going To Church

Reformers with their Sunday blue laws are wrecking the foundations of civil liberty, Seventh Day Adventists in convention at Milwaukee were told by W. F. Martin, church leader from Glendale, Calif.

"A man can't be legislated to church by taking away his golf sticks, his movies, his baseball, other amusements or his business," Mr. Martin declared.

Mr. Martin asserted that one of the principal reasons for church attendance falling off is the activities of the "narrow minded and puritanical reformers."

RECORD FOR SPEED MADE IN AUTAUGA

Prattville. June 9.— Conviction of three negroes in murder trials, one drawing the death penalty one life sentence and the other ten years in prison, was just part of a day's work in the special term of circuit court for Autauga county held here today presided over by Judge George Smoot of Wetumpka. In addition to the three negroes, Lee Garett a white man was freed of a charge of highway robbery.

The trio to feel the heavy hand of the law were: Sam Hall, convicted of murdering his wife, Kate Hall and submerging the body in the waters of Autauga creek. Sam drew the death penalty. Mathew Johnson, charged with shooting his wife to death, was given the remainder of his natural life in the penitentiary to repent of his crime. Mary Hall, or Mary Burt she was at the time of the killing, convicted of complicity in the death of Kate Hall, was given ten years in prison.

The Prattville lodge of Masons are planning a 4th of July celebration again this year, and on account of the 4th being on a Sunday, and the further reason of the business houses being closed Thursday afternoons, the day will be celebrated on the first day of July instead of the fourth.

The program has not yet been completed, but a good time is in store for all who may attend. Some public speaking will be had, and music, baseball and in fact a general good time is promised.

Vaughn Quartette

Announcement that the Vaughn quartette will entertain in Clanton on the eveing of the 25th arouses eager anticipation of Chilton county music lovers.

For several years quartettes from the Vaughn school of music have entertained annually in Clanton with their beautiful songs, delightful music and crisp jokes. A large crowd will doubtless greet the quartette when they present their entertainment in the auditorium of the high school.

He's Stick To The Truth

In an editorial lambasting Brandon for his policy handling state convicts, the Montgomery Journal, it seems to us, rather overlaps the mark when it says: "McDowell goes even further than Brandon and declares in advance that he has the solution for convict administration."

In Mr. McDowell's declaration of principles upon which he is making the race for governor, he says:

"I am unalterably opposed to convict leasing. My voice shall never be raised in its behalf. The lease system shall end as early in my administration as possible. I am opposed to the employment of convicts in any activity not approved by the people of Alabama."

Both the Journal and the Age-Herald recently have said that Mr. McDowell is opposed to our prohibition law. Here is what Mr. McDowell himself says about it:

"Our prohibition laws, both national and state, are fixtures. I will submit to no modification of the present prohibition laws, and I will tolerate no inefficiency in their enforcement."

From the same source comes the charge that McDowell would oppose an advance in the educational interest of the state.

Quoting from McDowell's announcement, in pamphlet form, page 7-8, he says:

"Education will receive my first consideration. * * * I shall labor unstintedly to provide for a nine-months free school uniformly throughout the state, and to provide necessary sites, building and equipment that every child may have an equal chance."

It's time to swap candidates when a newspaper or an individual must resort to exaggeration in an effort to boost his cause.

Under the head of Definitions, the Montgomery Advertiser says: "Invective is a legitimate and honorable weapon in a political and editorial controversy. Slander, however, is the stiletto of the weak and inferior man, who is subject to nameless fears in the heat of combat." And never a word of apology to Frederick, the Great?

Chilton county would get $756,967.76 for road building from the 75 million dollar bond issue if the measure is passed—and, of course, when the bonds are sold.

"We Sell It For Less"

The scale of rates for newspaper advertising as fixed by the National Editorial Association and agreed to by heads of many national advertisers and agencies is a very reasonable one—in fact, it gets down pretty nearly to the cost to the publisher. And yet few of us get what is allowed by the N. E. A. It says that a paper having 500 circulation should receive 25c per inch for advertising, then 5c per inch additional for every 500 increase in circulation up to 3,000, when the rate should be 48c, 51c for 3,500, etc.

One grave mistake made by many small town merchants is to reduce their local advertising upon the first signs of a temporary slow-down in local trade circles. This has proven a mistaken policy in various ways upon many occasions. Invariably it has been shown that the persistent plugger, the regular advertiser, going forward with his message every week or every day to the people who had become accustomed to reading his offerings, could report "business as usual" following regular insertions of his advertising, when the sporadic advertisers were complaining of dullness in trade.

Seasonal changes require seasonal purchases throughout the year, and there is always a certain amount of money in circulation for such necessities and luxuries. The national advertiser—the manufacturer of nationally advertised goods— realize this fact; hence, the newspapers carry as much of this class of advertising in May as they do in December.

We are glad to note that the circulation of the News is growing very nicely and steadily; while our advertisers are getting publicity service at a cost considerably lower per 1,000 circulation than the price suggested by the N. E. A.—or that can be found elsewhere over the state, as we have pointed out before.

Remember you can kick a vicious cur to the extent that you'll create sympathy for him.

Clanton's city-like paved streets, clean cement sidewalks and alleys are kept freer from trash and rubbish than the average town of its size. Weeds have recently been cut, too; which inspires The News to offer a kindly suggestion: At a number of places overhanging limbs from shade trees are so low that they prove a menace to the sidewalk pedestrian not constantly on his guard in dodging under them. Especially is this true at night, when the obstructions cannot be seen so plainly. Either the city dads or property owners or both would doubtless receive hearty thanks from the "walking delegation" by trimming the limbs at such places as the work is needed.

It is possible that the people of Alabama could have McDowell for governor without the 75 million dollar bond issue; but it is not at all likely that we could have the bond issue without McDowell as governor. So the safe thing to do is to put 'em both through by such a large vote as will leave no impression that Alabama proposes either to stand still or go backward.

Your humane impulse, your personal attitude toward the unfortunate victims of the law who must serve time for the state in expiation for alleged wrongs will pretty largely indicate your impression as to whether or not they should serve their sentences on the surface of the earth or down in the coal pits beneath it, regardless of who might be governor of the state or laws responsible for their confinement.

According to members of the Alabama highway department, the federal aid road appropriation bill, passed by the senate Friday, means approximately three million dollars additional funds for Alabama roads during the two years it will be available, provided the state puts up an equal amount. Of the $75,000,000 annually to all the states. Alabama will get about $1,500,000.

"Safety" Clauses

One of the "safety" features of the proposed $75,000,000 bond issue for Alabama highways, and one which is frequently overlooked by the casual reader, is that clause which provides that no bonds can be sold unless and until sufficient money has been collected and deposited in the state treasury from the three cent gasoline tax to pay the interest and set up a sinking fund for payment on the principal.

A further "safety" measure is that gasoline could not be taxed more than 3 cents per gallon, whereas the legislature could place a tax of 5 cents or 10 cents on it under a statutory law if it should wish to do so, under existing laws.

A campaign of vilification and abuse has cropped out in the editorial columns of some of the daily "chain" papers of Alabama, whose slogan seems to be "Anybody, anything, to beat McDowell and the highway bond issue." And it's a sorry spectacle. McDowell's record is as spotless and—for the opportunity he has had—as full of service to the people of the state as that of any of the other candidates. As for that matter, they are all good, clean men. But the newspaper which indulges in such tactics will find to its regret that the people are wise to such methods. You know, "you can't fool all of 'em all of the time."

The News believes that Chilton county officials as a whole are as free from the pernicious practice of arresting the half-pint fellow and wilfully allowing the 50-gallon man to go unmolested because of his financial, or social, or political prestige as any set of arresting officers anywhere; but it is a well known fact that all officers are not immune from such influence. And it causes more genuine antipathy to the prohibition laws than probably any other one thing.

Who'll be the first to investigate the chances for a laundry in Clanton?

Not Brandon's Fault

Gov. Brandon has been criticised in certain quarters for pardoning men and women sent up for violating the prohibition law. We never have been drunk on Brandon brew, but we are of the opinion that the most of the criticism of Brandon for his pardoning record is unjust. In fact, most of this criticism emanates from people who are too cowardly to appear in behalf of their own wishes, says the Opp News.

The law requires that before any man or woman is pardoned, notice of application for pardon must be published for two weeks in the county which the person was convicted in. That notifies the people that somebody will ask for the pardon Then if there are any citizens who object to the pardon being granted they should protest to the governor or forever thereafter hold their peace. If they do not protest, and the governor pardons one that should not be pardoned, they are more to blame than the governor is.

So the next time you hear a man criticising Brandon for pardoning so many prisoners, ask him if he ever protested to the governor when a pardon was applied for. If he says he never did, remind him that he has no right to criticise the governor.

Ask Your Friend who has Traveled Abroad

to give you a comparison between the railroads of the United States and those of the Old World; to tell you something about the accommodations afforded as to luxury of travel, as to frequency of trains and as to dependability of reaching your destination on time.

The American Pullman car as used by this and other great trunk lines, affords not only comfortable and clean beds, but adequate toilet facilities, which are not to be found even on the finest traing in Europe. Between the principal American cities and the points of interest there are many railroads operating many fast trains daily and Sunday. In Europe only a very limited number of trains operate through the week, and on Sunday most of the fast trains are taken off, and practically all of the dining-car service is done away with —making it necessary for travellers to get off even the best trains at stations and eat at lunch counters. While some of the Continental trains run faster per mile than American trains, their through schedules are on the whole very much slower. For instance, between Cincinnati, Ohio and Mobile, Alabama—a distance of 731.3 miles the Pan-American requires but 20 hours, 33 minutes; whereas, between Nice and Paris—a distance of but 675 miles (106 miles shorter than between Cincinnati and Mobile)—23 hours, 25 minutes is required on their fastest trains. Think of this again! In America, 781 miles in 20 hours and a half—in France, 675 miles in 23 hours and a half.

Just before going to press The News has received the announcements of D. M. Martin and J. R. Taylor for tax assessor. A more extended notice of their candidacy will appear in next week's issue of The News.

Mr. Mullins For Collector

J. Renfroe Mullins announces to Chilton voters this week that he is a candidate for tax collector of Chilton. His name has been mentioned frequently in connection with this office within recent weeks, and his friends have been insistent that he announce.

Mr. Mullins, member of the firm of Mullins & Moore, is well known to the people of Clanton and the territory adjacent. After finishing in college he entered the mercantile business here, twenty-five years ago, and has faithfully pursued that calling since, in which he has made a signal success.

To know Renfroe Mullins is to become his friend at once, and through his honest and courteous treatment to all alike, his pleasant and affable personality, he never finds it in the least difficult to maintain the respect and friendship of all with whom he comes in contact. He has never before asked the suffrage of the people for any office, being content to serve the party as his conscience dictated through his ballot for the regular nominees.

Mr. Mullins is in every particular well qualified to serve the duties of the office of tax collector—and without doubt a more courteous or accommodating man could not easily be found for the position. The News respectfully asks the careful consideration of our readers in behalf of Mr. Mullins' candidacy.

GULF NO-NOX MOTOR FUEL STOPS KNOCKS

PUTS CARBON TO WORK

PUTTING the old demon, carbon, to work sounds like a paradox—nevertheless that's just what GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel does and here's how it happens: Compression is power. The more compression the more power. Greater compression is secured by reducing the displacement or space in the combustion chamber. Carbon deposits materially reduce this space—old time gasoline would not withstand this added carbon compression — clicks — knocks — pings or detonations of distress quickly following sudden acceleration or heavy pulls.

No-Nox withstands higher compression—stops the knocks or detonations, thereby increasing engine efficiency. GULF No-Nox and Carbon Deposits work together for more power and greater mileage.

Turns Mountains Into Mole Hills

This guarantee goes with it: GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—that it positively will not heat the motor, winter or summer.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

VOLUMN 5 — CLANTON ALA., FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1926 — NO. 40

Don't Miss Clanton In Your July Celebrating

Big Picnic-Barbecue, Races, Fun and Plenty Of It Free To All Who May Come For the Glorious 4th, To Be Celebrated On the 3rd

The committee in charge of arrangements for the big barbecue and celebration in Clanton for July 3 have issued announcement of some details that have been worked out for the amusement and pleasure of the thousands of visitors that are expected to attend.

There will be plenty of nice barbecued meats and chicken for everybody furnished by the ladies of the Clanton Methodist church at a very reasonable price. All kinds of cold drinks and refreshments will be available on the high school grounds where the attraction will be centered for the day.

Judge Leon McCord, Hon. Oliver D. Street and Prof. J. S. Lambert will make the principal addresses of the day. All candidates for county offices, both Democrats and Republicans will be given a chance to tell the dear people how badly they want to be elected.

Some of the special amusements which the candidates will provide the people will be as follows:

Tom Rockett, Alf Mims, Will Culp, Renfroe Mullins and D. M. Martin will sing a quartet of their own selection. These gentlemen are candidates for tax collector of Chilton county.

There will be a demonstration of the performance of a sheriff's duties by Dudley Collins, Bud Jones and Davis Cleckler, who are candidates for that office.

Candidates for tax assessor will demonstrate a foot race of three times around the ball park. Those eligible for entry in this event are M. C. Broadhead, Kin Vinson and Sam Pate.

'Squire Dennis and Percy Pitts, candidates for the legislature, are scheduled to climb the greasy pole.

There are a number of candidates for county commissioner and the school board. The committee on arrangements announce that they have been unable to see all these men and determine what they would be willing to do for entertainment of the people. They will make arrangements for these candidates between now and the third.

There will be two ball games during the day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. It is not announced who the opposing teams will be.

The committee says they guarantee that all who come will have a good time and get plenty to eat and drink. If anybody is not satisfied when the day is over, the committee promises to give them a free pass to Coosa county for the rest of their life.

Music for the day will be furnished by Price's string band. Everybody is invited to come and spend the day. Don't forget the place, grounds of the county high school, in Clanton. Plenty of parking space, good shade and everything to make your visit pleasant and enjoyable.

COOSA CROPS SAID IN GOOD CONDITION

Boll Weevil Has Done Little Damage So Far

Goodwater, June 19. — The past week has been very favorable for the growth tnd cultivation of crops in this section. Refreshing showers began to fall Saturday last and twice or three times during the week recurrent rains have fallen throughout this section, though not enough to prevent work longer than a few hours at a time.

Farmers have been busy working over their crops since the showers began and most all crops are clean and in fine growing shape.

As a rule all crops are about one week late, but with continued favorable conditions growth of the crops will be almost normal by July first.

Very few reports of the activity of the boll weevil have been receivd and unless there is considerable rain fall followed by cloudy weather, it is believed that the damage from this source will be small.

Melon growers in this sction report their crops are progressing well but most all melon crops will be late.

Storm Does Damage

The hail, wind, rain and electrical storm over this section Tuesday did considerable damage to crops, we understand, and it is reported a number of trees were blown down.

The church at Friendship, two miles north of Clanton, it is reported, was lifted from its foundation, blown some distance and smashed up considerably. The Friendship congregation, it is said, had just installed a piano, and this was damaged, though it is reported not to be a complete wreck.

OPERATING COST IS $5.50 EACH IN ALA.

State Government Spends That In 1925

Montgomery, June 18.—It cost $5.50 per person to operate the state of Alabama during 1925.

This was shown in figures made public by the department of commerce. The report shows that $13,537,426 was spent for the state department last year.

Total revenues were $20,217,399 or $8.21 per person, the report showed. Total expenditures, according to the report reached $20,086,439 for the year or $130,860 less than the total receipts.

Assessed property values subject to advalorem tax was $1,050,421,680, the statement declared.

He's Untiring

In recognition of the faithful mechanical help rendered The News by our friend Henderson M. Bates, we feel that we are due him at least this small token of appreciation, and to say that for unadulterated patience under trying circcumstances he's a record breaker.

Assuming charge of The News equipment, we found the cylinder press and the linotype considerably out of adjustment— so much so, in fact, that the help of an expert seemed the only resort. And be it remembered, Mr. Bates lays no claim to the title of expert linotype machinist.

But through his untiring patience and efficient investigation and examination of this remarkably complicated assortment of machinery—the "machine with almost human sense"—he has brought it around to a splendid state of operation. In fact, while a technical expert might have gotten these results in possibly a shorter length of time, we do not see how he could have achieved them in a more correct way. As the average reader is aware, there is possibly no more complicated machine in operation today than the linotype; it is really a number of machines in one, and even in an effort to watch its normal operation, one can easily "lose himself" in its intricacies.

And so it is that we want to hand Mr. Bates a real boquet for the part he has played in inducing old "Ironsides" to keep on "turning over."

ANOTHER SMASHUP ON B.-M. HIGHWAY

Auto Goes Into Sand Bank Near Clanton

A Montgomery dispatch of Saturday said: Mrs. Margaret Penny and her seven-year-old son, Clyde, of Greensboro, N. C., are in a local hospital suffering with injuries said to have resulted when their automobile plunged into a sand bank near Clanton on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway Friday morning.

Severl others in the automobile are reported to have escaped uninjured.

Mrs. Penny and her son were brought to Montgomery by a passing motorist, according to information, and carried to a local hospital. The mother suffered a broken nose and bruises, hospital attaches stated. The plight of the son is said to be more serious but his exact condition could not be learned this morning as he was under the X-ray.

NEW WAY IS FOUND CONTEMPT OF LAW

Mix 'Lasses With Oil In Man's Car

Goodwater, June 5.—A rather novel question or new violation of the law against meddling with another car will come up Monday in the county court at Rockford.

Prof. Gantt of the county high school parked his car on the school ground a few nights ago at an entertainment at the school building, when a gallon of molasses was poured into the motor.

The car ran for a few miles and refused to go any further. It was then discovered that syrup had been placed with the motor oil and and stuck when it got hot. The motor was taken down and the candied molasses was found in all parts of the motor and when placed back in the car ran for a few minutes and stopped again. It is said the motor is ruined.

An investigation was made and two young white men were arrested and their trials set for Monday.

Girl Scouts Meeting

Saturday afternoon the girl scouts held an interesting meeting in the Ellis grove. Sometime ago a number of the girls stood the "tender foot" test. On Saturday afternoon the time was given over to sketching flags, tying ropes, etc.

Throughout the heated term the girl scouts propose to hold their meetings on Saturday afternoons instead of Friday evening.

Ice Cream Supper

An ice cream supper and musical entertainment will be given at the home of J. N. Davenport, on the J. D. Sims old place, 10 miles southwest of Clanton, near Popwell school house, Saturday evening, June 26. Good music, ice cream, soft drinks, etc. Everybody come. J. N. Davenport.

SAVE YOUR BIGGEST MELON FOR THE NEWS

Year's Subscription Offered For Prize

Friends, you know a newspaper man has a sweet tooth, just like anyone else, and he's so much interested in that tooth that we are offering an entire year's subscription to The News to the person who this year presents us with the largest watermelon.

Again, we will give one year's subscription to the person who presents us with the largest muskmelon.

No strings to the offer. Just bring us the melon, after weighing it on some reliable scales; we will keep a record of it, and in our issue of Friday, September 3, 1926 we will announce the winner.

The contest is open to both old or new subcribers, and in case of the winner being in arrears at that time, his account will be credited with $1.00.

SENATE VOUCHES FOR MORE ROADS

Appropriate Enough To Last Until 1929

Washington, June 21.—The senate late today passed the $165,000,000 federal aid road bill already approved by the house. The vot ewas 63 to 6, Senators Bingham and McLean, Connecticutt; Metcalf, Rhode Island, and Moses, New Jersey, and Gerry, Rhode Island, Democrats comprising the opposition.

The bill slightly amended by the senate continues federal aid to states for road building until July 1, 1929, at the present rate of $75,000,000 annually for the general construction and $7,500,000 annually and roads in the national forest and parks.

Eastern senators opposed to the measure contended their states are forced to pay an unreasonable apportionment of the appropriation while supporters of the bill held its failure to pass would disrupt the road building program of the nation.

Hudson News

One of the great sources of economy in a motor car plant is the salvaging of material formerly considered as waste. When production is high, some large and surprising figures result.

At the Hudson Motor Car Co., which has just installed a huge lumber salvage plant to replace an older one, between five and six thousand pounds of nails are recovered daily as one of the minor by-products. These come from boxes and boards which have been used in shipping various materials into the Hudson plant. The principle salvage product of course, is the lumber, the output of which may run from 75,000 to 100,000 feet a week; so the nails may be considere as a minor by-product of a major by-product. Some of the nails when recovered are in suitable condition for reuse; the rest are sold as a scrap product.

The Hudson salvage method sorts all incoming boxes and lumber. Many boxes can be used just as they are for shipping out parts or for incidental work around the plant. The rest are sawed up so that all usable lumber is saved fro mthem. The scrap material then left over is fed into a huge grinder which reduces to fragments about the size of shelled corn. This is fed by compressed air into one of the furnaces of the main power plant, where it burns at exceptionally high speed and intensity. At capacity this material will supply 800 to 1000 horse power an hour.

After the material is ground and while on its way to the furnace, it is led over a series of powerful magnets which search out the daily tons of nails.

The whole process is accomplished by modern machinery, power conveyors and similar automatic methods. The salvaged lumber is made into boxes by automatic nailing machiens, using in part nails which it has been possible to straighten.

"It is methods like these," said Mr. Bates, Hudson-Essex dealer, "which make possible the remarkable Hudson-Essex values. Every possible economy is made and the resultant advantages shared with the public."

WHAT HOME PEOPLE THINK OF McDOWELL

Has Served His People In Satisfactory Way

The Eufaula Daily Citizen, published in the home town of Charles S. McDowell has this to say about him:

If the estimate put upon Charles S. McDowell, Jr., by his home people was put upon him by the state, there is no doubt but that he would be practically unanimously elected to any office he might seek.

At the beginning of his career he was chosen to the office of County Superintendent of Education by his home county. Since that time he has served in almost every office within the gift of his people. He has filled with credit to himself and to his city the following offices to which he was elected by the people concerned. President of the Commercial club, President of the Kiwanis; President of the Country club, City Councilman; Mayor of the city; Worshipful Master of Masons; Vice President of the Board of Education; Chairman of the General Home Coming Celebration; Senator from Barbour county, and Lieutenant Governor. If the selection of Mr. McDowell to these offices does not convince the general public that he is approved by his home people the fault is not with Mr. McDowell or his people, but with the understanding of the opposition.

Mr. McDowell has the support of his home people and will keep it, because he won it fairly and deserves it.

Sauce For The Goose; Vitriol For The Gander

Doubtless you have heard of the Irishman's tree, which was so straight that it leaned backward. Which reminds us of the policies being pursued by some of the press opposed to Charley McDowell, leader in the race for governor of Alabama. For instance:

The Montgomery Journal says that Mr. Patterson told the voters at Linden that "he proposes to give $4,000,000 additional to education."

Further along in the same editorial the Journal says: "The frankness of such declaration cannot but make strong appeal to the citizen" etc.

In another editorial of the same issue of the Journal, speaking of the convict leasing system as carried out by the present state administration, the Journal says:

"It is believed that Mr. McDowell would favor the same policy of inaction that the convicts are doomed to four years more of slavery for hire if he is elected."

On page 14 of Mr. McDowell's declaration of principles upon which he bases his campaign, referring to Alabama's convict lease system, he says:

"The principle is all wrong. The system should never have been, and, please God, if I am elected your governor, it shall never be again. We have advanced too long the excuse that we needed revenue. We do need revenue from the convict hire, need it desperately, but the great state of Alabama cannot put itself in the position of continuing an indefensible system in order to raise revenue. The state cannot and must not carry out immoral and wrongful practices to raise revenue any more than it will permit the individual to indulge in dishonest practices to make money."

Isn't that frank enough—plain enough—to "make strong appeal" to every citizen? Who else would you believe in preference to the candidate himself? And if you believe Mr. Patterson's assertion that he will "give four million dollars additional to education," why cannot you believe Mr. McDowell's statement that the convict leasing system shall be abolished if he is elected governor? Has Mr. McDowell ever been convicted of perjury?

Mr. Patterson"s promises of no bond issue may possibly be vote getters in certain circles; but they won't build roads.

It's A Safe Proposal, And Will Benefit All

It is one of the safeguarding provisions of the proposed $75,000,000 bond issue for highway construction in Alabama that no bonds shall be issued until a sufficient sum has been collected thru a three cent tax on gasoline or any substitute for gasoline with which to pay the interest and set aside a necessary per centage to pay on the principal of the amount of bonds it is proposed to sell. Then—and not until then—can a single bond be sold. And then, again, only in amount in proportion to what sum has been collected from the gas tax within the year. That is, the amount of bonds to be offered for sale would have to be governed by the amount of gas tax already in hand with which to pay interest and some on the principal.

No other property could be taxed for this purpose for the simple reason that the measure—a constitutional measure, remember—specifically provides that these bonds shall be liquidated wholly and entirely from a three cent tax on gasoline or its substitutes. Bond buyers would purchase this security upon that understanding and agreement.

Yet you have doubtless heard it said that "your land would be taxed if this bill passed."

You have also heard it said perhaps—we have—that the "farmer with his tractor" would be taxed. He would—if he used his tractor. And The News ventures two assertions in this connection: First, the farmer who owns a tractor in ninety-nine and nine-tenths out of one hundred cases also owns a motor car. And second, if he owns a tractor, he is of that progressive, broadminded type who are backing the bond issue proposition because it means advancement in the comforts, conveniences and profits in life.

"My only kick," said a prominent Clanton citizen to The News man a few days ago, "is that I'm afraid seventy-five million is not enough to complete the system of highways which Alabama deserves, and I would vote for the bond issue if it called for double that amount."

The News will not give his name here—though we would without question get his permission to give it by merely stepping across the street and asking it—but we can say that the bond issue would increase his "overhead" to a heavy extent, because he uses gasoline in large quantities; and withal he own quite a lot of nice property both here and at other points in Alabama, such property as would be subject to a general tax to pay the bonds if a tax other than upon gasoline could be levied. Yet, he's not afraid of it.

The bond issue proposition was not drawn up or instigated for the benefit of any one man or set of men except as the term applies directly to every man, woman and child in the state who use the state highways. If you do not own a car or tractor—if you do not use gasoline—then you would not be out one cent toward the construction of an adequate system of roadways in the state for which the proposed gas tax would pay. If you use gasoline, then in proportion to the amount you buy, you would contribute a small per centage to this great forward movement. The exenses of The News will be slightly increased when the proposition is carried by the voters—not by reason of any cause connected with joy riding, for we do not own a car, but a considerable amount is used in operating our typesetting machine, cleaning up the presses, the type, in washing forms, etc.—and that Mergenthaler "do eat it up," too. But we will gladly increase our expense budget to that extent if others can have an improved system of highways.

We use the word "will" advisedly; because, having seen and enjoyed the benefits which have accrued from the wise and efficient expenditure of less than twenty millions of dollars on our highways, the people of this state will want and will vote more—"just like the sample."

Rogers Didn't Do It.

If John A. Rogers' plan had been carried out the $75,000,000 bond issue would have been settled months ago and never become involved in a political campaign. He always insisted that the legislature should be called into extra session and persuaded to submit the bond question to the people before the campaign for governor came on. But people interested in other state projects made so many demands on the governor for special consideration of their pet projects that it soon became apparent that there was no use to call the legislature to deal with the road question.

Rogers from the beginning wanted this question settled separately from all other questions; he wanted its merits passed on without regard to other issues. It cannot be charged against Rogers that he made a political issue of it. It cannot be charged that Brandon did. It cannot be charged that McDowell did. Both Brandon and McDowell wanted it settled before the campaign for governor opened.—Montgomery Advertiser.

The News would not say that all opposed to the bond issue do not own cars; but it has been noticeable to us that every man opposed to it when we have discussed the matter in the local territory does not own a car. On the other hand, we have found the biggest users of gasoline heartily in favor of the bonds, the increase in the price of gas to them and and the resultant better highways. The cost would fall upon the latter class; so, if they are willing, and being in the majority, why should those whom the proposed measure doesn't touch be against it?

The league of women voters—or something—commanded the candidates for the more important offices to appear before them in Birmingham on a certain date recently and show cause why said candidates should ask the suffrage of the said voters. And two or three candidates fell for the prospective (?) plum. The others just smiled.

The notification having been given in just before press time last week—and then coming to us indirectly—The News unintentionally made the error of saying that D. M. Martin is a candidate for tax assessor, when it should have read tax collector of Chilton county. We regret the error, and trust it has caused Mr. Martin no inconvenience.

A man's general character can be judged pretty accurately in proportion to the kind words he may or may not say about his fellowman.

Just Dogs

The New York World prints the following special dispatch under its copyright:

Kansas City.— A fox terrier pup who tried with all his might to be friendly with the aviators at Richards Flying Field was rewarded for his efforts today by being thrown from a plane 800 feet in the air, and the flyer who did it lost his job.

The little dog appeared at the field several weeks ago. Mechanics and flyers were busy, but they tolerated him, even when he ran on the landing field and narrowly missed death from whirling propellers. He finally was taken to the city in a motor car and left there, but trotted ten miles back to the field.

This morning Waldo Robey, a pilot for the Porterfield flying school, took the pup in his plane, and at an altitude of 800 feet, dropped him over the side. The dog was buried by the force of the fall. E. E. Porterfield, Jr., heard of the act, called Robey to his office and fired him. Robey told Porterfield that he "killed the dog as a prank."

Interesting Visitor

One of the most charming visitors whom Clanton has had the privilege of entertaining for sometime, is a house guest in the home of Thos. Simms, the lovable and interesting mother of Mr. Simms. "Grandma" Simms, though nearly ninety years old, possesses a wonderfully keen intellect and is wide awake upon any subjects commonly discussed. Mrs. Simms, who for 14 years has been confined to her rolling chair, made the trip from Grantville, Ga., in very good condition, despite sustaining a shock from collision with another car.

To the Worshipful Master, Wardens and Brethren of Amanda Lodge No. 250 A. F. & A. M:

With bowed heads we must again acknowledge the work and wisdom of the supreme Grand Master of the universe in the death of our dear friend, Brother J. M. Grant. He was born in Coosa county July 31, 1867 where he lived until 1897 when he moved to Chilton county, where he spent the rest of his life, a great part of which was spent in the membership of this lodge.

Whereas, the long and intimate relation held him in the faithful discharge of his duties in this fraternity makes it eminently befitting that we record our appreciation of him. Therefore:

Be it resolved, that the wisdom and ability which he has exercised in the aid of our order b yservice, contributin, and counsel will be held in grateful remembrance:

Be it resolved, that the sudden removal of such a life from among us leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this organization, and will prove a serious loss to the community in which he lived:

Be it resolved, that with deep sympathy to the bereaved relatives of the deceased Brother we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well:

Be it resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this lodge, a copy be printed in each county paper, and a copy sent to the bereaved family.

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

VOLUMN 5 CLANTON ALA., FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1926. NO. 41

Impeachment Papers Filed Against Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds

Proceedings Carried To the Alabama Supreme Court By Affidavits of Thompson, Corley and Johnson

The following dispatch under a Montgomery date line of Friday last gives the facts of the proceedings instituted against Judge L. H. Reynolds to oust him from the office of probate judge of this county:

Proceedings seeking the impeachment of Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds of Chilton county were started today with the filing ofa motion with thesupreme court asking the court for an order directing the attorney general to institute proceedings for the impeachment of Judge Reynolds. The motion was filed by Judge Thomas C. McClellan and Horace C. Wilkinson, attorneys, and was supported by affidavits from citizens charging improper conduct by Judge Reynolds in publication of the list of qualified voters of Chilton county. It was charged that Judge Reynolds, who is a Republican, had published on the list of qualified voters the names of hundreds of deceased or disqualified voters and left off the list the names of others who voted against him.

Following the filing of the motion the supreme court issued an order to Judge Reynolds requiring him to show cause why the court should not direct the attorney general to institute impeachment proceedings against him returnable October 4. The supreme court in its order gave Judge Reynolds to September the first to file affidavits showing why the impeachment proceedings should not be ordered instituted against him and gave the complainants to September 15 to file rebuttal affidavits.

Johnson Files Affidavit

Affidavits filed with the supreme court today included one by J. L. Johnson, member of the Chilton county board of registrars, who charged that Judge Reynolds caused to be published on the list of qualified voters for the year 1924 the names of about 374 persons who had been dead for years or were disqualified; in 1922, 146 such name, in 1920, 35; and in 1919 300. On the 1924 list, it was charged, Judge Reynolds left off the names of over 50 persons who voted against him in the 1922 election. Johnson also charged that in publishing the list of voters Judge Reynolds ignored the "stricken list" prepared by the board of registrars. The vote cast in Chilton county in the 1922 election was 1,810 Democratic and 1,843 Republican, it was stated.

A similar affidavit was filed by W. B. Corley, another affidavit by W. T. Hand also charged Judge Reynolds in the publication of the voting list with effecting the rights of many citizens and enfranchising others who were not qualified.

A fourth affidavit was filed by J. Fritz Tompson, prominent attorney who represented Judge Reynolds Democratic opponent. C. D. Messer, in an election contest in which the election of Reynolds as probate judge was contested, the contest being decided in favor of Reynolds. Thomposn stated that he with others in December, 1923, checked the list of qualified voters published by the probate judge against the registration and poll tax records in the probate office. As a result of this check a list of something over 700 voters alleged to have voted for Reynolds and said not to have been qualified, was made up, it was stated, and served on Reynolds as the names of voters whose legal qualifications would be challenged on the trial in the case.

Records Declared Changed

After the introduction of testimony began, Mr. Thompson declared in his affidavit, it was discovered that the poll tax records on file in the office of the probate judge were not in the same condition as when the check referred to was made. It was found that the records had been changed, the affidavit declared, so as to show several hundred persons as qualified voters so far as poll tax payments were concerned, when they had been found to be not qualified by reason of failure to pay poll tax when the check was made.

Reynolds admitted that the changes were made under his direction, the affidavit stated, claiming that voters had produced evidence of payment of the tax for the years formerly not shown by the records. It was claimed that these changes were improperly made by the probate judge.

JUDGE REYNOLDS SAYS CHARGE IS FALSE

Chilton Probate Judge Brands the Thompson Statement as Misrepresentation of Fact.

Probate Judge Lewis H. Reynolds of Chilton County, declaring Monday that J. F. Thompson in an affidavit filed last Friday with the supreme court of Alabama asserted that he Judge Reynolds, changed poll tax records of Chilton County, branded the alleged statement as false. The affidavit referred to, was one of four affidavits submitted to the supreme court in support of a motion filed by T. C. McClellan and Horace C. Wilkinson asking that the court issue order to the attorney general to bring impeachment action against Judge Reynolds, whom the motion charged with official misconduct.

The affidavit of Mr. Thompson referred in particular to alleged circumstances in connection with an election contest action brought against Judge Reynolds some months ago, by C. D. Messer, which case has been disposed of. Mr. Thompson was one of the attorneys in the case.

Commenting further upon Mr. Thompson's alleged statement, to which exception is taken, Judge Reynolds stated Monday: "He can select any probate judge, circuit judge, or supreme court judge and bring that judge to Chilton County and if he can prove I have changed the official poll tax record of one single voter, I will resign the office I now hold."

Judge Reynolds said the official poll tax records of Chilton County were not in court during the contest trial. "They only had a book that I was making of the registered voters and poll tax payers from the official registration book and the official poll tax book filed in my office and I was correcting this latter record wherever it was necessary; which record I was not required to make," Judge Reynolds said.

"This record was for my own personal use and for the purpose of maintaining information absolutely up to date as to registered voters and payers of poll tax so that any changes that might become necessary in the regular order of procedure might be made promptly."

Judge Reynolds added that he is preparing a formal statement for the press. He sad he had not yet been served with notice of the motion now before the supreme court but that when that notice is received he will issue his statement to the public.

After the motion and affidavits had been filed with the supreme court last Frday, the court issued a preliminary order requiring Judge Reynolds to show cause, in affidavits to be filed on or before September 1, why the order requested in the motion should not issue, to be made returnable on October 4. Complainants were given until September 15 to submit rebuttal affidavits.—The Montgomery Advertiser.

Lauderdale Killed

Goodwater, June 29.—Robert Lauderdale, a prominent citizen of Kellyton, was struck by a westbound passengegr train at 10 o'clock this morning while crossing the tracks in his car and was rushed to the Alexander City hospital for treatment, but died this afternoon at 5:30. The deceased is survived by his widow and three sons.

T. E. Collins who lives near Weogufka, this county, had the misfortune to have two of his sons and two mules bitten by a mad dog last week, according to reports reaching here. The dog was killed and an examination made developed it was affected with rabies.

CHAS. S. McDOWELL, JR.
For Governor

The election of McDowell August 10th means what he says:

"I will take the convicts from the mines and end the lease system.

I do not speak as others, as an echo of the past, but with the determination to accomplish with the interest of the people of the whole state constantly in mind.

"I had a hand in the passage of the law giving the entire proceeds of the two cent tax on gasoline to the 67 counties of the state. I stand firmly against any attempt to repeal it.

"Good roads must be constructed throughout Alabama. We tried the so called pay as you go plan for 11 years under the old highway commission. Road building did not actually begin in Alabama until the first bonds of the $25,000,000 issue were sold.

"I believe that our road program should be completed as rapidly as possible, so that the present generation may obtain the benefit now.

"If we be content with a small mileage, and delays in completion, then not a large issue is needed. But if we really want them, then we should authorize such an amount of bonds as will build the necessary roads in Alabama and build them now as quickly as possible without delay so that the prosperity may come that flows from them.

"I stand after a close study of the needs of Alabama, for an authorization of $75,000,000 of bonds as it will take this sum to provide for the roads and bridges needed in the several counties of Alabama and which will give a system of highways and bridges second to none.

"Do not understand that I would approve, as governor, of the issuance of $75,000,000 at any one time but I would require the bonds sold only in such sums as are needed from time to time in carrying on the actual work of road and bridge building.

"Understand the bonds are not to be issued until actually needed to put into actual road construction. They are not a debt until issued; no interest begins until then. In this way you'll get your roads quick during your lifetime. I favor one election for the authority to issue the seventy-five million of bonds. That is all it is, the authority to issue as needed only and then we are through. Why have so many different elections and the state stirred by successive campaigns which will become more difficult each time to carry as each section gets its system complete and each election costing practically one hundred thousand dollars to the state and which, after all, will only be for the authority to issue as in the present case.

"While the full faith and credit of the state is pledged for the redemption of these bonds, none of them shall ever be sold unless the income to the state from a tax on gasoline, not to exceed three cents per gallon, a substitute for gasoline or any device used to propel motor vehicles is sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds sold and set up a sinking fund to retire them when due. By this section only the current income of the state in any one year can be used for the purpose of issuing bonds.

"With this provision in the constitution, if a three cent tax on gasoline would pay the interest and the principal of five million dollars of bonds—only five million could be sold. This safeguards the interest of the state ever incurring a debt which a three cent tax on gasoline will not pay.

"This amendment will also fix in the constitution the amount of this issue to go to each county so the whole state will benefit and the money cannot be taken away from them, also that no one connected with the sale of the bonds is to receive one cent for the duties performed in the way of commissions or other compensations.

"Unless the man claiming to be for good roads is willing to authorize enough money to build them his assertions as to his wanting good roads will not help the people of the state to get them.

"This plan means no increase in your property taxes and is the real pay as you go plan.

"South Carolina nas in effect a plan similar to that proposed by one of the other candidates for governor. North Carolina issued one hundred and twenty million bonds for roads and bridges payable with a gasoline tax.

"The South Carolina plan is to build only as they collect from the gas tax of five cents on the gallon. The Greenville News says of this plan: The North Carolina plan of building roads is actually the pay as you go plan while the South Carolina plan is pay in advance.

"North Carolinians are actually paying for their roads as they ride. That is a form of installment buying it is true, but the policy is thoroughly sound because the interest on deferred payments is less than the cost of riding on poor roads. South Carolina is saving interest money by waiting until it accumulates the cash to build roads, but in the meanwhile the people are riding and they are losing more in excessive gasoline, tire and depreciation cost than they save in interest, when it costs more to do without than it does to have, the pay in advance plan has no particular economic benefit.

"By this amendment the constitution fixes the amount for Chilton county at $756,967.76 in addition to that from the present issue.

AGED WAR HORSE WILL TAKE STUMP

Mr. Comer Will Speak In The Interest of Carmichael

Former Governor B. B. Comer, at the age of 78, will take the stump for Archie Carmichael in his race for governor.

Comer will speak Saturday at Samson, Ala., and will deliver three or four speeches over the state.

This was the answer of the aged ex-governor today to the attacks on Carmichael which Comer's business associate, F. I. Thompson, has been making through the columns of the Age-Herald. Comer is half owner of the Age-Herald and sole owner of its building, while Thompson is also half owner and acts as its publisher.

The contest between the various gubernatorial candidates was almost side-tracked by interest in the bitter public controversy between the joint owners of the Age-Herald, says the Birmingham Post.

WILL RAISE MILLION FOR JIM CROW FIGHT

Pro-Negro Organization Is After Equality

Chicago, June 27.— A campaign to raise one million dollars to fight the segregation and disfranchisement of negroes and "Jim Crow" laws, was launched today at a mass meeting of the National Association for the Advancement of negroes here. The movement was formally opened by James W. Johnson, of New York, secretary of the association, in an address which preceded the principal address of the meeting by Clarence Darrow, Chicago attorney. Characterizing the practices against which the campaign fund will be directed as constituting the "last vestiges of slavery," Johnson declared that "such a fund will be a demonstration of the mass power which the negro intends to use and will serve notice upon the country of the negroe's determination to secure and maintain every fundamental right with every other American citizen.

"The federal government," Johnson said, "will use a navy to prevent a man from taking a drink, but will not empower a deputy marshal to protect the negro's ballot."

Mr. Darrow hailed the beginning of the end of the race prejudices in this country in his address.

A Natural Result Of Improved Highways.

Beautiful painted dwellings with neat and cleanly surroundings and comprising modern improvements dot the landscape all along the improved B. and M. highway now, and additional homes are being constantly built. Some of these homes have been settled for years; some were located and built in recent times, while others are in course of construction. It is very noticeable, too, that the older homes have been treated to a new dress of paint old and ragged outbuildings are being removed and the big red rose now wafts its refreshing fragrance to cheer the passing traveler—much in preference to the sneeze-producing pollen of the jimson or ragweed. Nothing could be more conclusive as evidence of the value of good roads to a community.

Certainly these farm homes are more valuable now than under the previous mud road system. Not only more money has been invested in their improvement since the building of a permanent highway by their gates, but their owners and tenants are of a more progressive type, and therefore will put back into the soil each year the replenishing agencies necessary for a fuller harvest in the seasons to come. They are building permanent homes along a permanent highway, not merely log cabins or shacks as a place for existence and in many instances the architectural designs would do credit to any residential street in the cities.

While land values along this highway are comparatively low now, it could not reasonably be expected that prices will remain at their present level for any extended length of time. In our opinion, prices offered today will never be repeated so low again.

S'funny.

It's really amusing to note the leverage some candidates attempt to pull on the credulity of voters. Listen: A Dothan dispatch quotes Mr. Patterson, candidate for the high office of governor of Alabama, as saying:

"Gasoline would be shipped into this state to consumers in the original package if a five cent tax were placed in effect here."

We wonder how many people in this state old enough to cast a ballot would believe that gasoline refiners could afford to ship their product through interstate channels "in the original package" because of even a five cent tax upon it?

Moreover, where does Mr. Patterson get the suggestion for a five cent tax on gasoline? That clause of the proposed road bond amendment specifically provides that no more than three cents per gallon can be assessed as tax.

Read His Ad. Today

The reader will notice in this issue an advertisement in favor of Hon. Charles S. McDowell, Jr., for governor and that the predominating issue stressed is good roads.

The writer modestly states that in North Carolina which has become famous and rich largely from its good roads, has issued $120,000,000 in bonds for good roads and bridges when as a matter of fact the counties in addition have issued $55,000,000 more to be used for the same purpose, making a total of $175,000,000 in bonds payable with a gasoline tax for good road construction.

It would be a tragedy for Alabama to hesitate on the $75,000,000 issue which would tend to put Alabama where she rightfully belongs and render traveling easy.

Roads and bridges are essential to the prosperity of the people of this state and any exponent with vision enough to put over a conservative road program and carry it to its rapid completion will deserve the gratitude of the people of this state. Charles S. McDowell, Jr., has come out boldly for such a program.

Why will a city daily newspaper yelp itself bleareyed in favor of a municipal bond issue for the construction and maintenance of paved streets and sidewalks within its own bailiwick, but would deny he country man any improvement in his original uncomfortable, inconvenient and costly "blazed trail?"

Don't wait for the band wagon; hook up one of your own.

New Candidates

The News this week carries the announcement of T. L. LeCroy as a candidate for the school board, and R. J. Williams, candidate for commissioner.

These men are well and favorably known to hosts of friends over the county for their honesty, fidelity to a principle and allegiance to their party. Their conservation and thoughtful regard for the best interests of all the people has made for them a warm spot in the hearts of all who know them.

Then comes Richard T. Robinson, who offers to serve as a member of the board of commissioners, and he is equally well known in his community. Mr. Robinson is a dirt farmer and has also made a success as a country merchant.

The News bespeaks the careful consideration of the voters for these worthy men.

Endorses Mayfield

Editor The Green County Democrat:

I wish to express my deep appreciation for the splendid editorial endorsement of my life long friend, Judge Mayfield, for the United States Senate, which appeared in last week's issue of your valuable paper.

The state has no more loyal, abler or deserving citizen than Judge Mayfield. As a college chum of his, I first knew him as a plain farmer boy, with a great brain and heart, frank, unselfish, industrious and ever anxious to render some worth while service to his fellows. These fine qualities of mind, heart and habit have since marked his activities in every field of endeavor and in private life and official station he has so lived as to reflect distinguished credit on himself, his friends, his native county and state.

I wish to join you in strongly commending him to our friends in Greene and throughout the state.—Congressman W. B. Oliver in Greene County Democrat (Eutaw.)

Adjourns Saturday

Washington, June 27.—With the hope that farm legislation can be disposed of this week, Republican leaders of the house and senate are preparing for the adjournment of congress next Saturday.

This program contemplates the postponement until the next and short session of the rivers and harbors bill, coal legislation, the French debt settlement and a number of other matters of importance now on the calendar.

Announcement that Comer planned to take the stump after 11 years of political inactivity, and at his advanced age, came as the biggest sensation of the campaign, to date. Not since 1915, when he was candidate for governor against Charles Henderson, has Comer taken an active public part in politics.

At that time, when he was 67, Comer made a campaign that was the marvel of the whole state, despite the fact that Henderson was the winner.

"Educaion will receive my first consideration.

"I shall labor unstintedly to provide for a nine-month free school uniformly throughout the state to provide necessary sites, buildings and equipment that "every child may have an equal chance." We must not quibble about which road to take. We must not begin to quake and tremble over the form of taxation and groan in anticipated vexation and hardship. The law provides property shall bear its just proportion of the burden of taxation. This roportion is fixed at 60 per cent of its value.

"Millions in value are not bearing this fair and equal distribution of the burdens of taxation when many states assesses at the full value. As a consequence education and other branches of the government are being starved to that extent. I shall endeavor to see that taxes are equalized and apportioned as required by law. More revenue must be provided. That form of taxation must be resorted to that shall result in the necessities of life bearing the least burden. Alabama is a rich state; her people are courageous, patriotic and progressive; they are a resourceful people and are determined to speedly remove the stigma of illiteracy and I am determined to have a part in this great work.

"An equal chance for every child in Alabama and more pay for teachers is not a theoretical demand nor a political battle cry. It is a necessity, a deep imperative necessity which calls us. We are big enough to meet it. If I am elected your governor, I shall do my best in that behalf, for education is the fabric upon which the prosperity of the state rests.

"Our prohibition laws, both national and state, are fixtures. I will submit to no modification of the present prohibition laws, and I will tolerate no inefficiency in their enforcement.

"Law enforcement is not an issue; I say it is a primary requisite to a good and well ordered government, an essential, a necessity, a demand, and I pledge myself and all the powers of my office, if elected, to fully measure up to this demand of society, the people of the state among whom I have been born and bred.

"A vote for Chas. S. McDowell, Jr. for governor August 10th is a vote for good roads during your lifetime.

NOTICE

In the matter of Guy H Roberts, Guardian of Raymond Roberts, Edna Roberts, and James Roberts minors.

In the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, In Equity.

To Guy H. Roberts, Take Notice:

That on the seventh day of June, 1926, there was filed in this court a petition, in

1/20th of the Earth's LAND

1/16th of the World's POPULATION

1/3rd of the World's RAILWAY MILEAGE

The statement has been made repeatedly in these bulletins that the people of the United States enjoy the best transportation service in all the world. Evidence has been given to show that better passenger service is afforded the American people, better equipment, faster and more frequent schedules and lower freight and passenger rates. It is a significant fact that while the United States of America occupies only one-twentieth of the earth's land surface and contains only one-sixteenth of the world's population, it has one-third of the world's railway mileage.

The business of the American railroads is to take things from where they are plentiful to places where they are scarce, and to transport people from one section of the country to another. The figures quoted above, and the records of performance for the past few years, furnish proof conclusive that the job is being well done.

We believe that these bulletins published regularly in this newspaper will interest you.

writing, and verified by affidavit, by Raymond Roberts Edna Roberts and James Roberts, minors, by their next friend, Lola Roberts Hall, asking your removal as their guardian.

Further, That by decree of this court dated June 10, 1926, said petition was referred to the undersigned, as Register of this court, to hold a reference and to report to the court whether or not the allegations of said petition are true and if true in part then which part is true, and which part is untrue, and you will take notice that said reference will be held at the office of the Register of this court in Clanton, Alabama, at 10 o'clock a. m., on Wednesday, the 7th, day of July, 1926.

MUSGROVE'S
Upward Climb

L. B. Musgrove

Candidate for U. S. Senate

1 Began at the plow handles, now largest farmer in Walker county.

2 Added store keeping and made it pay.

3 Bought his local paper, the Jasper Eagle, has it yet, one of Alabama's successful weeklies.

4 Organized a bank, controls it, one of the state's best county banks.

5 Chairman of his County Board of Education.

6 Opened and operated one of the state's large and successful coal mines.

7 Elected trustee of the university.

8 Appointed on the state board of education which controls all the normal and county high schools.

9 Ran against Oscar Underwood for the senate at the request of the organized prohibition forces of the state and nation and came within a few votes of defeating him.

10 Contested with Oscar Underwood for the right to name the delegation to the National convention and thereby headed off the Underwood plan to capture the nomination of any whiskey man for president.

11 Is chairman of the Campaign committee of the Anti-Saloon League and was thus the active head of the movement that passed the 18th amendment.

12 Led the prohibitionist in their cooperation with the women in putting over the 19th amendment.

13 As the crown of his many industrial achievements he promoted and organized within the last three years, the Deep Water Coal and Iron corporation, with thirty million capitalization which corporation has already begun active operation and will develop immense coal and iron ore mines. This will result in the building of furnaces, steel mills and many other industries in the state of Ala.

It is also the purpose of this great corporation to engage actively in exporting coal from the Black Creek mines in this state which will result in millions of tons of coal passing over the tipples in Mobile, Ala.

This is one of the greatest developments that ever occurred in the history of Alabama and places Musgrove in the forefront of our great industrial developers.

14 During all those years he found time to help other people, churches and the schools, and acquired his reputation as Alabama's most continuous and biggest hearted philanthropist.

Paid political advertisement by Musgrove Volunteers.

PASTOR SAYS EVERY MAN TO HIS JOB

Thought He Knew Newspaper Work, But—

Yakima, Wash.—No one can run the othe rfellow's job as well as his own, though he may until he has tried it, be fully convinced that he is able to do so, said Rev. D.W. Ferry here after a week as editor pro tem of the Yakima Republic.

The Presbyterian minister took the position after a series of argument with the editor, Col. W. W. Robertson, about the Republic's editorial policy, especially in regard to the prohibition law and its enforcement.

"Lots of persons think they could run newspapers and write editorials without the least difficulty," said Mr. Ferry. "I wish they could all try it once. It would develop a fine spirit of tolerance, though after the experience they might not survive long enough to exemplify it. If I have to retire from the ministry I certainly am not going so try to find any rest in the editorial chair. Ii isn't there."

For Tax Collector

As you are already aware, I am a candidate for tax collector of your county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

I am writing this letter to you all hoping that by it we may all become better acquainted and that you may kno wme as I am. In the first place, I am distinctly a product of our county, have been reared in Chilton and having made it my home up until this day. I am also a farmer, having followed the plow and lived close to nature all my life. Am a consistent church member and have striven to live a life in keeping with that fact for years and years. Am not a politician in any sense of the word, but I feel like it is the duty of all good citizens to be interested in good, honest, clean government and to take such part in the political affairs of the countryas may aid to their utmost, the building up and maintaining farmers, honesty and justice in every branch of our political institutions.

All my personal, social and financial interests are centered in Chilton county and my most earnest hope and desire is to always be found doing all in m ypower to build up and improve conditions here in every conceivable manner and in every worthy cause.

I hope to see as many as possible of the people personally and get better acquainted, but in the meantime I would like to ask you to remember me and to investigate my life and my record and then, if satisfied with my qualifications and fitness for the office, to cast your vote for me at the primary on August 10.

GREED FOR DOLLAR MENACES REPUBLIC

Has the Period of Decay Set In?

Auburn, July 4.—Declaring that it is the greed for more dollars in America that is tearing at the very foundation stones of our reupblic, Dr. H. V. Carson, of Montgomery, one of the leading Presbyterian ministers in the state, Sunday warned his hearers of the possible consequences of a turning away from the religious paths trod by the founders of this nation.

"I am not a calamity howler," Dr. Carson declared, "for I believe God is going to lead us on, but I sometimes wonder if the period of decay in America has set in? If the great religious foundations upon which this republic has been builded have begun to rot?"

"The thing that is tearing at the foundation stones of this great temple today is the greed for more and more dollars. And there is olny one solution—unselfish service."

All Are Thankful

Washington, July 3.—Carrying out the program of leaders for adjournment before July 4, the Sixty-ninth congress ended its first session today.

At 3 p. m. the senate adjourned sine die. A minute later the final gavel fell in the house.

Although there was some last-minute bickering over legislation in the senate, the wind up was devoid of those exciting and picturesque incidents which frequently mark the close of congressional sessions.

A Mother Hung!

Mansfield, England, June 24.—Inside the gray walls of Stangeway jail, a woman—the mother of three children one of them a baby—was hanged this morning.

Mrs. Louise Calvert, 33 years old was executed for strangling her landlady, Mrs. Waterhouse, an dthen robbing her. Almost to the end the condemned woman asserted that she was innocent.

The News understands that a meeting of the Democratic executive committee was held here Tuesday, but we have no information as to what was done atthe meeting.

PULLER OF PLOW AIDS HIS MASTER

This Time In Fighting Off Mad Dog

A news item from Montgomery a few days ago said: Defending his master from the attack of a mad dog, an ordinary cornfield mule seized the dog by the back of the neck and pitched him into an open well, where the dog was drowned within a few minutes.

The occurance took place on the farm of H. N. Smith at Cooper, Ala., according to information reaching the state laboratories.

After the mule had disposed of the mad dog, the carcass of the dog was in due time removed from the well and its head sent to the state laboratory here. Application of the usual test showed that the animal was infected with rabies. The two persons bitten by the dog will take the Pasteur treatment.

Strangely enough, the mule which killed the dog was not bitten. The well into which the dog was thrown was one from which water was drawn for livestock, it is understood.

Special Election

Gov. Brandon has called a special election for the date of the regular primary, Aug. 10, for filling the unexpired term of W. M. Wyatt, who resigned as representative from this county in the legislature.

The Republican executive committee will meet tomorrow and nominate a candidate for the position.

COMMISSIONERS COURT EXTENDS THANKS

Concerning New Road To The Soldiers' Home

The Commissioners court of Chilton county, take this opportunity of expressing their thanks to the people of Mountain Creek, for their courtesy, aid and assistance in obtaining a right of way for a highway from Mt. Creek to the Soldiers home.

We especially want to thank the different parties who own land over which the proposed road goes, who gave the county the right of way, also those who were so reasonable in pricing the damage to their crops and other damages.

L. H. Reynolds,
Judge of Probate.
J. M. Mims, A. P. Vinson, J. L. Burnette, T. J. Dorminey. Commissioners.

HEAVY ACREAGE IN COTTON IS PLANTED

Indications Now Point To Bumper Crop

Alabama farmers have planted 3,787,000 acres to cotton this year, according to the government report, released b yF. W. Gist, agricultural statistician. This is 7 per cent more than was planted last year.

The condition of cotton on June 25 in Alabama was78 per cent of normal, compared with 79 on the same date last year. It is 10 per cent above a 10 year average, it was report ed.

The acreage planted and growing on June 25 this year is the largest since 1914. In that year the boll weevil had not infested but a few counties in the southwest corner of the state, and the production of that year was 1,750,000 bales. By 1917 the weevil had extended over practically the entire state, and the acreage had been cut almost exactly in half.

From 1917 to date the increase in acreage has been steady, with two exceptions. In 1921 about 600,000 acres were left out of cotton, but were almost entirely recovered the followin gseason. A very slight reduction was experienced in 1924, and last year the increase amounted to nearly 13 per cent.

Notice For Parole

Notice is hereby given that Herbert Tomblin, who was convicted June 30th, 1916, in Chilton county court for burglary and sentenced to serve six years is applying for parole.

Consider The Man; Leave Off Prejudice

The political campaign in Alabama has steamed up to the point that the race for the governor's office seems to over-shadow practically every thing else; yet the voter should keep it constantly in mind that the governor's office is not by any means the only one of importance which demands his—or her—attention.

Don't overlook the importance of your own local or county offices. And in this connection, The News would bespeak the careful consideration of every Chilton county voter in behalf of the clean records, the honest character of the substantial and popular citizens now offering their services for public office on the local Democratic ticket.

The entire South—our dear old Dixie—innately is Democratic: the blood of our fathers drenched and hallowed the ground for that cause. Dixie and Democracy have marched hand in hand thru both sunshine and storm; through times that were gay and prosperous, and through times that were sad when the gaunt figure of poverty, famine and destruction stalked through our fair land, dealing death and rapine to its heroic defenders by those who held the power under authority of carpet-bag rule.

Democracy came into being as the poor man's friend, the white man's defender. Locally or otherwise, the principles are the same. And so it is today that there is not only a place in the South for the Democratic party, but the South is naturally and logically Democracy's permanent home. The whole country, as fo rthat matter, expects the South to hold true to the course as set by our forefathers: to defend the principles for which they were willing to sacrifice their lives; and any deviation from that course will accomplish nothing worthy for us.

Look over the list of candidates for local offices appearing in The News. Ask their neighbors or acquaintances about them. They are all good men, honest with their fellowman, and have the welfare and proper administration of the county's affairs sacredly at heart. And above all things, let's leave off political prejudice or personal spite in selecting men for office. Your own homeland demands this of you.

See Mrs. Curry for your work dresses.

What Is The Limit?

And the record is gradually growing: A Walker county youth, 17 years old, occupying the rear seat of a flivver, was shot and killed last week by a deputy stationed on the roadside, after the car had passed and the deputy claims that he called to the driver to stop—and then "only shot at the tires."

What moral, or constitutional right had that deputy to fire upon a car passing over a public highway, considering that the car was occupied by human beings?

Did not that deputy know that a variation of even the fractions of an inch meant a different hitting point for the bullet which could be measured in distances of feet?

Certainly he knew the car was occupied by human beings.

And a young life is erased from human activities—a life in the bloom of manhood and potential usefulness; a life just as dear and perhaps as full of promise and maybe, too, with all the responsibilities—and for what?

For the enforcement of the prohibition laws, of course.

"The deputy was looking for a rum runner car;" he "commanded the driver to discharge of pthis duty. It heed the summons—as to why probably no one knows, or will ever know, except the driver. He might have thought the deputy to be a highway robber.

Anyway, the driver didn't stop, and a life—innocent life?—was the price paid for that failure.

Did the deputy have any more-right to kill this boy for failing to stop upon his command, than the boy had to kill the deputy when he was halted on a public highway?

And has the enforcement of the prohibition law in Alabama arrived at the point where those in charge of it are given carte blanche to shoot any passer-by on the highways who may even be suspected of having whiskey in their car?

Moreover, is even the proven charge of whiskey possession a capital offence in Alabama? If so by common consent, then who shall declare justice upon the felon, the deputy or the regularly constituted judge?

Wouldn't you prefer taking the advice of experienced men who have made a study of the amount necessary to complete Alabama's system of improved highways, rather than rely on the guess of someone whose duties never required a more careful study of that system than perhaps the travel involved between his own bailiwick and an occasional trip over to County Line? John A. Rogers and the competent force of highway engineers assembled in his department are citizens of Alabama, "just as you and I," with the same honest and progressive impulses, and unless they stole the highway funds outright and temporarily enjoyed the spree, they would feel the effects of any unjust act of theirs just as would the public. Don't get the titles confused—as is evidently the purpose of some few Alabama newspapers: John A.Rogers and his official assistants are capable highway engineers; not highway robbers.

A man down at Speigner a few years ago got a pecan bug in his ear—figuratively. So in order to appease the insistent buzz of that bug, he selected a smooth plot of ground near the L. & N. station on which he set out probably 225 pecan shrubs. Passing that way a few days ago The News man asked a resident, "What success is the pecan man making?" 'He's doing pretty well, I'd say," said the resident; "His pecan sales amount to from $8,000 to $10,000 per year, and sometimes he makes seven to eight bales of cotton on the orchard.)' We still believe there's one bug that paid.

Congratulations to Victor Hanson as owner and Grover Hall as editor of "the old reliable," Grandma," the Montgomery Advertiser, the deal having been consummated last week when W. T. Sheehan sold his interest to Mr. Hanson, who now owns all title to the property. At the same time the large circle of friends of Mr. Sheehan, who has so faithfully and efficiently edited the Advertiser for many years past, while regretting to give him up as editor of the publication, trust that his health may be improved now that he will have time for more rest.

Will the time come in Alabama when good and honest and clean men will refuse to offer their names as candidates for office because of the mud-slinging slanderous campaign methods they know will be practiced against them? No, perhaps not, because conditions along this line could hardly have been worse than those back in the '90's. So there's still hope.

To take a drive over the rural roads of Chilton right now, when "agriculture is in full bloom," gives one a better hold on life. Corn, cotton and all the companion crops, including the gardens, probably never looked better and the tillers of the soil are to be congratulated upon their good and faithful work.

We imagine it a mighty hard job to convince oneself against any proposition looking toward improved highways, once that person has traveled over such a fine system as, for instance, the B. and M. through Chilton county.

Doubtless you read about it—that England last week hung one of its women citizens, after conviction of murder. Which reminds us that the more we read of the mother country, the better we like her offspring.

Some newspaper men in Alabama are scheduled for a full shot of crow directly after about one month hence, and we are wondering if they'll prove good sports.

Wonder if too much fried chicken will effect one's heart?—Alexander City Outlook. How the heck you gonna know when you get "too much fried chicken"?

Mud Slinging

The Montgomery Journal now proceeds to light into Archie Carmichael, a man who has proven himself to be a Christian gentleman, a man almost without any political faults. If the Montgomery Journal's attack amounted to anything, some one would resign. The Hon. A. H. Carmichael being the father of the state prohibition laws, should appeal to the Journal's way of seeing things; but then everything is not what it is stacked up to be when it comes to showing venom or satisfying one's spleen.—Luverne Journal.

Unfortunately there's lots of mud slinging being done by the daily press of Alabama pitted against Chas. McDowell for governor. And it is not only a wrong theory, but the reading public has grown wise to such campaign methods, and the papers indulging in such lose prestige—the force of what they say is lost in the companion thought that they are so unreasonable they cannot be believed, anyway.

McDowell is an honored and honorable citizen of Alabama, just as much so as any of the other candidates. He is progressive—he wants to see his state go forward in every way, including education, the building of improved highways, etc., he is big enough and broad enough to come out on a platform stating specifically what he favors and what he opposes in state governmental affairs. He favors and will give his official influence to the establishment of a regular nine months' school system; he favors a definite budget for the completion of improved highways for every citizen of or visitor to the state—and because of his stand in these matters so vitally affecting every citizen of the state, must he be villified and slandered as a political and moral mugwump, a man void of all patriotic and progressive, as well as honest, principles?

Charles S. McDowell is not that kind of a man—as plentiful records of his past life show. Mud slinging won't pay the price of the mud.

This is the season of the year when every industrial worker in Mississippi is wondering how he can save enough for transportation to the wheat fields of the West.

In one of our exchanges opposed to McDowell and the good roads issue we notice a death-gurgle squawk about the "tax payers" having to pay for John Rogers' trips over the state making speeches for the bond issue "and Charley McDowell." John Rogers made a speech for good roads in Clanton. And The News hereby offers to reimburse any amount John Rogers claimed from the state as expenses on that trip if it is shown that he claimed expenses for the trip fro mthe treasury. How 'bout it?

Dear Doctor:—I was near death's door and had tried doctors until I had about given up all hope. I was so nervous that I could not sleep, or eat. Lost weight and had all the symptoms of Pellagra. I took hypodermics but they did no good. I saw your advertisement in the paper and ordered one of your treatments. I began to improve from the start. I began your medicine Feby. 5th. 1926 and have gained 16 pounds. I feel perfectly well. I wish all Pellagra sufferers knew what your medicine did for me

The Duty Of The Federal Government

To Provide Post-Roads Over Which The Mails Are Carried

The constitution of the United states grants the power to congress "to establish postoffices and post-roads." This grant of power by the states to the United states to establish postoffices and post-roads imposed the duty to exercise the power The power and duty of congress as to post-roads are not different from its power and duty as to postoffices. It is under this grant of power that the federal government has exclusive control of the mails of the United states. The federal government has well exercised the power and discharged the duty as to postoffices; but it has not fully or adequately exercised its power or discharged its duty as to post-roads.

Post roads are roads over which the mails are carried. As for rural post-roads, the federal government has for a hundred years wholly neglected to exercise this power and utterly failed to discharge this duty. At first, when the government was weak, without force or funds, it attempted to exercise the power and to discharge the duty; but when railroads were invented the government ceased to exercise the power or to discharge the duty; except to grant aid to railroad companies for the construction of railroads over which the mails should be carried. It is true that congress has passed what are known as state aid acts, by which it has made appropriations for aiding the states in constructing highways. This, however, is not an adequate or bona fide exercise of this power or discharge of this duty.

Similar grants to aid the states in providing post-offices, postmasters and mail carriers for carrying the mails would certainly not be considered an adequate or bona fide exercise of power or discharge of the duty; yet the language conferring the power and imposing the duty is the same as to post-roads as it is as to postoffices. If this failure of the federal government could be said to be excusable when the mails were chiefly carried by rail or by water, it is no longer excusable when the mode of transportation has so changed from rail and water to motor vehicles on ordinary dirt roads. Congress should, to the extent of its power and ability, exericse this power and discharge this duty. Money cannot be appropriated for any public purpose that would be of greater benefit to the federal government to the states and to the people thereof, than in an adequate and bona fide exercise of this power and discharge of this duty. It would enable the mails to be transported at less expense, more frequently, and almost, if not quite, as rapidly as by rail. It would give the rural mail carriers better facilities, better equipment, and it would enable the government to give them much better compensation than they now obtain under the present system. Enoromus sums now paid to railroad companies for this purpose could be distributed among the numerous mail carriers, and the people would have better service. If the federal government would only appropriate an amount equal to the revenue it receives from the manufacture and sale of motor vehicles and their accessories, it would only be a few years until permanent and adequate roads would be built wherever the mails are carried. This alone, of course, would not be adequate; but used in connection and in conjunction with the appropriations of the states, it would be but a short time until the United states would be well provided with permanent, concrete or asphalt highways wherever the mails go. The United states receives annually hundreds of millions of dollars in revenue from those sources, which ought to be appplied to post-roads. Every man who buys an automobile, who buys tires, gases or other accessories, pays a part of this tax. For what better purpose could the tax on motor vehicles and their accessories be used than for the construction and maintenance of roads upon which they are to be used? The people of Alabama pa yto the federal government a great deal more in taxes on motor vehicles and their accessories than the state receives as federal aid for the construction of roads.

These post-roads, when constructed, would also be of first importance to commerce, both inter and intra state; of first importance to manufacture, to agriculture and the general prosperity of the country; and of first importance for military purposes in that they would afford the most efficient means for the transportation of men and munitions in the defence of the united states against foreign foes. It was such a system of roads which made Germany almost invincible, and it was such a system of roads, built witth American money and by American engineers, which prevented the fall of Paris, in the World war. The roads over which th emails are to be carried would, in the main, be the same roads used for military purposes in case of war, and for the transportation of commerce of all kinds.

If the federal government would only make appropriations of the amount it receives annually in revenue from motor vehicles and their accessories, and make a bona fide effort to discharge this duty, the amount of federal aid thus obtained, added to or in conjunction with an adequate bond issue if the people will confer such authority upon the state when intelligently and judiciously would in a very few years give Alabama a net work of concrete and asphalt roads equal to that of any state or nation.

I hav given this subject much though and study. It is a subject which is very dear to my heart and in which I am greatly interested; and, if elected to the United states senate, I will use my best efforts and greatest endeavors to have congress exercise this power and discharge this duty which the constitution has expressly conferred and imposed upon it. I can see no reason, theoretical or practical, why this power should not be exercised and this duty discharged; and when it is done, it will be of greater and more lasting benefit to the state of Alabama and the people thereof than any other one thin gthat congress may accomplish during the next 10 years.

WILL ELIMINATE BAD CROSSING

Road Body Also Asked To Extend Chilton Road

Among other things concerning the question Tuesday's Montgomery Journal said: The state highway commission Tuesday took action looking to the elimination of a bad grade crossing at Montevallo. This action was taken after a delegation headed by Dr. O .C. Carmichael, president of Alabama college, had appeared before the commission and urged action.

The commission ordered a survey looking to elimination of the crossing by a viaduct, and also paving about ten blocks from the intersection of the Calera-Wilton highway near the depot to the eastern gate to the college campus. Th commission's resolution provided that this work, if the cost does not exceed $40,000, shall be done out of present highway funds It is expected that the Southern railroad will co-operate.

Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds of Chilton countty asked that the gravel road being built between Mountain Creek and the Soldiers home be extended west about a quarter of a mile to the Birmingham - Montgomery paved highway. The only objection raised to this was that it involves a crossing of the Louisville and Nashville railroad tracks Judge pointed out that there is already a road crossing there, which must be kept up for the benefit of citizens. The commission voted to make an investigation and take action at a meeting to be held July 28.

CHAINED HIS SON TO BED FOR DAYS

Heartless Father Says Son Stole Candy

Baton Rouge, La July 10.—Chained to his bed for three days, Alex Utz, 12 year old son of J. T. Utz, was rescued here late today when police were summoned by one of Alex's playmates

The boy's father who declared that he was punishing the lad for running away and stealing candy from his store, was charged with assault and battery, and released under a $1,000 bond.

Examination of the boy revealed painful bruises where the chains had bound him, around the neck, wrists and ankles, four padlocks had been used by the father in the intricate network of iron links which bound the boy.

Election Tuesday

On next Tuesday the special election will be held in Chilton to determine the question of a tax of 10 cents upon each one hundred dollars worth of property, the tax to go for school purposes. The tax would operate for a period of ten years.

TO BEGIN SURVEY OF SPEIGNER ROAD

Means Paving Of Speigner Wetumpka Road

In an item concerning the meeting of the highway commission Monday the Montgomery Advertiser says:

A large delegation of citizens of Wetumpka and surrounding sections presented a petition signed by numerous citizens askin gthe commission to begi n asurvey at once of the highway from Wetumpka via Elmore to Speigner with a view to paving this route. The commission looked with favor on the request and surveying party will be in the field at once.

The state of Alabama, through the convict department, has asked the commission to pave this road which will give the state a paved road from its Kilby prison properties, via its Wetumpka prison and Elmore to its prison at Speigner. This road when paved will connect with the present Birmingham - Montgomery highway at Speigner and will open up a ne wroute to Birmingham. The paving on a portion of this route from Montgomery to Wetumpka will be completed during the present year.

The convict department has informed the highway commission that it wil lstand ready to cooperate in constructing this highway with convict labor and this proved a factor, the commission said in ordering a survey at once.

AFTER LONG DELAY JUSTICE TRIUMPHS

But Two Innocent Men Die In Prison

Montgomery, Ala. July 10.—Though the innocent must somteimes suffer for crimes they did not commit, proof of the innocence of the innocent often demonstrates that the immutable spirit of justice does not slumber, and as surely as day follows night will triumph at last.

This mysterious law that has asserted itself countless times down through the ages brought freedom to John Murchison and Cleo Staten, Marshall county negroes, through executive clemency, fully 24 hours before the affidavit stating they did not kill John Henry McLendon, a white man, more than six years ago, was filed in the Marshall circuit court.

Wednesday Gov. Brandon, on recommendation of the state board of pardons, the trial judge and the prosecuting solicitor, granted paroles to Murchison and Staten. On the morning of the day following, there apeared in the state press, the news of the filing of the affidavit, declaring the negroes who were convicted ofthemurder of McLendon, and sentenced to imprisonment for life.

Justice came too late, however, for the other two prisoners to benefit by it Both of these others died in prison. All had been convicted Oct. 1, 1920, of murder in the first degree and given life terms.

J. J. Mayfield

Candidate for U. S. Senate

The Mayfield speaking bureau was organized about ten days ago and has been very active during the past week. Twenty speeches were made last week in the interest of Judge Mayfield's candidacy for the United states senate. Judge Mayfield is ably assisted by Judge Leon McCord, probably the best political speaker in the south. Judge McCord spoke through the seventh district in North Alabama last week, and says that it will go for Mayfield. Having been born and reared in that section of the state, there is no one better able to judge of conditions there, than Judge McCord.

T. B. Hill Jr., well known Montgomery attorney, who carried off the oratorical honors at the University of Alabama, is also speaking for Judge Mayfield. He spoke to a fine crowd at Pine Level and LaPine last week, and a large representation from Creenshaw county was present. It was absolutely a Mayfield crowd, and no mistake. After the speaking hardly a car left without a Mayfield sticker. Judge McCord wound up with two speeches as he returned from North Alabama; one at Oneonta, Blount county, the other at Verbena the same night. There were splendid crowds at both places.

Judge McCord stated that he was delighted to find Blount county in such fine shape for Mayfield. Chilton county will also go for Mayfield, the Judge having lived four years at Mountain Creek, where he is well known and liked.

Hon. Russell P. Coleman, who is likewise a prize orator of the University of Alabama, spoke to a big crowd at Clanton and at Vinegar Bend, Washington county, on Thursday of this week. Plantersville barbecue was also covered by a Mayfield speech.

Judge Mayfield spoke to packed houses in Pickens county at Gordo and Reform; he also spoke in Lamar county at Vernon and Millport during the week and says that things are certainly coming his way.

Hon. W. W. Sanders, of Elba, Coffee county, spoke at the fourth of July picnic at Lochart, Alabama in the interest of Judge Mayfield. M.r Sanders is a trained speaker, and had a big crowd.

Judge McCord spoke in Monroeville, Friday, and on Sat urday spoke in Excel at 10:00 a. m., and Jones Mill, 3:00 p. m. Last night T. B. Hill Jr., spoke at Ramer, and Judge Mayfield made two speeches in Limestone county Montgomery dispatch of Saturday.

LEGISLATURE MAY BE CALLED AUG. 17

For Purpose Of Submitting Bond Issue

A dispatch from the Birmingham Age-Herald bureau at Montgomery in that paper of Wednesday said:

Alabama's legislature will be called into extra session Tuesday August 17, for the purpose of submitting another road bond issue to the voters of Alabama, according to the statement of John A Rogers, chairman of the state highway commission made to a delegation of citizens of Houston and Henry counties Tuesday.

Mr. Rogers did not go into details regarding the extra session. He had told the delegation that no funds were available for the construction of a highway from Dothan to Columbiana, and, speaking directly to Sam M. Dunwoody, representative of Henry county in the legislature, said that he and other members would be called to Montgomery August 17 for the purpose of submitting anotehr amendment.

BUMPER CORN CROP IS NOW INDICATED

Prospect For Over 44 Million Bushels

Auburn, July 13.—The outstanding feature of the regular monthly crop preport issued for Alabama by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician, is the prospect for baout seven million bushels more corn than were produced last year. On a slightly reduced acreage the present condition is reported as 86 per cent of normal, which indicates an average acre yield of 16 bushels over the state. This iyeld if finally obtained will be the best corn crop in Alabama for many years. Present prospects are for a total production of 44,678,000 bushels of corn compared with 37,760,000 bushels last year. The entire state seems to be enjoying this prospect for a splendid corn yield.

Three thousand acres were added to the area harvested to oats this year, and the crop harvested is estimated at 2,947,000 bushels, compared iwth 2,227,000 bushels harvested last year. These figures do not include the oats cut and used as hay. Spring sown oats this year averaged 18 bushels per acre, while fall sown averaged 25 bushels, making a generall average of 21 bushels for the entire acreage.

Farmers express an intention to cut and save hay from about 30,000 more acres than last year, and present indications point to a total hay crop of 540,000 tons, compared with 422,000 tons saved last year. Since considerably less peanut hay will be available his year, the increase will come from soybeans, cowpeas, and grasses. Should the indicated crop be finally obtained, it will be still very much short of what Alabama farms ought to have for home use.

BIBB COUNTY SITE FOR FOREST TOWER

First Of Four Stands Goes To Centreville

Montgomery, Ala. July 10.—First of a series of four forest protection watch towers to be established in Alabama, will soon be erected in Bibb county ,according to Col. Page S. Bunker, state forester, who returned to Montgomery Friday from Bibb county, where he selected a site for the first of the towers. The location chosen, he said, is a hill about 600 feet high, situated about six miles east of Centreville.

The tower which will be of steel construction will be 80 feet high and the combined elevation of hill and tower will command a wide view of the surrounding country, which is heavily wooded. From this vantage point forest fires may occur over an area of many square miles of timberland may be discerned easily and work launched to bring the blaze under control before it gains any appreciable headway.

Col. Bunker said that in future months similar watch towers will be erected in the timbered sections of Covington county and Sumpter county, and that another such tower will be located in either Clarke or Washington.

During the season in which forest fires occur most frequently in Alabama forets rangers will make daily observations from these towers.

BIG FISH CAUGHT AT MITCHELL DAM

One Weighing 56, Another 65 Pounds

C. A. Pruit. L. W. Echols, C. E. Parker, C. C. Bridges and Dudley Tomme of Notasulga returned from a three day's fishing trip at Mitchell Dam with a huge blue catfish, 47 inches long and weighing 56 pounds, to show as part of their catch.

The fish was hooked about three and a half miles up the river from the dam in a backwater at W. L. Kirkland's camp. The big cat is one of the largest ever caught by Notasulga fishermen.

The above Notasulga news item fails to measure up to the weight of a big catfish brought to Clanton a few days ago from the same locality, and which was exhibited on the streets here for a while. It is said the one brought hre weighed 65 lbs.

North Carolina Was Not Afraid

It appears to The News that the opposition to both McDowell and the proposed bond issue has brought its line of fire down to the school kid tactics of "you did—you did—you did!" For every time an inaccuracy of its accusations has been brought to the attention of that opposition, it merely shouts, "you did—you did you did!" Most notably perhaps is the case of North Carolina, issuing one hundred and twenty millions of dollars for its road improvement work along lines of the Alabama bond issue proposal.

Once a voter thoroughly understands just how the proposition would work, and his opposition to it fades. When you understand that those who use gasoline will pay for the road improvement—and then the tax increase will be so slightt, a total of only three cents per gallon; that no other property can be taxed for this purpose; that no bonds then can be sold—no obligations made upon the gas consuming public until a sufficient fund has been collected with which to pay the interest and set aside a safe payment on the principal of what it is proposed to sell, and that the greatest support for the issue is to be found in the ranks of those who use the greatest amount of gasoline, it is difficult to see the point of view of those opposed to the measure.

So far as "trusting" the money in the hands of Mr. McDowell or Mr. Rogers is concerned, neither has ever been accused of theft, they are honorable, upright gentlemen in every sense of the word, and though either might have the opportunity of "plundering" the road funds, they'd be just as far from such an act as any other citizen of the state—regardless of his name or position in life. Such safeguards are a part of the proposition, anyway, that if the funds were diverted to any other purpose than that for which they were intended, the whole country would be aware of it within less than twenty-four hours.

Lots of hollering is being done; smoke screens are promiscuous, but the voter of average intelligence is able to see through it all. The people want good roads; those of us who do the most riding over them are the more anxious to pay their pro rata for road improvement. Chas. McDowell goes before his people with not only a clean and serviceable record in their behalf, but with a definite, prompt and least expensive program for the completion of our highway system so that Alabama people now living and those to come may enjoy it and profit by it.

Get into the parade to honor a man with such constructive principles.

Bankhead Should Withdraw

There is a rumor among the conservatives that they should consolidate on one candidate. The feeling seems to be quite general that this should be done.

Of all the senatorial candidates, none in the race has the public endorsement behind him that Judge Mayfield has. Twenty five hundred men and women volunteered in Montgomery to sign the Mayfield club to promote his candidacy. Three thousand in Tuscaloosa, one thousand in Mobile and twenty five hundred in Jefferson county have similarly organized. The News believes it safe to say he has the second choice vote of the state.

Judge Mayfield has forged ahead, and the time has come for Bankhead's friends to get him out of the rac and cease to muddy the waters.

For nearly half a century the Bankheads have had a seat in congress, and still have. They are now seeking another, which, to fair minded people, seems unnecessary. Mr. Bankhead represents a large corporate interest, and therefore cannot consistently represent all the people. Judge Mayfield is acknowledged to be the best qualified man in the state, and represents no class, clan or creed, but all the people.

There is a strong sentiment in the state that someone should get out of the race, and Bankhead is the man to do this.

Mr. Bankhead has had some severe blows in his campaign. He expected to get the Hanson papers, but failed. His friends put out the report that in due time he would get the Underwood support, but Mr. Underwool declined to indorse any candidate to succeed himself.

Then Mr. Bankhead engaged in one of the most absurd performances ever pulled off in the political history of Alabama; that is, the joint debate on Muscle Shoals, wherein Mr. Bankhead and Mr. Kilby debated which loved Mr. Ford the most. The whole state was disgusted at the spectacle of two outstanding public men debating for three days an offer of Henry Ford which had been withdrawn three and a half years ago.

In desperation Mr. Bankhead attacked Black in Bessemer, and all he got for his pains was the loss of any second choice votes he may have had in the Black ranks. Walker county is conceded to Musgrove, and no man who hasn't his home county behind him can hope to win in a state election.

Now the time has arrived adn we believe it is the general opinion that Mr. Bankhead should come out of the race and let Judge Mayfield lead the conservative forces to victory.

In making this suggestion The News feels that it is trying to serve not only the best interests of all the people, but all the candidates for senatorial honors. Of course, we recognize the fact that this is an open field and any man has a right to make the race. It is said without the slightest malice or political prejudice toward Mr. Bankhead, and we hope that influential friends of his may see things in the same light—and so inform him.

Would Hit Farmers, Too

Referring to Mr. Patterson, the Birmingham News says: One of the gubernatorial candidates now in the race claims if he is elected he will see tha tthe Clause "A" railroads of this state pay the same average tax per mile for railroads as paid in ten other southern states, viz., $1,072 per mile, but he does not say in his campaign speeches, or propaganda issued, whether or not any of the other southern states have a law that fixes assessed values below 100 per cent.

So, while Alabama has such law, and 60 per cent of the $1,072 would be $643.20, and as she is now collecting $646 in taxes per mile, this is $2.80 per mile more under this state's la wthan is being collected by other states.

Does this candidate advocate advancing all valuations to 100 per cent basis? Evidently he does, as the law applies alike to all and it could be hardly made applicable to the railroads and not apply to all owners of property. In his advocacy the farmers would be the greatest sufferers—as well as others.

Worth Remembering

In Chilton county the state has constructed 33.64 miles of concrete pavement at a total cost of $1,147,912.24, and is building 1.04 miles of gravel road from the Soldiers home to Mountain Creek at a cost of $8,824.43, making a total expenditure for Chilton county of $1,156,736.67.

Chilton's quota of the proposed $75,000,000 will be $756,967.76.

Within the next year it is said by those in position to know an air mail line will be established out of Birmingham for points nortth and south. Doubless one of these lines will be routed soutth via Clanton, Montgomery, Mobile, etc., Clanton has now assumed the position of a very important small city. Would it not be a good idea to place all the facts necessary before the federal air officials seeking the establishment of Clanton upon the regular air mail schedule when the system is inaugurated? To say the least of it, such a place on the schedule would provide a tremendous source of advertising.

The Coosa county commissioners from the probate judge down have added their approval to the long list of endorsements of the McDowell-Rogers road plan, saye the Montgomery Advertiser. Coosa is a rural county. It needs easy access to markets. Coosa knows that its one way to speed up the arrival of prosperity is to line the county with modern roads.

When you "lose your head" politically it may mean that you are depriving some worthy candidate of your support.

They Offer Nothing

There's no getting away from it: a vote for McDowell is a vote for good roads during your lifetime. A vote for anyone else now before the people is a vote against such a consummation. What do otehr candidates offer Baldwin county in the way of road development, anyway? What do they? Search it out for yourself.—Baldwin Times Bay Minette.

"I am broke and no job. Not a living relative on earth, family dead. Will be better off after its all over." So writing a stranger in Birmingham took his own life. The first words of this poor man's story tell the tale—they are the keynote to the cause of his act. "I am broke and no job"—no hope for anything better. There are no sadder words than these.

Notice

Notice is hereby given that the Democratic party of the state of Alabama desires to, and will, enter the state primary to be held on the 2nd Tuesday in August 1926, it being the 10th day of said month, for the purpose of nominating a candidate, or candidates for the following offices:

Dr. W. C. Rountree,
Texarkana, Texas.

Dear Doctor:—I was near death's door and had tried doctors until I had about given up all hope. I was so nervous that I could not sleep, or eat. Lost weight and had all the symptoms of Pellagra. I took hypodermics but they did no good. I saw your advertisement in the paper and ordered one of your treatments. I began to improve from the start. I began your medicine b'by. 5th. 1926 and have gained 16 pounds. I feel perfectly well. I wish all Pellagra sufferers knew what your medicine did for me.

WHOLE NATION LOOKS ON BIG AUTO FIGHT

Ford Supremacy Challenged By Chevrolet

Detroit, June 28.— For the first time in history the supremacy of Henry Ford in the cheap car field is being challenged.

The challenger is the General Motors Co. and the car used is the Chevrolet.

The resulting industrial warfare is expected to shake the automobile production world to its foundations. The conflict has been waging since January when Chevrolet embarked on a scale of production that means 1,000,000 cars a year.

The recent price slash on Fords was the latest development in the most spectacular conflict the auto has known in a decade.

The Ford announcement failed to create a thrill from a price reduction point of view. What really was the apparent admission that the Ford company is being too closely pressed for comfort and that, in order to hold and increase trade, something had to be done and price slash resulted.

The industry is keenly watching to see what answer the General Motors Co. will make, through the Chevrolet, to the latest Ford move.

The production and sales of Chevrolet, since the General Motors began really exploiting the car in earnest have been sensational. Beginning with a production of 25,000 cars in January, the monthly schedule has been pushed up to 70,000 cars for June and before January 1, 1927, is expected to be more than 100,000.

Ford does not make public his production figures, but it is known that officials are far from satisfied. Output is much below the capacity of his plants here.

There are many rumors to Ford's future plans for his car, but nothing definite has yet been learned.

Mrs. Curry invites inspection of quality of material, substantial workmanship, artistic designing and reasonableness of prices of Franchon frocks.

Windbreaks to Protect the Crops and Orchard

That windbreaks are, as a whole, an asset, particularly in regions with little rainfall and where strong, drying winds are frequent, is shown by studies made by the United States Department of Agriculture. Windbreaks protect grain crops and orchards from mechanical injury by the wind, reduce evaporation of moisture from the soil, protect farm buildings from the extremes of winter and summer weather, and may also be a source of wood for farm use or sale. The ideal windbreak would have the tallest trees planted in the central rows; on either side rows of shorter trees; and outside of these, low bushes or cedars.

Strong Ewe Best Buy

The ewe to buy is the strong, healthy ewe with a straight, broad back and sound udder, sound teeth and a heavy fleece of reasonable fineness. Such an ewe when bred to a good Shropshire or Hampshire ram may be depended on to produce a good lamb. Ewes four to six years old produce the best lambs and are easier to handle, but are not worth as much money as yearlings because they are too near the end of their usefulness.

Head Of National Anti-Saloon League

In Birmingham to See His Friend and Associate, L. B. Musgrove

Supt. McBride Says They Need Prohibitionists of Musgrove's Type in Washington

Birmingham Age - Herald, July 8.

Assailing Senator Reed, of Mississippi, F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, Tuesday denounced the present congressional investigation of the league as an absurdity. Mr. McBride, who stopped in Birmingham to meet L. B. Musgrove, of Jasper, was on his way from Columbus, Ohio, to North Carolina on business for the league.

Referring to rumors that Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel and legislative representative would resign his post, McBride asserted "that Wayne will be on the job until he is dead." He especially commended Wheeler's attitude in cross examination at Washington recently.

Concerning his visit here, McBride gave out the following statement:

"I am on my way from Columbus, Ohio, to North Carolina and have stopped off in Birmingham to see Hon. L. B. Musgrove, one of the best friends the prohibition cause has in the United states. Mr. Musgrove is an active member of our national executive committee and his keen business sense has been of great value to the cause.

"I have just come from Washington, having left there last Saturday. It is clear that the wets are putting forth the biggest fight they have waged since the amendment was ratified. They have clearly revealed the fact that they are now planning to put up the biggest fight they have ever made to bring back beer, and whiskey later on. The head of the association against prohibition testified today before the senate committee that they were seeking a fund of $300,000 to fight senators and congressmen who stand for the dry side in this year's elections. This indicates we are facing the hardest fight in history on the question It has taken the liquor people some time to get reorganized in their fight against prohibition because when the saloons closed, while they still had some help from the brewers who hoped to get back, they lost much of their revenue. There were 17,000 saloons in Illinois, where I used to be superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, and they used to assess as high as $100 per saloon for a single campaign. They have now, however, succeeded in building a new organization to renew the old fight. Judging the future by the past we can easily see how they will spend their money and we can see a hard five year's struggle before us to prevent a return of the saloon traffic.

"The great need at Washington is not for those who will merely vote right, but for militant and effective men at the capital who can be counted on to help the prohibition cause in committee, on the floor an deverywhere." Paid political adv. by Musgrove Campaign Committee.

An Appeal To Alabama Voters

By Two Prominent W. C. T. U. Women

L. B. Musgrove

To Our Thoughtful and Faithful W. C. T. U. Women:

The time for helping in the fight to keep the 18th Amendment as it stands in the constitution is here—in the election of U. S. Senator.

Some try to make us believe there will be no effort to change this law. If we have eyes to see or read, and ears to hear, we know that this is not true. Some would have us believe that any man running would fight to keep this law as it stands. But, is that true? Would they do it? What are their former records? What did they do to get that law, what have they done since to keep it inviolate? What would they do in Washington if there came a choice between keeping the 18th Amendment or procuring a favorable vote on some pet political measure of their own? What would they do to prevent insertion of some catch word amendment which would push in the innocent looking little wedge, sharp and thin at the beginning but broad and wide a the end?

Do we want to try some new unproved man in this crucial time, some man with untried promises of what he will do, or do we need some man whom we have already tried and who has stood the test, has had the experience and has shown that when our interests for Constitutional Prohibition are endangered, all other considerations vanish?

A man who stands upright and unafraid and who will fight as he has before for the principles we hold so dear?

We know absolutely that effort is being made to bring on light wines and beer. We as thoughtful, conscientious members of the W. C. T. U., believe that Mr. L. B. Musgrove the man to lead our fight—the man who has proven to us in the past his steadfast devotion to our cause of education, and who was one of the few outstanding men who worked untiringly to secure the passage of the 18th Amendment.

We do not believe it necessary to encourage our members to vote and work for Mr. Musgrove, but we want them to get their friends and allied organizations to do likewise. We believe that we will further our cause and the other important causes of our state and nation if we enthusiastically work in every way for the election of Mr. Musgrove. We believe that if we do not do this, we will one day regret that in this time of peril we forgot our most faithful friend.

Loyally yours,

Mrs. F. M. Jackson.

BEATEN TO DRAW, JOHNSON IS DEAD

Sylacauga Police Kills A Prominent Resident

Sylacauga, July 20.—Beaten to the draw by only a few seconds, Ralph W. Johnson, automobile dealer and son of the late L .P. Johnson, former mayor of Sylacauga, was shot through the forehead Tuesday morning in the city clerk's office by Patrolman U. H. Lakey. He lied in two hours.

Jack Person, chief of police was shot in the left arm by a stray bullet from Lakey's gun, suffering a flesh wound.

The shooting occurred in a small room, 14 by 20 feet, with six other men beside the principals. It was said to be the outgrowth of an altercation between Johnson and Lakey, Monday afternoon, which terminated when Lakey struck Johnson with his blackjack.

Johnson had just been tried before Mayor P .L. Moseley on charges of operating an automobile while intoxicated and resisting an officer. The charges were preferred by Lakey. Mayor Mosely suspended Johnson's driving license for 30 days.

Just as the trial ended Johnson declared he was not satisfied and "would settle with Lakey." With that his hand went to his hip pocket, it is said, Lakey snatched his gun from the holster and fired several times. One bullet struck Johnson squarely in the forehead, the other hit the chief of police in the arm.

Crash On Highway

A blowout in the front wheel of a Nash five miles north of Clanton Monday landed the car in a ditch alongside the roadway and its occupants, Rev. A. DeAlbeigo and his wife and children, Clement, Light, Jean, Andrew and Sylvia, in the Clanton infirmary Monday. They were on a vacation trip to the Gulf Coast, and after medical attention all were able to leave the hospital.

State Administration Is Defended By Brandon

Greenville, Ala., July 17.—A militant, fighting governor gave an account of his administration here Saturday before an audience of approximately 1,000 voters of Butler county, who waxed enthusiastic as his address proceeded and who gave him an overwhelming ovation as it concluded.

Governor Brandon faced an audience which at first was a little inclined to speculate on what he would have to say. As he proceeded with his speech, attention became more pronounced and the hundreds who could not find a seat stood where they were and heard him to the end.

Following are some of the striking excerpts from Gov. Brandon's speech:

Every promise which I made to the people has been kept.

I promised that I would not raise tares on farms and homes except where improvements and increased values demand it. They were not raised.

I promised to abolish tax adjustors and stop arbitrary assessment of taxes by agents This was done.

I promised that certain tax exempt properties would be taxed. This was done. Today $35,000,000 of the Alabama Power company's property is on the tax books.

I promiesd that there would be no backward step in education. During my administration school revenues increased on an average of $4,000,000 a year. Education has received $18,968,640 more money from my administration than it received in the four years before I went into office. Is that a backward step?

I promised to take no backward step in taxing railroads. I have increased their assessments $12,360,572 without litigation.

My party platform promised that the port of Mobile would be built. The port is being wisely and economically built.

I promised to increase Confederate pensions. Every Confederate soldier has been put on the pension list, and the size of his pension doubled.

When I retire in January there will be a surplus in the treasury of $2,000,000.

By January I will have retired $2,700,000 of road bonds.

I do not recall an instance where I have paroled a violator of the law that was not recommended by either the trial judge, the solicitor and the board of pardons, besides leading citizens.

There are no state prisoners now leased to coal companies.

The $25,000,000 bond issue was opposed by the same reactionaries that are opposing the proposed $75,000,000.

Is not $75,000,000 rather too little than too much.

EIGHTY GEORGIA STATE BANKS CLOSE

Investigation On As To Conduct Of Parent Bank

Atlanta, Ga. July 17.—While the state banking department investigated the affairs of 80 state banks which have closed their doors in Georgia since last Monday, receivers for the Bankers' Trust company, financing agent for a chain of 120 banks in Georgia and Florida, today prepared the records of the corporation for presentation before the Fulton county grand jury next Tuesday.

The grand jury investigation into the affairs of the Bankers' Trust company was ordered by Judge G. H. Howard. Several stockholders in the corporation had complained about expenditures of funds by officials.

Five small banks in Florida all said to have been dependent on the Bankers' Trust company for funds, have also closed their doors. A sixth bank closed yesterday, but whether it belonged to the chain was not officially known today.

The closing of the banks was climaxed yesterday by suicide of J. R. Smith, president of the Atlanta real estate board and a director of the Bankers' Trust company. Mr. Smith's act was attributed to worry over financial reverses.

OFFICERS GO WILD ON RAIDED BOOZE

Sample Too Much With Bad Results

Muskogee, Okla., July 20.—Four persons were shot and wounded, two seriously, and eight others severely clubbed by two Muskogee officers who early Tuesday became crazed by liquor secured in raids and ran amuck in three hotels.

The officers, Paul Davis, a deputy sheriff, and Ves Cormack, city detective, ran about the halls of the hotels battering down doors and firing at guests as they lay in bed.

When their ammunition became exhausted they beat their victims with clubs and smashed windows and fixtures.

Fellow officers, responding to a riot call, were forced to shoot Davis several times in a fight to overpower him.

80 Years Old, Hung

Columbia, Miss., July 16—Jeff Wallace, 80 year old white man, was hanged in the Marion county jail here today for the murder of his wife. He was the father of 19 children.

The trap was sprung at 12 o'clock and he was pronounced dead ten minutes later.

BATES IMPROVING HOME SIDEWALK

Constructing Cement Walk Ways On Two Sides of Home

Work is progressing on the new cement sidewalks on the south and west sides of the home of H. M. Bates, Third avenue, between Third and Fourth streets. Dr. Gowan recently completed the cement walkway on the east side of his residence, just one block away, and when the work on Mr. Bates sidewalk is completed, there will be a continuous cement walkway from the business section of town to and around Mr. Bates' property.

The News understands Mr. Bates will soon have concrete walkways laid around some of his other property in this section, and that others will possibly do likewise.

SHINGLES AND BOBS PUZZLE U. S. ARMY

How Can Nurse's Cap Be Made to Stick On

Washington, July 17.—The "shingle" and the "bob" form the basis of the latest proble mwhich confronts the army general staff.

So many army nurses have cut their hair short that the surgeon general and the quartermaster general are looking around for a new style hat for them which will be both becoming and serviceable.

The present regulation sailor is to be abandoned because it cannot be anchored securely to bobbed tresses, and a modified overseas cap has been suggested as a substitute.

JEFFERS RETURNS TO WASHINGTON

Would Be Glad To Hear From Home Folk

Major Lamar Jeffers, congressman from this district leaves today for Washington, D. C., to attend to departmental matters in the interest of his constituents.

Major Jeffers keeps his office in Washington open all the year round to handle the correspondence and business from this district. The matters requiring his attention in Washington at this time will probably keep him at his office for several weeks, and at the end of that time he will return home to go over the district, he states.

Congressman Jeffers advises that he will be glad to hear from any of his constituents who may have any matters they wish to take up with him, if they will write him at his office: Room 387, House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

MERCHANT KILLED BY OWN TRAP GUN

Had Set a Death Trap In His Store

Clio, Ala. July 17.—Bart Lassiter, 42, merchant who lived at Elamville, near here, was shot to death by a trap gun which he himeslf had set to protect the store agaisnt burglars.

The gun was located inside the sto erand pointed toward the main door. Forgetful of the trap he had set, Mr. Lassiter is reported to leave opened the door and started in the building. He was met by a load of shot which struck him near the heart. Death was instant.

The trap is said to have been set by the proprietor because several times in recent weeks burglars have entered or attempted to enter his store.

INVESTIGATION IS REALLY TOO REAL

Runs Arm Into Home Of Big Copperhead

Jasper, July 16.—The next time a dog of F. L. Bobo of Marylee trees something in a hollow tree, Bobo will probably all low that something to stay treed.

For Bobo was confined to his home Thursday recovering from the serious bite of a copperhead snake.

Bobo's dog sniffed something in a hollow tree.. Bobo thrust his arm up the hollow and was bitten by the big copperhead which later escaped. Bobo's hand and arm were badly swollen before anti-toxin treatment could be administered.

Birthday Party

Miss Eloise Raspbery was hostess to the future beaux and belles Monday when she celebrated her eight birthday. For this occasion the hostess wore a very chic dress of pink georgette. Games were enjoyed on the lawn then a contest was held pinning on the rabbits tail in which Miss Elizabeth McSwain was the winner. She was presented with a box of candy.

A color scene of pink and white was used in the dining room. Eight pink candles decorated the lovely birthday cake. In cutting the cake Rosemary Pickens won the ring Hilda Hart the thimble, Mary Sue Jones the dime and Elizabeth McSwain the button.

First Open Cotton

What is thought to be the first open bolls of cotton to be gathered from fields in Geneva county this year was reported Monday by Ed Jones, farmer, who resides near Samson.

Mr. Jones says that as far as he knows he is the first farmer in that section of the state to exhibit open bolls of cotton at this time of the year. —Montgomery Advertiser, Tuesday.

McDowell Plan Is Constructive Plan

Whether it's the Breed plan or the Bidgood plan, or the Patterson plan or the McDowell plan, or the Rogers plan for building roads, it must be admitted that it's the Money plan that accomplishes the results.

There is no reason for cluttering up the minds of the people with half a dozen or more different plans for road building—leave that for competent road engineers and builders, and let's get back to the fundamental of whether or not we want to put up the money necessary for the construction of an uptodate highway system in Alabama.

It doesn't make any difference as to who you are, you know it will take money to do this. Again, you as a tax payer of any sort would want such roads constructed at as little cost to the tax payer as possible.

The pay as you wait plan of Mr. Patterson would do very well if you wish to invest your money for this purpose in a kind of endowment fund for the benefit of coming generations, while you occupy the silent stretches of the tomb—building a mile or two in Chilton this year and waiting until the branch of finances rises again to get another mile or two constructed, et cetera over the counties.

But we are living in a day when the people want returns for their money. And justly so. Aside from any selfish spirit of the present generation, isn't it fair enough that if we construct a permanent highway system over the state, couldn't those whocome after us well afford to maintain that system? And more especially so if we shall make all necessary provisions for the lowest cost of both construction and maintenance of these public highways?

So many safeguards have been included in the proposition to authorize the state to issue bonds to the amount of $75,000,000 for road work in Alabama that it appears to us a waste of time to argue that the people would lose by enactment of the measure. Opposition to the McDowell Rogers plan claims that it is not necessary to sell that amount in bonds in one lump sum. Neither do the McDowell advocates make such claims. Neither does McDowell himself. But the McDowell opposition does admit that "it might require seventy-five million dollars to complete Alabamas' highway system."

Then, for the sake of economy, if nothing more, why not authorize that amount of money to be spent when needed, and not be forced to the extra expense of calling another election to authorize issuance of further bonds as the amount is being consumed?

Plans for the bond amendment specify that this security can be issued only as funds for interest and a reasonable part to be applied on the principal are collected from a proposed tax of three cents per gallon on gasoline Doesn't the average reader understand that it would hardly be possible thus to issue these bonds to the amount of seventy-five million dollars?—because it is not at all probable there would be at any one time in the treasury gasoline tax sufficient to cover requirements necessary for the issuance of bonds to that amount.

The McDowell-Rogers plan is simply an honest and progressive plan for building roads to serve those who pay for them, as well as the generations to come, and the more the people read about it and understand it, the better they like it.

What Bishop Cannon Says As to L. B. Musgrove's Position Among Prohibition Leaders

Was Influential at the Peace Conference for Prohibition in Mandated Territory

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., is chairman of the Temperance and Social Service Commission of the Southern Methodist church. He has for many years been the Southern Methodist church's immediate representative in the Anti-Saloon League. As such he has been in the very front as chairman of the Anti-Saloon League's legislative committee. If anybody knows Mr. Musgrove's value he does. The following is a letter written by him to Rev. E. L. Crawford, presiding elder, Greensboro district, under date of June 19, 1926:

Washington, D. C.
June 19, 1926.

Rev. E. L. Crawford,
Greensboro, Ala.

Dear Bro. Crawford:

I have received your letter, in which you ask that I give you some statement of my knowledge of the activities of Hon. L. B. Musgrove in connection with National and International prohibition. In reply I would say:

I have been intimately associated with Mr. Musgrove in prohibition work for the past ten or fifteen years, both of us havin gbeen on the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America together for at least that long. He was appointed by the executive committee as chairman of the National Campaign committee for the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment and was also elected by that campaign committee to be chairman of its executive committee. He gave freely of his time, ability and means to secure the passage and enforcement of National legislation to remove the scourge of the liquor traffic from the entire country.

In the winter of 1919, Mr. Musgrove accompanied me to Europe as a member of a commission to investigate conditions concerning alcoholism in Europe. We occupied the same room in the hotel, and Mr. Musgrove rendered great service in our investigations, and in the organization of the conference held on alcoholism in Paris in the sprin gof 1919. That conference presented its conclusions to the representatives of the various countries engaged in making the Versailles Treaty, and Mr. Musgrove was quite influential in securing the support of our American delegates for the insertion in the Treaty of the provision prohibiting the liquor traffic in mandated territory. I have reckoned him as one of the ablest and most dependable advocates of state, national and international prohibition.

I am very glad indeed to pay this deserved tribute to the record of Mr. Musgrove in this cause which has been near to my heart all my life.

With best wishes, I am,

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) James Cannon, Jr.

Dr. W. C Rountree,
Texarkana, Texas.

Dear Doctor:—I was near death's door and had tried doctors until I had about given up all hope. I was so nervous that I could not sleep or eat. Lost weight and had all the symptoms of Pellagra. I took hypodermics but they did no good. I saw your advertisement in the paper and ordered one of your treatments. I began to improve from the start. I began your medicine Feby. 5th. 1926 and have gained 16 pounds. I feel perfectly well. I wish all Pellagra sufferers knew what your medicine did for me

Some of the weekly newspaper brethren are writing eulogies on the goodness of their neighbors. Pity these fellows couldn't live in Clanton long enough to cultivate a crop of sho-nuff neighbors—they waste so many beautiful words, when they could be utilized to so much more advantage, say, of Clanton. Honest, though, and without any strain on the pen, Clanton is the only town worth while in these United States—and all other states are inferior, of course. In Clanton you get anything you may desire—from the sweetest, prettiest and most charming of the Old South's womanhood as your life companion, on down to a joy ride to the jug over paved streets by Chief Curlee if you get too far wrong; and neighbors! Gee, but we are really sorry for lots of those who just think they have neighbors. Railroad and bus lines both to Clanton.

Either while emerging rom a small skiff near Lock 2 or just preparing to row way from the landing, Will Smith, well known young man of Clanton, lost his life y drowning early Sunday night. On Monday morning, ve understand, his coat and his hat were found on the bank near by. Tuesday afternoon the body was found near the bank and in comparatively shallow water, to town and prepared for burial by J. Mell Martin, uneral director. The remains were buried at Lomax Wednesday, Rev. A. S. Foshee eing in charge.

Mr. Smith was about 30 ears of age, and besides his parents he leaves his widow and three children. To these and to all others who grieve, The News offers its sympathy.

EVERY WORKER IN MINE IS KILLED

Explosion In Bibb Mine Has Fatal Results

Blocton, July 21.— Nine men were killed in a gas explosion at the Dixie Mine of the Moffattt Coal company at Moffatt, today. The dead include three white men and six negro workers. Seven of the bodies were removd soon after the explosion.

Every man in the mine at the time of the accident was killed. They were working working a short night shift. It was believed by officials that the explosion of a gas pocket at daylight was responsible for the blast.

The Moffatt property is at Moffatt, Ala., in Bibb county. The mine is fully manned by 350 men on a daylight shift producing 500 tons of coal daily. Last night nine men were working an extra shift for some special work. If the accident had occurred a few hours earlier or later, officials said many men would have been trapped.

COL. GREEN FIRED FROM PROHI SQUAD

Accused Of Drinking With Friends

San Francisco, July 25.— Colonel Ned M. Green, suspended prohibition director for northern California and Nevada stood ready to defend his actions of drinking liquor in his hotel.

Tomorrow he is slated to answer the summons of the federal grand jury and appear to justify his newly announced doctrine that a director of prohibition may drink, offer drinks of liquor to his friends, be host at parties in his hotel, at which liquor might be served, and even offer drinks to reporters

"Just hospitality," he explained.

Mrs. Sam Parrish

Friday morning of last week the many friends of the family were shocked to learn that on the night previous Mrs. Sam Parrish had suddenly passed away. She had been in a poor state of health for some time, and while seated on the front porch of a relative's home near the city immediately after supper she fell from the chair dead. She was 48 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Parrish had conducted a boarding house here for quite a while, and she was known as a woman of remarkable ability, a consistent christian and a generouss neighbor. She leave besides her grief stricken husband a large number of relatives and friends, to all of whom The News ex its sincere sympathy.

C. H. Crew

J. Mell Martin, Clanton funeral director, was called upon to prepare the body of C. H. Crew, aged about 65 years, for burial in Swamp Creek cemetery about four miles South of Rockford. Mr. Crew died at his home three miles south of town, but further particulars of the death are unknown to The News.

SLAPS PREACHER AND GETS PARDON

Young Lady Resents Slur On Bobbed Hair

Franklin, Ky. July 23.— Governor Fields today pardoned Miss Martha Bates of Letcher county who slapped Rev. Arlie Brown, Baptist preacher, after he criticized bobbed haired women.

On May 28 the governor granted Miss Bates a stay of execution of the unsatisfied portion of the forty day jail sentence given her in Letcher circuit court. At that time the governor said he wished to investigate the case.

"I am convinced from the investigation made that the preacher, Arlie Brown, with whom Miss Bates became involved, which resulted in her conviction, made the statement that no virtuous woman would wear bobbed hair or words to that effect, for which statement Miss Bates slapped his jaws," governor Fields said in his pardon.

"I approve of the action of Miss Bates in resenting the alleged remarks."

Loyd Gore

Death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gore, on Route 8, Wednesday, last and claimed their son, Lloyd, aged 16 years, after only a few days illness. The bereaved ones have the sincere sympathy of many friends in the taking away of this bright and promising young life.

Brandon Coming

The News understands that Gov. W. W. Brandon will deliver an address to the people here one day next week, but at the time of going to press we are unable to secure definite information as to the exact date.

Because of a sudden rush of political reading matter considerable news matter is unavoidably crowded out of this issue of The News. Bear with us "yet a little while;" it doesn't happen often, you know.

Why The Abuse?

One of the amazing things in this campaign is the amount of hatred, abuse, splenetic writing and vilification of a gentlemen against whom not one thing worthy of such stuff has been found. To be sure they have gone over Chas. S. McDowell's record with fine tooth combs and microscopes hoping to find something discreditable—in this day of guttersnipe politics being played by some of his opponents. They haven't found a thing they could attack him on!

So, perforce, led by the charlatan press—expert at low journalism—the crackling, gabbling, snarling chorus has gone on from excess to excess of indecency, says the Birmingham News.

Why all this royal rage, tragic blah and piffish pusillanimities aimed at Mr. McDowell?

He was raised in Barbour county and the people there know him. He taught school there, and his people made him county superintendent of education for 11 years. He served them in the legislature, and was elevated by them to the senate, and then the whole people of Alabama elected him lieutenant governor. He has been a trustee of Auburn for many years. He has been one of the friends of education in the legislature who could always be depended upon. He has never double crossed them. He is a consistent church member, an officer of his church.

With such a record, why doth the heathen rage and throw a fit?

Mr. McDowell has the most comprehensive platform of any candidate; it is sound, sane and will make for the continued progress and prosperity of Alabama. He has not been attacked on his platform, for it is unassailable.

But, because competent engineers have said it will tak $75,000,000 to give the state a complete system of modern roads, and because Mr. McDowell favors submitting to the people a constitutional amendment voting that amount in bonds to be repaid by a gasoline tax, the floodgates of oral and written swill are opened.

What is the matter with the opposition? Are they afraid of the sovereign people of Alabama? Afraid they will vote that sum and have good roads during their lifetime? It looks like somebody, somewhere, is powerfully disturbed lest the people of Alabama be given a chance to say what they want! McDowell says, "Let them express themselves."

And then the mud-slinging and abuse began.

What forces are behind this, that they would deny the people a chance to vote their money, their credit, their sovereign will? Does it look suspicious? McDowell can't impose that tax or issue the bonds. He merely says he favors it and favors allowing the people to say. And for that he is being abused without parallel in the annals of Alabama.

There is something behind this desperate rage and this outrageous campaign. Somebody is in deadly fear he will win and give the people a chance to express themselves—and that they will vote for good roads!

Here is the safeguard provided in Charles McDowell's highway plan, as set forth in Section 7: "The full faith and credit of the state is pledged for the redemption of these bonds, but they shall not be sold unless the income to the state from a three cent per gallon tax on gasoline, or a substitute for gasoline, or any device used to propel motor vehicles, is sufficient to pay interest on the bonds sold and to set up a sinking fund to retire the bonds sold when due."

ELECTION OFFICERS

and two clerks and one returning officer for each voting place, as provided by law, for the special election to be held on the 10th day of Aug., 1926, at the various voting places in said county to elect a representative in the legislature of Alabama to fill the unexpired term of W. M. Wyatt, resigned, hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct list of inspectors, clerks and returning officers for said election and T. J. Littlejohn, sheriff of said county, is ordered to notify the above parties of their appointment and to publish a list of said election officers.

This, the 26th day of July, 1926.

L. H. Reynolds, Judge of probate.

J. Z. Mims, Clerk of Circuit court.

T. J. Littlejohn, Sheriff.

Helping To Build The SOUTH

FOR MANY YEARS this Railroad has used daily and weekly newspapers, farm journals and widely distributed booklets for the purpose of advertising the commercial and agricultural attractions of the territory it serves. The bulk of the circulation of these magazines and newspapers has been confined principally to the Central-West section of the country. Believing, however, that the eyes of the entire nation are on the Southland, and that the clear-thinking people of every state in the Union are looking to this great territory of milder climates and greater opportunities, this Railroad, some months ago, inaugurated a campaign of advertising in magazines of general circulation, such as The Saturday Evening Post, The Literary Digest, The National Geographic Magazine, and Review of Reviews.

These advertisements will run regularly throughout the entire year, and those which have appeared have brought inquiries from every state in the Union. These inquiries are being promptly and intelligently answered, and it is the belief of the management of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad that the South—particularly that part of the South served by "The Old Reliable"—will show remarkable and uninterrupted population increases.

Prosperity comes with increased population and this Railroad—the first great North-and-South trunk line of the nation to adopt national advertising—is doing its part to build the community in which you live.

THE OLD RELIABLE L&N F-2
LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

Notice

Notice is hereby given that the Democratic party of the state of Alabama desires to, and will, enter the state primary to be held on the 2nd Tuesday in August 1926, it being the 10th day of said month, for the purpose of nominating a candidate, or candidates for the following offices:

Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State Attorney General, Audior, State Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, two Associate members of the Alabama Public Service Commission, Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries, two Associate Justices of the Supreme court, an Associate judge of the Court of Appeals United States Senator, Member of Congress from each Congressional district, State Senators and members of the house of representatives, Circuit judges in circuits where there are unexpired terms to be filled, Solicitors, Sheriffs, Tax collectors, Members of the county board of education where terms of office of incumbent expires, Members of county Commissioners and board of revenue, and other like county bodies where terms of office of incumbent expire, and all other offices to be elected in the General election to be held November, 1926.

In the same Democratic primary, there will be elected five members of the Democratic State Executive Committee from each congressional district. The one in each district receiving the largest vote to be designated as a member from the state at large from such district. There will also be elected in such primary, Democratic Executive Committeemen for the county in each of said counties; said state and county committeemen so elected to hold office for four years from the first Monday after the second Tuesday in January of 1927.

The New ESSEX "6" COACH

With All-Steel, Bolted and Riveted, Clear Vision Body
The Product of Essex' New $10,000,000 Body Plant

$795

F. O. B. Detroit
Plus War Excise Tax

"At Your Door"
Standard Equipment Includes:

Automatic Windshield Cleaner, Rear View Mirror, Transmission Lock (Built-in), Radiator Shutters, Moto-Meter, Combination Stop and Tail Light.

Many of these advantages you will recognize at a glance. But you will have higher appreciation of their meaning when you know that a plant of 18 acres which with equipment approximated a cost of $10,000,000, was first built and that special machinery had to be designed, to make possible the New Coach your dealer is now showing.

It is all steel, bolted and riveted, and so rigid that squeaks, rattles and distortions, are as unlikely as in a steel building. Doors are so hung that a man may hang on an open door while the car is being driven over rough roads, without springing it out of true.

And it is so designed and constructed as to permit the use in a totally new manner of a high baked enamel, most lustrous and lasting finish.

There has been constant improvement in the chassis from the first Essex shipped. And only by the accumulation of the resources, the information, experience, and the skill that have resulted from the building of 350,000 Essex "Sixes" was it possible to create this car which we ask you to inspect and to drive as the best looking, best value, best Essex ever built.

ELEVEN LAWYERS REPRESENT STATE

Kilby Points Out Need for Business Man in United States Senate. Alabama Has Eleven Lawyers and No Business Men.

THOMAS E. KILBY

"Ninety per cent of the matters coming before Congress relate to business or economic questions," declared former Governor Thomas E. Kilby, candidate for the United States Senate. "The Congress of the United States is the greatest business body in the world, and its actions directly affect the life, income and cost of living of every man, woman and child in Alabama.

"Alabama has twelve men in Congress—ten in the House of Representatives and two in the Senate. Eleven of these are lawyers and there is not a business man among the number. Does it not appeal to the people of Alabama as proper that the great agricultural, industrial, commercial and business interests of Alabama should have at least one representative. I am the only business man with legislative and executive experience running for the United States Senate.

"Without any disparagement of lawyers, many of whom I number among my warmest friends and closest supporters, I believe the best interests of the State and the nation would be served by having at least one business man in Congress from Alabama to bring a new viewpoint to bear on the great business and economic problems which come before that body.

"The Muscle Shoals question has been before Congress for six years and apparently is little nearer settlement now than when it started. Six good business men could have settled that problem in six months.

"I promise the people of Alabama the same business methods in the Senate which marked my administration as Governer."

Dear Doctor:—I was near death's door and had tried doctors until I had about given up all hope. I was so nervous that I could not sleep, or eat. Lost weight and had all the symptoms of Pellagra. I took hypodermics but they did no good. I saw your advertisement in the paper and ordered one of your treatments. I began to improve from the start. I began your medicine Feby. 5th. 1926 and have gained 16 pounds. I feel perfectly well. I wish all Pellagra sufferers knew what your medicine did for me.

VOTERS, Look At This

Proposals Next 4 Years for Roads:	Proposals Next 4 Years for Schools:
PATTERSON—$57,000,000 without debt	PATTERSON—$16,000,000 additional without increase of ad valorem tax.
McDOWELL—$75,000,000 bonded debt	McDOWELL—Secret plans.
CARMICHAEL—$35,000,000 bonded debt	CARMICHAEL—Nice promises.
GRAVES—$25,000,000 bonded debt	GRAVES—Mainly reapportionment of funds which means about 10 cents per capita.

Patterson advocates the building of permanent connecting highways in every county in the State without bonded debt; also he will take the contracts out of the mines and build roads with them, and pledges himself to put a competent and experienced road builder in charge of the State Highway Department, instead of John Rogers, the Politician.

He promises to abolish the Text Book Trust in Alabama and to supply school books to the children of the State at approximately one-third less than the amount now being paid for same.

He pledges himself to increase the taxes of the class A Railroads so that they will be in the same proportion with the small land owner and farmer. He will do away with the county tax adjuster and have your taxes regulated, should the occasion arise, by your County Board of Commissioners and Tax Assessor co-operating with the State Tax Commission. In view of the need of additional revenue for the State Treasury, Mr. Patterson proposes to extend the Severance Tax which now applies only on coal and iron ore, to include other Natural Resources of the State which pay no tax at all. He always has opposed any tax upon lumber, rosaries or upon lumber sawed by small sawmills. This tax, with equitable adjustment of Railroad Taxes, will bring into the Treasury approximately FOUR MILLION DOLLARS ($4,000,000). This increased Revenue will provide nine months free school and more grades in the primary schools with better trained and better paid teachers, with better school equipment.

Mr. Patterson tells you how much additional money is needed to do these things and how he proposes to raise it, and in what manner he will expend this money to the best interest of the entire State. All three of the other candidates for Governor offer the voters no feasible or tangible plan by which they will raise the money that is needed for our schools; McDowell tells you he has a secret plan for increasing taxes, but does not trust the voters enough to tell them how he will do it, though he asks you to vote for him. Carmichael asks your vote, but gives no solution. Graves proposes to reapportion the funds of the State when he well knows that the income of the State is far below the needs and that we are now face to face with a crisis that must be met.

Vote for Mr. Patterson, the man who offers you a solution of the problems and whose record of service for six years as President of the Public Service Commission is sufficient guarantee that his pledges and promises will be fulfilled.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH COMES TO CLANTON

If Conductd At Loss Will Be Discontinued

The Postal Telegraph company will enter Clanton for service, although no date for the opeinng for its office here has been given out, so far as The News has been able to learn. A dispatch from Montgomery Saturday said:

The Alabama Public Service commission in an order Saturday granted the petition of the Postal Telegraph Cable company for authority to open an office at Clanton.

The commission's order provided that if after a reasonable time the office at Clanton is found to be conducted at a loss to the telegraph company it shall be allowed to discontinue the office.

Must File Costs

In order that all state, district and county candidates may have due notice and properly file their expenses accounts, Secretary of State S. H. Blan, Saturday called attention to the corrupt practices act which requires all candidates to file their campaign accounts not more than ten days nor less than five days prior to the date of the primary election and then to file a post election expense account, within ten days after the election.

Candidates for state and federal offices must file this expense account with the secretary of state, Mr. Blan said. District or circuit candidates must file their expense accounts with the probate judge of each county in the district or circuit, and may also file with the secretary of state. Candidates for county offices must file these lists of expenditures with the probate judges of their respective counties.

Mrs. W. Bishop and children were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Keel, this week.

Under the plan of the American Youth Award and the American Teacher Award, each state will select a boy and a girl and a woman teacher who best represent American ideals, and they will be given trips to Philadelphia and to Washington, where they will receive medals from President Coolidge.

DEATH OF SHELBY PLANTER PROBED

Thought Man May Have Been Poisoned

Columbiana, Aug. 1.— An investigation is being conducted by Shelby county officials into the sudden death of Sam McScadden, prominent farmer, near Maylene Saturday. Viscera from the body of McScadden has been sent to the state chemist at Auburn for analysis. It is believed he was the possible victim of poison.

Mystery surrounds his death, physicians being unable to find any cause for his violent illness. He left home Tuesday and returned Friday afternoon, retiring early. Later in the evening he got up and ate watermelon. He had breakfast early Saturday morning and worked around his house for a short time.

WHITE AND LEVIE HURT IN WRECK

Masons In Conference Elect Officers

Goodwater, July 28.— D. M. White and A. D. Levie came near being seriously injured here Monday afternoon when a truck driven by a negro ran into the store of White where he and Mr. Levie were sitting, setriking a post and running against the chairs of the two men, knocking both of them over and on to the gorund, breaking the back of the chair of White, inflicting several bruises and small lacerations on their arms and legs and hurting the back of the former.

The Coosa county Masonic conference convened Tuesday with Goodwater lodge No. 197, Hillabee lodge, A. F. & A. M., Worshipful Master T. J. Wheeler of local lodge, presiding. J. E. Thompson of Rockford is secretary-treasurer of the conference.

The conference is composed of Goodwater, Hanover, Weogufka, Rockford, Procter and Coosa lodges. The conference will continue through Tuesday and Wednesday. L. B. Coley, district lecturer, is attending the sessions of the conference. The attendance promises to be larger than usual.

Middleton, N. Y.— A slot vending machine vendor, fined $25 and cost in police court, paid the fine with 2,657 pennes. It took Magistrate J. H. Kefauver an hour to find that he had been overpaid seven pennies.

COTTON ESTIMATE IS FOR 15,368,000 BALES

Condition Is 70.7 Per Cent Of Normal

New Orleans, July 1.—The government estimate of conditions average of the crop at 70.7 per cent of normal and the indicated yield, 15,368,000 bales, caused only a small decline in cotton prices on the New Orleans Exchange as the condition figures were lower than expected and the indicated yield only a little above trade expectations. The market dropped 27 points on October and 20 points on December but at once began to rally and was soon only 15 to 17 points below the prices ruling before the report came out.

Washington. —A cotton crop of 15,368,000 equivalent 500 pound bales this year is indicated by the condition of the crop on July 16, which was 70.7 per cent of normal, the department of agriculture announced. A crop of 15,635,000 bales was forecast from the July 1 condition of 15.4 per cent. Last year's crop was 16,013,679 bales.

Should developments during the remainder of the season be as unfavorable as during 1921, 1922 and 1923, about 13,476,000 bales might be expected, the department announced, but if developments are as favorable as during 1924 and 1925 about 16,628,000 might result.

Negro Stabbed

VETS FARE WELL AT HANDS OF CONGRESS

Forty Eight Million Is Added To List

Washington, July 2 — Farmers may complain because congress at its recent session did not enact legislation which the corn belt conference desired for them but the veterans of Uncle Sam's wars and their widows who survive those who have died have no cause to abuse the work of the session.

For, while congress refused to vote millions for an uncertain farm price stabilization plan, and cut expenses in many ways besides cutting taxes for the general public, it opened the doors of the treasury wider for the beneficiaries of war pension plans.

Examination of the record of the last session shows that civil war veterans of the union army and their widows were granted increases amounting to $15,000,000 annually; Spanish war veterans and widows were given pension increases adding $18,000,000 to the total heretofore paid for that purpose; and by extensions and liberalizations of the world war veteran's act compensation increases and other benefits estimated to cost $15,000,000 a year were authorized. This is a total of $48,000,000 a year.

These increases were not all that were asked in behalf of the veterans and widows of veterans, but $48,000,000 a year is a substantial sum, especially when it is an added one, and the record serves to refute the charge so often made that the public is ungrateful.

An Explanation

In justice to the management of The News, as well as to "keep the record straight," we would like to repeat that The News is anxious to have for publication not only the news items of interest from the different localities, but also any communication designed in the interest of the Democratic part yof the county, the state or the nation.

This article is inspired from the persistent rumors that "if anything is written in the interest of Democracy for publication in The News it will not be published."

To say that such an accusation is false in whole is but repeating our attitude in the matter since the present management took charge on January 1. We said then, and repeat now, that we would be glad at any time to have letters from the people on current topics. The paper is yours to use as you see fit—and some seem to think it fitting that they use the hammer on it. If we could get the matter in type and printed, you would be welcome to a letter from every locality, or every voter in the county every week, as for that.

We have taken our readers into our confidence in our "Editor's Chats" before, and we don't mind doing so again. So, in this connection we will say that although we have been compelled on more than one occasion to set type by hand for some item in the interest of the local Democratic executive committee, or some Democratic candidate or measure, because of a balk in the type-setting machine, we have never wilfully or deliberately refused to print anything thus far offered us for publication. Because of the fact that our linotype has needed and yet needs renewal of certain parts, it has given us considerable trouble in the way of limiting the amount of reading matter, and on several occasions we have for this reason been compelled to omit items of news, even which the editor had written himself.

The point is, if you feel the urge to write something politically, let us have it. We have never refused to publish such, nor will we—so long as it conforms to newspaper ethics of course.

Don't worry about the appearance at this season of every year of various "reports" tending to show that crops are i nbad condition, or forecasts that cotton will sell at starvation prices this fall, etc. In spite of all these factors, the Lord has blessed the country with as fine prospects as we ever had.

McDowell Campaign A Clean One

This has been possibly one of the most vindictive and vituperative campaigns to have been waged among members of the same party the country has witnessed in many a day. The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man seems to have had no place in the minds of some speakers and newspapers in their efforts to break down any favorable opinion for a candidate whom they opposed, and especially has this been true in the governorship race.

In that race, however, one outstanding feature has been the campaign conducted by Chas. McDowell and for him by his friends. It has been a pleasure to read the editorials in our exchanges favoring his candidacy, and for the reason that they contained facts and these were expressed in decent language, void of cheap and vulgar epithets.

By this method, in our opinion, thousands of votes have been drawn to Mr. McDowell, and, on the other hand, we believe just as firmly that over-zealous friends of especially Messrs. Patterson and Carmichael have driven votes from these candidates by howling down as far as possible anything favorable to Mr. McDowell. Our old daddy used to tell us that more flies could be caught with molasses than with vinegar—and that axiom would apply in politics just as well as to flies.

Both Mr. McDowell and his friends are to be congratulated upo nthe clean and considerate campaign they have conducted. When the opposition from certain sources was broadcasting the veriest untruths about this candidate, publishing fake letters, printing misleading statements as to his position on state affairs and Heaven knows what all, Mr. McDowell "kept his head," and went straight forward with his platform, answering his would-be detractors in his own gentlemanly and convincing way.

So, whether successful or not when the ballots are counted, it cannot be said of Chas. McDowell or his supporters that they stooped to the plane of the mud-sling ing character cut-throats in an effort to boost him into the governor's chair.

The fact that you vote for Chas. McDowell next Tuesday does not necessarily mean that you indorse the $75,000,000 road bond issue. That question will have to be settled later by a direct vote of the people before it becomes a law. McDowell merely favors the issue, and would use his influence if elected governor in having the legislature submit the measure to the people for their ratification or rejection.

The best time to take an ice cold bath, says a physician is just after arising. All right medico, you do it. We cling to the old-time Saturday night idea.—Gadsden Times But the regular spring-annual's mighty hard to beat.

After a pleasant visit to the Powe family of Birmingham, Mrs. J. P. Vanderveer has returned home.

WHY BANKHEAD?

John H. Bankhead

Election day is rapidly approaching. The most important office in the gift of the people is to be selected.

People Must Decide

The following from the Birmingham News is self-explanatory and well worth considering:

A supposedly well informed citizen was heard to remark Saturday that he didn't think it was sound for Mr. McDowell to propose to write a check for $75,000,000 for roads as soon as he got in office. In the vernacular—can you beat it?

Mr. McDowell cannot issue the bonds. His stand simply is, that he favors the legislature submitting to the people the question whether they shall issue $75,000,000 of bonds—that amount being necessary to give the state a complete system of roads, according to the uncontradicted testimony of the highway engineers. Mr. Carmichael favors $35,000,000 of bonds, which is just half enough. Mr. Graves favors a $25,000,000 bond issue which will build only one-third of what is necessary, and Mr. Patterson says he favors a "pay as you go" system—under which, in 11 years, Alabama built some 400 miles of indifferent roads.

So there is the situation. The people will have to pass on it. McDowell wants to make a complete job of it, and as governor, will urge upon the legislature the submission of a bond issue for the needed amount. An election will then be held and each voter will then vote directly on the proposition. Should Mr. Carmichael or Mr. Graves be elected ,they will lend their influence as governor to the submission of a bond issue for one third of the needed amount. It rests with the legislature, but in the main, the legislatures are in accordance with the governors on matters of state policy, and this is why it is important to elect a governor who favors doing the job thoroughly and completely, instead of half doing it, or one third doing it, or piddling around doing nothing, which is Mr. Patterson's notion.

Don't vote that second choice; it only serves to kill your first choice vote.

The new senator should be in the prime of life, old enough to be matured and seasoned and not old enough to retire before he has had time to establish himself in the senate.

John H. Bankhead is just the right age at 54 to fill the requirements. Our senator should be able upon the floor of the senate to properly present the conditions of our people and to resist assaul ts upon Souhern traditions and institutions. He should be able to hold his own in debate with the able senators from other sections who are seeking legislation for the interest of their sections and resisting the passage of legislation favorable to our ow npeople.

John Bankhead is a forceful and convincing speaker and an able debater.

He can measure swords with all and give ground to none. In the consideration of many measures a knowledge of business is helpful. John H. Bankhead has not only had a close association in an advisory capacity wtih many lines of business but he has also been a successful business man himself.

While many constitutional questions do not arise in congressional legislation, still Mr. Bankhead is fully equipped on that subject. It is well-recognized that he is one of the leading constitutional lawyers of Alabama.

Experience in national legislation is a great asset. Long training in any line of business or occupation is most helpful. John H. Bankhead has had a long unofficial experience, both in the duties of a senator and congressman, and in federal legislation. He has an intimate knowledge of the work

He would be a real senator the day he entered office. It would not be necessary for him to serve a long apprenticeship at the expense of the people and to their delay in having a full fledged senator.

The people want a senator who can be trusted.

In character John H. Bankhead is the peer of any man. He is honest, sincere, open and frank. He is absolutely dependable. He would not attempt to mislead the people to secure any office. 'Honest John" is an appropriate description of him.

He is a tireless worker.

He knows how to get results.

He fill sthe requirements to make Alabama a great senator.

It is admitted by all that he is an able man.

No mistake can be made in his selection. Why take chances with others? Keep your eye on John H. Bankhead.—Jasper Advertiser.

BIBB GRAVES

The Man for Governor

EDUCATION. Victor Hanson's paper, the Montgomery Advertiser, in an editorial attack on Bibb Graves on Monday, August 2nd, said:

"Colonel Bibb Graves is the only candidate for Governor who demands a reapportionment of representation in the State Legislature and a reapportionment of the school fund."

Bibb Graves opposes giving a six months' school to the white children in the white counties and a nine months' free school to the negroes in the black belt. Bibb Graves demands an equal chance for every white child in every county in Alabama.

REAPPORTIONMENT OF REPRESENTATION The Constitution of Alabama requires that representation in the legislature be reapportioned after every census. Bibb Graves as Governor and the Legislature will be sworn to support the Constitution. Bibb Graves will keep his oath—even if he loses the Advertiser and its following.

ROADS. Bibb Graves will build and maintain roads and bridges with convicts as far as they go, and with a bond issue of $25,000,000.00. The present tag tax at the present rate will retire that many bonds without any increase in taxes on property. Bibb Graves guarantees that the counties will hold the present 2c gas tax for use in the counties, and only adds 1c additional to take care of the convicts. Every other candidate's program calls for a much higher gas tax. Bibb Graves is the low tax candidate. His election means good roads and good white schools all over Alabama.

LAW ENFORCEMENT. Bibb Graves will enforce all laws on all alike. Bibb Graves is personally and politically dry. On moral questions he stands where he has always stood—with the moral forces of Alabama.

NO STRINGS ON GRAVES. Bibb Graves is free from newspaper domination. No big daily newspaper is supporting him. Bibb Graves is the only candidate who does not carry a railroad pass in his pocket. Bibb Graves is under no obligation to Coal Operators, Railroads, Road Contractors or any privilege seeking interest. Bibb Graves will go into office without a pledge to anybody except a pledge to the whole people.

WORLD WAR VETERAN. Bibb Graves is the only candidate with a world war record. A vote for Bibb Graves is a silent tribute to every service man—living or dead.

MAKE DEMOCRACY SAFE. Bibb Graves' election as Governor of Alabama means that Alabama's democracy will not be a tail for the Tammany tiger and that there will not be 24 votes from Alabama for Al Smith in the next Democratic convention.

Bibb Graves will carry 39 counties; will run second in 15; third in 10, and fourth in 3; will get more than 95 thousand first choice votes and will be overwhelmingly elected.

Only the people are for Bibb Graves—and they are enough!

(Paid Political Adv. by Bibb Graves, Montgomery, Alabama.)

Keep Your Eye On Clanton

With its growing population, the purest drinking water and finest climate in the world, a progressive spirit unequalled among the smaller cities and God's choice of neighbors, Clanton is destined to grow and prosper in a way that will surprise our sister communities. Don't get the idea in your head that because of the small let-up in the volume of trade as experienced for the past thirty days the whol ebottom has dropped out. That let-up, though little as compared with some other sections, is merely a seasonal change. Let's prepare for the bigger, the fuller, the busier days which are sure to come, and that soon.

Chilton Crops

Verbena.—The corn and cotton crop in this section is all that could be desired by prosperous farmers. The season has bee njust right for both commodities and the boll weevil is no longer a disturbance. It is certainly a corn yaer and those who were sensible enough to plant corn are sitting on top of the world.

Boling Nelson

Chilton county lost a most valuable citizen one day last week when Mr. Boling Nelson passed away at his home near Verbena at an advanced age. He was a real patriarch of Chilton county Democracy a high-toned Christian gentleman and enjoyed a wide circle of friends. The News extends symathy to grieved ones.

VOTERS, Look At This

Proposals Next 4 Years for Roads:	Proposals Next 4 Years for Schools:
PATTERSON—$57,000,000 without debt	PATTERSON—$16,000,000 additional without increase of ad valorem tax.
McDOWELL—$75,000,000 bonded debt	McDOWELL—Secret plans.
CARMICHAEL—$35,000,000 bonded debt	CARMICHAEL—Nice promises.
GRAVES—$[illegible] bonded debt	GRAVES—Mainly reapportionment of funds which means about 10 cents per capita.

Patterson advocates the building of permanent connecting highways in every county in the State without bonded debt; also he will take the convicts out of the mines and build roads with them, and pledges himself to put a competent and experienced road builder in charge of the State Highway Department, instead of John Rogers, the Politician.

He promises to abolish the School Book Trust in Alabama and to supply school books to the children of the State at approximately one-third less than the amount now being paid for same.

He pledges himself to increase the taxes of the class Railroads so that they will be in the same proportion with the small land owner and farmer. He will do away with the county tax adjuster and have your taxes regulated, should the occasion arise, by your County Board of Commissioners and Tax Assessor co-operating with the State Tax Commission. In view of the need for additional revenue for the State Treasury, Mr. Patterson proposes to extend the Severance Tax which now applies only on coal and iron ore, to include other Natural Resources of the State which pay no tax at all. He always has opposed any tax upon timber, rossties or upon lumber sawed by small sawmills. This tax, with equitable adjustment of Railroad Taxes, will bring into the Treasury approximately FOUR MILLION DOLLARS ($4,000,000). This increased Revenue will provide nine months free school and more grades in the primary schools, with better trained and better paid teachers, with better school equipment.

Mr. Patterson tells you how much additional money is needed to do these things and how he proposes to raise it, and in what manner he will expend this money to the best interest of the entire State. All three of the other candidates for Governor offer the voters no feasible or tangible plan by which they will raise the money that is needed for our schools; McDowell tells you he has a secret plan for increasing taxes, but does not trust the voters enough to tell them how he will do it, though he asks you to vote for him. Carmichael asks your vote, but gives no solution. Graves proposes to reapportion the funds of the State when he well knows that the income of the State is far below the needs and that we are now face to face with a crisis that must be met.

Vote for Mr. Patterson, the man who offers you a solution of the problems and whose record of service for six years as President of the Public Service Commission is sufficient guarantee that his pledges and promises will be fulfilled.

VOTE FOR JUDGE B. M. MILLER

For Associate Justice of Supreme Court of Alabama. He is now serving his FIRST term and his record entitles him to a second.

The Progressive Era unqualifiedly endorses Judge B. M. Miller of Wilcox County for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. He is a candidate for a second term.

In 1904 he was elected Judge of the 4th Judicial Circuit composed of the counties of Bibb, Dallas, Hale, Perry and Wilcox, and he held this office continuously without opposition until 1920 when he was elected to the Supreme Court. As Circuit Judge, he held court in Butler, Jefferson, Madison, Mobile, Montgomery, Pickens, Tallapoosa and Tuscaloosa Counties under assignment of the Chief Justice. He presided at Huntsville in the trial of Circuit Clerk Overton charged with killing Probate Judge Lawler. Perhaps the most famous decision handed down by Judge Miller as a trial Judge was the one in which he declared unconstitutional the State Income Tax law. This decision was upheld by the Supreme Court. As a judge he is noted for the orderly dispatch of business and possesses the courage of his convictions.

He is a brother of the late Joseph M. Miller, U. S. District Attorney at Mobile under Grover Cleveland, and of John H. Miller of Birmingham who at the time of his death was Circuit Judge of Jefferson County.

Judge B. M. Miller deserves, and we believe will receive in the August Primary the endorsement of the Democrats of this State for a second term. —Wilcox Progressive Era of July 15th, 1926.

Col. Bibb Graves

The Man For Governor

The man the people will elect for their governor on August 10th.

Bibb Graves will be the governor of all the people and not the governor of any special interests, clique or class.

Bibb Graves stands first of all for the conservation of the human resources of Alabama; for education; for the training of both head and hands.

Bibb Graves stands for public health, both physical and moral.

Bibb Graves stands for the conservation and development of the material resources of Alabama.

Bibb Graves will encourage and foster every legitimate enterprise and industry in Alabama, and thus will most surely secure the investment here of outside capital.

Bibb Graves will build and maintain more roads and bridges under his road plan they can be done by any other plan now being offered to the people with the least burden to the people of Alabama.

Bibb Graves will immediately take the convicts out of the mines and put them on the roads.

Bibb Graves would issue as many bonds as the present tag tax, which is already pledged, will retire within 30 years, and this is about 25 million dollars.

Bibb Graves would keep the two cent tax on gasoline now being given into the counties, but can and will execute the law which provides that these funds shall be used for road purposes and no other.

Bibb Graves will see that this money is effectively and economically so used.

Bibb Graves would put one cent additional tax on gasoline to compensate the state for its convict labor. This one cent tax on gasoline is the only additional tax or burden to be placed on the people of Alabama by the road program of Bibb Graves

Bibb Graves is against all nuisance taxes.

BIBB GRAVES WILL ABOLISH THE AUTOMOBILE CERTIFICATE OF TITLE LAW, A NUISANCE TAX WHICH IS COSTING THE PEOPLE HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS EACH YEAR; A USELESS, EXPENSIVE ANNOYANCE OF NO BENEFIT TO THE PEOPLE.

PEOPLE FORTUNATE GOING OR COMING

Clanton Has Good Travel Facilities

Clanton now has every reason to feel proud of its transportation facilities as regards especially points north or south, into Birmingham on the north and the Capital City on the south and either with reference to passenger or freight traffic. Of course, the "old reliable" Ellen N. has been functioning to all these requisites even before Clanton had a postoffice, it is said, but the modern method of quick travel sighted the flivver route demand—and that demand was promptly filled.

Now we have two bus companies on the B. and M. highway, and the passenger can find included in these a most comfortable trip in different kinds of cars. The Langley company which operates the big buses of about 25 passenger capacity, also operates a line of smaller Buicks, of seven passenger design.

About a month or more ago Mrs. D. L. Ricks of Birmingham began operation of what is known as the Rex bus line between Birmingham and Montgomery using seven passenger Chandlers of the Sedan type, these passing Clanton on a three hour and fifteen minute schedule going south at 8:30 a. m., 2:45 and 7:30 p. m.; north at 7:30 a. m., 2:45 and 8:30 p. m. W. B. Cooper, charge of one of these buses, a very courteous and popular "conductor" with many Clanton friends, in conversation with The News man this week, said their patronage was very satisfactory, and gradually showed an increase.

The News is glad to say that all these buses are manned by competent and courteous people, generally young men, active in mind as well as body, who take special care in giving their patrons both safe and pleasant passage so far as they can.

CHILTON CITIZEN HURT ON HIGHWAY

R. M. Smith Is Struck By Tourist Auto

Another serious mishap occurred Tuesday on the highway about a mile south of Clanton when R. L. Smith, a prominent farmer, was struck and badly hurt by an automobile said to have been driven by L. B. Luna, of Birmingham. Mr. Smitth's right arm was broken in two places; he has rendered unconscious, and it is thought he may have received internal injuries.

Mr. Smith was struck by the car, as he was walking along the public highway, and near his home. The injured man was removed as soon as possible to a Clanton hospital, for treatment. At 7 o'clock in the evening he had not regained consciousness.

Mr. Luna was held on a charge of reckless driving. No charges were brought against Ben Allen, of Philadelphia, who accompanied him.

After a recreative visit to her relatives in Clanton, Miss Callie Watts, substantial business woman of Piedmont, left Monday for her home.

Friday Was Red Letter Day For Brandon Here

Friday was truly a "Plain Bill Brandon" day in Clanton, when our chief executive arrived about 2:30 o'clock repaired immediately to the court house, shucked his coat, rolled up his sleeves and delivered one of the most forceful as well as effective speeches heard here since "when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary."

Never in better form, apparently filled to that point of human generosity when human patience ceases to be a virtue, and the patriotic blood boils from incessant slanders cast upon his good name b ya small minority of the newspaper profession whose bell cow "would, but could not, dominate the Brandon administration," Governor Brandon said that he came, not as one cringing or pleading neither condemning, but to lay the facts cocerning his administration before the people of Chilton county, and let them judge for themselves as to whether affairs of state had been jumbled as had been the effort of his detractors to show. And probably no man in recent times ever handled his subject to better advantage, or more obviously carried his audience with him, smiling, contented, convinced, than "Plain Bill" Brandon upon this occasion.

Attorney G. C. Walker in a few well chosen words introduced Gov. Brandon to an audience conservatively estimated at between 450 and 500 people, although it was only announced definitely the day before as to just when he would speak here. An unusually large number of ladies were present.

In the beginning of his speech Gov. Brandon took up the famous nine points, or promises upon which he was elected as governor of the state. Mild, yet attentive, to start with, his audience "fell in line" upon his explanation of the large increase of funds which had gradually and regularl ygone to the schools since he assumed office, and from then on it was plainly a Brandon crowd as was evidenced by frequent applause. Two or three questions—rather subjects upon which i twas known some of his hearers wished to hear him speak—were written and laid on the table beside him by a friend, and the governor took these up and courteously and firmly drove home his points. One of these dealt with his record in paroling convicts "Certainly," said the governor "if our Savior could forgive and pardon the erring, surely it would be the least the governor of Alabama could do in trying to walk in His footsteps to parole and give another chance to the man or woman who had fallen into the clutches of the law." He also explained that a parole given and violated subjected the one to whom issued to recommittal, when he would beforced to serve his term.

Many other subjects, notably good roads, were gone into in that style and forceful and convincing way so well known by Gov. Brandon's friends, and it is indeed a safe proposition to say that he not only demonstrated the fallacy of the charges so persistently circulated against him and his administration of state governmental affairs, but the good influence to be derived by the local Democratic ticket will be felt in November.

ROOM FOR 200,000 BALES OF COTTON

New York Builds Warehouse In Jersey-Cost $5,000,000

New York.—The New York Cotton Exchange has signed a contract with the Bayway Terminal designed to make New York one of the greatest cotton concentration ports in the United States.

The Bayway Terminal will spend about 50,000,000 for a storage plant equipped to handle 200,000 bales. A single warehouse receipt will be given on all cotton shipments into the port; uniform handling charges will be established. The warehouse will be in Elizabeth, N. J.

Montgomery's Directory Gives City 70,560 People

Montgomery.—The city directory of Montgomery for 1926 is off the press and has been received here. The publishers, R. L. Polk & Co., in their introduction to tthis volume, estimate the population of Montgomery as 70,560, which includes the immediate suburbs. The 1925 directory, issued by the same company, estimated Montgomery's population at 65,000.

Tore Up Buick

One of what is becoming a pretty general part of the scenery in the way of a roadside derelict was noted by passers by on the B. and M. highway down near Speigner a few days ago in a big seven passenger Buick which had evidently tried the steam shovel Charleston on a three foot embankment. But it didn't work—to the extent of a telescoped front end of a mighty pretty car, though it worked faithfully for a full fifty feet.

CHURCH DELEGATES COMING TO CLANTON

Meeting Began Yesterday Continue Until 22nd

The 21st annual session of the Alabama Conference of Seventh-day Adventists will convene on the camp ground north of the city where scores of tents have been erected in military order to accommodate the delegates who will come from many states as well as from the local church of Alabama. The session is called for the election of officers as well as for the transaction of other business that may properly come before the session.

A large portion of each of the ten days will be devoted to Bible studies, sermons and lectures by some of the leading men of the denomination. These speakers will include Elder H. H. Votaw. Another speaker of note will be Elder Toppenberger for some years a missionary to Abysinia.

Elder C. B. Stephenson, president of the Alabama conference of Clanton will preside over the meetings. Delegates at large from the Alabama conference will include Elder B. W. Brown of Birmingham, Allen Walker of Pensacola, Fla., K. R. Haughey of Clanton, and others.

The evening services will be so arranged as to be of special interest to the general public and a cordial invitation is extended to the people of Clanton and vicinity to attend. X

AUBURN FORECAST IS 1,059,000 BALES

Condition Of Crop Reported At 67 Per Cent

Auburn, Aug. 10.—The condition of the Alabama cotton crop on Aug. 1, this year was 76 per cent of normal, according to the reports of 461 farmers and others received at the office of F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician.

Such a condition, measured by results in past years, indicates a yield of about 135 pounds of lint per acre, which compares with an average of185 pounds picked last year and 154 pounds picked in 1924. The indicated yield for this year computed into the acreage planted, 3,787,000, gives a prospective 1926 crop of 1,059,000 bales, compared with 1,357,000 bales last year and less than a million in 1924.

Final yields, of course depend upon weather and other controlling factors during the remainder of this season.

Many friends are enjoying the home coming of one of Clanton's distinguished daughters, Miss Beverly Hester of New York, City.

Praises Be! Here's A Good Start

One among the great troubles with the average country weekly is the failure on the part of what is commonly known as "foreign advertisers"—those outside the local field—to get remittances for their advertising to the publisher promptly on the first of the month, regardless o fthe pressing obligations which always fall on the shoulders of the said publisher on that date. Rechecking copies are almost invariably demanded, after the statement has been sent in; then another wait, and, probably another demand for some particular issue; another wait, followed by another "reminder:" and so it goes from bad to worse, in the meantime the publisher's creditors gradually tightening the thumb screws on him.

After all this useless correspondence, lost time in which perhaps the newspaper man's credit and integrity at home has been subjected to impeachment, about the fifteenth of the month he gets a check for service done 45 days previous, less 15 per cent agency discount, and some are attempting the stunt of an additional 2 per cent "for cash." (Heaven save the mark!)

All of which brings The News to the point that we received a letter from the publicity head of one of the biggest corporations in the South a few days ago a copy of which was doubtless received by other weekly newspapers, announcing a program which will prove to be of so much more satisfactory results that we are passing it along for the benefit both of the craft and the advertiser—as well as every debtor who is able to pay, as for that matter. While we are printing this without direct authority from the corporaton head, we consider it so praise-worthy that the plan deserves publicity and the originator of it will certainly get the thanks of the weekly brethren.

Following is a portion of the proposition mentioned from Mr. W. J. Baldwin, Director of Publicity, for tthe Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, which while unsolicited, is very much appreciated by The News:

Dear Mr. Thornton:

I have just completed arrangements with tthe Sparrow Advertising Agency whereby check to cover our advertising will be forwarded in time to reach you on or before the first day of each month. These checks will go forward regardless of whether or not all checking copies of your paper have been received by the Agency. Should an advertisement fail to appear after the checking copy has been received, the necessary deduction will be made from a later check.

Gradually as the number of automobiles increases over the country, the death and injured list of people grows apace. Speed—speed! Everything has been sacrificed to the speed demon. We haven't the time to "stop, look, listen." Had you ever stopped to think that the automobile is making a more deadly war upon tthe Ameri-German bullets? And so it will continue until some more effective method is devised and enforced which will slow down the mad gait at which we zizz over improved highways, cut corners and cross crossings.

Long ago we learned to give as well as to take. And while we did not win every nominee on the Democratic ticket Tuesday, we are so well satisfied with those who were nominated that we shall cheerfully lend our feeble effort toward the making of their election sure and their administration of office a success in every way

The supposed friend who would wilfully deceive you carries fangs charged with more putrid corruption than the defence characteristics of the snake in the grass.

Well, how 'bout it—have we a better governor than you? Or you than we? All the same, after January next.

Eat Less and Live Longer, Says Lawyer

By W. W. O'BRIEN
(Noted Criminal Lawyer of Chicago.)

Business and professional men working under high nervous pressure do not live as long as men whose pursuits keep them out of doors and active. Examine the records of longevity and you will find that on the average the longest-lived men are soldiers, sailors and farmers, all avocations which tend to keep a man at his physical best.

W. W. O'Brien.

Man, in general, rolls down the hill of life fastest when his figure is rotund. "Leanness and longevity" is a good axiom for business men to remember. If office workers would eat a little less, they would add years to their lives.

Overfeeding is as dangerous to adults as underfeeding is to children. Foods difficult to digest, or which overstimulate, should be avoided by persons whose work does not require any particular amount of physical exercise. Yet thousands of business men eat as much as or more than men who do manual labor. And, inevitably, nature rebels and sickness results.

Many of the country's foremost executives eat but two meals a day, breakfast and dinner in the evening. They seek to keep the organs of the body from becoming clogged. Thousands of other business men confine themselves at noontime to custards, puddings, soups and other sustaining dishes made with milk, or evaporated milk, which is milk in its most simple form, from which 60 per cent of the water has been removed by evaporation. Such a diet is light and readily assimilated.

There is no more necessary lesson to be learned by the brain worker than how to keep well and healthy by proper attention to food habits.

FAMOUS ARTIST INSTRUCTS

William de Leftwich Dodge, famous mural artist, in his studio at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition grounds in Philadelphia, where the 150th anniversary of signing the Declaration of Independence will be celebrated from June, to December, of this year, giving instructions to a group of young artists who are creating the "Rainbow City." Mr. Dodge is the color expert for the exposition, and every bit of color work done must be approved by him.

Sweet Clover Requires Firm, Moist Seed Bed

Sweet clover seed, being very small, should be planted shallow. In order that it may grow when planted shallow, the soil must be quite firm and full of moisture. Perhaps most of the failures with sweet clover are due to plowing, or otherwise loosening up the seed bed before planting the crop in the spring. Early spring plowing loosens and permits the top soil to dry out and so prevent a good stand of sweet clover.

Land to be planted to this crop should be fall plowed, or, even better, summer fallowed the year preceding. Where such land is not available, cornstalk land, millet or cane land is suitable, giving it only a light disking as preparation before seeding sweet clover. As much of the stubble as possible should be left standing to catch snow and prevent soil blowing.

Sweet clover should be planted as early in the spring as possible. Use eight to ten pounds of clean, scarified seed per acre. Where possible, drill in the seed, planting at the depth of one inch. Where one cannot drill so shallow, he should broadcast and harrow in the seed. No nurse crop should be used.—Waldo Kidder, Extension Agronomist, Colorado College of Agriculture.

Hens Used for Hatching Purposes Need Dusting

All hens used for egg-hatching purposes should be dusted with a good louse powder when they are placed on the eggs. The only preparation known to kill lice with one application is sodium fluoride. Put a piece of sod in the bottom of the nest to prevent excessive evaporation. Set two hens at a time so that the chicks may be given to one hen later. Feed cracked or whole grains to the biddies, being careful to avoid feeds that stimulate egg production or cause digestive disorders, say poultry extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State college.

HANGMAN GAME BECOMES REAL

Youth Jumps Off Box With Noose Around Neck

Derby, Ark.—The game of hangman cost Newton Snyder, 16, his life here yesterday.

With other lads, the youth had fastened a rope to a rafter in the basement of his home. First one and then another of the boys placed the rope about his neck and jumped from a box, without being injured. Snyder then arranged the noose for his own neck and leaped. The noose tightened with a jerk and he was strangled to death before he could be released.

Ford Record

From June 4, 1924, to July 21, 1926, Henry Ford built 4,000,000 Ford cars. This 4,000,000 Fords in 25½ months and represents about one-sixth of the automobiles in the United States. It took Ford about seven years to manufacture the first million cars. The Ford has been improved, beautified and refined, but is still the Model T.

Above—The new Essex all steel coach, described as strong as a steel building. At the lower left is shown a 400 ton press which stamps out entire doors with a single operation. At the right two men are proving sturdiness of car by riding on outstretched doors.

Detroit—Any story of the new Essex all steel coach is fundamentally the story of the $10,000,000 body factory which produces the car. What the Hudson Motor Car Co., has done in the manufacture of Essex bodies is to make craftsmen of machines; this is literally the fact. Giant machines do in a fraction of a minute work that the most highly skilled artisan, craftsman or artist could never hope to equal, from the standpoints of beauty and accuracy. The plant devoted to making the bodies expresses the industry's top mark in design and execution.

"Hand work" has long been a symbol of excellence of manufacture. Painstaking labor, directed by trained craft, has resulted in closest finish. But "machine work" supplants it when the machine is designed and executed so as to perform quickly and surely operations that far excel the best of the hand craft.

Essentially, the Essex body plant is an aggregation of pressing and stamping machines. Upon them are formed the component parts of the body, which are so accurately made that they fit without question. Their union into a rigid whole is accomplished with a speed and uniformity almost beyond belief. A cowl, a door ,or the corne rof a body is fashioned on giant press. The whole cowl is brought into being with one apparently effortless motion of a press that is exerting a force of 400 tons every time its plunger descends. The machine and the dies may reperesent $100,000 worth of ability to manufacture with speed and exactness—an investment made with the certainty that the completed plant would function with the greatest precision and the highest attainable speed.

The Hudson officials say that the plant is unique in being the largest bodybuilding unit in the industry, without a single bodybuilder employed n it. Strictly speaking, and using the word in hte sense in which it is usually accepted, perhaps there are no human body builders. But the machines certainly are body builders in every sense of the word.

For the first time in the history of American industry body building has been made primarily a series of steel stamping processes; for the first time, too, the bodies are being made on a 100 per cent progressive assembly system, already employed to such advantage in the manufacture of engines and chassis On top of the $10,000,000 in the plant proper, an investment of $5,000,000 was made in bringing other departments to a capacity tha twould measure up to that of the new unit.

Value of Liming in Improvement of Soil

Productivity Greatly Increased by Application.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The productivity of many soils can be greatly increased by the application of lime. Lime acts various ways; it helps to break down organic matter, it corrects acidity, and it improves the physical condition of the soil. By hastening decomposition of the organic matter, lime helps to make such matter available as plant food for whatever crops may be grown. Lime should not be applied to soils deficient in organic matter, however, especially in warm humid climates, without taking steps to maintain or increase the supply of this essential ingredient, as otherwise the outcome will be a decline in yields. The best way to increase the amount of organic matter in the soil is to apply manure or turn under green crops, such as crimson clover, cowpeas, soy beans, red clover and hairy vetch. On some low-yield ing land the turning under of a good growth of crimson clover has doubled the yield of the succeeding crop.

Lime is frequently used to correct acidity, a condition widely found in the eastern part of the United States, and detrimental to the growth of certain crops.

Another result accomplished by liming is an improvement in the physical condition of the soil. Soils of a compact nature are rendered more permeable, in consequence of which they become more retentive of moisture, less likely to wash, and more friable. Sandy soils also are benefited, being made more retentive of moisture. Application of lime is particularly beneficial in the case of leguminous crops, such as clover and alfalfa. Liming may also increase the availability of other minerals, such as potash, by rendering them more soluble.

Detailed information relative to liming soils may be obtained from state agricultural colleges or the United States Department of Agriculture.

Good Points to Observe in Raising Baby Chicks

The old adage "blood will tell" is a true one in regard to baby chicks, according to J. W. Lumb, Kansas state agricultural veterinarian. A dangerous chicken disease, bacillary white diarrhea, is transmitted through the egg of the mother hen to her offspring, according to Lumb, and while the infected hens show no visible symptoms of the disease the germ is present and affects the young. As a rule the noninfected hen will produce 30 more eggs annually than will an infected hen. While the eggs of the former have a higher percentage of hatchability and the per cent of livable chicks from the noninfected hens is four times as large as the number of chicks from diseased hens.

Cardinal points to observe in either hatching, buying or raising baby chicks are:

1. Procure eggs or chicks from tested flocks or flocks known to be free from disease.
2. Do not hatch eggs from tested and non-tested flocks in the same incubator.
3. Disinfect incubators, brooders and houses.
4. Raise chicks on ground not used for that purpose the previous year.
5. Follow a carefully worked-out system of brooding and feeding and thus maintain all the natural resistance of the chicks to disease.

Rotation Is Advisable in Producing Tomatoes

In the production of tomatoes crop rotation is advisable regardless of soil type or locality. By this means losses caused by insects and diseases are materially reduced. In an ideal rotation tomatoes will not follow tomatoes nor will there be included potatoes, peppers, or egg plant, because of the danger that the latter crops may transmit diseases affecting the tomato. In general, tomatoes should be grown in a rotation covering at least four years and including one cultivated crop in addition to the tomatoes and one or more soil-building crops.

2nd CHOICE VOTES COUNT ONLY FOR 2

Of Legal Value Only To Two Highest Candidates

Second choice votes for any candidate for governor except the two candidates are not counted in the fintl who led in first choice votes. result. In other words, according to the primary election law of Alabama, enacted in 1915, the second choice votes of only the two leading candidates for any office figure in the final result, says the Montgomery Advertiser.

In Montgomery it is learned that many bets have hinged on whether or not one candidate or the other led in the race. Those who bet that Colonel Graves would lead hav won over all others. Those who bet that McDowell would lead over either Carmichtel or Patterson have won. Those who bet that Patterson would be in fourth place have won. The second choice votes of either Carmichae Patterson are null and void, according to the law, and are not counted and tre the same as if they had never been cast.

Graves was first, McDowell second and the second choice votes of only Graves and McDowell count so far as results are concerned. Carmichael was third in frst choice votes and Patterson fourth. Neither Ctrmichael nor Patterson, under the law, have any second choice votes to count in the final results.

Committee Meets 28th

The state Democrttic executive committee has been called to meet in the senate chamber at the state capitol in Montgomery Aug. 28, when the vote in the primary will be canvassed and tabulated and the choices of the people declared the nominees of the party. Notice of the meeting was sent out Saturday morning by Judge R. B. Evins, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee.

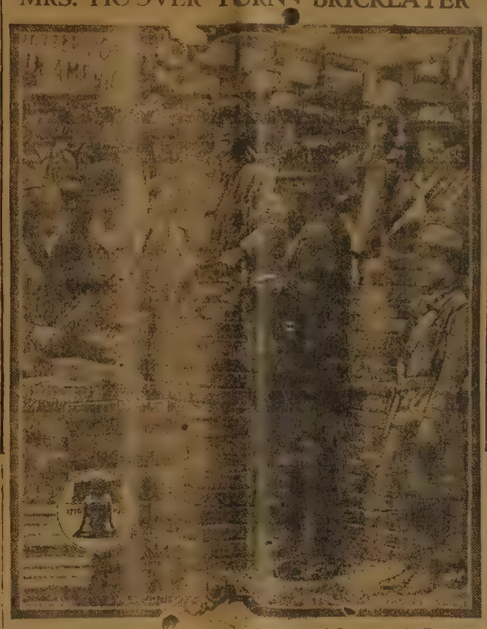
MRS. HOOVER TURNS BRICKLAYER



Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the Secretary of Commerce in President Coolluge's cabinet, is shown laying the cornerstone for the model home being erected by Better Homes in America organization at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, in Philadelphia June 1 to December 1 to celebrate 150 years of American Independence. Opposite Mrs. Hoover stands Mrs. Vance McCormick of Harrisburg. The Girl Scouts grouped around the women will operate the house.

Republicans Nominate Ramsay and Smith

The Republicans nominated Dallas Smith of Opelika for governor, and Erskine Ramsay of Birmingham for U. S. senator.

Montgomery. Aug. 17.—Probate Judge Louis Reynolds, of Chilton county, will introduce a resolution in the Alabama Republican convention at Birmingham Wednesday denouncing the Ku Klux Klan and will insist that the Republicans insert a plan in their platform specificially denouncing the kltn.

"I am against the hooded klan," said Judge Reynolds Monday. "When the Republican convention meets in Birmingham Wednesday I wil be there as a delegate. I intend to offer a resolution specificially directed against invisible government and I tm gong to insist that the Republicans of Alabama make invisible government an issue in the forthcoming gubernatorial campaign."

The Republican convention, with 428 delegates from every countty in Alabama, will convene Wednesday at noon in the btllroom of the Tutwiler hotel in Birmingham. It is understood in Montgomery Republican circles that the convention will select candidates for governor and United States senator and possibly other offices to be filled at the general election in November.

Democratic leaders in Montgomery expressed the opinion Monday that Judge Reynolds will be unsuccessful in his efforts to get the Republictns to make a straight out anti-klan fight in Alabama. They were of the opinion that Judge Reynolds will find many klansmen among the Republican delegates when he offers his resolution and that a bitter fight will follow. No expression could be gotten in Montgomery Republican circles Monday ts to the outcome of the fight that Judge Reynolds will make.

Republicans Silent

Republican srefused to discuss it generally. One well known Republican said he expected the resolution to meet stiff opposition from the Mobile delegates to the convention. This Republican said that the Mobile delegates belong to the Aubrey Boyles faction and that the Boyles faction will not ttmely submit to a denunciation of the klan.

Usually Democrats pay little attention to Republican conventions n Alabama owing to the overwhelming Democratic majority in this state, but this year Democratic leaders say they are disturbed somewhat over the situation due to a published statement of James Esdale, grand dragon of the klan in Alabama, that if the Democrats nominate Al Smth for president, klansmen in Alabamt will bolt the Democratic ticket. Democrats generally fear bolting talk at this time, they say, with some Republicans like Judge Reynolds, of Chilton determined to make the klan an issue in the November gubernatorial and senatorial election in Alabama.

CARD OF THANKS

To The Voters of Chilton County Alabama:

I a mtaking this method of expressing to you my thanks for the splendid vote you gave me in the recent primary. I shall always be greatful to you for the expression of confidence in me and I shall strive never to be ungrateful for same, nor do anything that will cause you to regret placing confidence in me, for the office of sheriff of your county.

As I am the nominee for sheriff of your county I wish to say to all the people that if you elect me in November I shall try to the best of my ability to make you a good sheriff by enforcing the law on all a like; will not have any favorites nor show special favors. It will be my policy to place before the courts the evidence and let court make up the punishment from it and not from my special recommedation.

Thanking you for your past support and assuring you that I shall appreciate your vote in November, I am,

Respectfully,
W. W. Jones.

FREIGHT ON AUTOS CUT BY RAILROADS

Amount About 40 Cents Per Hundred Pounds .....

The Birmingham Traffic association has received notice of a decison by tthe Interstate Commerce Commission ordering a reduction of freight rates on automobiles from Mchigtn points of about 40 cents per 100 pounds. A complaint was filed with the commission in October, 1922.

The rate from Detroit to Birmingham will henceforth be $1.92 instead of the present rate of $2.34½, and from Flint and North Flint will be $2.03 instead of $24.0½. A large number of automobile dealers are grantted reptrations on shipments since the petition was filed.

Three Essentials.

A negro preacher walked into the office of a newspaper in Rockymount, North Carolina, and said:

"Misto Edito', they is 43 of my congregation which subscribe fo' yo' paper. Do that entitles me to have a chu'sh notice in yo' Sdday issue?" "Sit down and write," said the editor. "I thank you."

And this is the notice the minister wrote: "Mount Memorial Baptist church, the Rev., John Walker, pastor. Preaching morning and evening. In the promulgation of the gospel, three books is necessary: The bible, the hymn book and the pocketbook. Come tomorrow and bring all three.

Clanton, Ala. Aug. 20, 1926

Because of a breakdown in our typesetting machine The News has been "balled up" the past week. All we can do is ask the pardon of our readers for all short-comings — and "try, try again."

This is the season of the year when some candidates say there's a prolific crop of liars.

Good friends, had you ever considered the possibilities in this section for the successful raising of Bermuda onions? Maybe you have read of the wodiw in Kansas, whose husband's insurance money left her upon his death had dwindled until she had merely enough left to stake her in the planting of three acres of Bermuda onions, and from which in the succeeding few years she garnered a fortune of over a million dollars. Well, there's a greater demand for vegetables—including onions—than there was at that time. And it has been demonstrated that both our climate and soil are well adopted to this staple product. A postcard to the Experiment Station, Auburn, will bring you any information for which you may ask concerning its cultivation.

Revival To Begin

Beginnin gSunday Aug. 29th, the Clanton Baptist church will hold their annual revival services. Dr. Jerome Williams pastor of the First Baptist church of Bessermer will do the preaching. Singer H. W. Lowery will lead the choir in the music.

The meeting will continue for ten days or two weeks. The public in general is cordially invited to attend the services.

AMERICAN YOUTH CANDIDATE

Miss Helen F. Dodge of Pennsylvania, holder of a Carnegie medal for heroism, has been nominated as a candidate for the American Youth Award established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which is to be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in celebration of 150 years of American Independence. Miss Dodge, the daughter of George H. Dodge of 5944 Walton avenue, Philadelphia, jumped into the Toms River at Ocean Gate, N. J., fully dressed, and, while having use of only one arm, saved the life of a drowning girl.

Kill Tapeworms in Farm Fowls

Powder Obtained From Indian Plant Found to Be Quite Satisfactory.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Kamala, a brownish powder obtained from a plant in India and long used there as a drug, has been found satisfactory for removing tapeworms from poultry. This announcement is made by the United States Department of Agriculture as a result of experiments carried on by Dr. Maurice C. Hall and Dr. J. E. Shillinger of the zoological division, bureau of animal industry.

Cause Disturbances.

Tapeworms cause serious disturbances in chickens, turkeys and other poultry, the injuries ranging from unthriftiness to conditions simulating paralysis, due to deficient diet, sometimes resulting in death. Up to the present time no satisfactory treatment had been known. The demand for a remedy has been insistent and was considered the more urgent in that the life histories of so many tapeworms are unknown that satisfactory preventive measures cannot be recommended as yet. Moreover, so far as life histories are known they involve such intermediate hosts as flies, earthworms, slugs, and similar animals which are themselves very difficult to control under farm conditions. The need for such a drug as kamala is therefore apparent.

The drug was tried out on 120 chickens and six turkeys, counts being made daily of the tapeworms removed, the birds finally being killed to determine whether any of the parasites were left. The result indicated that a dose of one gram to a chicken removed all the worms in approximately 19 cases out of 20, a much better result than has been secured with any other drug. The dose for turkeys seems to be two grams.

Way to Administer.

The investigators say the best method of administration appears to be individual dosing with pills, but that the use of capsules is also satisfactory. Flock dosing by the administration of the drug in feed is much less satisfactory. The dosing of individual birds is easily accomplished and fasting and purgatives do not appear to be important. At the present time it may not be possible to obtain kamala at all drug stores, but it is thought that within a short time manufacturers will have it on the market in convenient form. An estimate of the cost of the kamala itself for treatment of chickens is less than one cent per bird.

Destructive Attacks of Cutworms on Tomatoes

Among the most important insect enemies of the tomato are cutworms of various kinds, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. These smooth, plump, gray or brownish caterpillars attack the young tomato plants both in the plant bed and when set in the field, usually cutting them off near the surface of the ground. One cutworm can destroy many more plants in a single night than it can devour. By reason of their destructive attacks resetting is frequently necessary.

The best control measure is the use of what is termed poisoned bait, made as follows:

To one peck of dry bran, add four ounces of white arsenic or paris green and thoroughly mix. Then add two quarts of cheap molasses diluted with enough water to make a crumbly, wet mash. Allow the mash to stand for several hours and then scatter it thinly about the base of the plants late in the evening. Make applications as long as the cutworms are active and damaging the plants. In the control of cutworms it is a good plan to apply the poisoned bait before the crop is set out or before it appears above ground. Applications at such times will destroy many of the worms before the plants are susceptible to attack.

Great Activity of Associations

Render Some Essential Service Connected With Farmers' Enterprises.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There are now more than 12,000 active farmers' business organizations in the United States, the Department of Agriculture estimates on the basis of a recent survey. This number is more than twice that in 1915, when the first nation-wide survey of co-operative associations was made by the department.

Included in Associations.

The associations include those selling farm products, buying farm supplies, operating creameries, cheese factories, canning plants, grain elevators, stockyards, warehouses, or rendering some one or more of the essential services connected with the conduct of farmers' enterprises. The figures do not include farmers' co-operative banks, credit associations, nor insurance companies.

Fifty-four of the associations listed are federations with local units, 49 are sales agencies operating in central markets, 35 are bargaining associations, and 98 are large-scale organizations of the centralized type. Of the total number of associations listed by the department, 3,325 are primarily engaged in marketing grain, 2,197 handle dairy products, 1,770 ship live stock, 1,250 market fruits and vegetables; 121 perform various functions in the marketing of cotton, 91 in marketing wool, 71 in marketing poultry or poultry products, and 24 in marketing tobacco.

In North Central States.

More than 70 per cent of all the associations are in the 12 North Central states. Approximately 6 per cent are in the three Pacific Coast states, and less than 3 per cent in the six New England states. The largest number of associations reporting from any one state is 1,383 from Minnesota. Iowa is credited with 1,094 associations, Wisconsin 1,092, and Illinois 822. Missouri has 537 associations; Nebraska, 488; Kansas, 466; California, 350, and New York, 286.

The grain marketing associations are largely in the 12 North Central states, as are also the greater number of the live-stock shipping associations. The organizations engaged in marketing dairy products are scattered through the country with a fair percentage of the total number in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Possibilities Open for Farm Storage of Grain

The farmer has the choice of three places for storing his grain in order to hold it for a favorable market, it is explained by L. F. Rickey, grain marketing specialist of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois. These three places are: (1) in cribs or granaries on his own farm, (2) elevators or cribs at his shipping point, or (3) at the terminal elevators. In order to hold his grain, it is often necessary for the farmer to borrow money upon it as collateral.

When it is in public elevators at the terminal markets he can readily borrow on the warehouse certificates, but the cost of such storage is rather high. Storage in the local elevator has advantages, but these houses are not large enough to actually store very much grain and many elevators refuse this class of business or limit the time of storage to a comparatively short period.

Farm cattle and granaries offer the cheapest storage for grain crops and this method has several other apparent advantages. However, no one would care to loan money on grain so located. Iowa has solved this part of the problem by its unbonded agricultural warehouse law. Under its provisions cribs or granaries are officially sealed and storage certificates issued which are acceptable to local bankers as collateral for loans. The grain thereby finances its holding for a favorable market.

FARM FACTS

Clean out the cistern and catch cool spring rains.

Look into bee hives and see how colonies have stood the winter.

* * *

Little potatoes make good seed only when they come from high yielding and disease-free hills.

* * *

Dry skim milk, as 40 per cent of the mash mixture, is one of the best ways to check coccidiosis of chickens.

* * *

Get early vegetables started. Onions, radishes, lettuce, peas and beets flourish in the cool damp weather of early spring.

* * *

Plow up the sod-bound orchard, and cultivate it. This loosens the soil, kills weeds and makes re-seeding more valuable.

Republicans Nominate

Esdale, according to what is heard, and hey say the statement of Mr. Esdale does not represent their views and opinions on the matter of bolting.

Reynolds Confident

Mr. Esdale's statement claiming the klan won a complete victory in the Alabama primary was printed in Montgomery Sunday morning and since its publication interest has been aroused in Democratic circles over whtt the Republicans will do in Birmingham. It is the general opinion expressed in Montgomery that the Republicans will not denounce the klan, insert an anti-klan plank in their platform and make an anti-klan fight in Alabama.

The general opinion is the Republicans will probably adopt a middle ground by declaring for religious freedom in Alabama and stop there. However, on the other hand Judge Reynolds appeared to be confident Monday that the Republicans will seize what they regard as an opportunity to split the Democratic party in Alabama and insert an anti-klan plank. From what could be heard Monday, there appears to be as much joy in the Republican ranks over Mr. Esdale's promise to bolt the Democratic ticket if Al Smith is nominated as tthere is regret in the Democratic ranks that the question of bolting a Democratic ticket has been raised in Alabama.

Leading Democrats make the statement that while Mr. Esdale as grand dragon of the klan in Alabama has a right to make a statement for the klan, he has no right to make a statement for the Democrats of Alabama.

Modern Home Aided Byrd Pole Dash; Sugar Cane Fought Cold of Nort

The House in the Arctic.

Loading Ship for Trip.

Byrd in Airship and Doughnut Boat.

A MODERN home built in the Arctic defied the death-dealing cold of the Polar Regions and proved an invaluable aid to Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd in his successful flight to the North Pole, which he circled three times in a record breaking flight of 1,500 miles in 15 hours and 30 minutes at an average speed of 98.75 miles an hour.

It was at the Spitzbergen base, King's Bay, where this first modern house was constructed amid the snow and ice of the Arctic immediately upon the arrival of Lieutenant Byrd and his companions, as a permanent home and observation station for the explorers. The house, which rose up on the horizon of the frigid north in marked contrast to the igloo of the eskimo, was equipped with a complete radio outfit that those who remained at the base while Lieutenant Byrd made his thrilling dash to the Pole in his speeding Fokker might keep in touch with their chief and the outside world, which they kept informed as to the progress and success of the flight.

It was to this same home that he returned after his hazardous trip and from which some of the first messages were sent to the waiting public, telling them through the lanes of the air that Byrd had circled the pole three times and had returned to his Spitzbergen home in safety, adding one of the most memorable pages to the history of Arctic exploration.

Sugar Cane Fights Polar North.

When Lieutenant Byrd left the Brooklyn Navy Yard on the ship Chantier he declared he had the best and most scientifically equipped expedition that ever had started for the North Pole. Special plans were made for the erection of his Arctic home. Boards of celotex insulating lumber made from bagasse (sugar cane fiber after all sugar juices have been extracted) were carried along with the latest inventions to aid in polar exploration. This building material is very light and is filled with millions of air cells, which give it great insulation value and resistance to change in temperature, especially the severe cold. One odd circumstance in connection with the use of this material is that the sugar cane of the south was utilized to fight the cold of the north.

Celotex was selected instead of lumber because tests made by the United States Bureau of Standards and its universal use in building construction all over the world, had demonstrated that this insulating lumber would keep the quarters of the explorers warmer and protect their living conditions more securely than ordinary building material.

It was only after careful investigation by the scientific men in the expedition that celotex was selected. These authorities pointed out that the protection afforded by its insulation efficiency was three times as great as ordinary lumber and nearly twelve times as great as that of brick and other masonry material. The ship Chantier also was lined with celotex as an added precaution to keep the ship warm while the explorers used it in the preliminary stages of the expedition.

In practically every other way this expedition was more scientifically prepared than any of its predecessors. These included inventions of Commander Byrd himself. A simple sun compass conceived by Byrd and developed by Mr. Sumstead of the National Geographic Society, superseded the complicated German device, developed three years ago for Amundsen. The drift indicator also was Byrd's invention. The bubble sextant by which the navigator obtains his bearings while in flight was another one of his inventions. Still another scientific development was a quick method of telling when one is at the North Pole. This has been worked out by G. W. Littlehales, the navy's hydrographic engineer.

Device Locates the Pole.

Byrd and others contributed to a chart of the magnetic lines flowing toward the magnetic North Pole, which is in Bolthia Land, 1,200 miles south of the Pole. Between Bolthia Land and the Pole the compass points south instead of north and over much of the Arctic it is badly disturbed by the discrepancy of position between the geographical North Pole and the magnetic North Pole.

This chart of the magnetic lines, flowing to the magnetic North Pole, although it was far from complete, was such as to enable the navigator to tell in what direction the compass should point from any spot in the Arctic. With this knowledge, the erratic behavior of the compass becomes orderly and it is once again a useful instrument.

A third type of compass used was a device of infinite sensitiveness—a revolving electrical coil, which is adjusted to a given relation with the magnetism of the earth. This, the sun compass, and the magnetic compass were each used to correct the other.

Lieutenant Byrd in his flight used a quick method of telling when he was actually at the Pole. This was the invention worked out by Mr. Littlehales, the U. S. Navy hydrographic engineer. It shows the sun's position from the North Pole at every hour of the day and every day of the year. When the flyer is near the Pole he can, by ascertaining the exact position of the sun, prove that he is near the Pole.

Flies 3,000 Miles Over Arctic.

The expedition, backed by such men as John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., had three main objects:

1—To prove that air navigation in the Arctic is possible and that freight and messenger travel over the top of the world is certain to come.

2—To hunt for new land in the unexplored areas of the Arctic.

3—To conquer the North Pole from the air as a sporting adventure and as a demonstration of what a plane can do—not a geographical study, as the Pole was mapped for all time by Admiral Peary.

Probably no one knows more about Arctic flying than Commander Byrd. From the Greenland base of the MacMillan expedition at Etah last year he flew 3,000 miles over the Arctic, studying the behavior of oil, motors, compasses, and other navigation instruments at great altitudes over the Polar sea.

With him this time Commander Byrd, as a noted fuel expert, who is Flying Commander G. O. Noville, as it requires great skill and pains to prevent the freezing of lubricating oil and stiffened action of the motors, if forced to work on the plane in the open at great altitudes with the thermometer at 60 to 70 below zero. The points which favored the month of May were that the Arctic fog had not begun to rise and heavy snows still covered the land and afforded many good landing places.

A factor of safety pointed out by Commander Byrd in connection with the use of the Fokker machine is that it carries a reserve engine. It has three engines. With a light load one is expected to be sufficient to maintain the plane in flight. With a normal load, two engines will do the work. If two engines break down at one time, when the plane is not too heavily loaded, it may fly with the use of one engine. The Fokker machine has a wing-spread of slightly more than 64 feet. It is said to be a marvel of airship construction.

The other airplane—the Curtis Oriole—was to have been used chiefly in finding landing fields so that if the fliers found their main landing place covered with a fog they might go elsewhere.

The Chantier was equipped with a powerful radio transmitter to send back the news of the expedition. The Fokker also is equipped with a receiving and transmitting set. Commander Byrd not only kept the world informed of the progress of the expedition, but received through the Chantier weather warnings to guide him in his flight.

How Expedition Was Equipped.

Forty-five hundred pounds of whole beef were included in the rations of the Byrd crew of forty-seven fliers, seamen and technicians. Also four hundred pounds of pemmican (meat fats and raisins), huge quantities of bacon, dried milk, erbswurst (pea soup) and other supplies in proportion were carried along. Cod liver oil was included for its healthful properties. Herbert Griggs, who had charge of provisioning Peary's expedition in his famous dash to the Pole, worked out the rations for the Byrd explorers. Two pounds per man per day was the allowance to take care of all emergencies.

No amount of clothing is really sufficient when flying 1,000 or more feet in the air in the Polar regions, but every possible precaution was taken by Commander Byrd against exposure. The men were equipped with the warmest and lightest of reindeer suits and with fur parkas, a garment that reaches to the knees and has a hood covering the head. Plenty of goggles were found to be an absolute necessity to protect them against the glare of the snow.

In spite of all the precautions the undertaking was full of unseen danger. None of this equipment would be of the slightest avail against some unexpected and unprecedented situation which might arise. There is always the danger of snowblindness, exhaustion, freezing, some mishap to the engine. Lieutenant Byrd and his companions, however, were particularly fortunate in escaping with practically no ill effects except the exhaustion due to such a perilous trip.

Pick Up Ice Pilot.

The ship Chantier's first stop was at Tromso, Norway, where an ice skipper was taken on to pilot the Chantier and its crew through the ice-filled waters around Spitzbergen to King's Bay, where preparations for the first flight to the Pole were made. The planes, the instruments and the various oil mixtures used in connection with the airship tests, were carefully examined and tested. Lieutenant Byrd's original plans called for six flights as follows:

1—A 400-mile flight from Spitzbergen to Peary Land to unload oil, provisions and equipment at a place that looks promising for a landing.

2—A 400-mile flight back to Spitzbergen.

3—A second 400-mile flight from Spitzbergen to Peary Land base with further food, fuel and equipment.

4—An 800-mile flight to and around the Pole and back to the Peary base.

5—An 800-mile round trip flight to the northwest over unexplored areas in search of new lands.

6—A 400-mile flight from the Peary Land base back to Spitzbergen.

It was his plan in his second flight to attempt to discover new land, but when he received the report of the flight of Amundsen in his dirigible, in which it was stated that the Norge had failed to find any trace of new land, Lieutenant Byrd decided to abandon further flights and the trip over land on sleds he had planned in his search for new land in unexplored areas. Now he has decided to try to accomplish by airship at the South Pole what he did at the North. As he left the Spitzbergen base he stated that he would have just as well an equipped expedition for his southern flight as he had in his recent adventure in the North.

Every Dining Car Meal is Served at a Loss to the Railroads

Few, if any, railroads in this country fail to suffer a substantial loss in providing dining-car service for their patrons, in order that they may save time in travel and be afforded every comfort. During the year 1925, the L. & N. served 615,238 meals, at an actual loss of $195,103, or an average of 32 cents each meal. Here are the figures: Expenses—wages, provisions, repairs, etc., $907,900; Revenues from meals, cigars, etc. served, $712,797; Net loss, $195,103.

Each meal, therefore, cost our patrons on an average of only $1.16, or practically the same as they would pay in any first-class hotel or restaurant; yet it cost this Company $1.48 to produce and serve it.

These figures do not include interest on the investment in dining cars, which, fully equipped with linen, china, kitchenware, etc., cost about $52,000 each.

"The Old Reliable" has earned a reputation for the consistent superiority of its dining-car service and the fairness of its prices.

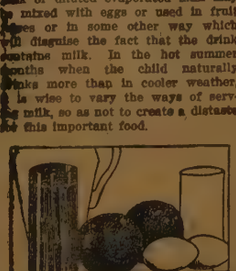
Eats vs. Drinks

Drink is the second greatest cause of disease and death. Food comes first, then drink. Excluding alcoholic beverages, there are dozens of drinks on the market today whose effect is detrimental, particularly to children.

Milk is the best drink for children. Not only is it drink, but food as well—the most nearly perfect food known to man.

Milk is an all-the-year-round drink and for this reason the children often rebel against drinking it. This condition, however, may be overcome by the introduction of the mixed drink. Milk or diluted evaporated milk may be mixed with eggs or used in fruit juices or in some other way which will disguise the fact that the drink contains milk. In the hot summer months when the child naturally drinks more than in cooler weather, it is wise to vary the ways of serving milk, so as not to create a distaste for this important food.



In connection with mixed drinks, the following formulas for milk beverages may aid mothers in serving something new:

Iced Cocoa

3 tbsp. cocoa	1½ cups evaporated milk
3 tbsp. sugar
¼ cup hot water	diluted with
Few grains salt	1½ cups water
	¾ tsp. vanilla

Scald the diluted milk in a double boiler. Mix cocoa, sugar, salt and add the hot water. Cook over a low flame from 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Add to the cocoa the scalded milk; return to the double boiler and continue cooking for 10 minutes. Add vanilla, chill before serving. Pour into tall glasses which contain a few small cubes of ice. Serve plain or top with whipped cream sprinkled with cinnamon. Serves four.

Egg-Nog.

1 egg	diluted with
Few grains salt	2-3 cup ice water
1 tbsp. sugar	3 tbsp. berry or cherry juice or 3 tbsp. non-alcoholic sherry
Few gratings nutmeg
2-3 cup cold evaporated milk

Separate white from yolk of egg. Add salt to white and beat until stiff. Beat yolk until thick and lemon colored and add the fruit juices, nutmeg and sugar. Combine diluted milk with yolk mixture. Pour into a tall glass and put the egg white on top. Sprinkle top with chopped nuts and serve at once. Serves one.

Orange-Nog.

¼ cup orange juice	1-3 cup evaporated milk diluted with 1-3 cup cold water
Few grains salt
2 1-3 tsp. sugar

Add sugar and salt to orange juice and pour slowly into the diluted milk, stirring to mix thoroughly. Chill before serving. One-half tsp. lemon improves this drink for many. Serves one.

CHILDREN AND WIFE USED AS A SHIELD

Shelby Man Defies the Law To Oust Him

A dispatch from Columbiana Monday said: Refusing to vacate a farm which he is alleged to have sold several months ago to Shaw Brothers, Bam Boone of near Boonetown has barricaded himself in his house and is defying officers to oust him, according to Sheriff A. J. Faulkner.

Thrusting his wife and children in front of him as a shield against expected gun fire from Sheriff A. J. Faulkner an dseveral men who called upon him Friday armed with dispossession papers, Boone defied the officers to oust him and declared that not until his wife and children were shot down would he vacate or surrender.

An appeal has been made by Sheriff Faulkner to W. McAdory, chief of the state law enforcement department for ai din forcing Boone from the property.

The trouble dates back 18 months when Boone is said to have sold the house and small farm to the Shaw brothers, of the community of Aldrich.

After selling the property, according to officers, Boone is alleged to have refused to surrender it or the money alleged to have been received

The brothers who are said to have purchased the farm appealed to the circuit court for help in dispossessing the property. The court, after hearing the evidence in the case, ruled that the property had been legally sold and issued orders to Boone for the dispossession.

Boone, through his attorney, appealed the case to the supreme court, which affirmed the ruling of the lower body four months previous.

Orders were served on Boone, according to officers for the possession of the property by the Shaw brothers shortly after the ruling of the supreme court.

Boone is said to have complied. A short time afterward, however, he is reported to have moved back into the house and to have taken possession of the adjoining land.

Sheriff Faulkner said that when Boone thrust his wife and children in front of him and defied hi mto oust him from the property he returned to Columbiana because he did not want to take any chance of wounding the woman and children in the event a gun battle was enacted.

While officers are making plans for the dispossession of the property, Boone is barricaded in the small house hurling defitnce at the law.

It was announced Monday night that a movement is on foot to arbitrate the disagreement and end the disturbance.

Meanwhile Boone, closeted inside his little home, is holding out against efforts to dispossess the property.

ASSASSIN'S BULLET ENDS SMITH'S LIFE

Judge Lamar Smith of Wetumpka Is Killed

Wetumpka, Aug. 30.—A reign of terror which for six months overshadowed the home of Judge Lamar Smith, former probate judge of Elmore county, and who was with the land department of the Alabama Power company, ended tonight when tn unidentified assassin fired a charge of buckshot through a window, fatally wounding Judge Smith, and injuring his wife.

Judge Smith was lying on the bed reading a newspaper at the time. His wife was at his side, also reading. The assassin crept upon the porch and placing the barrel of an automatic shotgun against the screen, took aim and fired

Judge Smith died about three hours later. The charge entered th right side of his head, tering away fragments of the skull and burying them i nthe wall on the opposite side of the room. One shot ploughed a furrow across the forehead of Mrs. Smith. Her injury was slight.

The marauder escaped in a waiting automobile. He is believed to have h d an accomplice who stood close by to give the alarm. Only an empty shell, ejected on the spot, gave officers a definite clue.

The tragedy occurred about 8 o'clock Monday night. [illegible] gathered by Sheriff Lane Golden and Walter K. McAdory, chief state law enforcement officer, were being pieced together Monday night, but the motive for the crime remains unknown.

The Gubernatorial Vote

According to figures tabulated by the Democratic executive committee Saturday, as we notice in Sunday's Advertiser, Graves ran first in the gubernatorial campaign, Carmichael scored, Patterson third and McDowell fourth, total vote considered. Or, first choice considered, they would line up as Graves, first; McDowell second; Carmichael second, Patterson son fourth.

Some are inclined to attribute McDowell's defeat to his sponsoring of the $75,000,000 bond issue. But if you will get your thought works into action you will soon find out that this impression is erroneous. We do not believe that his advocacy of the bond issue caused his defeat. In that event—in case the voters were so overwhelmingly opposed to a $75,000,000 bond issue—why did they not throw their strength to Patterson, who was an avowed opponent of any bond issue whatever?

Our understanding in the recent campaign was that Graves and Carmichael both favored a bond issue for roads, but in smaller amounts than that advocated by McDowell, while Patterson's plan was for no bonds. Then if the electorate is so opposed to bonds for road improvement, why didn't they accept their opportunity for voicing their protest, and nominate Patterson?

As everyone knows who has taken the time to consider the matter, we have a nominee for governor who was elevated to the office by a minority vote—and this is not said with any malice whatever toward the nominee, Mr. Graves, for we believe him to be honest and conscientious, and that he will fulfill the duties of the office with utmost satisfaction. But had you noticed that 161,152 people voted against Graves on the first choice ballot, while he received only 61,494 direct votes? A difference of 99,658 votes against Graves.

There was a difference of approximately seven thousand first choice votes in favor of Carmichael over Patterson; yet a difference in favor of Patterson of 892 in second choice votes. So, regardless of how it may appear, the second choice vote is a very important factor—in scrambling the will of the people.

According to the election laws, and considering only the first choice votes, those who voted for the two lowest candidates lost their votes entirely—they amounted to nothing more than if they hadn't been cast; while those who voted first and second choice for the two highest candidates had their ballots counted twice. A ballot cast for Carmichael first and Patterson second was a ballot thrown away; a ballot cast for Graves first and McDowell second was counted twice—one for each candidate, because they were the two highest. So, according to this calculation, 101,483 ballots—the combined first choice vote of Carmichael and Patterson—were cast without effect.

Here is the official vote

Graves—First choice 61,494; second, 21,978; total, 83,472.

McDowell—First, 59,669; second, 7,943; total, 67,612.

Carmichael—First, 54,072; second, 20,061; total, 74,373.

Patterson—First, 47,411; second, 20,890; total, 68,301.

In this day of speed and congestion of public highways the smaller towns thru which improved trunk roadways have been built are confronted with both a dangerous and perplexing question in the matter of their public school buildings. In this is meant the danger to a portion of the student body in crossing the highways en route to the school. In Clanton the railroad and the concrete B. and M. highway run parallel through the town, separated about one block apart, and, of course, neither could a school be maintained on each side, nor could all the student body be housed on the side on which the school is located. This danger that the younger pupils must be subjected to in passing over railroad and trunk line highways will be eliminated some day, when watchmen will be employed to guard them at regular intervals. It appears to The News that the establishment of such a system would be a wise and paying investment for an ytown so situated now, and before any more young and useful lives are further sacrificed.

Every time the subject comes up there is a great cry that "church and state must be kept separate." And then we go ahead in practically every important campaign and line up for and against matters and measures which should be settled only by church organizations. "Religious affairs must have no place in politics," we are admonished, and "political affairs must have no place in religious control." In this connection, while we believe Al Smith is a big man, a sensible man, yet the fact that he is of the Catholic persuasion would just about cook his goose in the South.

A Good Tip

Now is the time to buy purebred livestock. A considerable volume of purebred stock originally intended for breeding purposes has been going to the block because prices for purebreds in many instances have declined practically to the level of those paid for slaughter animals. There is need for purebred livestock on farms and it does not seem right to slaughter animals that could be used to improve the quality of farm herds and flocks.

An exceptionally high producing cow is worth many times the price of a slaughter animal. Not only does such an individual produce more actual milk and butterfat, but the superior production characteristics of such individuals may be passed on through several succeeding generations.

The fact should not be overlooked that purebred livestock is a real necessity. Without such stock, milk and butterfat records and weights of fleeces will decline and uniformity of type and quality will be sacrificed. No improvement can be made without them. Now is the time to sell scrub stock and buy purebreds while the prices are low.—Ranley-Farmer.

Disinfection of Stables Urgent

Of Great Importance Following Outbreak of Some Contagious Disease.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The importance of disinfecting the premises following an outbreak of some contagious disease is not fully appreciated by the average stockman and farmer, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, this conclusion being based upon the experience of the bureau of animal industry of the department in dealing with infectious diseases of live stock. Disease germs, unless destroyed, have the power to maintain themselves indefinitely on the premises, insanitary stables in particular being a favorite rendezvous. Their presence is a serious menace to the health and life of farm animals housed in such places, and an epizootic of some infectious disease may at any time break out. In the disinfection of stables there are three essentials, namely, proper preparation of the building to facilitate reaching organism of disease, an effective disinfectant, and a method of applying the disinfectant that will assure thorough contact with the bacteria.

Clean Out Trash.

In the preparation of the building see that all cobwebs, dust, etc., are cleaned from the ceilings, partitions, doors, and floors, and remove all refuse including manure from the stable and barnyard to a place inaccessible to live stock. Such refuse should then be burned or treated with a solution of chloride of lime diluted with water in the proportion of six ounces chloride of lime to one gallon of water. In the case of an earth floor that has become contaminated for some depth, remove four inches or more of the surface soil, treating it with the same disinfectant as suggested for refuse and manure. Replace this layer of dirt with soil from an uncontaminated source or, better still, lay a floor of concrete, the most durable and sanitary material for a stable floor. Any woodwork that has become softened or that is so porous as to be a good medium for absorption of disease germs should be removed, burned, and replaced with new material.

It is highly important that the disinfectant used be effective. One of the best disinfectants is a mixture in the proportion of four ounces of a compound solution of cresol (a coal tar product) to one gallon of water. More detailed information relative to disinfectants and their use on the farm may be obtained from state agricultural colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Applying Disinfectant.

The best method of applying the disinfectant is by means of a strong spray pump, although where the surface to be treated is limited a whitewash brush may be used. The pump should be equipped with not less than 15 feet of hose, there being attached to the hose a five-foot section of iron pipe of the same caliber with a spraying nozzle at one end.

Legumes Check Erosion by Heavy Root System

Legume crops may check soil erosion in three ways: (1) by furnishing a cover crop, (2) by the addition of a comparatively large amount of organic matter to the soil, and (3) by a heavy root system which tends to hold the soil, according to A. E. Karraker of the agronomy department, college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

Any legume may serve as a cover crop, but some legumes are especially adapted to forming a cover crop which will, to a large extent, prevent erosion on hill lands. Clovers such as red, alsike, mammoth, sweet and alfalfa make excellent cover crops. These cover and protect the land during the seasons when erosion is most likely to occur. These legumes are especially valuable in preventing sheet washing.

The above named legumes may be handled in such a way that they will add a large amount of organic matter to the soil and this in turn will help cut down the possibilities of erosion. The organic matter in the soil tends to absorb the water and in this way cuts down the volume of runoff. The organic matter also enriches the soil and reduces the hazard in growing cover crops.

The root systems of the legume crops play a big part in checking erosion. The roots hold the soil particles together, make the soil more retentive of moisture and add organic matter directly to the soil. The heavy root systems of sweet clover and alfalfa are well adapted to this function.

No Cure or Prevention of Dreaded Hog Cholera

No drug or combination of drugs is known that will cure or prevent hog cholera, says the United States Department of Agriculture, although some of the so-called "tonics" for hogs may have merits as condition powders for the general health of the animals. Many preparations put on the market from time to time have, in tests by federal and state institutions, been proven worthless in preventing or curing hog cholera. The only dependable agent for the prevention of this disease is the anti-hog-cholera serum prepared according to the methods originally worked out by the federal bureau of animal industry.

Th[illegible] and one attractions that will feature Alabama's biggest show—the Alabama State Fair—which will open in Birmingham October 4 and continue [illegible] 9.

Practically every detail for the grand event of the year has been com[illegible] pres[illegible] Dent, secretary of [illegible] Fair Association, w[illegible] ge of the preparations.

[illegible] eye on the Alabama State Fair this year. [illegible] inv[illegible] Alabama to com[illegible] am and help us enjoy [illegible]

"[illegible] es will be awarded for [illegible] xhibits, community displays [illegible] lual exhibits, than ever [illegible] thousand and five hundred [illegible] cash prizes are to be o[illegible] agricultural exhibits. Count[illegible] receive from $5 to $[illegible] o classification at a bon[illegible] be put on in addition. [illegible] ual exhibits will receive [illegible] from $25 to $25[illegible] and community exhibits will range from $100 [illegible] $200. We believe that this is the [illegible] prize list that has ever been [illegible] to exhibitors in Southern [illegible]."

But these [illegible] just a small part o[illegible] the fa[illegible] o the managers [illegible] strial exhibits [illegible] ess made through [illegible] he production of all kinds of manufactured articles, stock exhibits of every kind, an exhibit of saddle horses and ponies, poultry, dogs and all the other things that the farmer and the city dweller find interesting.

Along with the exhibits, and at a great cost, the fair association has arranged a series of fine hippodrome acts which include: Frank Silvas, ace of daredevils, in the "Circle of Death;" the six Sarattos, original gymnasts; Curtis's Animal Circus, hodge-podge of fun and skill; the Lomas Troupe, from London town where they made merry in the music halls of that staid old city; the Six Hassans, an aggregation of gymnasts, pyramid builders; "Race Track Frolics," a riot of fun; the Bimbos, in a knockout gymnastic exhibition; and Joe Fanton and his company of aerial thrill artists.

These acts will be followed with a band concert by a great 40-piece band, and a series of operatic selections by the foremost singers from Europe and [illegible].

And to further add to the glory and power of the wonderful series of attractions one of the most wonderful of all Americans events, the year "1776," will be depicted in fireworks. Many of the most stirring events of that year will be shown in fire. The Boston Tea Party, The Ride of Paul Revere, the Signing of the Declaration of Independence, and the Battle of Yorktown will all be faithfully reproduced. This alone, the fair management declares, makes the 1926 Alabama State Fair something to be looked forward to.

The following superintendents have been announced for various departments of the fair:

Agriculture, J. L. Liles; Girls' Canning Club, Miss Lucille Cawood; horticulture, R. C. Calloway; beef cattle, R. J. Goode; dairy cattle, F. W. Burns; swine, sheep and goats, A. A. Lauderdale; poultry and pet stock, George M. Pharr; woman's and floral, Mrs. Gordon Patrick; mines, minerals and industrial arts, N. G. Bradford; director of amusements, E. F. Carruthers; speed, Ralph Fies; gates and admission, L. H. Salter.

These superintendents will have full charge of the departments named and they have stated that they can already assure the people of Alabama the finest all-around fair that has ever been staged in the Southeast.

Officials of the Alabama State Fair Association are:

R. A. Brown, president; Sol Caheen, vice-president; J. H. Loveman, second vice-president; J. L. Dent, secretary; and W. J. Adams, treasurer.

FARMER ARRESTED AFTER GUN BATTLE

Columbiana, Aug. 30.—Ed. Self, farmer, of near Westover is in a dying condition in the Shelby county jail at Columbiana as the result of wounds received in a shooting affray with state law enforcement officers at his home, Monday.

According to a story told Sheriff A. J. Faulkner, as the officers, armed with a search warrant, approached the house Self met them and without warning opened fire upon them with an automatic revolver.

The officers, although taken by surprise, returned th fire and for several minutes the countryside resounded with echoes of shots fired in rapid succession as a lively gun battle ensued.

Self, after shooting his last bullet, was taken into custody probably mortally wounded. Another man at at the Self home was also arrested. The two were taken to the Shelby county jail and turned over to Sheriff A. J. Faulkner.

Search of the Self premises revealed a distilling outfit concealed in the well house, according to officers.

Self, according to Solicitor John J. Haynes, has a criminal record and some time ago when officers accosted him, resisted arrest, making it necessary to forcibly disarm him of a revolver.

1ST AMERICAN YOUTH ENTRY

Edith May Adams, eighteen-year-old Barrington, N. J., girl, presenting her entry blank to Mayor Kendrick in his office at City Hall, Philadelphia. The American Youth and Teacher Award was established as a tribute to American youth and teachers by the Board of Directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, through which the people of the United States and the world at large will celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence. The exposition will run from June 1 to December 1. Miss Adams' entry blank cited her for heroism displayed recently when she remained inside a burning building helping doctors render first aid to injured firemen. She is a candidate for the Golden Eaglette, the highest gift within the hands of the Girl Scouts. Each state will elect a girl and boy and one teacher to represent them and the successful candidates will be the guest of the Sesqui officials from June 28 to July 5 at the exposition. This will also include a trip to Washington where they will be received by President Coolidge and presented with medals.

Plans to Increase Soil Productivity

Crop Rotation as Good as Manure and Fertilizers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In the practice of crop rotation a farmer has at his command a means whereby he can materially reduce acre costs or increase the output of his land, says W. W. Weir, associate soil technologist of the United States Department of Agriculture. Perhaps that fact is not news to many farmers who have been using rotation in their crop system; they know it is a beneficial practice.

They may be surprised, however, says Mr. Weir, to learn that crop rotation is nearly as effective in increasing soil productivity as the use of manure and commercial fertilizers. Furthermore, crop rotation can be practiced usually with no outlay of money, whereas the use of commercial fertilizers requires an expenditure of money.

A study of the long-continued soil fertility experiments of this country and of England, made by the Department of Agriculture, has brought out some important facts about crop rotation in its relation to soil productivity. In general, says Mr. Weir, they show that rotation without the use of manure or commercial fertilizers is nearly as efficient in effecting crop increases as the use of fertilizers without rotation. The beneficial effects of crop rotation are different from the benefits derived from the use of fertilizers; so that when these two farm practices are combined the one practice adds to the benefits of the other, making the resultant increase almost twice that secured by either practice used alone.

On soils long under cultivation highest yields are possible only when rotation and the use of fertilizers are practiced together.

TO REORGANIZE STATE HIGHWAY

Graves To Ask $25,000,000 Bond Issue

The Age-Herald says: Col. Bibb Graves, Democratic nominee for governor, will lose no time in reorganizing the state department when he takes office next January, he made it plain in an interview during his visit to Birmingham.

He said he would seek a $25,000,000 bond issue for highways, with an additional tax on gasoline of one cent a gallon.

The next governor expressed the hope that the members of the incoming legislature will not commit themselves to a program until he has an opportunity to confer with them.

On the question of appointments, Col. Graves is keeping a stiff upper lip. He will make no "patronage" promises until he takes office, and he will not lend his support to any candidate for speaker of the house of representatives until after he has been elected in November.

"You know," he smiled, "I'm just the Democratic nominee now: the election is several months off."

When asked about the report that J. Lee Long, of Butler county, would be acceptable to him as speaker of the house, and that Hugh D. Merrill, of Anniston, would not, Col. Graves declined to commit himself, indicating he was keeping his hands off in this race until he is formally elected.

The colonel admitted he had many applications for jobs on file.

He said he would take the necessary steps to end convict leasing, just as he promised the voters in his campaign. He will have the power, as governor, to end the lease system, by the stroke of a pen. He plans to work the convicts on the roads of the state.

The question of a nine month's school term is already receiving the next governor's earnest consideration. He said he intends to give as much money as possible to education, and that he intends to see that every white child gets at least a seven month school term during the first year of his administration. Later, an arrangement for a nine month term will be formulated.

MAN SURRENDERS FARM TO BUYERS

Had Defied Officers To Get Him Out

Columbiana, Sept. 4.—Bam Boone, of Boonetown, who sold his farm to Shaw brothers and afterwards refused to vacate the property, hurling defiance at officers who attempted to evict him, surrendered possession of the farm today, according to Solicitor John Haynes.

Boone returned from Bessemer, where he conferred with his attorney, in an effort to arbitrate the difficulty over the sale of the property.

The conference was arranged by Solicitor Haynes Sheriff A. J. Faulkner, Walter McAdory, chief of the state law enforcemenntt deparment, and Pinkney Scott attorney for Boone, and a meeting at Calera. Boone at that time was barricaded in his home and defied officers to evict him.

Boone surrendered possession of the farm to the Shaw brothers Friday, according to Solicitor Haynes and packed his belongings and departed.

Bachelor Verdict "Death" For Killing Father-In-Law

Tuesday's Proceedings

Friday Morning—A dispatch has gone through that the verdict of the jury was "guilty as charged" and carried a death penalty for Bachelor.

"I am not afraid."

With these words, Clyde Reese Bachelor, Elmore planter, and confessed plotter of the death of Judge Lamar Smith, his father in law, declared Monday night he was ready for the trial for his life in Wetumpka.

Bachelor refused to say whether he expected mercy at the hands of his acquaintances, or whether he was prepared for the worst. He spoke guardedly from the dark recesses of his cell, shortly after he had retired Monday night.

He stated that he felt "fairly well."

Reports that Bachelor was visited by his young wife were emphatically denied by Night Warden M. A. Sealy.

Wetumpka, Sept. 6.—Clyde Reese Bachelor, youthful ex service man, and Hayes Leontrd, negro farm hand, will go on trial in Elmore circuit court tomorrow morning for the murder from ambush of Judge Lamar Smith. Bachelor's father in law at his home here on the night of August 30.

A plea of not guilty by reason of insanity will be entered for Bachelor by his counsel. Leonard, who upon his arrest confessed the crime and implicated Bachelor, resulting in a verbal and written confession by the latter, is expected to follow upon his admission of guilt although no definite announcement has been made.

Wetumpka, Sept. 7.—Thru the testimony of Bart B. Chamberlain, solicitor of Mobile county, Clyde Reese Bachelor's confession as an accomplice in the murder of Judge Lamar Smith here August 30, was presented to the jury trying Bachelor this afternoon.

It was generally agreed after the recess this afternoon until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock that the trial will be completed tomorrow afternoon or Thursday morning. The state had nearly completed its case when court recessed this afternoon. With possibly three or four more state witnesses to be examined tomorrow morning the defense will present its claim of insanity through the testimony of ten or twelve witnesses.

Mrs. Smith told the jury that she and her husband returned home from an outing at Titus about 7:30 o'clock on the evening of the murder She said that after eating supper she and Judge Smith undressed and lay across the bed. She declared that a short time later she heard an explosion, but was not sure whether or not it was a gun, not having heard a shot gun fire. She sated that she saw blood spouting freely from her forehead but at first did not feel any pain. Mrs. Smith declared that she glanced at Judge Smith and saw at once that he was shot.

"I called to him but he did not answer, he did not even moan," she said. She then called for help and some of the neighbors responded, she testified.

Asked by Mr. Tate if she had a son in law she answered in a clear voice, "Yes, Clyde Reese Bachelor."

Mrs. Smith on query of the state referred back to an attempt to kill Judge Smith and herself made several months ago. She said a negro attempted to strike Judge Smith and herself with a stick or club when they entered their room one night. The following day, she said, she was summoned to the home of Bachelor, by her daughter, who is Bachelor's wife through a note which explained that Bachelor was suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Says Bachelor Nervous

She declared that she and her husband visited the Bachelor home and found Clyde in a highly nervous state. It was here the defense gave its first indication of a plan to prove insanity, seeking to show through Mrs. Smith that Bachelor and his wife were in comfortable circumstances. It was evidently the purpose of Mr. Rushton to maintain through this evidence that Bachelor was working under an illusion that it was necessary to kill in order to provide the comforts of life for his wife and child.

Electricity Is Substituted For Rope In Executions

ELECTRIC CHAIR AT KILBY PRISON

Will Be Ready For Use By March 1 Next

After March 1, 1927, legal executions in Alabama must take place by electricity at Camp Kilby and blueprints of electric chairs and appurtenances for blotting out human life are on file for investigation in the office of the state board of control, says the Montgomery Advertiser. The officials of the state have asked manufacturers for blueprints and specifications on electric chairs together with the various electrical connections that go with the death dealing apparatus.

The law which abolishes hangings in Alabama after the last day of February, 1927, does not specify in what particular building at Kilby prison the electric death chamber shall be located. Prison officials have reached the conclusion that the only place in Kilby prison where a death chtmber can be installed is in the detention section. There are six solitary confinement cells in this section and they are removed form the main section of the prison and out of view of the regular inmates of the prison. Prison officials believe, so they state, that a death chamber could be erected in this section by turning two of the solitary confinement cells into one room an dinstalling therein the electrical apparatus for the taking of human life.

Officials of the state board of administration would not state Monday when they expected to purchase an install the death apparatus at Kilby prison. They did admit, however, that the engineer of the board of administration, is looking into th price and specifications of electric chairs and electrical appurtenances to go with such chairs. It was intimated that a first class electric chair could be purchased for less than $1,500 but it was also stated that if it is found that the state can make an electric chair and save money, this course will be pursued. It was pointed out that an other southern state manufactured its own electric chair and the specifications of this chair are on file with the state board of administration.

Democracy's Nominees

The nominees of the Democratic primary in Chilton county this year are all good, clean men, and have never held public office, as we understand it. The News has had no information from the campaign committee or the executive committee as to just how the campaign for these nominees will be conducted between now and the election, but we presume that thecommittees in charge of affairs previous to the primary will continue in control.

Thus far in the present campaign The News has indulged in no practice of political mudslingng or abuse. There is no necessity for such, as we view the situation; nor will abuse and villification of the opposing party add one single vote to the Democratic ticket. Men are not convinced in that manner today.

There are beyond question good men within the ranks of all political parties; and it is just as reasonable for one to say that all Republicans are grand rascals as to say that all Democrats are grand rascals. Furthermore it is indeed presumptuous to say, or to intimate, that there are not enough good men, honest and clean in their every dealing, within the Democratic party in Chilton county to properly, and honestly, and faithfully fulfill the duties incumbent up on every office of public trust in the county.

In the meantime we all know that there are those in both parties—as in every other organization—who will stoop not only to tricks of lesser light, but who will stultify and sear their very souls in order that their policies and their will may be carried according to their plans. That old chestnut that "all's fair in love, politic and war" is no more honest than to say that "all's fai in religious, fraternal and business" associations. There is no reasonable excuse for dishonesty, regardless of what feature or factor of our life it may touch.

The men who offer their services as office holders on the Democratic ticket of Chilton county, generally speaking, are well known to the people whose suffrage they ask. They have been "tried" by their neighbors and associates in the scale of honesty, integrity and social intercourse; and were they unfit or in any way unworthy of the trust to which they aspire, under present political conditions in the county, The News is confident that their regard for their party, to say nothing of their own self esteem, would prohibit either or all of them from making the race.

These Democratic nominees are offering their names in this connection with the thought in view that the Democratic party should be reinstated in political power in Chilton county and thus return this political unit to the powerful and honorable, long cherished fold of a solid Dixie. "United, we stand; divided, we fall;" and it applies to counties as the unit as well as to states. Democracy is inherently the party of the South; and the world expects the South to maintain its splendid political record without a break.

Are you dissatisfied with the record made by any former Democratic county administration? If so, do you consider it fair to yourself, fair to Democratic principles or fair to the present nominees to cast your vote against them before they have had an opportunity to prove their official honesty to you?

And—don't vote a "peeved" ballot. Your home county, your state, your nation demands more of you than that. Study your candidate, your obligations to your county and what those obligations mean to you, your family, your state and your nation. And we believe you will come to the same conclusion as formed by The News: That we have a set of nominees who as officials will reflect credit and honor upon both their constituency and the county they will represent.

Law enforcement in Clay county is something almost unheard of. The highways are almost dangerous to respectable citizens especially on Sunday when we want to travel peacefully to and fro Drunkness, too, is reported driving at night without lights and speeding in dangerous places. The good citizenry of the county will soon be disregarded as good for permitting such disregard of law. Men of courage and backbone are not in every community as they once were or lawlessness would not abound.—Lineville Headlight It must be admitted that this is a terrible indictment. And when it is considered that similar reports are coming from other sections, isn't it about time that something to remedy such conditions should be done?

In the breaking of big news as featured with "scare heads' by the dailies last week, the death of Valentino received considerably more space than that of Dr. Eliot. The former a moving picture idol, who had furnished amusement to the crowds; the latter president of Harvard college; who had, it is claimed been responsible for the development of greater brain power in more young men than any other man now living. Not a word from us to detract from "the sheik's" ephemeral glory—for such it was and is—but we venture the prediction that one hundred years hence Dr. Eliot's name will be on more billboards than will that of Valentino's.

After all, Mr. Tightwad has an excuse. He knows there are no pockets in a shroud. But wouldn't he be in a fix if the devil should demand an admittance fee?

Good friends, good neighbors and a favorite old pipe is a combination mighty hard to beat.

"Farm Relief"

Beyond doubt the farmer has heard the cry of "farm relief" so often and so long that he is beginning to wonder what it is all about. He knows as well as anyone else that "farm relief" is merely a campaign cry, that the farmer cannot hope for any direct relief or advantage over anyone else from our federal government, and that whatever relief that might come to him will effect others in proportion. Class measures cannot legally be enacted.

But our government could reduce his tax burden; it could cut the tariff on what he has to sell so that millions of dollirs worth of his produce yearly going to waste could find a ready sale, as to lower the price on practically everything he needs in the way of farming implements—his coffee and sugar too; it could, even under the anti-trust provisions of our present laws, so regulate the handling—not the price—of all commodities as would pre all commodities as would prevent the storage, the cornering, of such for trust purposes, not only, but it could prohibit for the good of all the practices of what is commonly termed the "middle man"—in many instances half a dozen "middle men," all exacting their pound of flesh from some poor little table necessity which the farmer has sweated to produce and for which he receives about one-sixteenth the price it brings from the consumer.

Then comes transportation charges—and they, too, are higher and the railways are making more money than ever before in history. It will cost the farmer around a dollar a mile to ship a carload of, say, watermelons to Birmingham from Clanton. But would you tthink the big steelcompanies of that district would be charged in kind for a carload of steel beams from Birmingham to Clanton? Not much.

Well, who is to blame—who is responsible? We have an interstate commerce commission, federal, also a state railroad commission, each vested with the power to protect the shipper with equitable freight rates.

You are right: Farm relief means everybody else's relief—when it arrives.

We had rather be without a dollar in the world, with all our debts paid and one biscuit ahead, than have the hoarded wealth and the grasping hunger for the dollar of some men we have known.

There auto be left yet a fairly good prospective membership subject to initiation into a fraternal organization to be known as "The Survivors of the Gas Brigade of 1926."

Dear Doctor:—I was near death's door and had tried doctors until I had about given up all hope. I was so nervous that I could not sleep, or eat. Lost weight and had all the symptoms of Pellagra. I took hypodermics but they did no good. I saw your advertisement in the paper and ordered one of your treatments. I began to improve from the start. I began your medicine Feby. 5th. 1926 and have gained 10 pounds. I feel perfectly well. I wish all Pellagra sufferers knew what your medicine did for me

NEW $200,000.00 GRANDSTAND A STRUCTURE OF BEAUTY

This front and rear view of the new $200,000 concrete and steel grand stand only convey a comparatively small idea of the magnitude and proportions of this structure, which seats 16,700 persons comfortably, and has not only large exhibit spaces on the mezzanine floor, but also houses a great array of exhibits under the main structure. All of the great Hippodrome acts as well as the pyrotechnic production "1776" and all races will be presented in front of the grandstand, during the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham, October 4-9.

MILT TOLBERT SHOW HERE SEPTEMBER 20

The Milt Tobert show will be in Clanton for a one week's engagement with a large and well elected company of players. Special features will be, Lou Chidree, the boy from "Alabama" who can sing the blues.

The orchestra is under the direction of Ray Slicker and renders a pleasing program each night.

Much credit is due Miss Bessie Leightton, in her new and novel musical numbers in the concert each night with the assistance of Billy Camble violin, Harry Yeager, trumpet, Harry Morgan, saxaphone and Clarinet Lou Childree on drums.

Earnest Vevea and Billy Ferguson will keep the audience in an uproar with their comedy sketches.

Other members of the company that are due much credit for the popularity of the Tolbert show are Mr. and Mrs. Burt Heddon, Miss Ethel Vevea, Miss Blanche Childree and Miss Ella Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Chagron, Mr. and Mrs. De Wist leading people, Miss Irene Palmer.

Come out and enjoy the fun, hear the nationally celebrated radion serenaders orchestra—laugh with the funny comedians—listen to the tuneful songs, dancing tunes and we'll send you away delighted at the most worthwhile concert you've ever attended.

Stars of revue and vaudeville in an hour's program of dancing, singing, comedy and laughter. The most gorgeous elaborate and wonderful musical comedy concert ever presented under canvas.

ESSEX "6" COACH

With All-Steel, Bolted and Riveted, Clear Vision Body
The Product of Essex' New $10,000,000 Body Plant

$795
F. O. B. Detroit
Plus War Excise Tax

"At Your Door"
Standard Equipment Includes:
Automatic Windshield Cleaner, Rear View Mirror, Transmission Lock (built-in), Radiator Shutters, Moto-Meter, Combination Stop and Tail Light.

Many of these advantages you will recognize at a glance. But you will have higher appreciation of their meaning when you know that a plant of 18 acres which with equipment approximated a cost of $10,000,000, was first built and that special machinery had to be designed, to make possible the New Coach your dealer is now showing.

It is all steel, bolted and riveted, and so rigid that squeaks, rattles and distortions, are as unlikely as in a steel building. Doors are so hung that a man may hang on an open door while the car is being driven over rough roads, without springing it out of true.

And it is so designed and constructed as to permit the use in a totally new manner of a high baked enamel, most lustrous and lasting finish.

There has been constant improvement in the chassis from the first Essex shipped. And only by the accumulation of the resources, the information, experience, and the skill that have resulted from the building of 350,000 Essex "Sixes" was it possible to create this car which we ask you to inspect and to drive as the best looking, best value, best Essex ever built.

Religious Revivals

Sunday marked the beginning of a religious revival in Clanton which has every promise of doing the old town great good. Rev. I. L. Boles of Montgomery and O. C. Dobbs of Fayette are conducting a revival that began Sunday in the Church of Christ.

Dr. Jerome O. Williams, a native of Chilton county, began a series of meetings in the Clanton Baptist church a week ago.

A large audience attended Sunday afternoon's service to men and boys. There have been overflowing crowds at each evening's service and a number of accessions to the church have already been made.

Director H. W. Lowery's choir of more than 40 voices, with piano, violin and cornet accompaniment is a feature.

S. S. Convention

Dear Editor:

Please publish through the columns of your paper that the Sunday schools of the Unity and Chilton county association's will meet in their annual convention at Poplar Springs Baptist church three miles Southeast of Clanton the Fourth Sunday in September, 1926.

We insist that every school begin now to make preparations to have their school represented. We expect and insist that every superintendent in the two associations be present that day and see to it that your school has other representatives. Please fill out the blank report mailed you sometime ago and send it to H. A. Harris at Stanton, Ala.

Strike Averted

Birmingham, Sept. 7.—The street car strike for Birmingham was averted late Tuesday afternoon when the Birmingham Electric company and the amalgamated Union of Street Railway Workers reached a compromise.

The new scale of wages calls for 44 cents an hour for one year men, 49 cents an hour for two year workers and a maximum of 54 cents for employes of more than three years.

This was a flat increase of four cents an hour over the previous sctle, but 3½ cents an hour less than the railway employes first demand.

CLOSES FOURTH PASTORATE YEAR

Dr. Ezelle Accomplishes Great Good

A Clanton dispatch to the Montgomery Advertiser says that Sunday last marked the closing of the fourth year of service of Dr. D. J. Ezell to the Clanton Baptist church during which time universal good feeling in church affairs has existed.

Notable among the accomplishments under this able leader is the payment of all debts made during the period of construction of the new church, these amounted to more than $15,000. Also the purchase of three pianos, and a large amount of other church equipmpent, besides the expenditure of more thtn $700 in improvements for the pastorium.

During Dr. Ezell's ministry, there has been 335 additions to the membership of the Clanton Baptist church Dr. Ezell and his splendid family, with highest credentials, but as total strangers, came to Clanton from South Carolina four years ago.

During the four years of Ezell service in Clanton Baptist church, a number of pageants from Mrs. Ezell's own pen have been presented to overflowing audiences in the auditorium of the church. These pageants, accepted by the denominational press, have been presented to a number of audiences in other states its well as Alabama.

Manning Fired

A recent dispatch from Montgomery has this to say of Robt. W. Manning, who was a losing candidate in the primary for secretary of state: Acting upon what are believed orders of Gov. Brandon, the state tax commission Friday fired Robt. W. Manning, two years chief land agent of the tax department. Manning opposed Gov. Brandon's brother in the recent race for secretary of state.

STATE FAIR WILL BE ALABAMA'S MILLION DOLLAR SHOW IN BIRMINGHAM OCTOBER 4 WITH THOUSAND AND ONE BIG FEATURES

$6,500 IN PRIZES, HORSE RACES, HIPPODROME ACTS, FARM AND EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS, THRILLS AND FUN GALORE TO BE OFFERED TO ALL

The Alabama State Fair—Alabama's Million Dollar Show—with all its wealth of novelty, pleasure, exhibits, prizes and a thousand and one other features, will throw open its gates to the people of the State, farmer and townsman, from October 4 to 9, in Birmingham.

The show, the like of which, it is said, Alabama has never seen before, will be held in a vast arena newly renovated, which boasts of a gigantic grandstand that seats eleven thousand people, new exhibit halls, cattle barns and stables.

These improvements have been made by the fair managers at an outlay of thousands of dollars in an effort to give the people of the State the finest show they have ever had.

Six thousand five hundred dollars in cash prizes for farm product exhibits will be given away during the five days the Fair runs, with the county exhibits receiving from $50 to $500, according to classifications and a $100 bonus in addition. The individual prizes will range from $50 to $250, while community exhibits will be awarded from $100 to $800 prizes.

In addition the management is offering $50 for the best display of cotton and another $50 for the best display of corn. Manager Dent states that further awards will be offered for everything grown in the garden and city folk as well as country dwellers, are invited to enter exhibits.

A new feature of the big show will be the horse show, which will be staged on the opening day of the fair, with prizes offered for the various classes that will enter.

Other than the exhibits which will be offered, a splendid cross-section view of the progress that is being made in Alabama in agriculture, education, industry, cattle and stock raising and conservation will be offered.

But while many are busy seeing the exhibits there will be thousands of other people who will want to see the horse races, a fine program of which is being arranged, watch the great gathering of Hippodrome acts in front of the grandstand or see the wonders and fun offered in the "Valley of laughs."

A special feature of the great array of Hippodrome numbers will be the fire works display, which will offer the dramatic incidents of the year 1776. This wonderful pyrotechnic pageant is said to be one of the most stupendous things that will ever show in Alabama.

America's great struggle for independence in that most famous of years will be shown in fire with hundreds of people taking parts in the stupendous scenes that follow. The glorious incidents dear to the memory of every American, will live again, it is claimed.

Seven other marvelous numbers will be included in the Hippodrome program with the foremost clowns, acrobats, animal acts and circus features in the world have places in the presentation.

The Rubin and Cherry Shows will bring two train loads of features to the "Valley of Mystery and Laughter," while a final climatic thrill producer is to be offered in the automobile races with the greatest drivers in America taking part.

In charge of the various departments are to be men outstanding in the agricultural an industrial life of the State. These experts will have full charge of their various departments: J. L. Liles, farm agent, will be in charge of agriculture; Miss Lucille Cawood will be in charge of the Girls' Canning Club exhibits; R. C. Calloway, horticulture; R. J. Goode, [illegible]; F. W. Burns, dairy cattle; A. A. [illegible]rdale, swine, sheep and goats; George M. Pharr, poultry and [illegible]; Mrs. Gordon Patrick, women's [illegible]; H. B. Graves, educational; N. C. Bradford, mines, minerals and industrial arts; E. F. Carr[illegible], director of amusements; Ralph [illegible], speed; and L. H. Salter, gate and admissions.

These men have arranged one of the greatest fairs in the history of Alabama with something never before heard of, a 40-piece band that offers grand opera, wonderful quartettes and other features that come as single attractions to most cities.

Officers of the State Fair are R. A. Brown, president; Sol Cahoon, vice-president; J. H. Loveman, second vice president; J. L. Dent, secretary and W. J. Adams, treasurer.

Some of Alabama's greatest agricultural and industrial leaders compose the board of directors and the executive committee.

Special rates will be offered from scores of Alabama towns to Birmingham for this stupendous event—The Alabama State Fair in Birmingham.

PACIFIC STAR TO SHOW REAL SPEED

Dawson Will Pilot Marmon Special at State Fair

Perpetuating one of the greatest racing names of America, Jack Dawson, diminutive racing star who hails from the Pacific Coast and is piling up a formidable string of wins in middle-west starts this year, is heading for the south and will start in the auto races which climax the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham, Saturday, October 9.

On the coast, Dawson is known as one of the most daring of the scores of youthful drivers developed in the last few years and his many wins stamp him a winner on the dirt courses. As Ascot, the Los Angeles speedway; Spokane and Vancouver, at the Seattle road race course and in many other coast speed centers his name is a favorite with the fans who have made racing one of the greatest of sports.

In spite of his youth, Dawson is a star at long distance runs, and probably for that reason is a feature starter in road races. On the Seattle course and in the Phenix desert-runs he has written his name larger than any other youthful driver and is still forging ahead.

Dawson will start a Marmon Special in the Fair events, the same speed creation he wheeled in other middle-west starts. It was with this machine that he started in the last Pike's Peak hill climb, and was hitting along in second place until his machine broke an axle and slid into a bad gulley.

Regardless of his former starts, Dawson will face one of the toughest fields in his career in the Fair meet, for some of the world's best are in the lineup, including Ray Cley, the veteran who will start his powerful Premier; Clyde Kelly, Kansas City racing king and inventor of many auto devices; George Lyons, leader in Chicago track battles; and many others.

Education Stressed In Fair Program

The Alabama State Fair in Birmingham, October 4-9, will be above all an educational fair, according to a statement issued by the officers of the Fair.

To that end the entire mezzanine floor of the grand stand has been set aside for educational exhibits, not only of the Birmingham and Jefferson County schools, but more particularly also of Auburn and other State and especially vocational institutions.

This educational department will be under direction of H. B. Graves, who, for many years was connected with Birmingham's city schools and is familiar with all of their activities.

In order to leave the entire mezzanine floor for the educational department the management of the Fair found it necessary to move the exhibits of the Woman's Department under the Grand Stand, and this will occupy the entire northern compartment.

The Woman's Department as well as the Floral Department, will be in charge of Mrs. Gordon Patrick, who has been connected with the Alabama State Fair for several years. Mrs Patrick is also well known as a composer of patriotic songs, including "Birmingham, My Home in Alabam'."

Leona Harvester To Trot In Fair Races

Races will be [illegible] of the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham October 4 to 9.

The fastest pacers, trotters, as proud bloods of the racing world will match their speed against each other for handsome prizes.

Leona Harvester, the fast trotter owned by Bill Levy of Birmingham that won honors in the Grand Circuit races during the past season, will be among the blooded horses that will match their strength and skill on the half-mile oval.

Ralph Fies of Birmingham, will be in charge of the track and the races. The speed event will be part of the program every afternoon.

The Final Curtain

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 7.—Rudolph Valentino reposed tonight, in death, close to the sttudios which he braved a few years ago as an unknown, later to rise to heights rarely attained in this picture city where fame has come to so many.

The body of moviedom's original "sheik" was laid to rest on a couch of golden cloth in a marble lined vault at Hollywood cemetery after solemn high requiem mass had bee nsung in the Church of Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills.

Pola Negri, with whom Valentino was engaged to wed, was the outstanding figure in the line of mourners With Albert Guglielmi, brother of the actor, Miss Negri gave way to her emotion. The sobs of the brother and wife to be echoed through the tomb as the bronze and silver casket was set to rest.

Miss Negri was in such a state of collapse that she was rushed to her hotel and medical aid summoned. The brother, weeping, knelt and kissed the casket again and again as preparations were made to place it in the mausoleum niche. Then uttering a prayer, he ros to his feet, staggered and collapsed in utter exhaustion.

"REX" BUS LINE IS WELL ESTABLISHED

W. B. Cooper Now In Charge Of B. & M. Line

In conversation with a News man a few days ago W. B. Cooper tells us that he has recently acquired management of the Birmingham and Montgomery transportation line, known as the "Rex" line, six of their handsome 7-passenger Sedan buses passing through Clanton every day—three cars south and three north. A schedule of their operation appears elsewhere in today's News. Look up this time table when you are going either north or south.

Mr. Cooper is an old hand "at the wheel" himself, having driven cars since their advent into the south. He operates one of the buses, leaving Clanton at 2:45 p. m., returning at 7:30, and it was the writers pleasure to make the trip to Montgomery with him one day this week. Incidentally, it might be worth mentioning that in all Mr. Cooper's driving experience, he says he has never been in a wreck—for which he stated to The News man, he is exceedingly thankful.

Mr. Cooper has assembled a fleet of 7-passenger Chandler cars of the sedan type, which are very roomy and comfortable. And perhaps the biggest asset, in addition to comfort and speed, he has selected the drivers of these cars with special reference to their qualifications— sobriety, experience in handling cars on country roads or in congested traffic centers honesty and integrity. In addition his passengers are covered by ample and safe indemnity in case of accident, whether on a short or long haul.

Speaking as one, The News man can conscientiously commend Mr. Cooper and his comfortable bus line to the public. He is offering splendid service at a minimum cost, and the utmost courtesy and assistance in every way possible to every passenger.

Next time you have occasion to travel either north or south on the B. and M. highway, meet Mr. Cooper or one of his affable and courteous drivers at the corner, or any by way corner in Clanton; or catch them anywhere on the line, and convince yourself. When you do this, tell him you read this in The Chilton County News —and watch that smile over his right ear as he offers you in addition to his thanks, a cold bottle of pop at the next filling station.

HIGHWAY BUILDING BY STATE TO HALT

Alabama Faces 9 Months of Road Inactivity

But few road contracts of a minor nature can be let for construction in Alabama for nine months beginning with October this year, it is pointed out by those who are familiar with the subject of highway building, says the Montgomery Advertiser.

The state highway commission will let contracts on several projects on September 29 of this yetr. The commission has held up the letting of contracts on ten projects which have been advertised for bidding pending a check as to where the money of the $25,000,000 bond issue has been spent. The law says each county must get $250,000 and if the check reveals that there are counties which have not received their quota, it is pointed out that the commission must reserve money from the $5,000,000 road bond yet unsold to go to these counties. The amounts for each county, it is pointed out, must necessarily be small, probably not amounting to enough to build two or three miles of road.

There will be no money in the state treasury for the construction of roads after the $25,000,000 bond issue money is spent or contracted for it is pointed out. When Governor Graves takes his seat in January. It is pointed out, that even if he desired to submit a road bond issue in any amount he could not possibly get such a bill thru the legislature before the middle of February. Under the law such an amendment could not be submitted to the people in less than 90 days. This would put the election in the middle of May, even if the very earliest date is utilized. In the event the people endorsed an issue, so it is pointed out, the bonds could not be advertised and bids received and the bonds sold before the middel of June. It would then be the middle of July or possibly the middle of August, it is pointed out before another road contract could be issued.

It is pointed out that in event Gov. Graves decides against a bond issue and for a gasoline tax of some amount to build roads it would be five or six months before enough money would come into the state treasury to warrant the awarding of any road contract of any magnitude or importance.

Those familiar with road finances point out that the tax on autos furnished the state enough mocey to pay the interest on the $25,000,000 road bonds and also enough money to maintain the roads which have already been constructed but does not provide funds for any new road construction.

A "Correct" Likeness of Washington

This heroic statue of the commander-in-chief of the first armies of the United States was made for the city of Portland, Oregon, though not yet delivered there by the artist. The western municipality has loaned it to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate 150 years of American Independence. At the foot of the sculpture is shown Pompeo Coppini, the sculptor. Dr. Henry Waldo Poe, of Portland, declares the face to be the most correct likeness of Washington ever modeled.

Democrats Will Ask Big Tax Reductions

Washington, Sept. 14.—half billion dollar tax reduction will be demanded by the Democrats at the next session of congress, Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the senate finance committee, declared tonight in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee.

He charged the Republicans with deliberately attempting to hold off another reductio nuntil next year to further the ambitions of Republican presidential aspirants, and to provide political capital.

A surplus of $562,000,000 will be available for reduction at the coming session of congress, said Senator Simmons. It is the duty of congress, he added, to distribute this "unneeded treasury surplus, and to put a stop to this unnecessary taxation as soon as possible."

"If the overburdened tax payers were entitled to a reduction at the last session of congress because of their estimated surplus of only about $300,000,000, why, with a surplus in the treasury nearly twice as great, are they not entitled to another reduction at the coming session of congress?" asked the North Carolina senator.

"This enormous surplus of more than half a billion dollars represents taxes paid in excess of ordinary expenditures and unneeded for the purpose for which collected. It would seem clear that this unnecessary exaction should be discontinued as speedily as legislatively practicable.

"Certain circumstances connected with the last reductionaroused suspicion that the administration, supposedly for political reasons, had deliberately planned two seperate reductions; a small one for use in the bi-election campaign thi syear and a bigger one to become effective immediately preceding the presidential campaign and the election of 1928. However, that may be, with an actual and estimated surplus of $562,000,000 available for reduction at the coming session of congress it is difficult to discover any good reason for withholding and postponing that reduction for a full year except to promote the ambition of Republican presidential aspirants and to provide political capital for the Republican party."

Senator Simmons declared that liquidation of the war debt was closely connected with the question of tax reduction and that when congress meets in December the minority will demand not only sweeping tax reduction but that since the foreign debtors have been given 62 years in which to pay their debts the tax payers of the United States be given at least half that time in which to liquidate the indebtedness incurred by the foreign loans.

CAMPAIGN BOOK ASSAILS REPUBS

Administration Attacked As Moral Bankrupt

Washington, Sept. 7—The Republican administration was attacked as "morally and intellectually bankrupt" in a Democratic campaign booklet issued today under the title of the "Book of Facts," for use by Democrats in the November senatorial and congressional campaign.

The record of the administration during the last six years, the boo ksaid, has been consistently subservient to big business, has increased governmental expenditures and has "failed utterly" to deal with the arms situation.

"The facts show that alike in its domestic and in its foreign policies," it asserted, "the Republican administration, more especially, if that is possible, since President Coolidge went to the White House, has been mor ally and intellectually bankrupt.

"Republicans themselves are ashamed of the record during the Harding regime when the Daughertys, the Falls, the Forbes, the Jesse Smiths, the Howard Manningtons polluted the channels of government. President Coolidge, who lagged so far behind public opinion in punishing Daugherty, shows a similar lack of moral indignation in his attitude toward corruption in public life.

"The essential spirit of Republicanism in government is one of cynicism, of contempt for the intelligence and the idealism of the common people of the United States.

Farm relief was listed as one of the domestic issues in the book which said the Democrats propose to aid agriculture by restoring the farmers' export market, adjust the tariff to a competitive basis, lower rail and water rates, stimulate cooperative marketing, liberalize farm credits, produce cheap fertilizer and create a farm export co-operation.

Advocating further tax reduction, the book charged that "every provision of the three revenue bills passed since the World war which gave relief to the smaller and general tax payers were put there by Democratic amendments."

Considerable space was given to discussion of the aluminum industry, which it said was the "most complete monopoly" in America and is "controlled by Secretary Mellon and his relatives."

OFFICIAL REPORT 15,166,000 BALES

Prices, As Usual, Drop When Report Given Out

New Orleans.—The government report giving an indicated crop of 15,166,000 bales on a condition average of 59.6 was somewhat larger than expected. As a result prices declined 45 to 57 points when trading was resumed from the high points prevailing before the report was issued. October traded down to 17.75. December to 17.73 and January also to 17.73.

Washington. —Cotton of this year's growth ginned prior to Sept. 1 amounted to 694,877 running bales, compared with 1,883,399 bales to that date last year, the census bureau announced. Round bales included numbered 14,607, compared with 23,349 last year.

WHO WILL BE FIRST IN ELECTRIC CHAIR?

May Be Bachelor And His Co-Murderer

After December 31 there will be no more hangings in Alabama. On January 1, legislative act substituting the electric chair for the gallows will become effective says the Age-Herald.

It seems probable that Clyde Reese Bachelor and Hayes Lonard, convicted slayers of Judge Lamar Smith at Wetumpka, will be among the first victims of the electric chair.

Although they have been sentenced to hang October 22, their lawyers will take steps this week to delay the execution for months. The first step in this long legal fight will be an appeal to the trial judge, George F. Smoot, for new trials.

There is little doubt that these appeals will be denied The cases of the slayers then will start toward the supreme court of Alabama—and lawyers say the earliest the cases can be reached on the high court's calender will be April, 1927.

If the appeal to the high court terminate adversely to the slayers, their lawyers will turn to the governor with petitions urging him to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment. Bibb Graves will be governor next April but it appeared Saturday that governor Brandon, who retires from office in January, will be asked in a few days to commute the sentence given Leonard, the negro farm hand employed by Bachelor to do the actual killing

A group of women in Wetumpka were busily engaged in circulating petitions urging clemency. Efforts were said to be under way to win state wide support in the move to save the negro's life.

Members of the Smith family, however, have let it be known they will resist any effort to interfere with the death sentence in either case.

Remarkably few exceptions went into the records of the Bachelor and Leonard trials. This means that hope of winning new trials is extremely slim.

Bachelor and Leonard just 11 days after they killed Judge Smith, found themselves with their back to the wall, with little hope of success in their appeals and with but one real chance standing between them and the electric chair—executive clemency.

THE GRAPHIC CHART shown above tells in an interesting way what becomes of the dollars you pay for railroad tickets and freight transportation charges on the L. & N. Railroad.

Look these items over carefully, and remember that these figures are typical of those of all other great trunk lines. Remember also that the wage earner, in one out of every fifteen American families, is employed by the railroads; that American steam transportation lines pay more than $1,000,000 a day in taxes; and, above all else, remember that you are enjoying at low cost the greatest transportation advantages afforded any country in the world.

DEATH SENTENCE IS GIVEN 2 MURDERERS

Bachelor And Negro Slayer To Hang Oct. 22

Wetumpka, Sept. 11. — Judge George F. Smoot sentenced Clyde Reese Bachelor and Hayes Leonard, Bachelor's negro accomplice in the assassination of Judge Lamar Smith, to be hanged Friday, Oct. 22, for the crime after a jury had convicted Leonard here Saturday morning in circuit court. Bachelor was found guilty by a jury Friday, but his sentence was deferred until Saturday morning.

Attorneys for both men immediately gave notice of appeals to the state supreme court.

Judge Smoot pronounced sentence upon Bachelor just after the jury returned its verdict finding Leonard guilty. The jury required 15 hours deliberation to reach its verdict on Leonard's guilt.

Judge Smoot ordered Bachelor to stand after the jury's verdict in Leonard's case had been read. Bachelor, with whom were his father, W. Henry Bachelor, and Oakley Melton, an attorney, rose.

"Have you anything to say, Clyde Reese Bachelor?" Judge Smoot asked.

Bachelor indifferently shook his head.

"You have been found guilty of murder in the first degree," Judge Smoot intoned in solemn accents. I sentence you to be hanged by the neck until dead, Friday, Oct. 22. In accordance with the laws of the state of Alabama, the sentence must be executed by the sheriff of this county."

Judge Smoot then pronounced sentence upon Leonard. Leonard was also indifferent as he heard his fate. This was in contrast to his demeanor during the days of his trial and the trial of Bachelor.

Bachelor and the negro, who, carrying out a plot laid by Bachelor, murdered Judge Lamar Smith, Bachelor's father in law, Aug. 30, were taken at once to the Montgomery county jail in Montgomery. They will remain there pending action on their appeals.

GRAVES IS AGAINST SPECIAL SESSION

Anniston C. Of C. Asks Him To Meet Gov. Brandon

Anniston, Sept. 13.—Col. Bibb Graves, governor designate, has declared himself against calling an extra session o fthe state legislature for action relative to roads that would require submitting a bond issue to the people. This was made known in his letter to the Anniston Chamber of Commerce in reply to a communication urging action looking toward a special session to devise means of financing a state road building program.

Continuing, Col. Graves says he believes citizens would not respond to a bond issue proposal "until assured that there would be a reorganization of the highway department and a definite and different road program." He closes by saying, "I understand that the request for an extra session has been withdrawn."

Col. Graves prefaced his remarks with: "It would be improper for me to seek a conference with Gov. Brandon unless invited to do so, on any matter touching his administration."

The chamber has also received a communication from Gov. Brandon replying to a letter relative to good roads legislation which says, "I am willing to cooperate in every possible way to have no cessation in road building, but unless a definite agreement could be reached it would be unwise to call an extra session."

The letter sent by the Chamber of Commerce to Mr Graves and to Gov. Brandon were accompanied by resolutions asking that Graves confer with the governor in an effort to bring about a special session of the legislature to adopt a good roads program.

BREAD AND WATER FOR MOONSHINERS

Drastic Measures Used In Nebraska Town

Tekamah, Neb., Sept. 8.—Roy Carson, 35 year old farmer, today changed from his usual bountiful diet to 20 days on bread and water, in accordance with a court sentence for violation of the liquor laws. Thos. Nelson, 50, another farmer also sentenced to serve 60 days in jail, the first and last 20 of which provide for a bread and water ment, was unable to reach the Burt county jail because of impassable roads. He also complained that he could not get anyone to care for his 240 acre farm and his 270 sheep. His wife and three children would spend the next 60 days with his married daughter, he said.

County authorities said the prisoners could have all the bread and water they wanted, but explained that no prisoner had yet devoured an entire loaf of bread at one meal. Served with a rye loaf last night, Carson refused to eat saying he couldn't. Today he nibbled at first, then ate more heartily, and at supper consumed the remainder of the loaf.

Meantime, doctors were at variance on the effects of the diet, which is not unusual for liquor law violators in this section. A preacher approved of the diet, but said it would be a better sentence to make the prohibition law violators "drink their own hooch."

Washington, Sept. 9.— A cotton crop of 15,166,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight is indicated by the Sept. 1 condition which was 59.6 per cent of normal, the department of agriculture announced Wednesday.

BIG WHISKEY HAUL NEAR BESSEMER

Bessemer, Sept. 12.—Raids Frida yafternoon and Saturday morning by Deputy Adams of Birmingham and Deputies Roy and Schrimpsher of Bessemer netted what was said to be the largest haul of the year in this part of the county.

After receiving information that liquor was buried underground at a place on the Warrior river the officers went to that place and after using an axe to break the hard clay, were rewarded with the finding of 13 barrels of liquor, ten of the barrels contained thirty gallons and three contained 60 gallons.

The officers thus encouraged continued their search Saturday morning and were again rewtrded when a few minutes of digging revealed another quantity of liquor, five barrels, each containing sixty gallons. The second haul was made in the same vicinity of the first. Both were buried about a foot underground.

GREAT SESQUI STADIUM OPENED AT PHILADELPHIA

The giant arena in the centre of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition site in Philadelphia was built in approximately 300 working days. It was completed and in use a month before the opening of the big exposition which celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. This photograph, made from the air, shows nearly 3,000 boys on the playing field, massed there for the dedicatory exercises on May 1 which for [illegible] opened the structure. In the stands are seated 10,000 persons watching the program. A group of 10,000 persons is a large crowd but they are only a "drop in the bucket" in the big Philadelphia stadium. The boys paraded onto the field to the accompaniment of fourteen bands and there went through their drills and athletic exercises for the benefit of city officials and parents.

Baptist S. S. Convention Reported Grand Success

The annual Sunday school convention of the Unity-Chilton county Baptist Associations which met with the Poplar Springs Baptist church, Sunday, September the 26th, was called to order at 10 o'clock by the President, H. A. Harris.

The program was then taken up in its regular order and the various subjects very ably discussed. Rev. W A. Goss speaking to the subject, "The Problems of my Sunday School," Rev T. L. Patrick to whom the subject was assigned being absent.

At 11:10 o'clock Rev. M. J. Parrish began and delivered an excellent sermon on missions, after which the convention adjourned until 1:30 o'clock p. m.

During the noon hour a bounteous table was spread beneath the towering oaks. This table was a credit to Poplar Springs church and community and would have been to any church and community.

The afternoon program was disposed of in order with able discussions, Prof. A. E. Davis speaking to the subject "The Church Without a Sunday School," instead of Rev. B. Lawrence who was unable to attend the convention on the account of other church duties.

Rev. W. R. Seymore, the manager of the Selma Baptist Hospital, incidently dropped in in the afternoon and gave us some interesting words from the hospital.

At 3 o'clock p. m. the convention went in a business session at which time the roll was called and the following schools answered: Indian Grave, Billingsley, White Pond, Maplesville, Stanton, Mulberry, Sardis, Verbena, Mt. Creek, Chestnut Creek, Bethsalem, Corinth, Samaria, Poplar Springs, Providence, Refuge, Concord, Thorsby, New Salem and Pleasant Valley. Among other matters attended to was the designation of Bethsalem church as the meeting place for the convention next year.

Upon recommendation of the nominating committee which was composed of W. J. Billingsley, H. J. Taylor and Prof. A. E. Davis, Prof. H. A. Harris was reelected president of the Sunday school association as formed J. Z. Mims was elected vice president and G. F. Harris secretary and treasurer.

The convention was a grand success in every respect, although there were several schools absent which we hope will begin even now to look forward to the next annual convention and be represented. With the unanimous adoption of the following resolution, the convention was closed wth prayer to meet with the Bethsalem Baptist church next year:

Be it resolved taht the Unity Chilton Sunday school association extend its thanks and good wishes to the people of Poplar Springs church and community for their hospitable reception and entertainment, Sunday, September 26th. We beseech the Lord's richest blessings upon them.

J. Z. Mims.

Card of Thanks

We desire to extend to the many friends who so graciously came to us in our recent terrible bereavement in the untimely and sudden death of our darling boy our thanks. May the good Lord remember and bless you everyone. We also wish to express our gratitude to Dr. V. J. Gragg for his earnest efforts in striving to save our loved one.

GRADY MILLER IS ACCIDENT VICTIM

Dies After Running Into A Lumber Truck

Another victim was added to the smash up list Saturday when Grady, the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller, ran into a truck loaded with lumber and died at 4 o'clock Monday.

We understand that Grady and a companion were racing within a block of the heart of town, when the blinding lights from an approaching automobile coused the Miller boy to press into a projecting strip on a lumber truck.

Upon a cursory examination of physicians the lad's injuries were pronounced not serious and death was wholly unexpected.

Interment was made in Chestnut Creek church cemetery three miles east of Clanton at 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon. Mell Martin funeral director in charge, and Rev. Golden, pastor of Chestnut Creek church, officiating.

Chiropractors Win

Anniston, Sep. 7.—Dwight L. Evans and Joseph Barnett, local chiropractors, tonight were free, temporarily at least, to practice their profession in Anniston and Calhoun county without interference from the law, following victories in court in cases charging them with treating or offering to treat diseases without license.

Evans was found not guilty by the jury in each of the two cases late Tuesday afternoon. Following the verdicts in the Evans cases, Solicitor J. B. Sanford nolle prossed the pending case against Barnett.

Chilton County Roads

A dispatch to the daily press a few days ago had the following to say concerning Chilton roadways:

Three years ago, almost to the day, Chilton county began a movement to dig itself out of the mud, insofar as its roads were concerned. At that time Chilton county possessed nothing in the way of highways other than muddy trails, some little better than wagon ruts.

Today Chilton county is crossed and counter crossed by nearly 1,400 miles of county highways, these graded and chert or graveled surfaced, in addition to several roads maintained by the state.

The change is due solely according to Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds, to the purchase by the county three years ago of modern road making machinery.

The transition was made almost immediately, Judge Reynolds said in a recent interview, the overseer system by which the so-called county roads were maintained, involving employment of scores of farmers who "leased" their teams to the county, and gangs of men, these in turn in charge of foreman while the tools used were the implements of the farm.

1,400 Miles Kept Up

The cost of maintaining such roads as the county then possessed was practically as much per annum as that of last year, even counting depreciation on caterpillar tractors, road scrapers and ditch digging apparatus. Last year, according to Judge Reynolds 1,400 miles of highways, all surfaced with either chert or gravel was maintained through the expenditure of $25,000. This included the salaries of superintendent and three operators of tractors, one for each of the machines of that type owned by the county.

Included in the total cost for the year was the installation of galvanized culverts, since many of the roads are built across what heretofore was wet or muddy ground and in some instances the construction of galvanized pipe sewers.

The fact that 600 miles of the Chilton county highway system are classed as mail roads, hence ordered kept in exceptional state of repair, was used by Judge Reyolds in illustrating the extensive growth of "good roads" through his county.

The roads through the county are watched carefully, deterioration being held in abeyance by prompt attention, and in this work, too, Judge Reynolds said, modern machinery, operated by tractor power, is used to the exclusion of the pick and shovel system.

So successful was the plan chosen by the county to establish its road system that 18 months ago the town of Clanton, county seat motorized its street department, purchasing caterpillar tractor, scraper, grader and ditcher.

To the county road system therefore, five miles of good streets thrugh the town itself have been added in addition to the Montgomery highway, the main thoroughfare through the town.

According to O. O. Roper, superintendent of streets in Clanton, the road machines owned by the city now do the work of 100 men, the only force now employed being a tractor operator and two assistants, with an occasional shovel man to care for small repairs.

Inactive sympathy doesn't help the fellow who is down.

New York's Old Guard Coming to Sesqui

At an impressive ceremony before their headquarters in New York City the famous Old Guard of New York under the command of Major E. Have meyer Snyder, commandant of the organization, received the invitation from the officials of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing to December 1, to celebrate 150 years of American Independence, to attend the Flag Day exercises on June 14, when all the historic military commands of the thirteen original colonies will assemble for a big military display and parade headed by General Pershing. Captain James A. B. Franciscus, of the Old Guard State Fencibles, of the Sesqui city, is presenting the invitation to Major Snyder. At Major Snyder's left stand the commanding officers of the Philadelphia organizations, while the members of the two famous commands are grouped about their leaders in their striking dress uniforms.

We'll Come Better, Ere Long

It is necessary that some repair work be done in the mechanical department of The News, and because of a "balk" in the linotype we are thrown a little late, not only, but practically all local matter is omitted. Be patient, gentle reader, as we are long-suffering. It's only a matter of time, and The News will be going to you regularly.

A ROYAL ENTERTAINER PERFORMS

Clanton, Ala. Oct. 1, 1926

Just a little observation and thought will convince the traveler over the main highways today that the two features of speed and our narrow roadways are responsible for the larger per cent of injuries and deaths by way of the auto route. On the improved road north and south through Clanton the traffic is remarkably heavy, including large and small trucks, passenger cars of various sizes and loads, and occasionally the wagon or buggy and team, and you seldom travel but a very short distance out of sight of one of these vehicles. When two heavy, high-powered cars traveling 40 to 50 miles per hour hit head-on they leave little to the imagination.

"Be sure your sins will find you out." A more striking illustration of that truism has not been before the people in many a day than the case just disposed of against young Bachelor for plotting the murder of his father in law, Judge Lamar Smith, at Wetumpka. Speculation over the cause for this murder, however, is scarcely worth the while It cannot be conceived in the mind of the average person of intelligence that a young man, living under the circumstances which enveloped the defendant and his interesting little family, who might be possessed of normal mental faculties would plan such a heinous crime. And yet, as you look about over your list of acquaintances and others who may have come before you, how many more Bachelors would you imagine are uncaged today?

"Col." Tom Arrington, ex member of the legislature from Montgomery county, and a scion of one of the oldest and most prominent families in the state, was a loser in his choice for the gubernatorial office, as several thousand others of us were, but, in conversation with The News man the other day, we thought he was "just right" when he said, "Well, I'll have just as good a governor as anybody else in the whole state will have; and, moreover, Bibb Graves is a good, safe man Besides that, I didn't lose out altogether, for I gave Graves my second choice vote."

"The more I see of humanity the better I like my dog," the hobo said when the dog was refused admittance to the jail into which the hobo was thrust. The writer must confess his weakness (?) for the love of a dog; we have one—and we'll tell the world we appreciate its efforts to show us its devotion.

Good Man For the Job As Mayor.

The News congratulates Attorney J. B. Atkinson up on his race for Mayor of the city of Clanton, in which he won by a handsome majority; and no less do we congratulate the people of our good little city upon their wise selection. And in saying this we do not mean one word to disparage the worth or efficiency of his honorable opponent, Mr. Heard—a good man, too, and well worthy of the honor.

Mr. Atkinson is in the prime of life, and through his past he has exemplified a spirit of fair play, honesty, consideration for the other man's viewpoint; a social civic and political desire to go forward and build permanently. He has throughout his residence here shown himself interested in the progress and betterment not only of the little city of which he is now head, but of the welfare of its individual citizenship.

Yes, friend, that neighbor of yours may be practicing some custom to which you may not be able to subscribe And you say you wouldn't do so and so if you were Bill. But did you ever think that maybe Bill has said the same thing about you—and perhaps with equally good reasons? So let's be charitable, and remember that there are imperfections in all of humanity; but the chances are we are doing the best we can with what we have.

That's an awful joke the paragraphers are perpetrating on Vice President Dawes, to the effect that he never swears while fishing, and that he returns to the water all fish less than 12 inches long which he catches Or is the joke on the paragraphers?

Don't overlook the possibilities of strawberry culture in this section, Mr. Farmer. That line has paid others well; and the market never seems glutted.

Seed cotton on a truck en route to the gin may be all right, but it don't look right. The cotton with the negro and the mule is the best looking combination in that respect the South ever saw.

Biggest August in History For Hudson-Essex People

With the new Hudson and Essex cars meeting a warm response, business has gone forward at a record pace, according to Roy D. Chapin, chairman of the board of directors of the Hudson Motor Car Co. With 28,700 cars shipped, the company had the biggest August in its history, exceeding by more than 1,000 cars even the spectacular August record of the 1925 season.

Hudson officials feel this is all the more gratifying because the factory, instead of taking the customary summer season shut down—went ahead with normal operations all through June, July and August. This quarter year therefore has seen the production of more than 70,000 Hudson and Essex cars.

"These results," said Mr. Chapin, "point to a most gratifying public reception of Hudson-Essex products and policies. Our new $10,000,000 body plant has made possible the buiilding of steel bodies in the coach type which are not only the most rigid and enduring which we know, but which also are highly pleasing in appearance This has created an added popularity for both Hudson and Essex coaches. In the Hudson line we have also the deluxe brougham and sedan type of cars, which are proving widely popular all over the country.

The best reports we have is that the nation is probably more soundly prosperous than ever before in its history. Except for comparatively isolated districts, crops are fine, general business active, and employment at good wages all but universal. In a country as large as the United States, there are bound to be exceptions, but as a whole this autum is proving far better in a business way than had been expected by all but the optimistic.

The public has shown us that it has both the money and the legitimate need for a larger number of motor cars.

Mrs. Curry invites inspection of quality of material, substantial workmanship, artistic designing and reasonableness of prices of Franchon frocks.

CLAY CLAIMS FOUR VICTIMS OF STORM

Lineville, Sept. 28.— Latest reports show that Clay county claims four of the death victims of the great storm that swept the Florida east coast last week. Bob Up church, a former resident of Lineville, and whose family still reside here, was drowned when the storm swept a traffic bridge into the bay while he was on guard near Miami. His body has not been recovered yet, reports show. Relatives of the family have been sent to the place and a search is being made to recover the body that is adrift at sea.

Reports show that the entire family of Red Brown, including Mr. and Mrs. Brown and little three year old child were killed when the house in which they resided crashed in the storm. They were former residents of the Mellow Valley community 10 miles south of here. It is not known whether the bodies will be returned here for burial. It is thought however, that they will be buried in the Florida city of Miami where they met their death.

METHODISTS HAVE INSTALLED ORGAN

Has Twenty Pipes and Cost Over $5,000

The new pipe organ just installed at the Methodist church is a beautiful instrument, and is something of which the local membership justly feels proud. The instrument, two manual, with twenty pipes and as many chimes, occupies a space designed for it immediately in the rear of the pulpit.

Prof. DeLauney of Howard college has accepted the invitation to come down on Saturday evening, October 2 and play for the entertainment of the public.

It will probably be remembered that Prof. DeLauney recently achieved world-wide distinction when in a contest conducted in Paris, his composition won highest honor over all other contesting artists.

The Clanton Methodists are receiving congratulations on this accomplishment of installing their handsome pipe organ.

Effective But Simple Dishes Now In Vogue

Something simple yet effective is the housewife's ideal for week-end dishes.

During the warm summer weather, women should not be compelled to spend hours in the preparation of meals, when minutes would accomplish the same purpose. Planning week-end menus should be a congenial task, not a bore. At this time of the year there are a variety of nutritious vegetables and fruits to choose from in preparing meals and the modern home manager takes advantage of them. The housewife plans her summer menus so that they will suggest coolness, while at the same time taking into consideration their dietary value. A delicious cream soup made from fresh vegetables, or an omelet, a fresh fruit dessert, or a custard, a dish of ice cream, or a pudding, are nourishing items that should find high favor in the week-end menu.

The home manager enjoys her week-ends 100 per cent more when she has a few moments of leisure. And in this connection the following recipes may prove an aid.

Creamy Salad Dressing.

1 cup boiled or mayonnaise dressing
¼ cup evaporated milk milk
½ cup cream
1 tbsp. sugar
1 tbsp. fruit juice

Combine evaporated milk and cream, chill and whip. Add sugar and juice, then fold into salad dressing. Especially nice for fruit salads.

Chocolate Velvet Cream.

1½ tbsp. gelatin
¼ cup cold water
2 eggs, beaten separate
½ cup sugar
2 squares (oz.) chocolate
¾ cup evaporated milk diluted with ¾ cup water
1 tsp. butter
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. flavoring
½ cup evaporated milk combined with
½ cup whipping cream, chilled and whipped

Soak gelatin in water five minutes. Mix beaten egg yolks and sugar, pour heated, diluted milk over slowly, put in double boiler with gelatin, butter and salt. Cook until the mixture thickens. This takes about 15 minutes. Strain, beat 2 minutes, let cool. Melt the chocolate over hot water; let cool a little, then add the chocolate and vanilla to the mixture after it has cooled. Fold in the stiff egg whites, then the whipped cream. Turn into a mold and chill at least 3 hours. It may be chilled in individual dessert glasses.

All Work and No Play

After the harvest comes the fair—This has been the custom since earliest time when man discovered that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

Just who it was that found the mean in this simple axiom history has failed to record. But his descendants have testified to the truth of his declaration with their deeds.

The country man and the town man work hard during the greater part of the year, but when the soft days of spring have given way to the hot days of summer and those heavy task-maskers have bowed to the first days of fall, each puts away his task and prepares to celebrate the harvest he has won with the strength of his body and mind.

Such an event will be the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham October 4 to 9, to which the managers invite the town and country folk of the state and if they have properly laid by their harvest, the customs of their ancestors and the tenets of truth demand that they take advantage of the glorious opportunities of seeing new things, enjoying new pleasures and learning as they play.

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

COLUMN 5 — CLANTON ALA., FRIDAY, Nov., 12 1926 — NO 58

Back Home

With this issue, we return to Clanton to take charge of The Chilton County News, and expect to make it better than ever, and out on time. It will take a few weeks to make it what we want it to be, as we have no help this week and started late too.

The News will be strictly Democratic, advocating the principals for which it stands We hope to have the patronage and good will of every citizen of Chilton County. Without your support it will be hard to make the News what we want it to be, but with your support, we can give you the kind of paper you want, and ought to have.

I have come back to Clanton to stay, and hope you will visit the News office and give us the news and we will appreciate it.

Respectfully yours,
A. Ayres.

Bank Looted

A North Birmingham bank was looted Monday in broad open daylight by five men and carried away $20,000, and are still at large.

All employees of the bank and ten customers were forced at the point of guns to get down on knees and hands while the bank was looted.

The head clerk of the bank was Cleo LeCroy of Rockford, Ala., who worked two years for ye editor on the Rockford Chronicle at Rockford, Ala., where he was reared.

If he's out to lunch and will be btck in two hours, he is called an executive.

Farmer Will Learn About City Brother

Backers of the Alabama State Fair which meets in Birmingham October 4 to 9, say that one of the big needs of this glorious State is a general farmer-townsman get-together meeting.

They state that these two important factors in the development of agricultural and industrial Alabama should know more about each other and they believe that when they give their fair in October that they are offering these two groups an excellent opportunity to get together.

The chief educational value of the fair, they say, lies in the fact that it is demonstrative in character. The eye is a more convincing instructor than the ear. They say that each is slow to accept and believe in any new method until they have had an optical proof that each is a useful citizen.

The fair exhibits the work of both the managers state and farm and city meet.

A Democratic land is one in which almost everybody can get a kick by snubbing somebody.

Let the modern liquor alone. While feeling rich you may ordr a casket your ftmily can't afford.

Annexation of Inglenook with its population of 4,500 to the city of Birmingham has been asked in a petition filed with Commission President J. M. Jones, Jr.

A large crew is at work on a $100,000 program of improvement announced recently by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company at Bessemer.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean that you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water.

CALEB'S FAITHFULNESS REWARDED

LESSON TEXT—Josh. 14:6-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—I wholly followed the Lord my God.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Brave Spy Rewarded.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Reward of Service.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Caleb, the Courageous.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Blessings That Follow Wholehearted Obedience.

I. Elements of Caleb's Character.

1. Independence of spirit (Num. 13:30).

Though the multitude clamored to follow the report of the ten, Caleb determined to stand alone. This is an element in human character which is highly important. One should stand for what he knows to be right, regardless of the sentiment of the crowd.

2. True to convictions (Josh. 14:6, cf. Num. 14:6-9).

What Caleb knew and felt he spoke out. He did not wait for the opinion of others and then modify his to suit the populace. A true man and one who can be trusted will be loyal to his convictions.

3. Unselfish (14:12).

He did not ask for some easy place. He did not wish to thrust someone else into the place of difficulty. He wanted to go into the place where it would require fighting in order to drive out the giants which were in the land.

4. Courageous (Josh. 14:12, cf. 13:30).

This courage he displayed when he insisted that they were able to go up from Kadesh-Barnea and take possession of the land. Forty-five years have elapsed since that time. He would be considered an old man now, but still he desired that place for an inheritance which would require some fighting. He said, "I am as strong this day as I was in the day that Moses sent me, as my strength was then, even so is my strength now for war."

5. Loyalty to God (Josh. 14:8, cf. Numb. 14:24).

He served God with a whole-hearted devotion; indeed, this is the way to his character.

II. Caleb Laying Claim to His Inheritance (vv. 6-12).

Caleb did not come alone to make his claim. He came in the presence of the children of Judah, lest he be suspicioned of taking advantage. He did not wish to wait until after the lot was cast, for God had already given a certain portion to him. It were useless to ask God to decide a matter which He had already determined. The basis of his plea was:

1. The ground of his service (vv. 6-8).

He had endangered his life in spying out the land—had gone to Hebron when the giants were there. He brought back a true report when his brethren were all against him. He bore his testimony and insisted that they go up and take the land though to do so incurred the displeasure of his brethren and necessitated his standing practically alone.

2. On the ground of the oath of Moses to him (v. 9).

Joshua had respect for Moses, and was bound to follow the counsels of his faithful master whom he had succeeded. This plea was effective.

3. On the ground of God's providential dealing with him (vv. 10-12).

God had preserved him in bodily health. Though he was now eighty-five years old, his natural forces were not abated. He said, "I am as strong this day as I was in the day that Moses sent me, as my strength was then even so is my strength now for war."

III. Joshua Giving the Inheritance to Caleb (13:14, 15).

1. Joshua blessed Caleb (v. 13).

He not only acquiesced in Caleb's claim, but bestowed the blessing of God upon him in it.

2. The inheritance given (vv. 13, 14).

Hebron was the name of the inheritance. The name Hebron means fellowship. It was given because Caleb had fully followed the Lord. Only those who fully follow the Lord can enjoy fellowship with Him. Though Caleb now legally possessed Hebron, it was necessary for him to fight to drive out the giants who infested it. In Christ we have an inheritance which God has given us. We, too, must fight because the enemy is unwilling to relinquish his claim upon it.

CENSUS REVEALS ASTONISHING FACT

8,549,511 Working Women in United States

MRS. W. M. BAILEY
R. F. D. No. 5, BOX 27, ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Many Say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps Keep Them Fit to Work

8,549,511 women would be a vast army. According to the 1920 Census of Manufactures, that is the number of women and girls employed in all trades in the United States.

Napoleon said, "An army travels on its stomach." This army of women travels on its general health. Every working girl knows that time lost through illness seldom is paid for and seldom can be made up. Employers demand regularity. If she wants to keep her job or hopes for a better one, she must guard her health.

Atlanta, Ga.—"My system was weak and run-down, and I was tired. I was this way for five years or more. I read your advertisement in the papers and I decided to try your medicine, the Vegetable Compound, but I did not begin to take it regularly until after I was married. I got so much good from it that I feel fine and have gained in weight. I work in a broom shop, but my work is not so hard on me now, and I keep my own house, and work my garden, too. I am telling all my friends of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it has helped me."—Mrs. W. M. Bailey, R. F. D. No. 5, Box 27, Atlanta, Georgia.

Missouri Woman Helped

Parkville, Mo.—"I am proud to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was so ill that I could not lie down at night. Then I got my husband to go to the store and buy me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I was up and around before the first bottle was gone, although I only weighed about ninety pounds. I took six or eight bottles and was able to do all my housework, washing and ironing, take care of my five boys, and tend to my chickens and garden, where before I had to hire my washing and part of my housework."—Mrs. Anna Cole, R. R. 2, Parkville, Missouri.

Tanlac Helped Me It Will Help You

After Suffering for 4 Years From Kidney Trouble, Indigestion and Run-Down Condition Caused by "Flu," Retired Farmer Regains Health and Strength.

Mr. F. W. Owens, a well-known Montgomery, Alabama, resident living at 813 Clay Street, says: "After years of despair, pain and worry caused by the 'flu' I regained good health, new strength and youthful energy . . . Thanks to Tanlac.

"Imagine not being able to eat without suffering from pains and the burning sensation of indigestion. That was my plight. And the poisons caused by sluggish liver sapped my strength, and wore me down to a shadow. I became nervous. I was always tired. Dizzy headaches became more frequent.

"In search of relief, I tried Tanlac. The results amazed me. I began to sleep better, eat my food with relish and without suffering from indigestion pains. I gained weight.

"Tanlac made a new man of me. I now enjoy robust health, sleep like a child. But I have not stopped taking Tanlac for it is the one remedy for continued good health, for keeping strong. No one troubled as I was can go wrong taking Tanlac."

Tanlac has helped thousands of men and women in the South. It is Nature's own remedy, made from roots, barks and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula. The first bottle brings wonderful relief from pain. Keep up the treatment and all troubles vanish, you grow stronger, healthier, more robust.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

RABBITS' ICE-BOATING

"I must tell you," said Daddy, "about the rabbits' ice-boating party.

"A big pond, which was very near the field where a great many rabbits lived—in fact, so many rabbits lived in the field, that it was called Rabbit Village—had frozen over.

"The rabbits wasted no time in sending out invitations for an ice-boating party.

"They had plenty of boards to use as boats, and they made sails out of branches of evergreen trees.

"The rabbits are devoted to fun, and can always think of ways to have the best times imaginable.

"The rabbits thought they'd have their party in the afternoon, for then the wind blew the strongest, and in the evening it was apt to die down.

"There were so many rabbits living in Rabbit Village that the ones who first thought of the party considered a long time before they decided whether or not they'd invite any outsiders to the party.

"After a meeting of some of the leading rabbits in the village who had been chosen to decide this important matter, it was agreed upon that the possum family would be invited.

"Now, the possums lived very near the rabbits, so near that they had been able to watch the rabbits make ice boats, and they wondered who would be invited to the party, for they were certain the rabbits were going to give a party.

With Great Presence of Mind.

"So they were pleased when they received their invitation, and when they got to the party and found that they were the only outside guests invited they were still happier.

"The wind was very high. And oh, how the boats did skim across the ice!

"Such squeals of joy as you never heard in all your lives came forth from the rabbits and possums.

"But, alas, a dreadful accident happened. In sailing over a bit of thin ice the sail of the boat containing Jimmie Possum and Harry Rabbit fell over, and the boat went through the ice.

"Such a cry as Jimmie Possum and Henry Rabbit did let off!

"All the other possums and rabbits hurried to the rescue.

"Neither Jimmie Possum nor Harry Rabbit were good swimmers, and the water was so cold they would have drowned at once had not old Grandpa Rabbit, with great presence of mind, thrown out a pole, which Jimmie Possum and Harry Rabbit got hold of, and so were pulled out of the ice.

"'Exercise, exercise; that's the best thing after falling through the ice!' cried Grandpa Rabbit.

"And he produced a bag of skates, which he had brought along in case the wind had gone down or that ice-boating had grown tiresome to them.

"So they all skated with as much vim as they had shown in ice-boating, and Jimmie Possum and Harry Rabbit, who both quickly recovered, enjoyed being the heroes of the day."

Keep Fit!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

TO be well, you must keep the blood stream free from impurities. If the kidneys lag, allowing body poisons to accumulate, a toxic condition is created. One is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and achy. A nagging backache is sometimes a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. If you have reason to suspect improper kidney functioning, try Doan's Pills — a tested stimulant diuretic. Users praise them throughout the United States. Ask your neighbor!

Peace and Faith

Senator Park Trammell was talking in Lakeland about the era of universal peace.

"I used to think before the World war crashed down on us," he said, "that universal peace had already come; but the World war has given me such a low opinion of humanity that now I think, Baptist though I am, that it will never come.

"Those who believe in universal peace certainly have faith. Faith! It's a wonderful thing. A school ma'am said to a boy one day:

"'James, what is faith?'

"'Faith,' said James, 'is believin' what you know ain't so.'"

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" at once if bilious or constipated

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless, "fruity laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

No Phoning on Sunday

Nova Scotia has resisted the march of modernity to a great extent, says the Providence Journal. The telephone has established itself, but in many towns and hamlets it is not possible to do any telephoning on Sunday. Some slight protest was raised a few years ago in Yarmouth that a telephone call could not be made to a town 30 miles away. But the protest dwindled before such compelling arguments as: "Of course, it may be a trifle inconvenient if there is illness, but that can be overcome in some way, and if we're to start such things, Sunday will be just like any other day."

Little Jane had learned in her health study at school that certain vegetables contain iron and are valuable for food. Coming into the kitchen one morning when her mother was preparing string beans, she heard her remark: "I wonder why the beans rust so this year."

"Why, mother," said Jane, "don't you think the iron in them makes them rust?"

Strict Etiquette as to Signature

"I should like to print in letters an inch high: Never, unless you want to be thought utterly illiterate, sign a letter 'Mrs.' or 'Miss' except in parenthesis," writes Emil Post, authority on etiquette, in McCall's.

"Your signature is 'Mary Courtney,' or 'Mary Bergen Courtney,' 'Mrs. James Courtney' is your address name. The only reason you put your address name is because strangers can not otherwise address or place you. You never write your address name except to your own domestic employees, occasionally to a store when sending an order (and then generally in the third person) and when writing your name in a hotel register, you also write it in the third person. But never as your signature at the end of a letter. 'Sincerely yours, Mrs. Courtney' is about the worst breach of etiquette you can possibly make."

Rattlesnake Serum

The dread of the rattler may soon be greatly reduced, if not totally eliminated. Antirattlesnake bite serum in portable cases can now be purchased by hikers and outdoor workers. The San Diego Zoological society makes a business of extracting poison from the fang sack of rattlers, preparing the serum from it, and then selling it at little more than cost, put up in little cases that can be easily carried by all who venture into rattlesnake territory.

Alabama is a great state, and Chilton county a great county and should come to the front.

The summer has passed and the election is over, and we are still in the old political rut.

Political light is begining to dawn in Chilton County, and will be shining fully in 1928. Watch and see!

If you live in Chilton County, take and read the dear old Chilton County News every week. It might keep you from falling from Grace

The farmers say they can't live on prices he gets for their stuff, and those who have to buy, say they can't live and pay the prices. Give us a remedy for this!

Report Of Grand Jury

To the Honorable George F. Smoot, Judge of the Nineteenth Circuit of the State of Alabama:

We, the Grand Jury empanelled as this the July Term, 1926, of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Ala., beg leave to make this, our final report.

We have examined 47 cases, and 112 witnesses, and have returned 15 indictments.

We have examined the bonds of the county officials and find the same with sufficient sureties to protect the county.

We have examined the books of the County Superintendent of Education and find them neatly and correctly kept, as far as we were able to ascertain.

We find the books of the County Treasurer, as far as we could understand, to be in good condition.

We find the fee book of the Probate Judge has been kept a provided by law.

We have examined the feed book of the Sheriff of the county and find it correctly kept.

We have examined the Poor House and we found the same in good condition, except one house that needs covering, and one chimney that needs repairing. We found 15 inmates—4 males and 11 females, no negroes. We talked with the inmates and they told the Committee from the Grand Jury that they were well cared for, and had plenty of food, clothing, and bedding.

We have examined the jail of the county and find that it is under repairs, that is, we refer to the roof and gutters. There were three windows with panes out and sash loose. The Grand Jury is of the opinion and it so recommends, that there should be a new stool in the women's closet; otherwise the jail is all right.

The Grand Jury recommends that the roads and bridges be looked after in certain parts of the county.

We find the court house in good condition except that the closets are in need of repair. It appears that the water supply is insufficient. It is to be hoped that this condition can be remedied.

The Grand Jury is of the opinion that crime conditions in our county are on the decline.

We want to thank the Court for his able charge, and the Solicitor for his able assistance, the Bailiff for his faithful duties and the Sheriff and his deputies for their assistance. We also thank our foreman for his counsel and advice in our deliberations.

Having completed our duties, we await the further orders of the Court.

Dated, this, the 5th day of November. 1926.

WALTER M. PARNELL,
Foreman.

An Explanation

First of January last, we leased the Chilton County News to John J. Thornton for this year with privalege buying. On October 1, Mr. Thornton suspended publication. $75,000,000

Added to Alabama's Payrolls In Six Years

Thousands of employees, receiving an annual average wage of $75,000,000 are working today in new industries which have been located since 1919 in the territory served by Alabama Power Company.

This astonishing disclosure of the growth of Alabama industry is contained in a report just issued by the Industrial Division of Alabama Power Company. The report is based on comparative surveys made in 1919 and 1926.

Here are some of the Striking Contrasts in the 1919 and 1926 Figures

In 1919 the company served 133 different companies representing 14 types of industry, and in 1926, 419 companies representing 21 types.

In These Six Years

COTTON SPINDLES increased from 1,155,000 to 1,[illegible]

COTTON MILLS served increased from 13 to 56. Twenty of these were new mills. They employ 8,000 people. Their payroll is $6,000,000.

PIPE PLANTS served increased from 2 to 19. Thirteen are new. These and other foundries and machine shops located since 1919 brought 4,000 wage earners whose pay roll is $5,000,000,

BRICK PLANTS served increased from 1 to 11. Six [illegible]

CEMENT PLANTS served increased from 2 to 6. One completely remodeled, the other three new.

MINE WORKS served increased from 1 to 5, three [illegible]

COAL MINES served increased from 34 to 70.

POWDER WORKS, none in 1919, one in 1926.

KNITTING MILLS, none in 1919, 5 in 1926.

Every three years in the past nine, the output of Alabama Power Company generating plants has doubled. Nine years ago the output was 294,000,000 KWH. Last year this had increased to 1, 121,000,000 KWH. In 1932 it is estimated the output will be 2,350,000,000 and in 1940, 4,500,000,000 KWH.

Why This Amazing Record?

Low rates, adequate service, national advertising and the wholehearted cooperation of civic bodies and patriotic individuals with the vision to see and the will to achieve.

THOUSANDS WILL BE SPENT FOR CLOWNS AND COMEDY ACTS

Hippodrome Numbers For State Fair October 4-9 Brings Stars To Birmingham

Thousands of dollars will be spent by the Alabama State Fair, which opens its gates in Birmingham from October 4 to 9 to the farmers and townsmen of the State, in bringing great Hippidrome attractions to the South.

Possibly the greatest array of talent that Alabama has ever seen on stage or in sawdust ring will compose these eight big acts.

The act of dare-devils, Frank Silvas, who offers a number called the "Circle of Death" and who is said to be the nerviest son of Sunny Italy, will be one of the big features of this display of talent, skill, daring and comedy.

Another refreshingly new number will be the Six Serattos, who are said to have a picturesque and intricate, original and unique ensemble of gymnastic novelties.

The Curtis Animal Circus is promised as a real "hodge-podge" of fun and skill, while the race track frolics are said to be one of the wildest riots of fun that pleasure-seekers have witnessed in the past 20 years.

The Lomas Troupe, the great European combination of pantomime novelty performers who are said to have an act they are bringing to Birmingham from the music halls of London, where it has been wildly acclaimed, are another of the big number in this unusual offering.

The Six Hassans are a marvelous combination of gymnasts, pyramid builders and high-powered tumblers who have a syalene of fun that Alabama is going to have an opportunity of seeing at the State Fair in Birmingham.

The cream of knockabout gymnastic clowns are the Bimbos, who are featured performers in this stupendous hippodrome bill that offers the Joe Fagbon Company as its outstanding thriller. Fagton's genius in conceiving and executing new hair-raisers is known the world over.

About Thorsby

Our neighbor-town, Thrsby located in the northern section of Chilton county, stands nearly if not quite at the head in matters that pertain to the spiritual, mental and material welfrre of her citizens. It had Scandinavia Lutheran church, for those who were the founders of that community, about 80 years ago were of that faith. A Missionary Baptist church, with the largest membership of any in the community and a Congregational church who se membership embraces former adherents of nearly a dozen diffrent denominations who had no church of their faith to attend. Each of these churches now have a resident pastor, and a substantial church building.

A five room modern public school building with a large auditorium houses a seven grade grammar school and a junior high school. Thorsby institute takes high rank as a standard high school with a faculty of 10 instructors. A recent report from the association of southern colleges and secondary schools, ranks Thorsby institute with Decatur High for first place on their accredited list.

Thorsby has a well organized fruit and truck growers association, which co-operatively buys supplies and markets products.

America Leads Nations In Use Of Ice Cream

If any one food may be considered as America's national dish, it is ice cream.

Ice cream is a food particularly adapted to the needs of individuals of all ages, giving as it does the best type of nutrients for the repair of bone, teeth, blood and muscles and for energy.

Today thousands of housewives make their own ice cream. As a consequence, the making of this highly nutritious food at a reduced cost, yet without in any way impairing the product, is of importance.

Home economists have found a means to this end in the use of evaporated milk. There are three important reasons why evaporated milk makes the best ice cream, they point out. Because 60 per cent of the natural water in evaporated milk has been removed by evaporation, there is over twice the percentage of solids present in this type of milk than there is in ordinary market milk—and, since it is the solids that give ice cream its pleasing flavor, this fact is of moment.

Then, the composition of evaporated milk is constant, for the reason that it has been put through an homogenizing process, which breaks up the fat globules into tiny particles and distributes them evenly throughout the milk. This attribute makes for an ice-cream mixture of uniform quality and fine texture.

Finally, experts agree that the use of evaporated milk in ice cream contributes to its hygienic qualities, for the reason that evaporated milk is entirely sterile. Health authorities declare that milk and cream should be treated to a heat of 150 degrees F. for half an hour in order that a product may be produced free from infective organisms. Evaporated milk is processed at 240 degrees for 30 minutes, and, therefore, its introduction into an ice-cream mixture increases its purity in proportion to the amount of evaporated milk used.

Spraying or Dusting to Control Harmful Worms

The tomato fruitworm, also known as the bollworm (not boll weevil) of cotton and the corn earworm, causes heavy losses of early tomatoes in the Southern states by eating into the fruit and destroying its market value, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

A large amount of damage can be prevented by either spraying or dusting the tomato fruits with an arsenical. If a spray is desirable, use two pounds of lead arsenate to fifty gallons of water or bordeaux mixture. The dust should be used at the rate of one pound of lead arsenate to five pounds of hydrated lime or one pound of paris green to twenty pounds of hydrated lime. Calcium arsenate can be used at the rate of one pound to five pounds of hydrated lime. The first spraying or dusting should be applied when the earliest tomato fruits are beginning to form or when the first worm damage is noticed and the arsenical applications should be repeated at weekly intervals for about seven weeks. All sprayed fruit should be thoroughly wiped before it is marketed or consumed.

JOSHUA RENEWING THE COVENANT

LESSON TEXT—Josh. 24:1-25.

GOLDEN TEXT—Choose you this day whom ye will serve;....but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Israelites Make a Promise.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Covenant at Shechem.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Taking a Stand for God.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Value of Covenants.

I. Joshua Rehearsing the History of the Nation (vv. 1-13).

This was his farewell address, the last message to the people. He begun with Abraham's breaking with his religion, homeland, relatives and friends, at the command of God, and traced their history in Egypt, their deliverance at the hands of Moses and Aaron through the wilderness journey, and showed God's providential dealing in the crossing of the Jordan at flood tide, and their marvelous blessings now in the land solely by the favor of God.

II. The People Elect the Lord as Their God (vv. 14-24).

Joshua knew that the people were liable to lapse into idolatry, therefore he reviewed before them the history of God's goodness to them, and appealed to their sober choice as to whether they were going to remain faithful to him.

1. He appealed to them for a rational consideration and judgment (v. 15).

He placed before them four candidates upon which they could vote according to their relative merits.

(1) The Lord.

(2) The gods worshiped by their ancestors in Chaldea.

(3) The Egyptian gods.

(4) The gods of the Amorites.

Having placed before them these candidates, he urged them to make a rational choice.

2. His own example in the matter (v. 15).

He followed his appeal with his own example. He told them that his mind was already made up. He associated his household with himself. He knew just where they would stand. His decision was not a hasty one. It had been talked over at home, therefore he voiced the united sentiment of his family.

3. The response of the people (vv. 16-18).

Joshua's earnest appeal, accompanied by his own example had its desired effect. When they calmly considered the claims of the Lord as against the other gods, they saw the overwhelming evidence in favor of the God of their fathers.

They assigned the following reasons for their choice:

(1) The Lord brought us out of Egypt (v. 17).

(2) He did great signs in our sight (v. 17).

(3) He preserved us in all the way we went (v. 17).

(4) He drove from before us all the people (v. 18).

It would have been very foolish, not to say criminal, after they had experienced all this at His hands to have turned Him down.

4. Joshua reminds them of who God is (v. 19).

Wishing them to think more seriously and deeply upon the matter, Joshua drew a somewhat dark picture of God's attributes which were most unattractive to them.

(1) He showed them that God is a Holy God.

(2) That He is a jealous God. He could not therefore tolerate a rival.

(3) That He will not forgive.

He did not mean by this that He was an unforgiving God, but that His nature was such that unless they followed Him fully, He would become the means of their destruction.

5. Joshua demands sincerity on their part (vv. 20-23).

He wished to have practical proof of their profession. He no doubt knew full well that some had idols yet in their possession.

6. The people's position (v. 24).

They cannot avoid their determination to serve God and obey His voice.

III. The People Enter Into a Solemn Covenant (vv. 25-28).

This is the clinching transaction of the meeting at Shechem. They entered into a formal covenant. Joshua wrote down their agreement in a book where it would remain a permanent witness against them. As a further help, he took a large stone and set it up as a witness. These would serve as barriers against their lapsing again into idolatry.

Lack of Faith

From lack of faith in Thy revelation of Thyself, from contempt of Thy promises, from readiness to think lightly of Thy holy commandments, and of that account of life which we all must render unto Thee, good Lord, deliver us!

Artificial Aid Bones Are Said to Resent

Bones are easily insulted. The introduction of pieces of wire, of staples or spikes into the structure of the bones in an effort to aid the healing of a fracture is resented, according to Dr. Edwin W. Ryerson, orthopedic specialist of Chicago, says the Kansas City Times. These practices are to be discouraged, he declared.

There is enough surplus bone in the body for use in any ordinary grafting process, he said. Usually the bone to be grafted is taken from the shin bone or the crest of the hip bone. Through an inlay process the grafted bone holds the fractured bones together and promotes the growth of the new bone cells. Pegs made of beef bone have been used with success. When the fracture heals the foreign bone gradually works out or is absorbed.

For overnight relief to inflamed eyes and sties use Roman Eye Balsam. Once tried, always preferred. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Americans Eat Less Bread

If Americans ate as much bread as they did 25 years ago, more than 25,000,000 additional barrels of flour would be consumed annually, says Capper's Weekly. A food survey indicates more than one-fifth of the flour formerly consumed has been replaced by sugar and other more expensive foods, like milk, meat, fruits, oils, fresh fruits and fresh vegetables. Another reason may be that the finely bolted and bleached flour of the present time does not make near as palatable or as wholesome bread as did the old grist mill's product.

NEW KIND OF MOTOR RACE CAR IN NORWAY

The Norwegian railroad administration has ordered peculiar motor cars which are fitted up with a three-hundred-and-fifty-CCM Douglas motor. Here are two of the tiny cars which resemble toys.

INTELLIGENCE IS QUITE NECESSARY

Some Suggestions Advanced to Help Drivers Make Long Distance.

Intelligent driving rather than occasional spurts at high speed is recommended by the American Automobile association as a time saver for long-distance motoring.

Speed alone will not aid the motorist to reach his destination in the shortest time, a statement issued from A. A. headquarters asserts.

The association has drafted some suggestions which, if followed carefully, should enable the motorist to make long distance in far better time and entail fewer risks than when he depends on speed alone.

"First know where you're going. It is quite surprising the number of tourists who travel blindly, depending for guidance on misinformation handed out to them en route.

"Know ferry schedules so as to be able to make quick connections. Passing one or two cars at an advantageous point often means saving a long wait by the river's edge.

Learn to Shift Quick.

"Learn the importance of quick acceleration and make every effort to keep the engine in such condition that it will help you save time when starting off from crossings after having rounded curves and when passing other cars.

"Learn how to make a quick shift into second gear so as to save the brakes when descending hills and to forestall possibility of having to wait at the bottom of the hill until the brakes cool off.

"Climb more hills in second gear. A great many cars are built with second gears which enable the driver to climb grades easily at 25 miles an hour or more as against a struggle at 20 to 25 in high gear.

"Drive at an even pace and avoid stopping. A few unnecessary stops cut the speed average considerably.

"Remember at high speed chances of tire or engine trouble are greater.

Watch Speedometer More.

"Get behind a good driver who is making good time in safety. He is a good man to follow.

"Buy your supplies before you start. It saves slowing down to look for filling stations that serve your favorite gas.

"Before passing through an unfamiliar city it is better to ask if there is a route that avoids traffic. It's the one stop on any tour that may save considerable time.

"Learn to watch the speedometer more. Do not set out with the idea of only seeing the fifties and sixties come up on the dial, but see how often you are driving a little below 30 or 35 when you just as well could be going these speeds.

"Take no chances of any kind. It takes time even to lecture some one who has scratched a fender.

Color Code Is Proposed for Wiring Automobiles

To simplify the identifying of the various wires used in the electrical systems on automobiles, trucks and motor coaches in maintenance and service stations, a subdivision of the standards committee of the Society of Automobile Engineers has recently proposed a color code to be used for the covering material of electrical cable.

In this code unprotected live wires would be colored red, while protected live wires would be yellow. In passenger cars low tension or primary ignition wires would be red with a yellow tracer strand, wire from the ammeter to the battery would be red with a black tracer, that from the lighting switch to the junction block for the parking lamp and for all ground connections would be brown with black tracer, that from lighting switch to tail lamp would be black, wires to the bright head lamps would be black with red tracer, and wires to dim head lamps and signal lamps would be green. The color scheme for motor coaches and motor trucks is very similar.

This proposal will go to the electrical equipment division of the standards committee and, upon its approval, to the standards committee as a whole and finally to the council of the society for adoption.

Mexicans Use Guns

Mexico City newspapers complain that the city's traffic police are too loose on the trigger. They urge the police to quit shooting at violators of traffic laws.

The objection is that the public is doubly imperiled. The pedestrian is not only apt to be run down by automobiles, but he also hazards being killed by a police bullet intended for a motorist.

The newspapers say several persons have been killed in recent weeks by shots directed by police at traffic-law violators.

New Signal Appliance Is Invented for Automobile

A new invention to eliminate the necessity of sticking an arm out of an auto to signal right, left, or stop, has been invented by Mr. D. M. Susi of Pittsfield, Maine. The invention is shown attached in place on an auto.

Close Watching Needed by Tires During Winter

Winter time is a hard period for the tires. Due to changing temperatures, standing in the freezing cold part of the time, and kept in a warm garage at others, even tiny cuts in the tread are more apt to develop into big holes than in summer.

Particles of ice and snow will lodge in the little cuts, and when the car is put in a warmer place, this ice thaws, wetting the fabric and in time leading to a gradual disintegration of fabric and tread. When the moisture here next freezes it serves to do further damage. Thus the alternate thawing and freezing develop small tread cuts into serious tire maladies.

It is best to fill up all cuts with tire dough, keeping out water as much as possible. There are several excellent preparations on the market to heal tread cuts, and if applied strictly according to direction, the cuts are effectively sealed against the deleterious effects of winter driving over wet and icy pavements.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

The driver who hits and runs away may live to be arrested another day.

* * *

The life of tires is shortened by violent acceleration.

* * *

Sheet lead is best for adding dead weight to a car because it will take up a minimum of room, does not rattle and can be readily fastened in place.

* * *

The usual reports are coming in about bees causing accidents by getting inside of automobiles. Bees in somebody's bonnet have been known to wreck party bandwagons.

* * *

Even if no automobile has ever butted a train off a track, we will say for them that they are always trying hard and never appear to be discouraged.

The average drayage mileage of loaded trucks in Connecticut and Minnesota is 23 miles; Pennsylvania, 24 miles; Cook county, Illinois, 26 miles; California, 21 miles.

It Helped Me; Will Help You

Montgomery Man With Stomach Trouble, Loss of Appetite and Run-Down Condition Regains Good Health. Now Eats Everything.

Many men endure pain and suffering needlessly. Their work suffers. Perhaps success that might have been theirs becomes failure. John R. Davis, 608 Clay Street, Montgomery, Alabama, says: "I will gladly write to anyone who wants to know about Tanlac. For it has never failed to help me.

"For some time my stomach was in such bad shape that I could not eat a great many things without suffering. Meats and cabbage disagreed with me. My troubles became worse. I felt weak and had to drive myself to work. Although I would be too sleepy to sit up in a chair I could not sleep in bed. In search for relief I began taking Tanlac.

"Since then Tanlac has always been in our house. It brought me relief. I can eat everything, even cold lunches, without suffering. It built up my strength and gave me good health. My 13-year old boy is taking this tonic now. And it is helping him to keep his strength through the growing years."

When Little Fay Spoke With Bandit

When Fay Templeton, the actress, was a little girl, she made a long trip by stage coach with her mother one night in the Southwest. The coach stopped at a watering station and a slender, fiery individual stepped in and sat down beside her.

"I knew from his appearance that he was somebody or something," relates Miss Templeton. "I began talking to him and soon was confiding how afraid I was of the bandit Vasquez and how I hoped he wouldn't hurt us. He looked at me and said, 'Why, Vasquez wouldn't hurt a little girl like you.' At the next stop he got out. But first he turned to me and gave me a nugget of free gold, saying, 'Keep this to remember me by.' As we started away the driver whipped up his horses with such haste that my mother asked the reason.

"'Why, don't you know who that was?' he demanded shakily. 'That was Vasquez.'"—Pictorial Review.

Drugs Excite the Kidneys, Drink Water

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Laundry Saving

When gathering soiled clothes the other day Mrs. W. P. Morton found, among her six-year-old son's belongings, several handkerchiefs with a huge knot tied in each of them.

When Howard was asked the reason for the knots, he replied:

"Well, mother, you see, I always have a clean hanky that way. I tie a knot in it before I go to school; then when my hanky gets dirty I undo the knot and use the nice clean part and tie a knot in the dirty part so it won't show."—Indianapolis News.

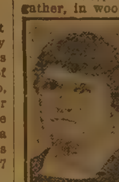
IN DAYS OF OUR FOREFATHERS

Women Prepared Their Own Medicines

The wise pioneer women learned to gather, in woods and fields, the remedies the Indians used. From the rafters of colonial houses, hung great bunches of dried roots and herbs. From these, in times of sickness, the busy mother brewed simple and powerful remedies.



From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham, a descendant of these sturdy pioneers, made her Vegetable Compound. The beneficial effects of this dependable medicine are vouched for by hundreds of women.

Mrs. Wm. Kraft of 2838 Vinewood Ave., Detroit, Mich., saw a Pinkham advertisement in the "News" one day and made up her mind that she would give the Compound a trial. At that time she was very weak. "After the first bottle," she writes, "I began to feel better and like a new woman after taking six bottles. I recommend it to others and always keep a bottle in the house."

Mrs. Gust Green of 401 Lincoln Park Boulevard, Rockford, Illinois, found herself in a condition similar to that of Mrs. Kraft. "I was weak and rundown," she writes, "but the Vegetable Compound has helped me and I feel better now. I recommend it to all women who need more strength."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MIDNIGHT

The clock had just struck. One.

Two.
Three.
Four.
Five.
Six.
Seven.
Eight.
Nine.
Ten.
Eleven.
Twelve.

He Glanced Up.

It was midnight. Christmas Eve had come and gone once more and now Christmas was here.

All was very still and quiet in the house. Now and again there was a sound but it was only the creak of an old, weary board in the floor, or of a murmur in the walls, usually so quiet and willing to be out of the way of people, though serving a very useful purpose just the same.

The fire had gone out long before. The rooms were so silent. Only if you had gone into some of the bedrooms you would have heard quiet, even breathing.

The clock had made more sound and noise than anything in the house with its striking twelve times to let any one who cared to know realize that Christmas had come.

Then there came some sounds, voices, sleigh bells, prancing.

And there were sounds in the chimney, sounds as exciting and interesting as they could be.

"Well, well, well," came a low, cheery voice.

Down the chimney, pack and all, came Santa Claus.

He glanced up at the clock.

There it was, just a few minutes after midnight. In fact it was only two minutes after midnight.

"I arrived just on Christmas," Santa said to himself. "Merry Christmas to every one in the household: This is the first Merry Christmas I've whispered as yet this year. For a few minutes ago when I was in the house next door it was not quite Christmas.

"Now it's Christmas morning. Ah, how they've greeted me here!

"Such beautiful decorations. Wreaths with red bows in the windows, greens and branches over the pictures, red candles in the candlesticks, even some wreaths with little cones and bunches of red berries.

"Then I do admire the red bells that are hanging about in different places, and there seems to be so much care and thought about the decorations.

"I like to see all the cards on the mantlepiece, and the bits of red ribbon around.

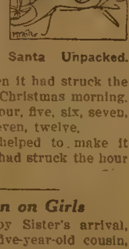
"There are twigs from pine trees in vases and floor pots which look as though the pine woods had come to the house.

"But I must get to work."

So Santa unpacked and put the presents around. There were so many, many presents, and Santa worked with all the quickness and speed with which Santa can work.

And as he left and looked about the cheery, Christmasy room and peeked out into the hall with its Christmas trimmings, too, he said half-aloud to himself:

"Merry Christmas, cheery household!"



Santa Unpacked.

He left then, but the old clock on the mantelpiece, with the Christmas cards all around, went on ticking, ticking, ticking, but the clock said nothing about Christmas for it knew that it had given its share when it had struck the hour that made it Christmas morning.

One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve.

The clock had helped to make it Christmas when it had struck the hour of midnight!

Just Begun on Girls

The day of Baby Sister's arrival, grandpa took my five-year-old cousin, Billy, to his club for lunch.

On being introduced to Billy, one of grandpa's friends asked: "Are you an only child?"

Oh, no," said Billy, "I have four brothers and one sister."

"What!" exclaimed the old gentleman, "five boys and only one girl!"

"Well, sir," replied Bill, defensively, "you see, we've only just begun on girls."

After returning from a visit to her aunt, who had been married only a short time, Beth was asked how many children her auntie had. "Only one," she answered quickly. "All God's sent her yet is a sample."

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

A. AYRES' Editor.

Entered as second class matter at the Clanton, Ala., postoffice under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

There was a general rush at the courthouse last Saturday for auto tags.

The State Baptist Convention is in session at Mobile this week.

The cotton crop this year, while it was a whopper, but the price is not anything like a whopper, but more like a flopper.

It is the opinion that Governor Brandon will call an extra session of the legislature to meet the last of December to consider a bond issue for building public roads.

Now is the time to pay your poll tax and be ready to vote on all issues that may arise, It is the duty of every good citizen to pay their poll tax for the benefit of the public schools whether they vote or not.

Georgia has a law, forcing the collection of poll taxes from every male citizen between the ages of 21 and 60 whether he is a voter or not.

All poll tax goes for public schools and should be collected in Alabama as well as in Georgia.

Clanton needs a good live Civic Club to boost Clanton and Chilton County. With a good live Civic Club there is no telling what they might bring to Clanton. They ought, and no doubt could land one or two large Cotton mills that are moving from the North and East, south. We have the coal, the iron the cotton and the timber, right here in our midst that is being hauled east and north to be manufactured and brought back and sold to us. We pay the freight both ways when it should be manufactured here and save us from paying freight.

Four men last week were sent to the penetentiary by Judge Smoot from Chilton county; three on liquor charges, and several received hard labor sentences.

BARTON TO HEAD BAPTIST PROGRAM

Missourian Will Lead Effort to Increase Mission and Benevolent Budget

CHURCHES GIVE TOO LITTLE

Survey Reveals Low Standards Maintained by Many—Plans Are Laid For Improvement in 1927

To lead Southern Baptists in greatly increasing their budget for the support of missions, Christian education and benevolences, Dr. A. J. Barton of Kansas City, superintendent of Baptist work in Missouri for the past three years, and one of the most prominent men in the denomination, has accepted the position of general director of the Baptist Co-operative Program, and will move to Nashville, Tenn., to assume his new duties at once.

Southern Baptists are seeking to raise $5,000,000 for the Co-operative Program during this convention year and Dr. Barton will seek to enlist the aid of every agency and church of the Southern Baptist Convention in the accomplishment of this task.

Has Served Denomination

In his new position Dr. Barton brings a wide denominational and public experience. He has held prominent pastorates in the South and has served as associate secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, field secretary of the Home Mission Board, general secretary of the Arkansas State Mission Board, and secretary of the Texas Baptist Education Commission prior to taking up his work in Missouri. He has also long been prominent in the cause of temperance. For sixteen years he has been a member of the executive and legislative committees of the Anti-saloon League of America, and during his incumbency as superintendent of the Anti-saloon League of Texas he saw prohibition written into the constitution of that state.

Bringing the Baptist churches of the South to a higher standard in giving to the missionary, educational and benevolent program of the denomination, known as the Co-operative Program, will be the first and large task to which the new general director will address himself.

According to a recent survey of the record of the Baptist churches of the South, compiled from the letters of the individual churches to their district associations for 1925, made by Dr. E. P. Alldredge statistical secretary of Southern Baptists, 6,927 churches listed as co-operating with the Southern Baptist Convention, gave nothing to missions and benevolences last year. Other interesting information gleaned from this survey reveals that 12,819 other churches, or slightly more than one-half of the total number of churches, retained from 76 to 99 cents out of every dollar coming into their treasuries for purely local work; 1,665 churches applied from 67 to 75 cents, and 1,866 churches from 51 to 66 cents out of every dollar contributed to their own local work; whereas, only 501 churces in all the South gave 50 cents or more out of every dollar coming into their treasuries to missions and benevolences beyond the borders of their own communities.

The Southern Baptist Convention has established an ideal of a fifty-fifty distribution in that it is recommending to the churches that they endeavor to give half of all the money raised by them to the general work of the denomination, retaining the other half for their own local expenses.

Included in the plans of the Co-operative Program is an every-member canvass this fall in every Baptist church with a view to enlisting every member in making a subscrip-

Another appropriation FOR 25 Miles of Second Track costing $3,361,000

The great task of American railroad building goes uninterruptedly on, evidencing itself in bettered road conditions, bettered equipment, and a constant and successful striving on the part of the steam carrier to provide superior freight and passenger service.

The tremendous investments—averaging more than $700,000,000 per year—on the part of the American railroads, not only keep busy the wheels of industry (American railroads are the largest buyers of steel, lumber, coal and many other essential products of the Nation), but they serve to demonstrate the determination on the part of railroad managements to further improve the service on a transportation system that is already the best in the World.

It will be of particular interest to the patrons of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad to learn that its appropriations, expended or authorized for the first nine months of 1926, amount to about $39,000,000. Such improvements, in addition to the second-track work pictured above, include additional locomotives and freight and passenger cars, and various other projects designed to improve its transportation system.

Letter From Beat 15.

Editor Chilton County News

Dear Editor:

I will ask a small space in your valuable paper t is week to say a few words in regard to our community. Health is very good at present and farmers are about through gathering their crops and some have sowed their oats.

Now a word to the phone holders of The People's Telephone Co., of this county. We have the most independent system in the county, and why keep it up? There are other companies that would like for us to quit and be subscribers to their system. But when we do that we will be at the mercies of them who operates phones for a profit instead of accomadation, but as it is we can make laws to govern ourselves and make our own charges for our upkeep and operation. If it was the other we would do as they say.

Now let each and every line hold a meeting of their stock holders and discuss the conditions of our system and see what their members of their line wants to do about the upkeep of our system and elect a delegate to the annual meeting to be held in Clanton the second Monday in December and elect our officers and employees of men who have stood up for system through thick and thin and worked for the success of our company regardless of whether it has went to suit them or not.

Our officers and employees cooperate one with another and if they don't they won't accomplish very much success. Hoping to have one of the best meetings The People's Telephone Co., has ever held in Chilton County.

Foreign Dishes Bring Added Zest to Dinner

By MRS. WM. G. POST

Mrs. Wm. Post.

Height of my culinary ambition always has been to make dinner each day a gastronomic poem, rounded and perfect like a stately rime. A meal that pleases eyes, nose and palate alike!

A well-turned dinner is like a pretty woman in that it unlocks men's hearts with a magical key.

Exotic dishes give a tang of other lands to the dinner table. Things foreign awaken the romantic sense. Taste of codfish a la Benedictine transports one for the minute to the Montmarte in gay Paris, a dash of Pirozki and we are supping in a quaint cafe on the Nevsky Prospekt in Leningrad, while the crunch of English tea cakes may bring visions of the rolling moors of Sussex.

As an aid to the housewife in carrying out this new and fascinating idea in cooking, the following of my recipes may prove of particular interest:

Italian Polenta.

3 cups hot-cooked rice or mush
1½ tbsp. butter or olive oil

Beat the butter into the mush while hot. Turn onto a hot serving plate and pour over the following cheese sauce:

Cheese Sauce.

2 tbsp. fat
2 tbsp. flour
¼ tsp. salt
Dash pepper
½ cup evaporated milk diluted with ½ cup meat stock
¼ cup grated cheese

Melt the fat, add the flour, salt and pepper, and stir until the mass is smooth. Add the diluted milk and cook in a double boiler. Stir occasionally to keep smooth. Add grated cheese to the hot sauce and stir until melted or about three minutes.

Buffeten Kuchen.

1½ cups sugar
¾ cup butter
3 eggs, separated
1-2 cup evaporated milk diluted with 3-2 cup water
3¼ cups flour
4 tsp. baking powder
Grated rind of 1 lemon
Chopped or sliced almonds

Cream butter and sugar, add yolks of eggs and the lemon rind, stirring constantly. Mix flour and baking powder, add to the butter mixture, alternately with the milk and lastly stir in the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Place in well-greased shallow coffee cake tins, sprinkle with granulated sugar, cinnamon and a few almonds, sliced fine or chopped. Bake in a moderate oven.

A. AYRES' Editor.

Entered as second class matter at the Clanton, Ala., post office under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

The one great need of the farmer as well as every body else is to save. There is more in saving than in making. Unless you save there is little use in making. If you make a lot unless you save, the other fellow gets what you make.

The corn crop this year seems to be the best in several years, which is a great help to farmers who have been buying their food to make their crops, but this year most of them have made plenty to do them and some to spare. If they will make plenty of corn next year again they will find themselves in much better condition.

Should the farmers cut their cotton crop one fourth for next year, they would realize around 20 cents a pound for their cotton and would realize more money for their crop than they are doing this year, and one fourth less labor.

Politics Or Education?

Higher educational institutions in a number of the 48 states have raised the question, whether their principal mission on earth is education or politics.

It is a well known fact that in quite a number of these states, these institutions in the aggregate, dominate legislatures, state administrations, and even take an active part in national politics. There may be a reaction against making politics a principal function of education.

New Convict Board

Governor-Elect Graves has made public the following appointments as members of the state convict department.

Charles A. Moffett, late president of the Gulf States Steel Company of Birmingham, will be president of state convict board. Mr. Moffett is a native Alabamian and has been president of the Gulf States Steel Company for a number of years.

Mr. Hamp Draper of Wetumpka, and W. L. Walters of Alexander City will be associate members of the board.

Mr. Draper will have direct charge of the convicts while Mr. Walters will have charge of the purchasing department.

Plenty Of Corn

When a farmer has plenty of corn he generally has plenty of every thing else, but when he starts farming without his bread and feed stuff, he finds it pretty hard

Look Ahead

A man should look ahead so as to meet his obligations and try to do something for his children. To just drift along in a careless manner, you need not expect much and generally his family suffers. A man ought to look out for his children, to do the best for them he can. They depend on him, and he is their leader, and he should set a good example for them to follow, and they generally follow in dady's tracks.

Two Men Selected For Highway Commission

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 17. Appointment of two associate highway commissioners and selection of his private secretary has been made by Col. Graves, governor elect.

The highway commissioners are Henry J. Shaw of Andalusia, and John S. Turner, of Anniston.

Gaston Scott of Montgomery will be private secretary to Col. Graves.

Mr. Law and Mr. Turner are to serve with Col. Woolsey Finnell, recently appointed chairman.

The two great political parties of this country are closer to the breaking point than ever in their history. It would not surprise us to see a wonderful change in the personel of the two parties at the coming presidential election. There are men in both parties who are going to refuse to accept this or that plank of the party, and are going to the one whose platform suits them best.

If a wet plank is adopted by either party the prohibitionist will probably refuse to vote the ticket and the same will be true of thousands of those who are in favor of a modification in the Volstead law. It is liable to cause a change among thousands of old party adherents, who have voted one ticket all their lives irrespective of platforms.

Americans Kiss A Queen's Hand

Many Americans, who have been educated to believe that this is the land that first rocked the cradle of democracy have shuddered recently at accounts of a presentation to the charming Queen Marie of Rumania.

No matter how delightful the companionship of a Queen may be, why should Americans born to appreciate the friendly hand clasp turn European over night, bow, kiss an extended hand, and back away from the holy of holies in an undignified retreat?

As this was done by society we who do not belong, may smile and say that the great middle class would not submit to such an ordeal and yet we inwardly cannot feel sure of this until we too have an opportunity to kiss a queenly hand.

Would it not be gracious to practice first upon mother's hand, for after all, mother is the Queen of our American home—and no one would have to blush for us later were we to kiss her hand reverently.

"Equal Rights"

Press dispatches from London state that a club to popularize cigar smoking by women has been formed by the wives and daughters of some wealthy business men in Wallasey, in Cheshire. It remains now to see how long it will be before the women will take up the pipe and chew ing tobacco. Equal rights will then be established on a sound basis.

Safe Farming

Prosperity among southern farmers will be widespread and permanent and contentment abound only when the safe-farming methods so long known and advocated become general throughout the South. They are:

Grow ample food to feed the family.

Have a good summer and a winter garden.

Grow all the pork needed for home use.

Keep enough cows to fully supply all family needs.

Raise all the poultry and eggs the family can use and some to sell.

Grow cane or sorghum for sirup where practicable.

Grow all the feed needed.

Make the purchare of feed for the work stock, poultry, hogs, and cows unnecessary-a penny saved is worth two earned.

Keep up the fertility of the soil.

Grow cowpeas, vetch, soy beans, or other legumes to plow under.

Sow rye, wheat, or oats in corn and cotton fields for pasture and to prevent winter washing and leaching.

Plant high-yielding quality cotton and care for it well.

Cooperate in reducing the number of varieties grown and in the orderly marketing of the crop.

One-fourth less cotton acreage in 1927, with average yields and present surplus would more than supply average requirements. Why plant more?

The farmer who follows the above plan will have a good living, keep out of debt, and have something left over at the end of each year. To aid you in the safe-farming program you have your:

County agricultural agent.

Home demonstration agent.

State agricultural college.

United States Department of Agriculture.

Marketing and other farm organizations.

Write them. Use them.

This magnificent bronze by Harriett Frishmuth is on display in the Palace of Fine Arts at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia where the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence is being celebrated. This is but one of the many gorgeous and beautiful things to be seen in the Fine Arts exhibit. Famous artists from all parts of the world have sent their paintings, etchings and sculptures to Philadelphia to be exhibited during the exposition, which continues until December 1.

Low-Growing Fruits Require Protection

Burning Oil in Heaters Has Proven Satisfactory.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Burning fuel oil in lard pail heaters has proved a successful method of obtaining a rise in temperature on the cranberry bogs near the mouth of the Columbia river in Washington. Local weather bureau officials assisted in making a test of the efficiency of these heaters for the purpose. The flooding of the bogs for frost protection as is done in Wisconsin and the Atlantic coast cranberry sections is not practicable in Washington.

The heaters are set on metal trivets forced several inches into the ground so that the strong winds which sometimes blow in this district cannot overturn them. Forty ten-quart lard pail heaters were used on a half-acre plot. They were equipped one night with "soot-arrester" or "spiders," and used one night without them.

The frost on the two nights of the test caused about 15 per cent damage in a check plot 300 feet distant, not equipped with heaters. There was no damage in the test plot. Both plots were similarly situated with regard to topography and atmospheric conditions. The fuel oil burned cost 6 cents a gallon in barrel lots, and the cost of the heating was 96 cents an acre per hour with the soot-arresters in place. Without them the cost was $6 per acre per hour.

It is believed by the weather bureau men who made the test that similar good results can be secured in protecting other low-growing crops, such as strawberries, tomatoes and potatoes.

THE BASIC TROUBLE WITH AMERICAN AGRICULTURE

Many Mythical Causes Given But the Chief Financial Problem Rises From Inflation of Capital Account Based on War Prices—Remedy Pointed Out—"Trick Legislation" Will Not Help.

By MELVIN A. TRAYLOR
First Vice President American Bankers Association.

M. A. Traylor

In recent years agriculture and the welfare of the farmer have been our most fruitful topics of conversation. Political fortunes have revolved around the unhappy situation of the farmer and the business barometer has gone up and down with varying proposals for his relief. Only a few years ago there was widespread feeling voiced by the leading agriculturists that the time was fast approaching when America would not be able to feed its rapidly increasing population unless there was improvement in soil culture, fertilization, reforestation and larger production. What is the situation now? The worry seems no longer to be for food for the hungry millions but for more millions to consume our tons of food.

Evangelists of despair have talked so much about over-production and surplus of agricultural products since 1920 that we are warranted in calling attention to a fact or two which may be enlightening to those who have felt that there has been a crushing surplus of the staples of the farm. From 1914 to 1915 average production of cotton was 14,175,000 bales at an average price of 12.41 cents per pound, while from 1921 to 1925 production averaged 11,362,000 bales at an average price of 21.25 cents per pound. In the 1911-1915 period wheat production averaged 806,358,000 bushels at an average price of 89 cents, while in 1921-1925 the average production was 804,384,000 bushels at a $1.11½ average; in the former period corn averaged 2,754,000,000 bushels at 60.3 cents while in the latter the average was 2,873,000,000 at 69.6 cents. Cattle on farms for 1911-1915 were 37,178,000 at an average estimated price of $26.52 while in the latter period the annual average was 61,616,000 at $26.08. Hogs on farms in the first period were 63,151,000 at an average price of $9.58 per head, and in the latter 60,418,000 at $11.34.

The Surplus Production Myth

From these figures, which eliminate the period that embraced the war and the early post-war inflation, it will be observed that, with the exception of cotton and cattle, production has been almost uniform in the two periods. In no case has production anywhere approached an increase commensurate with the increase in population. So-called surplus production is largely a myth and the cause of the farmer's complaint must be looked for in some other direction. It must be admitted that all has not been and is not well with this industry. After all, what is the matter with agriculture? There are a few facts which seem obvious as a part at least of the underlying causes of the situation and which suggest something of the remedy that sooner or later must be applied.

Present difficulties had their inception largely in inflation of prices for agricultural products from 1915 to 1920 with consequent large expansion of profits. This led inevitably with the farmer as with the manufacturer to expansion of plant and equipment—the acquirement by the individual of larger acreage and modern, if not always efficient, machinery. These statements do not apply to every one because there are always some who play safely and conservatively, proved by the fact that there are millions of farmers who have gone through the recent crisis without any difficulty and are today prosperous and contented. In fact the complaints today are coming from less than 25 per cent of the farmers of the country and from the hordes of politicians who are seeking to make capital out of the situation.

Results of Inflation and Expansion

With the average and with the majority of those who were swept off their feet by the wave of prosperity through which they were passing, let us analyze the results of this inflation and expansion. The farmer operating on land that he was carrying in his capital account at a value of, say, $100 per acre, and who perhaps had a loan of $50 an acre, suddenly found that, because of the increased profits from his operations, his land had a market value of $200 per acre and that, if he had a new tractor and some new farm machinery, he could greatly increase his production. But if he did that he would need a larger barn and more warehouse facilities. The chances are that with an appraisal of $200 per acre on his land he increased his loan to $100 per acre, thereby doubling his capital account and his bonded debt—not out of earnings but because of his ability to effect a "clean write-up" of 100 per cent of his plant account.

If he did not effect the doubling of his capital account in this manner, and if his $100 acre farm was clear, he probably bought his neighbor's farm for $200 per acre and mortgaged both the new and the old for $100 per acre. In this latter case, he increased his capital account 150 per cent.

It is easy to see what this did to his net percentage of income. If he had been able to make 6 per cent on his original investment, without any allowance for the increased cost of operations which of course did take place, he cut his net income, based upon his capitalization, about one-half when he had completed his expansion program. But worse than that happened. His calculations had been made upon a price for his product which reflected wartime demand and buying power of government money which was suddenly curtailed. With demand gone and buying power withdrawn he found his gross selling price cut in two. His gross at the high figures had enabled him to make 3 per cent net on his new capitalization. This now was cut one-half by the reduction of his gross selling price and instead of making a 6 per cent return, as he was able to do perhaps on his original $100 acre farm, he has since been lucky if he has made 1½ per cent on his new capital account.

The Remedy

I am confident that something of this kind underlies 75 per cent of the present difficulty. How can it be remedied? I believe that time and intelligent hard work is the surest restorative of better conditions. No magic of trick legislation can accomplish the result. There are a few facts which must be faced and accepted before a start to better things can be made. The first and most important is recognition that farming never was, is not now, and I do not believe ever will be a so-called money-making proposition. By this I mean a business in which a man may engage with the certainty of being able over a period of years from the production and sale of farm commodities to accumulate great wealth.

There are those who will say that unless farming can be made a successful money-making proposition there is no hope for the future of the country. My argument with such people will turn on the correct definition of what is a satisfactory money-making business. I believe that if farming is intelligently and industriously followed it is a satisfactory business but I do not believe that it is sufficiently a money-making proposition to attract those who are ambitious to pay for big fortunes.

There are those also who say that many men have grown rich in the past in agriculture. I do not think they have from the mere production and sale of farm commodities. The men who have grown rich in the past from agriculture have owed their success most largely to the ownership of what would now be considered very cheap lands, which over a period of years have shown quadruple and more appreciation in values.

The Advantages of Farm Life

But if agriculture does not mean great wealth, and it certainly does not involve a life of idleness, ease, or luxury, it does mean much more. It means if intelligently and industriously followed a character of independence vouchsafed to no other trade or profession. How do I know this? I know it by experience and I know it by observation. The farmers of today have more good, wholesome food than any man working on a salary of $2,500 per year can buy for his family and be able to pay his grocery bill without paying any other of his debts. The farmers who are complaining of their inability to make money enough to pay for their necessities of life are enjoying at home as a natural heritage of their business comforts and luxuries which the man in the industrial centers working for a salary is spending every dollar of his income to obtain and then is not getting anything commensurate with those enjoyed by the farmer.

It is these so-called undergrad items of the farmer's income that are too often lost sight of in the calculations made by our reformer friends who would legislate a living wage and universal prosperity to those engaged in agriculture. If the farmer as a whole would be happy again he must take stock of his blessings and thank God for them, get rid of his quack doctors of political bunkum, revalue his plant and equipment, and start over again in full knowledge of the fact that he must take keen and effective competition, that he must work hard and intelligently, that he must calculate in his income inherent and undeniable items, which are not measured in dollars and cents.

When he does this, I feel perfectly certain that over a period of years, taking the good and the bad as it comes to all classes of business, he will find that he has lived well, that he has had a fair margin for the enjoyment of all the necessities of life and a surplus for those luxuries which he has a right to obtain, and above all that he will have the chance to be an independent and free man, a real man and a self-respecting citizen.

The Philadelphia of Our Ancestors

...e is shown a section of "High Street," a reproduction of Philadelphia's fa... Market street in the days of 1776. It is one of the outstanding features of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition now being held in Philadelphia to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Every building has been built to actual size and in actual architectural detail. The furnishings of each building are exact reproductions of those used in the Revolutionary days. Many of the pieces on display are the originals and today are worth thousands of dollars because of their historic value. The Exposition continues until December 1.

4-H Club Work Should Be Expanded.

More than 565,000 farm boys and girls are enrolled in 4-H club work in the United States. They belong to about 41,000 separate clubs. There are about 11,000,000 young people on farms, all of whom could profit from learning better farm and home practices through club work. "The work should be so expanded," says Dr. C. B. Smith, chief of the Office of Cooperative Extension Work, in a new circular, "that all rural boys and girls who want to can take part in it and receive its benefits."

The organization, purposes and scope of 4-H club work are explained by Dr. Smith, who goes on to say that growing an acre or more of cotton in accordance with directions, raising a sow and litter of pigs according to instructions, growing fruit and vegetables in accordance with the dietary needs of the family, canning the surplus in the most approved ways, and other phases of farm and home work that especially appeal to young people.

The work is carried on with boys and girls 10 to 20 years of age, usually through groups of 10 to 20 members. These members not only come into contact with their local leaders, who know how to do things, but with the work of one another, in which rivalry plays a part, and with the public in field meetings, exhibits at fairs, festivals and demonstrations.

The particular value of club work is that it gets hold of young people while their minds are plastic and gives them guidance when they need it, teaches them some of the inspiring things in agriculture, and gives them visions of its possibilities as a life job. It provides opportunity for them to share home responsibilities in keeping with their ability and gives them a part in solving the problems of rural communities. It influences the farm and home practices of the member's families. It develops rural leadership. They learn and teach the better way on the farm, in the home, and in the community. They build up their bodies and their health through right living. They train their hands to be useful, their minds to think clearly, and their hearts to be kind."

H. M. Strock Dies At White City

Last Saturday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock the death Angel called from our midst Mr. H. M. Strock one of Autauga's beloved citizens. He was born in Elmore County April 21, 1859 and married Nov. 27, 1887 to Miss Ella Thompson, was converted about 42 years ago and joined the Baptist church at Verbena.

He was in bad health for a long time prior to his death, but bore it patiently. He was confined to his bed for only a few days. Just a few hours before he died the family standing around his bedside, he looked up and smiled as to signify all is well with me and my Savior. He was a true husband and father. He was loyal to his family, church and country.

He is survived by his wife, two sons Houston and Livingston, and four daughters, Lula Mae Strock and Mrs. Maggie Boone of White City, Mrs. Mary Sue Roberts of Braggs and Mrs. Lillian Gaines of Hayes, seven grandchildren, two sisters Mrs. Alice Deason of New Mexico, Mrs. Zula Prescot of Lineville, six brothers, Messers Will, Ben, John, Judson and Dr. Charlie of Verbena and Mr. Sam of Birmingham, and a large number of nieces, nephews and friends who mourn because we miss him not because he is dead for we know he is at rest. The funeral service was held at the White City Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Bro. Buford Lawrence of Clanton.

The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan acted as pall bearers and officiated at the grave. His remains were entered in the White City cemetery. There was a beautiful display of flowers presented by relatives and friends and most especially the cross presented by the Klansmen.

If "Betty" is finally chosen to represent Delaware she will be given a week's trip to the Exposition and to Washington and the White House, where she will receive a medal from the hands of President Coolidge.

Shall Chilton Have Demonstrator?

We, The Commissioners Court take this opportunity to write through your paper to the people of Chilton County and say to them that the question had been agitated to some extent for the county to hire a county Demonstrator, but up to this time the Commissioners had not been convinced that a majority of the people of the county wanted the county to pay out of the county funds sixteen hundred and fifty dollars per year the amount they would have to pay if they employed said Demonstrator.

The Court wants to do what the majority of the people of the county want done, and if some way could be suggested to ascertain the wishes of the majority of the people the Commissioners Court would be glad to follow the instructions of the people. As the Court at all times wants to do what the majority of the people wants done.

Drink Water to Help Wash Out Kidney Poison

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "fruity laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, sold by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Washington First to Call for Day of Thankfulness

Proclamation Made in 1789 Set Apart Day of Rejoicing and for Gratitude.

Thanksgiving day in the United States is a yearly festival of thanksgiving for the mercies of the closing year. The day is fixed by proclamation of the Presidents and the governors of the various states. The President's proclamation makes the day a legal holiday in the District of Columbia, territories and possessions.

In 1789 the Episcopal church formally recognized the civil government's authority to appoint such a feast, and in 1888 the Roman Catholic church also decided to honor a festival which had long been nearly universally observed.

The earliest harvest Thanksgiving in America was kept by the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth in 1621 and was repeated often during that and the ensuing century. Congress recommended days of thanksgiving annually during the Revolution and in 1784 for the return of peace—as did President Madison in 1815, following the close of the second war with Great Britain.

The first truly national Thanksgiving was observed in 1789. The first congress, sitting in New York, then the capital of the young nation, adopted a resolution requesting President Washington to appoint a day of thanksgiving for the general benefit and welfare of the nation.

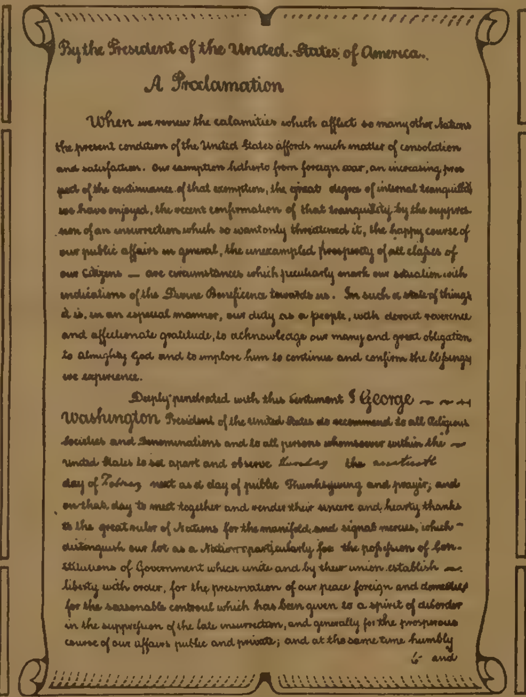
First Proclamation.

In compliance with the request Washington issued his proclamation October 3, 1789, setting apart Thursday, November 26, as a day "to be devoted by the people of these states to intervention and invasion." Since 1868 the Presidents have always issued proclamations appointing the last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving day.

Washington's Appeal.

"When we review the calamities which afflict so many other nations, the present condition of the United States affords much matter of consolation and satisfaction. Our exemption hitherto from foreign war, an increasing prospect of the continuance of that exemption, the great degree of internal tranquillity we have enjoyed, the recent confirmation of that tranquillity by the suppression of an insurrection, which so wantonly threatened it, the happy course of our public affairs in general, the unexampled prosperity of all classes of our citizens, are circumstances which peculiarly mark our situation with indications of the divine beneficence toward us. In such a state of things it is in an especial manner our duty as a people, with devout reverence and affectionate gratitude, to acknowledge our many and great obligations to Almighty God, and to implore Him to continue and confirm the blessings we experienced.

"Deeply penetrated with this sentiment, I, George Washington, President of the United States, do recommend to all religious societies and denominations, and to all persons whomsoever, within the United States, to set apart and observe Thursday, the 19th day of February next, as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer, and on that day to meet together and render sincere and hearty thanks to the great Ruler of nations for the manifold and signal mercies which distinguish our lot as a nation; particularly for the possession of constitutions of government which unite and, by their union, establish liberty with order; for the preservation of our peace, foreign and domestic; for the reasonable control which has been given to a spirit of disorder in the suppression of the late insurrection,



By the President of the United States of America.

A Proclamation

When we review the calamities which affect so many other Nations the present condition of the United States affords much matter of consolation and satisfaction. Our exemption hitherto from foreign war, an increasing prospect of the continuance of that exemption, the great degree of internal tranquillity we have enjoyed, the recent confirmation of that tranquillity by the suppression of an insurrection which so wantonly threatened it, the happy course of our public affairs in general, the unexampled prosperity of all classes of our Citizens — are circumstances which peculiarly mark our situation with indications of the Divine Beneficence towards us. In such a state of things it is, in an especial manner, our duty as a people, with devout reverence and affectionate gratitude, to acknowledge our many and great obligation to Almighty God and to implore him to continue and confirm the blessings we experience.

Deeply penetrated with this sentiment I George Washington President of the United States do recommend to all Religious Societies and Denominations and to all persons whomsoever within the United States to set apart and observe Thursday the nineteenth day of February next as a day of public Thanksgiving and prayer; and on that day to meet together and render their sincere and hearty thanks to the great ruler of Nations for the manifold and signal mercies, which distinguish our lot as a Nation particularly for the possession of Constitutions of Government which unite and by their union establish liberty with order, for the preservation of our peace foreign and domestic; for the seasonable controul which has been given to a spirit of disorder in the suppression of the late insurrection, and generally for the prosperous course of our affairs public and private; and at the same time humbly & and the service of that Great and Glorious Being who is the beneficent author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be." The people were requested to pray for "the pardon of our national and other transgressions; for wise, just and constitutional laws, discreetly and faithfully executed and obeyed; for a larger knowledge and better practice of true religion and virtue and for the increase of science among all mankind."

In 1795 Washington issued his second proclamation appointing a day for a national thanksgiving. In this proclamation, which named February 19 as the day to be observed, the President called attention to the peace and prosperity prevailing throughout the land and asked that thanks be given for the suppression of the insurrection which had "so wantonly threatened" the tranquility of the nation. The insurrection referred to by the President was the so-called "Whisky Rebellion" which had occurred in several counties in western Pennsylvania, caused by the federal tax laid on alcoholic liquors and stills.

Custom Allowed to Lapse.

The next Thanksgiving day proclamation was issued by John Adams, the second President, in 1798, and a year later he again appointed a day for a national thanksgiving. No observance of the kind was held during the two administrations of Thomas Jefferson, but in 1815, following the close of the war, the custom was revived by President Madison. Then came a lapse of 47 years, from 1815 until 1862, before the nation again was called upon to give thanks in a proclamation issued by President Lincoln, who summoned his countrymen especially to "acknowledge and render thanks to our Heavenly Father for the signal victories, vouchsafed by Almighty God, to the land and naval forces engaged in suppressing an internal uprising and for averting from our country the dangers of foreign and generally for the prosperous condition of our affairs, public and private, and at the same time, humbly and fervently beseech the kind Author of these blessings graciously to prolong them to us; to imprint on our hearts a deep and solemn sense of our obligations to Him for them; to teach us rightly to estimate their immense value; to preserve us from the arrogance of prosperity and from hazarding the advantages we enjoy by delusive pursuits; to dispose us to merit the continuance of His favors by not abusing them, by our gratitude for them, and by a corresponding conduct as citizens and as men to render this country more and more a safe and propitious asylum for the unfortunate of other countries; to extend among us true and useful knowledge; to diffuse and establish habits of sobriety, order, morality and piety, and finally to impart all the blessings we possess or ask for ourselves to the whole family of mankind.

"In testimony whereof, I have caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed to these presents, and signed the same with my hand. Done at the city of Philadelphia the first day of January, 1795."

First Observations

The Pilgrims celebrated Thanksgiving on December 13, 1621. This was the first celebration of this occasion. It was not a regularly observed festival until after the Revolution and the adoption of the Constitution. After the year 1789 it was customary to observe it. Thanksgiving day is a peculiarly American institution and is not observed elsewhere, except in Canada. Of course, days when the thanks of the nation are offered to God are observed from time to time in foreign countries, but this is done with no regularity.

EXPERIENCE OF WESTERN GIRL

Found Cannery Work Too Tiring

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America. This is possible through the magic of the humble tin can.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 652 North Front St., Salem, Oregon.

Girls who work in factories know just how Miss Schmidt felt. Perhaps they, too, will find better health by taking the Vegetable Compound.

Pershing On Politics

General Pershing sounds a note of warning when he says, "the downfall of the United States will not be far off if the time ever comes when public officers can be virtualty bought and sold, either directly or indirectly." He was referring to the corrupt use of millions of dollars in the recent Republican primaries, especially in Illinois and Pennsylvania.

"The presumption that large expenditures for campaign purposes mav be made without ulterior motives," says General Pershing, "does not appear to be warranted. To sanction the expenditure of excessive amounts of money to secure the nominati on of candidates for office would be to exclude unjustly all but the wealthv from such contests."

What General Pershing says about corrupt politics has been recognized a long time, but continued reference to it, in order that the people may not forget, is neither untimely nor unwise. Repeated warnings, however, even from the housetops, will not avail unless the people hear them. Happily the American electorate has manifested its disapproval when opportunity has presented itself. The senators who voted to seat Newberry have practically all been retired to private life. Pennsylvania, the most overwhelmingly Republican state in the Union, gave to a Democratic candidate for senator a plurality outside the city of Philadelphia and Congressman Vare's corrupt campaign fund aroused such a wave of indignation that the Republican nominee was assured of success only through the manipulations of the machine in the City of Brotherly Love. In Illinois the voters showed their resentment over the acceptance by the Republican candidate of a $200,000 gift from the head of the Midwestern power trust, Samuel Insul by a greatly reduced vote. The public is sound upon this matter, and the sooner corrupt politicians realize it, the better it will be for all concerned.

Democrats Frown On G. O. P. Tax Idea

Washington, No. 13. -Representative Garner, Texas Democratic tax authority in the House, Saturday announced his party opposition to the Coolidge administration tax credit proposal as "normally and economically wrong." Garner came out for repeal of all "nuisance" taxes imposed in wartime, and reduction of corporation tax rates.

The Democrats "do not intend to reduce taxes just for the millionaires and multi-millionaires as the president proposes," Garner said.

Automobile and admission e-x cise taxes especially should be repealed entirely, Garner said, adding that corporation income levies could well be reduced an half per cent to a rate of 12 cents.

His statement was taken to indicate the Coolidge Mellon plan for a 10 to 12 1-2 per cent credit or discount on taxes payable in 1927 would encounter a rough road when Congress meets December 6.

"At least 70 per cent of taxes as passed on the consumer, according to statements of Secretary Mellon and other Republicans," Garner said. "The government already has collected taxes from the people. Now Mr. Coolidge wants to hand the money back to stockholders of corporations who have already collected it from the people. The plan is morally and economically wrong."

Farmers would get no benefit from the Coolidge Mellon reduction he said.

Discussing corporation taxes he pointed out that while other eviles have been decreased these taxes have been increased since 1924. He said the Democrats were here and ready to cut taxes but he doubted if the Republicans could stick together "enough to help."

First 24 Hours of Life Baby's Hardest Time.

By MARIE K. JOHNSON

Marie K. Johnson

Undernourishment is one of the most common of the causes of infant mortality, according to a survey recently undertaken in Chicago. Statistics show that of 4,522 babies under one year of age that died in 12 months, 988 died in the first 24 hours.

Eight hundred and seventy-six died in the first six days, exclusive of the first 24 hours and 1,798 died from the seventh day to the sixth month. Eight hundred and sixty died in the last six months of the year. The survey indicated that a surprisingly large number of infants are artifically fed, which condition, doctors agree, had a marked bearing on their undernourished conditions. Naturally, no one food may prove satisfactory in every case, although the survey showed that evaporated milk in many cases had proved an excellent substitute for mother's milk. This may be explained by reason of the fact that evaporated milk is simply pure, concentrated cow's milk from which 60 per cent of the water has been removed. It contains practically every element necessary for good health and is consequently an excellent builder of bone and tissue.

Although authorities on health recommend evaporated milk as a baby food, like other substitutes for the natural supply, it should not be considered as a food complete in itself. Addition of orange or tomato juice, barley water or lime water is important in providing adequate diet for the infant.

For babies, milk of dependable purity is essential. Market milk will not keep for any length of time and is also liable to contamination, especially in hot weather, while evaporated milk, hermetically sealed in sterilized containers, remains as fresh and pure as on the day it was canned.

Sterility in evaporated milk, authorities agree, is one of the most important points in its favor. In processing, evaporated milk is subjected to [illegible] for a half hour, [illegible] all possibility of bacterial life being present in the milk. Heat is the only preservative for this type of milk and the heat has the further beneficial effect of making the curds of milk more flocculent and easier to digest.

Margery Maxwell

Margery Maxwell, prima donna with the Chicago Civic and Ravinia opera companies, and who enjoys the distinction of being among the first American girls to be recognized in grand opera circles, takes particular pride in her culinary skill. Cooking, in her estimation, is a fine art which is rapidly being lost.

"Dor'[illegible] of the big reasons for this condition is that modern young men don't expect the girls they marry to know much about cooking," said Miss Maxwell.

"In the future, before man pops the question, he's going to find out whether the girl knows what [illegible] and whether she's wise to the elements of a balanced diet.

"A few questions before the minister asks, 'Do you take this woman?' would save a thousand recriminations later."

There are certain dishes to which Miss Maxwell is partial. As she explains them, they are readily prepared. Miss Maxwell uses for

Two 3¼ lb. chickens (broilers)	1 cup water
Salt	2 eggs
Pepper	Fine bread crumbs
1 cup evaporated milk diluted with:	Fat
	1-3 cup butter
	1 tsp. salt
	Dash pepper
	2 tbsp. flour

Dress, clean and cut up chickens. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in crumbs, egg, and crumbs. Place in a well-oiled dripping pan, and bake twenty minutes in a 450 degree F. oven, then reduce the temperataure to 350 degrees F. and cook until tender, about twenty minutes longer. Baste every ten minutes during cooking with ⅓ cup melted butter. Remove to platter and pour around a cream sauce made of fat in dripping pan, the flour, diluted milk, salt and pepper.

FUTURE BECKONS YOUNG AMERICANS

Achievements of Past Only Show Great Opportunity Ahead.

Great events of the past quarter century which lead some young men to complain that all the big things have been done, leaving no opportunity for them, as a matter of fact only go to show that even greater opportunity today lies ahead of them, F. N. Shepherd, Executive Manager of the American Bankers Association, recently told members of the American Institute of Banking in New York. After reviewing the outstanding accomplishments in science, industry and finance during the last twenty-five years, Mr. Shepherd emphasized the reward given men of achievement in America, especially in the financial field.

"The achievements of the past are the groundwork for the opportunities of today and tomorrow," he said. "There never was a time when so great were the potentialities of the individual. The world was never so ready and able to pay well for what it wants. For superior service to society under competitive conditions, whether through invention or production or organization or distribution of useful articles, no reward is begrudged, particularly here in America.

A. AYRES' Editor.

Entered as second class matter at the Clanton, Ala., postoffice under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

Courts now are a farce unless they have Jurors who will convict the guilty.

We suspect that the goose that laid the golden egg is still surviving, but if the goose should be killed, some body would suffer.

The Pig woman must have mighty good eyes to identify several men and women at a distance by the flash of a flash light.

When will we get that bridge across the Coosa river between here and Rockford? It would add quite a lot to both Chilton and Coosa counties. We favor the bridge being built.

We suggest that Alabama buy the Muscle Shoals and operate it. Alabama ought to have it and operate it and it could be made to bring an income of millions of dollars each year for revenue to the state.

There has been much said and written about so much money being spent in the recent primaries in some of the Northern states that it begins to look like buying office. The investigating committee in Congress has been investigating the matter since in the summer and we suspect that it will go about like Muscle Shoals has gone.

We have read of a Spiritual Church, and have seen them where it is claimed that you can go in the church and talk to your dead, and they will talk to you. It looks like if they can talk to you from the other world that there might be a way fixed that they could come on a visit to their people. Is it possible that some who are dead and have been for several years, come back and vote and not make a visit to their people who live near the polls?

Tax Dollar Removed From Productive Enterpr e

The welfare of the world depends upon constructive thought originating in the individual mind, and the dollar is its messenger to a creative end," says Paul Shoup, Executiye Vice President, Southern Pacific Company.

"The separation of the dollar--what it represents--from the individual to the mass through taxation, depriving this dollar of the support of this constructive individual thought, seeking achievement or reward or both, is destructive to the welfare of the world--destructive to that action 'which would make two ears of corn or two blades of grass to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before.'

"The dollar, diverted by taxation, no longer the possession of individual creative thought, loses its creative character.

"The dollar is useful only as the mind of man makes it so. The destruction of useful initiative must be necessarily destructive to its useful work.

"The taxes paid in the United States represent an annual contribution of three per cent upon the value of all the property in this country. We find that our tax contributions the number of dollars diverted from their normal course for taxation purposes, have been for many years past increasing out of proportion to the growth of the saved wealth of the nation, and out of proportion to national income

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HOUSEHOLD BUDGETS

"Aunt Emmy," asked Helen, "won't you explain what is meant by a household budget? You said something the other day about budgets, but I don't seem clear in my mind about it."

"A budget is simply a plan," said Aunt Emmy. "You plan what you are going to do with your income. You divide your income systematically so that you can meet your needs. You lay aside a part of your income for rent, other parts for food, clothing, heat, light, telephone, recreation, savings and so on."

"How are you going to know how much you should spend for each thing—on rent for instance, Aunty?" asked Helen.

"Experts have studied the question carefully and have worked out budgets to suit every income. Of course, you can alter these typical budgets slightly to suit your particular needs. For example, the average budget that covers incomes of from $2,000 to $10,000 a year divides your income into six parts. Ten per cent for savings, twenty per cent for rent, twenty per cent for food, twenty per cent for what is called betterment and includes education, amusement, entertainment, books, music, sports; fifteen per cent for clothes and fifteen per cent for operating expenses.

"No matter how you change the other items you must not change the savings allowance—except to increase it. A great majority of men who reach sixty are dependent on relatives or charity. If they had saved only ten cents out of every dollar, they would not have been in that plight. There is nothing like money in the savings bank to help you through the emergencies that come in everybody's life. If everybody kept one year's income in the savings bank, much misery would be averted. If you always have enough money to see you through one year, you are pretty safe. Beyond that, it is wise to let your money accumulate until you have enough to buy some good securities. Your banker will advise you about the securities that suit your needs."

"But, Aunt Emmy, suppose you wanted to alter your budget?" inquired Helen. "How would you know how to do it? A young married couple might start on a certain budget and then, when they had children to feed and educate, they might want to change it."

"Well, my dear, if they were in doubt about their financial affairs, they could always consult their banker. That is why it is so good to establish friendly relations with a bank when you start out in life. Any banker will be glad to advise young people about making their money go farther."

WHAT THE FEDERAL RESERVE HAS DONE FOR BUSINESS

What the Federal Reserve System has done for business is summed up in these points: It has (1) given business greater confidence in the ability of the banks to care for credit needs; (2) introduced an elastic currency and eliminated money panics; (3) eliminated extreme seasonal fluctuations in rates of interest; (4) brought business safely through the war and post-war crises; (5) saved millions of dollars to business through its efficient system for check collection; (6) made the gold reserve more effective as a basis for credit extension in times of extraordinary demand; (7) aided in the financing of foreign and domestic trade by developing a discount market for acceptances; (8) provided a means for handling huge financial operations of the government without interference with business; (9) aided in the re-establishment of the gold standard abroad; (10) given us an experienced banking organization which will assist us in meeting the future exigencies of business at home and abroad with courage and confidence.

BANKERS EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION TRUSTEES

John H. Puelicher, former president of the American Bankers Association, has been named chairman of the board of trustees of the American Bankers Association Educational Foundation for which $500,000 has been pledged by the bankers to provide for scholarships and research in economics in colleges throughout the country. The other trustees are Leonard P. Ayers, Vice-President Cleveland Trust Company; Stephen I. Miller, Educational Director American Institute of Banking; Lewis E. Pierson, Chairman Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company, New York; George E. Roberts, Vice-President National City, Bank, New York; Francis H. Sisson, Vice-President Guaranty Trust Company, New York; Evans Woollen, President Fletcher Savings & Trust Company, Indianapolis; W. Espey Albig, Deputy Manager American Bankers Association, Secretary.

The banks of Washington, Ia., believe in giving the pupils of the public schools simple and practical information in regard to banking practices as a matter of education. Talks were made during the year to grade and high school students by representatives of the banks.

Spicy Story

George Plympton, the scenario writer, loves to tell how he broke into the literary game. He was in New York at the time, and personally submitted his first offense to the editor. The editor took one look at the main title and said:

"I can tell by the name of your story that it won't do for us. Our magazine prints only spicy stories."

"Then this ought to be just the thing," insisted George. "It's a story about a cinnamon bear."

One may be good, but he has to be brave to amount to anything.

Bringing up Children

"MY sisters, my sister-in-law and myself all have families, and for years we have all given our children Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. We have recommended it hundreds of times and think it just wonderful, not only to bring up children but for ourselves. At the slightest sign of stomach trouble, colds, constipation and when out of sorts, a dose or two is all they need. Truly, it is a family medicine and the stitch in time that saves nine." (Name and address sent on request.)

Constipation, Colds, Coughs, Fevers and Other Perils of Childhood

One dose and mother's anxiety is lifted. The sickest stomach craves the taste of Syrup Pepsin. From infancy to old age the result is certain. Droopy, listless, feverish children respond as if to magic. Headache, stomachache, biliousness, coated tongue, constipation—these are the daily perils for which a host of mothers say Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the safeguard. Sold and recommended by all druggists.

"Malthusian" Theory

Thomas Robert Malthus, born 1766, was an English economist interested in social problems and study of population. In 1798 he published a book, "Essay on the Principles of Population as It Affects the Future Improvement of Society." This book demonstrated the theory that in all time population has tended to outrun subsistence, leading to the decay of the nation. He enlarged this theory in 1803 to demonstrate the impossibility of evading poverty and suffering among the mass of the people if unrestricted increase in population continued.

Farm Women Will Help With Cotton

Auburn, Ala., The farm women of Alabama are willing to do their part to relieve the cotton situation. In session in auburn the board of directors of the State Council of Home Demonstration Clubs, representing 9,000 farm women members in 33 counties endorsed the ... to increase the uses and demands for cotton, called upon urban women to help them, and pledged themselves to these new uses

They called upon rural and urban women to use more cotton for wearing appearel and house furnishings and to demand cotton containers for foods, including chicken feed. They advised cotton costumé contests for each city, town, and village they to be known as "wear more-cotton" day.

They recommended further that all children under seven years be dressed entirely in cotton, and that mothers in buying school dresses specify cotton and wool. They favored cotton socks for men and boys, for children in school, for women at home, and cotton tops for silk stackings.

Child's Health Maintained By WholesomeDiet

Modern educators are leaning more each year to the old Greek idea of rearing the citizens of the future. They are working on the principle of "a sound mind in a sound body."

Good health is built primarily on the foundation of right food. The sort of food the child has determines to a large extent the fitness of the man or woman.

Children have to be taught to like the foods that are good for them much in the same way that they have to be taught arithmetic and history. Boys and girls are not born with any particular desire for cereals or for bread. It's up to their parents to see that they learn the rudiments of a balanced diet and the reason for such a diet. Firmness and patience are often necessary in the teaching, but the job must be done.

Many mothers unconsciously put their children under health handicaps by allowing them to use their own discretion in the matter of eating candy, fruit, nuts and cookies. By so doing they set a precedent in the matter of other foods and make the teaching of good nutrition harder.

One or two articles are not enough to supply a child's needs for a meal. In order that there be normal development, there must be variety.

Fresh eggs, whole cereals, fruits in season and leafy vegetables should occupy an important part in the growing child's dietary. Then, too, a certain amount of concentrated food is necessary for children, because rapid growth whets their appetites to a razor edge, so that they crave more food than their systems can well dis-

GATUN LOCKS

U.S.S. PENNSYLVANIA AT CHAGRES RIVER CROSSING

Increase of Freight via Panama Route, Largely Due to Oil Shipments, Indicates Rise of United States to Leadership of World's Commerce.

By JUDSON C. WELLIVER

One of the striking evidences of America's rapid rise toward commercial and industrial leadership of the world, is the Panama Canal, will almost certainly handle more freight in 1926 than will Suez. For several years the two canals have been in a neck and neck competition whose implications are the more interesting because the Panama ditch is owned by the American Government, and that at Suez by the British Government.

Of course both Canals are open to the ships of all nations; and the competition between them is not only between the United States and Britain, but in a larger and even more significant view it is competition between old world and new world.

When the Panama Canal was opened in 1915, Suez was already transiting about 25,000,000 tons of freight annually. Almost nobody believed Panama could ever attract anything approaching such a volume. But during the war fear of German submarines in the Mediterannean caused many vessels to take, the Panama route between the far east and European or American ports. This gave Panama its introduction and it has not only held but greatly increased its business since the war. In 1923 Panama transited 5037 vessels against 4621 for Suez; Panama handled 25,160,000 cargo tons against 22,770,000 for Suez. This was the first year of Panama's lead

A Close Race

The following year Suez barely exceeded Panama's tonnage; and in 1925 comfortably held its lead. But reports for 1926 to date indicate that Suez is losing, owing to Britain's industrial depression, while Panama is doing better and is pretty certain to resume the lead.

The present Suez Canal has been in operation nearly sixty years, Panama only eleven. Although few people except antiquarians know it, the first canal at Suez was built more than 3,000 years ago. It was in operation as early as B. C. 1330; how long before, is mere conjecture. Before the Christian era began the ditch had been built, destroyed, rebuilt, silted up and built up again, time after time. When Alexander the Great conquered Egypt the Canal was one of the oldest of engineering works.

Between 1904 and 1915 the present Panama Canal was constructed. It cost about $400,000,000, Suez about one-fourth that sum. But Suez is a simple, sea-level ditch across a sandy plain; while Panama is a lock canal, the greater part of its length lying 85 feet above sea level, so that most of the distance from ocean to ocean is through an artificial freshwater lake.

Early Profits Unexpected

When Roosevelt started building at Panama, neither he nor any other prophet of optimism would have dared suggest that within its first decade the Canal would earn a profit. Its chief justification concerned the national defense, and the establishment of competition with the transcontinental railroads.

Although both Canals are open to shipping of all nations, British vessels constitute the majority of those using Suez (55.8 per cent), while American vessels are 54.5 per cent of those using Panama.

For 1924, ships of 31 nations used the Suez route, while 24 nations were represented in the maritime caravan at Panama.

The World War was not the only unexpected factor in bringing Panama so quickly to equality with Suez, nor the most important. The enormous increase in Panama traffic in 1923 was represented almost entirely by petroleum and its products, moving from California to the east coast and Europe. In the year ended June 30, 1924, tolls aggregating $24,290,000 were collected, of which $9,071,000 was from tankers carrying petroleum. An even more striking statement of the matter is that for the same year exactly 50 per cent of all tonnage through the Canal was between the two ocean fronts of the United States; that is, 13,500,000 tons; and of this, considerably over 9,000,000 tons, or more than two-thirds was petroleum. It was of course chiefly from California, en route to eastern refineries. In the succeeding year this petroleum movement fell off heavily; but for 1926 it is again increasing and the increase is likely to continue for many years. But for the petroleum traffic, the Canal would have shown a deficit in every year of its operation.

The enormous petroleum business has been in other ways advantageous to Panama. A constantly increasing proportion of maritime shipping nowadays uses oil fuel. Oil-burning ships seek routes on which they can most cheaply buy oil; and because California oil can be put so cheaply into the bunkers of vessels passing through the Panama ditch, there is a substantial inducement to prefer this route. This will increasingly favor Panama and militate against Suez, as the number of oil burners increases. Moreover, Panama's advantage will still further increase as the enormous oil resources of Venezuela, Colombia, and other South American countries are developed.

Great Service of Panama

If cheap petroleum has thus served Panama so well, Panama in turn has equally served the American motorist, who consumes most of the world's petroleum products For Panama has brought the Pacific Coast petroleum to the eastern market at costs which, but for the Canal, would be vastly greater. Thus the Canal has given the United States the cheapest petroleum products in the world, and helped build the automobile industry and our modern highway system.

This mutually helpful relationship between the Canal and the petroleum users is the more impressive when one realizes that it was not even remotely anticipated at the time President Roosevelt started building the Canal. So late, indeed, as 1910, when Admiral Evans wrote his articles about the Canal and decided that it could not be profitable for several decades at least, he based all his calculations on the probable cost of coal for bunkering ships He did not dream that merchant marines were on the verge of the revolutionary change from coal to oil. So he figured that, as there is practically no bunker coal in the countries bordering on the Pacific, that ocean could not compete, by way of Panama, for a greatly increased share of shipping. The oil development overturned the prophecies of Admiral Evans, and of all others who had foreseen that fuel problems would make Panama unprofitable.

WHY GOVERNMENT PRICE FIXING WON'T WORK

One of the most persistent fallacies is government price-fixing on competitive commodities. ... price-fixing in commodities and services where competition plays no part in price determination. These are railway transportation, electricity, gas, telephone and telegraph, and so on. Here government price-fixing is solely to protect the consumer. There are two fatal objections to government price-fixing for agricultural products, which represent the most competitive business in the world. These are, first, that it will not work; second, that it is always done for the consumer ... against the producer.

Government price-fixing for agricultural products would work if at the same time the government regulated wages, profits, middlemen's margins, the production of all commodities and the rationing of all consumers. In short, if the population were enlisted in one vast army, directed and rationed, price-fixing would work, but otherwise not. If the price is fixed on the wheat the farmer sells, then he cannot keep on producing wheat if wages or the cost of harvesting machinery rise, or if the cost of other material he buys rises. So the next step would be the fixation of other prices, and yet other prices.

The United States government fixed the price of wheat but once in our history, and then it was to benefit consumers, not producers. The government might, in an emergency, fix some agricultural prices for the purpose of elevating such prices. Such action would inevitably and speedily lead to outcry from city consumers and a consequent reversal of policy. Indeed, the consumers, not the producers, are most likely to demand and secure food price regulation by government authorities. The farmer, therefore, who favors any form of governmental price-fixing is working against his own interests. He is putting his head into a noose.—James E. Boyle, Professor of Rural Economics, Cornell University, in the Banker-Farmer.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On Fifteen Per Cent Bonds

Mrs. Norris beamed as she greeted Aunt Emmy and exclaimed, "Now I know all my financial worries are over! I wanted to tell you right away —"

"What have you bought this time?" Aunt Emmy demanded suspiciously.

"Well, I haven't paid the money over yet, but I have found the loveliest investment where my money will be perfectly safe and will earn a nice income for me right away," Mrs. Norris said. "I'm going to buy bonds, good safe bonds, that will pay me fifteen per cent interest—"

"Wait a minute, you'll have to go some, Maud Norris, to tell me about 'good safe bonds' that pay fifteen per cent!" Aunt Emmy broke in.

"They are safe,—the man said so and this booklet says so too!"

"Do you know what a bond is?" asked Aunt Emmy.

"No, but it's awfully safe. I'm sure of that," Mrs. Norris said. "Everybody knows that bonds are safe—"

"My dear, some bonds are safe and some are not. When you buy a bond you simply lend your money to the company putting out the bonds. Bond issues are secured generally by the company mortgaging or pledging some of its property. In other words, it offers a certain asset as security that it will return your money to you on the date the bond matures. It agrees to pay you a certain sum each year for the use of your money, usually something between five and eight per cent. No company can afford to pay too much for its money—and as to fifteen per cent bonds—why it would be very unusual for a company to be able to earn enough to enable it to pay fifteen per cent for the privilege of using other people's money,—moreover, if it is good enough to borrow money at all it can borrow it more cheaply than that!"

"Oh dear!" wailed Mrs. Norris, "then a bond isn't a good safe investment—"

"Don't jump at conclusions so fast!" said Aunt Emmy. "I did not say that. A bond is as safe as a church if the company that issues it is financially sound, has a high credit rating and is making money. Before you buy bonds assure yourself that the company behind them is above reproach."

"But the man who told me about these fifteen per cent bonds was so earnest—I felt sure I could believe him."

"Don't turn over any money to him until you have some advice on the bonds from your bank," admonished Aunt Emmy. "Then, if you find out that the bonds are questionable you will escape another bad investment."

Mason County, Michigan, bankers are pushing hard to replace scrub stock with pure-bred cattle The plan as outlined by the county agent is to purchase young pure-bred sires and place them wherever a farmer is found who is willing to co-operate in the proposition. The bankers will advance the purchase price and take a note for one year without interest. The idea is to make it as easy as possible for the farmers to procure thoroughbreds.

'Good Times' Bring Grief To Farmer

WHILE WALL STREET STOCKS SOAR AGRICULTURAL LANDS DROP, IOWA SOLON SAYS

Des Moines, Iowa., Nov. 29.--Senator-Elect Smith W. Brookhart, in a statement Monday, said "America's much vaunted prosperity means sheriff's sales for the farmer."

Commenting on the closing of 19 Iowa banks last week, the senator asserted "the agricultural situation has been produced by laws and can only be remedied by law. Wall Street opposition, by defeating the farm equalization bill, has continued a situation which is bringing greater disaster for agriculture and banks in agricultural territory.

"The census value of Iowa lands in 1920 was $227 per acre. In 1925 this had declined to $149 an acre. During the same period nearly all stocks advanced, very heavily on the Wall Street market. Perhaps railroad stocks alone, advanced as much as real estate value declined in Iowa.

Get less than share

"The situation means that Iowa farmers received more than $300,000,000 a year less than they were justly entitled to receive for their products. The Wall Street boom increased the prices the farmers had to pay for what they had to buy and decreased the prices they received for their products.

"This sent many farmers into bankruptcy and the failure of the farmer has caused the failure of the banks. The situation in agriculture everywhere is about the same as in Iowa, and during this and the preceding administration about 1,000,000 farmers in the United States have lost their homes.

Charges Discrimination

"Several hundred banks in Iowa have failed where there should never have been a bank failure. The closing of 19 in one day has attracted universal attention. It was all due to the gigantic discrimination against agriculture under our transportation laws, public utility laws credit laws, patent laws and protective tariff laws, which have given over the financial and economic control of everything to Wall Street.

"The failure to pass the farm equalization bill continues agriculture in the same depression where it will continue until adequate legislation is passed."

Clanton Merchants Enjoying Exceptionally Good Holiday Business

From every indication the merchants of Clanton are getting their share of pre-Xmas business. Last Saturday saw the largest crowd in town for some time and a peep in every store disclosed the fact that all clerks were as busy as they could be and many customers looking around waiting for their turn to get waited on. clanton stores carry everything any member of the family could wish for and people for many miles round are making clanton their trading point. The time is getting short for Gift buying as there are only twelve more shopping days 'til christmas. Shop early and avoid the late shopping crowds.

A. AYRES' Editor.

Entered as second class matter at the Clanton, Ala., postoffice under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

Regular meal hours help keep the family in good health.

F. W. Gist of Auburn says that Alabama farmers should plant 2 acres in hay crops next year where they had only one this year.

Those farmers who grew their own food and feed crops this year are not worried so much about cotton, but they do want a safer money.

The rural home must satisfy in convenience and attraction to make rural life satisfying and attractive to those who desire the best in life.

Even the farm folks who most appreciate their glowing wood fires are probably doing little towards growing more wood.

Is seems to be a foregone conclusion that if Al Smith should receive the nomination for president on the democratic ticket, that he would fail to carry the solid South as well as many western states, and we doubt his carrying New York for president.

No doubt that many millions will be spent for his nomination.

TOM KEMP Clanton, Ala.

Those farmers who have fields and pastures can afford to grow sheep. The wool should pay the expense, leaving the lambs as a net profit, and Alabama early-spring lambs are in big demand.

By planting hairy vetch and following it with corn, southern farmers are finding that they can produce corn about as cheaply as farmers in the Corn Belt can produce it, and this may result in a big change in farming in the South.

To who shall we charge with the low price of cotton; the Democrats or the Republicans? When Cleveland was president and cotton went down from around 10 cents to about 5 cents, it was charged to the democrats, and some voters now vote the republican ticket because cotton went down under Cleveland's administration, Now cotton under the republican administration has gone down from 25 cents to 8 and 9 cents. Who put the price down? If the democrats put the price down when they were in controll, are the republicans being in power, responsible for the low price of cotton now? Lets be honest about this matter. If you don't think the republicans are responsible for the low price of cotton I would never again mention that Cleveland put the price of cotton down when you know he had nothing to do with it.

Clanton folk is still busy building more and better houses than formerly built and is taking on city style and all Clanton likes of being a city is a cotton mill. With a cotton mill, Clanton would have a population of 5000 in two years.

FARMERS TO PREPARE LANDS

Auburn, Dec. 6.—Although the price of cotton is low, farmers are preparing for more efficient production by getting rid of stumps, by drainage, and by other means, as shown by the way they are buying pyrotol for explosive purposes, according to L. C. LeBron agricultural engineer at Auburn.

This is the third season for the government to make pyrotol available to farmers. The season began early in the fall and by December 1 orders from Alabama farmers totaled 136,450 pounds. During November their orders totaled 88,450, and by January 1, Mr. LeBron thinks that the grand total will reach 200,000 pounds, the same as that bought during the entire 1925-26 season.

To date, Geneva county is leading in Alabama with 20,950 pounds bought and being used. Franklin is next with 18,000; Covington, third with 17,500. Elmore, Monroe, and Limestone each has ordered 16,000 pounds, or a carload. Many other less than carload shipments were made from the magazine at Auburn.

By having a good market for their fat pine stump wood, farmers in south Alabama are now stumping and clearing land at a profit, according to Mr. LeBron. The Newport Company of Pensacola, Florida, and Bay Minette, Alabama, is buying this wood in large quantities and pying prices which exceed the total cost of the explosive and the labor necessary to get the stumps out and ship them.

At the end of the war the government had large quantities of pyrotol on hand and it is being turned into constructive purposes by distributing it through the county agents to farmers on a cost basis. Farmers in every section of Alabama are active

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 30.—Special—In little more than two years pig club boys of Coffee county have made a big start in stocking the farms of that county with pure bred Duroc-Jersey hogs. R. G. Arnold county demonstration agent for Coffee county, reports that there are now 250 registered Duroc-Jersey sows in the hands of Coffee county boys, and he estimates that fully 500 hogs produced by these boys are owned by farmers. In addition 50 or more have been sold and shipped to farmers and club boys in other counties.

This work began soon after Mr. Arnold became county agent in Coffee county. Forty gilts of the very best Duroc-Jersey breeding were shipped into the county with the bankers assisting in financing the project. Worthy boys who were good pig club prospects were lent money to buy pigs. Three Duroc-Jersey boars of similar breeding were bought, and, with this foundation stock, the registered hog population of Coffee county has spread very rapidly.

Boys began the work with the understanding that if they produced pigs equal to those received by them when they bought they were guaranteed a sale at very satisfactory prices, while those failing to produce hogs up to the standard were not given any promise about selling. They were given instruction on hog production, especially feeding and management, by mail and at their club meetings. In this way Mr. Arnold has kept in close touch with them.

To assist with keeping up interest and to keep the public informed of their work, annual shows have been staged each fall at Enterprise and Elba. In the fall of 1924 only those 40 gilts and three boars of the original purchase were shown but a year later 250 hogs were seen. This number was all that could be accommodated, and about the same number will be seen in the 1926 show.

To carry on their work as an organization, the boys have organized the Coffee county boy's pig club. With the help of Mr. Arnold and the Coffee county Farm Bureau registration papers are kept up and it is said that this is the only organization in Alabama having registered Duroc-Jersey hogs for sale.

Smooth Sailing

Quiet, smooth motion . . . . the most enjoyable part of motoring . . . . is due to the film of oil or grease that separates each moving part. Without this oil and grease, there would be a shriek of metal scraping metal, of pistons tearing cylinders, and wheels grinding axles. The smooth operation of your car depends upon the quality of the oil you use, the quantity you use, and how often you have it changed. If you use POLARINE, a good heat-resisting motor oil, and change it every 500 miles, you will have smooth sailing, few repair bills, and a motor in good condition when you are ready to trade it in.

Eggs have gone to the top, and will be cheaper after this week, as Xmas eggs are all bought.

We want several girls to enter a contest for prizes, taking subscriptions to the Chilton County News, 'til January 1, 1927. Will also allow a commission on collections besides prizes.

The last few weeks has been hog killing weeks. Did you have one to kill? If not, you are in hard luck.

If Clanton and Chilton County would only try, they could locate some of those big cotton and hosiery mills that are moving from the North and East to the South. Clanton would be a city in a few years and the farmers could sell all their produce at home.

The low price of cotton is making it mighty hard on the farmers who used fertilizer at a high price to make low price cotton. Most of them however have made plenty of corn to carry them over another year.

We hope to see the cotton crop cut at least one fourth next year. By doing so, the farmer would realize more money, and would take less work to make and gather the crop.

MR. CARY MARTIN

On Nov. 23, 1926, the death angel visited the home of Bro. Cary Martin and carried his spirit to its Heaven'ly reward, leaving a wife, six children, and a host of loved ones and friends to mourn his loss.

Bro. Martin was a man of modest and unassuming disposition yet, loyal to the truth and a power in christian and civic marks Having joined the Baptist church early in life served as Sunday school superintendent and teacher and a deacon for a number of years Also was a member of the Town Counsel and board of trustees of the public school at the time of his death.

His life in every way has been one of consistancy and a blessing to all he met and worthy of our emulation in his following the Lord.

We bid his grief stricken family. "Weep not for their loved one as those who have no hope, for our Lord has said, "I am the reserrection and the life, he that believeth in me though he were dead yet shall he live again." So look not to the grave, but on past the reserrection to his glorious home not made with hands but eternal in the Heavens.

May the Holy Spirit comfort over shadow and keep each of you until that grand reunion in the glory land where no sorrow nor death can ever enter.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas in the dispensation of our Heavenly Father, our beloved Bro. Cary Martin has been called to rest. we therefore resolve:

1st That we bow in humble submission to the will of God who doeth all things well

2nd That the family has lost a devoted husband and an affectionate father.

3rd The church and Sunday school have lost one of their most useful and efficient members, the community one of its best citizens.

4th That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Baptist, the county papers, the family, and a copy be spread upon the minutes of the church.

Relay Maps Route for World's Greatest Swim

The world's greatest swim for one of the greatest prizes ever hung up —$25,000 in cash—is to be staged in Southern California January 15 and thereafter until the swim is accomplished.

The swim is the Catalina channel. It seperates the island of Catalina from the California mainland. The nearest distance is approximately twenty-three miles.

In the English channel the big problem was rough water and tides. In the Catalina channel an entirely new problem comes up. It is currents and change of temperature in the water.

Along the California shore the temperature is, as noted, 67 degrees. This is ideal for swimming. It is a factor that has made the California beaches the most popular in the world. But as one gets out a mile or so from shore the temperature starts downward. There is always a variable of eight degrees and frequently a greater variable. The shore temperature remains steadily at about 67 degrees and the channel temperature dropping to ten or even twelve degrees lower.

That the channel can be crossed by a swimmer has been demonstrated. Recently Fred Cady, coach at the Los Angeles athletic club, who has been a large factor in turning out crack California swimmers, crossed it with a relay of swimmers. The first in the water was Viola Hartman Cady, his wife. After she swam a mile, another swimmer entered. Temperatures were taken as the swimmers stroked across the water. They are shown. The journey with fourteen swimmers in the relay took 23 hours and seventeen minutes, and the zigzag course measured 33 miles. This is indicative of the difficulty of the swim. Trudy Ederle swam the English channel alone in fourteen and one half hours.

But then the English channel swimmers swam for glory. This swim is for $25,000. The effort to cross on January 15 will be enormous. Will it be done?

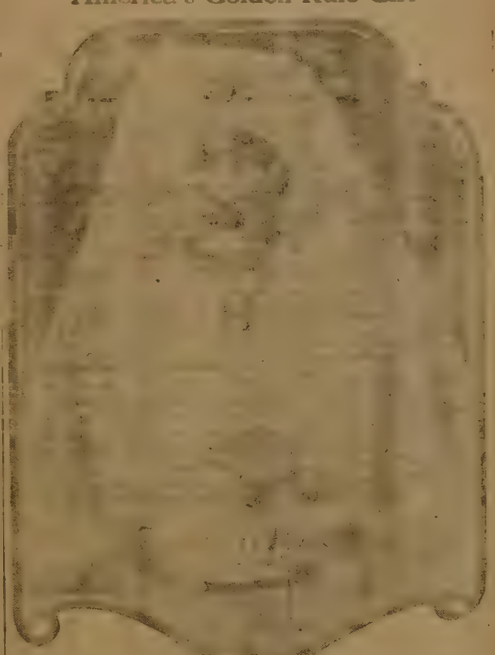
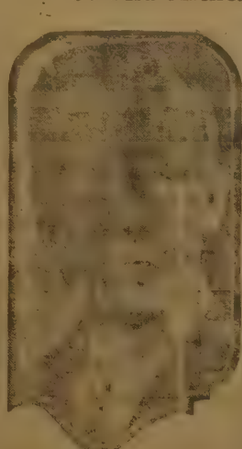
America's Golden Rule Girl



MISS BETTY COMPTON of New York has been selected in a competition to portray the spirit of the Golden Rule with the forthcoming observance of international Golden Rule Sunday for the Near East Relief.

Vickrey Appeals for Million To Aid Armenian Quake Victims



C. V. VICKREY

MORE than a million dollars will be required to meet the needs of earthquake victims in Armenia, according to Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, in a nation wide appeal for the observance of International Golden Rule Sunday.

This sum will be required to provide adequate medical attention, food, clothing and supplies to the thousands of families made homeless by the earthquake and to care for the nine thousand orphan wards of the relief organization in the Caucasus until June, according to the appeal.

Hundreds of villages have been laid waste and many of the huge orphanages caring for the children have been razed. Others are unsafe for use until repairs can be made. Meanwhile children and American relief workers are living in tents in a region in which blizzards and heavy snowstorms are frequent at this time of the year.

Reports from the various villages in the earthquake zone indicate that the inhabitants have been forced to construct rude dugouts under ground to protect themselves from the wild, winter weather. With shocks that have continued intermittently for two weeks there has been considerable loss of life in these fragile dwellings.

A. AYRES' Editor.

Entered as second class matter at the Clanton, Ala., postoffice under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

"Go. Bargains, read the ads in the News. They are offering you some real bargain and want your trade."

During the final phase of the World War no man or corporation or institution could raise money without the approval of the Capital Issues Committee of the Treasury Department, which committee in turn would not permit the borrowing of money unless the War Industries Board approved the use to which it was to be put. Thus the City of New York was not permitted to spend $8,000,000 for the building of schools. The City of Philadelphia was prevented from making improvements that in peace time would have been necessary, but in war time were not. Various states, counties and cities, and a vast number of private concerns, were denied the use of money and materials for purposes not necessary for the winning of the war. Each part of the community had to adjust its wants to the whole great undertaking.

There have been a great many bills introduced into Congress on the subject of industrial mobilization, some sponsored by great organizations like the American Legion, and others by newspapers and publicists. But it is surprising how little knowledge there was on the part of those who drew up the bills of the practicability and feasibility of so mobilizing our resources that it would be impossible to make as much profit in war as in time of peace. Take into consideration the fact that the following things were being done in 1918:—

General Crowder, who was in charge of the draft, had asked the chairman of the War Industries Board where he could obtain additional men needed for the Army in France with the least possible dislocation of the war making industrial civilian machinery, and we were in the process of replacing male labor with women. By a system of priorities the Board was allocating to our own Army and Navy, to the Allies and to the essential war industries the things they required. It was making priority rulings as to transportation, and they were being followed out by the Railroad Administrator. The Fuel Administrator distributed fuel only on the rulings of the War Industries Board. The Board was engaged in disentangling and removing the many conflicts and competitive efforts involved in labor and buildings that had previously occurred because of lack of any co-ordinating agency. It was allocating power and making regulations for the hitching up of scattered units to power. It was changing munitions orders from congested to less congested districts. It had actually carried into effect an order that no building involving $2,500 or more could be undertaken without the approval of the War Industries Board. No steel, no cement, no material of any kind could be used for any purpose whatsoever unless the War Industries Board permitted it. No steel company could sell over five tons of steel unless approved by the Director of Steel. The Treasury would not permit the raising of money for any industrial or financial operation unless it was approved by the War Industries Board. The President issued an order that no commandeering should be done by the Army, Navy, Shipping Board or Food Administration without the approval of the chairman of the War Industries Board. Every raw material industry, and indeed practically every industry in the country, was organized through appointment of committees, and none of these industries would do any business except under the rulings promulgated by the Board. Standardization in every industry was rapidly proceeding. These rulings were made known through the issuance of official bulletins at irregular intervals and were distributed by the press. We were endeavoring to arrange it so that the fighting forces were to receive the things which they needed and no more, so that whatever was not actually required at the front was left to civilian purposes. Industries were curtailed, but never destroyed; skeletonized, but never killed. Indeed the use of men, money and materials was rapidly being brought into that condition which I have previously stated to be necessary in case of another war.

If, in addition to this, the President in the future has the authority to fix prices and distribution of materials and labor, rent, and the use of man power, transportation, fuel and all the things necessary for the conduct of the war, any rise in prices will be prevented even in anticipation of war.

There are many who claim that war is caused primarily by the desire of profit. I am not one of those. But if there is anything in this contention my plan will remove the possibility of anybody urging war as a means of making profits. Even if there are men who desire war as a means of making profit, the fact that profits would be less in war than in peace, and wealth and resources would be diverted by the government, might have some active deterring influence on men of great resources. Instead of being passive, they might become active advocates of peace.

There are many people who are, for various reasons, afraid to discuss the subject during peace time and prefer to wait for war. There are also some great manufacturers who oppose any such plan because they were seriously interfered with during the war time. Indeed, it has been the experience of some of those responsible for the industrial mobilization in the World War to remain the objects of vehement attack begun during the time that the necessities of the nation made it imperative to control activities and profits. Some critics were prominent manufacturers, who said: "Tell us what the government wants and we will fill the orders, but don't interfere with the sale of the part of our product that the government does not want to use." That was unthinkable. President Wilson decreed that fair

It is being talked and discussed who will be the next Probate Judge of Chilton County. As yet we have heard no one mentioned who might be in the race but it is a sure fact that there will be a contest before the next Judge is elected.

It will not be long until we can give you all the happenings in Clanton and all over Chilton County. Dairy Cow Has Financed Farmers When Needed

Farmers realized nearly as much from dairy cows during 1925 as from their corn and wheat crops combined, according to figures issued by the National Dairy council.

According to careful estimates based on investigation, the farm value of all dairy products for the year 1925, is $2,700,000,000. This is only about $200,000,000 less than the total farm value of wheat and corn, the government estimate of the combined farm value of the latter being $2,904,289,000.

"But the important fact," states M. D. Munn, president of the National Dairy council, "is that American farmers have marketed their dairy products day by day throughout the year without any accumulated surplus on their hands and have thus received funds with which they have been able to live and help finance their other farm operations, while they still have much of their corn and wheat on hand.

"This vast sum of nearly two and three-fourths billions has financed diversified farming in this country and relieved agriculture from what would otherwise have been insurmountable difficulties, especially in view of the accumulated surplus of grains together with the low prices that now prevail. In addition to the cash return to the farmer through the dairy cow he has also been supplied with dairy products for his own family use, which have materially assisted in reducing living expenses."

Merry Xmas

With the year drawing rapidly to a close we can look back over its twelve months as they have passed in this community, and we find in them much that we will wish to remember.

The Christmas season of 1926 brings to us a record of twelve months of community peace, of community good will, of community prosperity, and an increased community hope for the dawning year of 1927.

During 1926 we have enjoyed our neighbors, our friends; we have laughed with them in their hours of merriment, and we have grieved with them in their bereavements. This is as it should be. It is such things that the spirit of Christmas teaches us. It is the lesson brought to us by the Man of Gallilee nineteen hundred and twenty-six years ago.

During 1926 we have grown better individually and collectively; we have evinced a greater degree of tolerance, of hum-

Notice of Publication

State of Aabama, Chilton County. — Circuit Court in Equity.— J. D. Rudd, Complainant, vs. Mary Frances Rudd, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Lawrence F. Gerald that the defendant is a non-resident, and that her place of residence and postoffice address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Chilton County News, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Mary Frances Rudd, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 5th day of January, 1927, or in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 7th day of December, 1926.

W. D. Spigener, Register.

To The Citizens of Chilton County

Commissioners Letter

Clanton, Ala. December 22, 1926.
Editor Chilton County News:

The commissioners court of Chilton County and also the two members elect of said court, wish to advise all people in Chilton County who are interested in roads that there will be a public road meeting in the Court House on Tuesday, January 4, 1927. One session will be held at 10 o'clock a. m., and the other will be at 1 o'clock p. m. This will give all a chance to be present at said meeting, either at the morning or afternoon session.

We urge every person who is interested in roads to come to the meeting, as we are contemplating making some changes in the working system, and we want the advice and assistance of all interested.

We especially urge you to make any suggestions as to improving the system in the county, and also voicing any criticism that you might have that will in any way help to improve the system and thus get better roads for our county.

The commissioners court feels that many improvements have been made on the roads of the county, and realize there are many yet to be made. However, with the co-operation of the people of the county in this matter, stirred by a good public meeting on the above date, we think will have a great influence on our roads in Chilton County in the future.
of the meetings on said date.

We trust that all who can do so will be present at one or the other

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.
T. J. DORMINEY,
J. M. MIMS,
J. L. BURNETTE,

an. kindness, of love and faith than in any previous year, and this is but an evidence of the increasing betterment of the race.

With a backward glance over the records of 1926 we find every good reason for believing this Christmas season is to be the best we have ever enjoyed. We know that those blessings, faith, hope, love, peace. that were brought to the race with the dawn of the Christian era are with us today in greater degree than ever before. We know we will receive a greater number of hearty Christmas greetings, a greater number of friendly smiles, and what comes to us will come to each and every individual in our community, including our Merry Christmas to each and every one.

A Happy New Year And Best Wishes To All

Family Reunion

The home of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Vance, was made happy on Xmas day when all their children gathered there to celebrate their golden anniversary.

The heavy laden table was centered with a hugh white cake with 50 tiny candles on it numbering the years they had lived together. During this time they had been blessed with eight children, two boys and six girls all living.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Jones and children, Clanton; Mrs. S. A. Henley and children. Fairview; Mr. and Mrs W. B Vance, Clanton; Mr and Mrs H Headley and children; Pleasant Grove; Mr and Mrs G C Vance and children, Fairview; Mr and Mrs T Gandy and son, West Clanton; Mrs B M Bean and children, Birmingham; Mr and Mrs H Patterson and little son, West Clanton.

Outside the family present: Mrs Emily Headley and Mr Duffy Patterson of Clanton.

The day was well spent in talking laughing singing and playing. The day will long be remembered by all present.

At three o'clock the children departed to their homes, each wishing their parents many more years to be spent with them, and wishing them God's richest blessings.

Death Of Mrs. Amanda Durbin

After a long and faithful life in the service of her Master, early on Sunday morning, December 5, 1926, the Lord calld home to rest aunt Amanda Durbin, one of His noblest women. She lived for one hundred and one years. and she lived those years well.

She is survived by one son and three daughters, her husband and six children having preceeded her to the grave.

She left 40 grand children, 52 great grand children, 5 great great grand children.

Early in life she gave her heart to Jesus and united with the Methodist Episcopal church South.

She lived a consistent christain life and served in the Masters vineyard with cheery words and sunny smiles. Her life was filled with loving devotion and with calm contentment that comes only to God's children.

A true mother of Israel has been called to her reward, and her children and childrens children rise up and call her blessed.

After much suffering and all that loving hands could do for her, she folded her arms across her peaceful breast and went to sleep and her soul entered into that rest that remaineth to the people of God.

I cannot feel that thou art far
Since near at need the Angels are,
Aand when the sunset gets unbar
Shall I not see thee waiting stand
And white aginst the evening star
The welcome of thy beckning hand.
One who loved her.

Let your children read the News

We have the promis of having some articles on hograising in the near future, showing that hogs can be raised cheaper in Alabama than in Ioway, that famous hog country.

Chilton county farmers needs more better pastures for their stock. With good pastures, stock can be raised at a good price. Just a place for stock to run and get plenty of air and water, is not worth much. A pasture should have something for the stock to graze on the year round

Would our coutry be in a better condition than it is with Al Smith, a Catholic, and liquor leader president of these United States? This is a serious matter and every good citizen should think of the condition we might be placed in with a Catholic and whiskey leader president, and it would be almost certain that his cabinet and all appointees would be of his faith.

Every man and woman of 21 years of age should pay their poll tax and vote, or be in position to vote should something come up you might be interested in. You should be interested in your famile and the country enough to be a legal voter so as to do your own voting in stead of having others to vote for you as if you was not inteligent enough to vote.

"A Thing of Beauty Is a Joy Forever"

This is one of the beauty spots of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia. The exposition celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The view shows the tower of one of the main exhibit buildings rearing its head up from among the gorgeous landscape which artists have built around the giant structures which house exhibits from forty-three nations of the world. The Exposition continues until December 1.

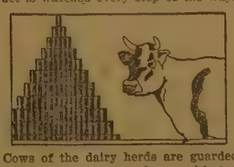
Purity of Milk Protected Now By Scientists

By KATHRYN ST. JOHN

Careful housewives constantly make it a point to ascertain the quality of each item that goes on their tables. Preparing food for the family is an extremely important job, for the proper selection and preparation of foods make in a large measure for the health and happiness of the family.

Milk is the most nearly perfect food, but it is a very delicate one as well. The keeping qualities of milk are slight. Danger from contamination is ever present. Evaporated milk, which is double rich because of the removal of 60 per cent of the water, is science's solution to these conditions.

Safeguarding evaporated milk is worked out as perfectly as man's ingenuity has been able to make the process. From cow to can, the milk which goes into the evaporated product is watched every step of the way.



Cows of the dairy herds are guarded with constant care and are subjected to regular inspections by veterinary surgeons. Herds are carefully groomed, and their yards and barns are kept scrupulously clean, as are all utensils. Milk condenseries are located in the heart of the big dairy regions to facilitate speedy handling, for this is essential if the milk is to be canned at "its moment of maturity." Canvas-covered trucks haul the milk to market, thus protecting the product from contamination on the way. Arriving at the condensery, the milk goes through tests for acidity, sediment, flavor and butterfat content before it is accepted.

Experts watch the progress of the milk through every step of its way. It goes into the evaporating machine; to the homogenizer, which breaks up the fat globules so that the milk may be easily digested by the consumer; by way of the almost human filling machine into sterilized cans; then into the sterilizer, where the cans are surrounded by steam and boiling water, destroying any possible bacteria. Inspectors handle the product as the last step to see that the canning job has been perfectly done. Labeling and packing follow. The housewife obtains the milk as fresh and sweet as when it came from the cow.

On account of a breakedown of our press, we are late this week. We was ready to go to press Wednesday afternoon, but braking our press it will be next week before we get it fixed, so the editor of the Banner helped us out by letting us have the use of their press this week.

Mayor, J. B. Atkinson and family spent Christmas with Mr Atkinson's father at Sylacauga.

Mrs. Ezell rendered very beautifully on last Sunday at the Baptist Church, "How the other wise man found Christ." Some special songs was rendered also by the choir which was enjoyed very much.

Dont forget Sunday School next Sunday, as it is the first Sunday of the new year, and let us start the year off right.

There is too much talk of hard times. I suspect if we would talk less and work more, we would get along better.

Alabama College

Montevallo Ala.---Seven hundred seventeen Alabama College students left for their homes in sixty-six of the sixty-seven counties of Alabama on December 18 for the Christmas holidays. College will resume regular work on Tuesday, January 4.

The enrollment for the present session is larger than ever before in the history of the institution. Four years ago the total enrollment of college students for the nine months was three hundred thirty. The seven hundred seventeen will probably be raised to seven hundred fifty before the year is out, making an increase of approximately one hundred fifty per cent.

The summer school has more than doubled and the extension division which last year taught four hundred seventy-two teachers in the state was organized in the 1922-23 session. In addition to that the college has been raised from the rank of junior to that of a senior college and was admitted into the Southern Association of colleges in 1925.

Chilton county has eight students enrolled this session. The following is the list of those students who have returned home for the Christmas holidays:

Bertha Barrett, Verbena
Frances Brown, Maplesville
Nolen Meroney, Verbena.
Lurleon Minor, Clanton.
Elizabeth Parnell, Maples V
Sara Maud Pattillo, Verbena
Virginia Scott, Verbena.
Nell Wells.

Miss Sara Maud Patillo made second honor roll.

January is the month of beginning-the month of open door-with a ...ccination all its own. The most hardened surely cannot cross the threshold without some sence of wonder and of hope. The crossing has never to sow stirrings in the human heart. The festival of the New Year is one of the most ancient and universal customs. It is often no slight relief to know that the Old Year has gone ---that its failurs, its sorrows, its disappointments, have been gathered into the past. The mere fact that they belong to 1926 and we soon belong to 1927, sets a gulf between them and us! The hour strikes, and we feel a sense of emancipation. "Hope that springs immortal" rises in us, and by the grace of God we go forward to nobler doings and brighter days.

Yet we cannot do well in the new unless we remember the old. The past and its experiences should be our teacher, and there are ample inspirations and encouragements to be found in retrospect. To look back is as high a wisdom as to look forward. Men sometimes advocate the one and forget the other. That was a wise word the prophet of old gave to the people, "Thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God hath led thee."

In looking back for the old, we often discover the new; new lights shines, new understandings are given. Time shows that some experiences were not the unmitigated disasters they appeared. We thought all was lost, and lo, the best remains. Like Bunyan's pilgrim, the robbers also attacked us-- but to oursurprise they only got the small change, they never found the "jewels" we carried.

Many other thoughts crowd in upon us on the threshold. The year past was not put to such good use as possibly it might have been. If we have not been spendthrifts in time---"the stuff of life"---we may have failed to redeem it as we should. Even minutes are tremendous opportunities.

An old story tells of a youth who, out of fragments of glass thrown away by his master, made a beautiful cathedral window. And minutes are the fragments that spell possibilities for us. So much may be learned and so much may be done, if throughout the year we husband the golden moments. We may in the past have made a mistake there, but here is great hope for us, if we are careful not to make the same mistake twice.

Possibly also there has been failure because we had no insight in to the opportunity of small service. There were little things we might have done, but they scarcely seem worth while. Yet hearts have been healed and lives saved by a word. The most beautiful of all ministries have surely been the casual ones of the wayside. Is not that the lesson of the Good Samaritan?

And great and noble emotion may shine through the humblest gift. Is not that the lesson of the widow's two mites and the cup of cold water? What Aristotle said of political revolutions is equally true of development of character--it is the outcome of "great causes and small occasions."

The coming year will hold in its hands countless small occasions; let us be vigilent and buy up each opportunity as it comes.

And whatever 1927 may bring, let us remember we can be more than conquers in Him that loved us.

Simple Method of Reviving Drowning or Those Overcome by Carbon Monoxide

Child Can Put It Into Practice — Knowledge That May Prevent Fatal Ending to Accidents

New York, N. Y.—Every summer many deaths from drowning could be averted with a wider knowledge of the proper method of artificial respiration according to health authorities. Numerous deaths from electric shock and gas poison also could be prevented.

A few minutes' delay ... prove fatal and yet the method of inducing respiration ... for victims of any of the three ... of ... or less common accidents is so simple that a child can learn to use it successfully.

A pamphlet, issued by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company's Industrial Hygiene section, ... the method. The colorless and odorless carbon monoxide, given off from the exhaust of an automobile and also present in the artificial gas commonly used for heating and lighting, in "coal gas" fumes from a coal furnace, is continually taking victims, all of whom could be saved by quick action, if found in time.

Artificial Respiration

The ... pressure method of giving artificial respiration is as follows: "When the victim is out of the water or free from electric contact or out of the poisonous atmosphere, if breathing has stopped, follow these instructions even if the victim appears to be dead:

"Quickly feel with your fingers in his mouth and throat and remove any obstruction to breathing. If the mouth is tight shut, pay no attention to it until later.

"Lay the patient on his belly one arm extended directly overhead the other bent at elbow and with face to one side resting on the hand or forearm, so that the nose and mouth are free for breathing.

"Kneel straddling the patient's hips, with knees just below his hip bones. Place the palms of your hands on the small of the back with the fingers over the ribs, the little finger just touching the lowest rib, the thumb alongside of the fingers; the tips of the fingers just out of sight.

"While counting 'one, two,' and with arms held straight, swing forward slowly so that the weight of your body is gradually, but not violently, brought to bear on the patient. This act should take from two to three seconds.

"While counting 'three' swing backward so as to remove the pressure, thus returning to the original position.

"While counting 'four, five'—rest.

"Repeat these operations deliberately swinging forward and backward twelve to fifteen times a minute—a complete respiration in four or five seconds. Keep time with your own breathing."

The needless number of deaths from these causes has been so great that the Policyholders' Service Bureau of the Metropolitan Life has begun a campaign of education among its industrial groups.

Millions in Pearls

This pagoda, a part of the Japanese exhibit at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia, celebrating the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, is made entirely of pearls and its value exceeds $1,000,000. The exposition continues until December 1.

Tomato Wilts Prevented With-Resistant Strains

The wilts of tomatoes, of which three forms are known, are caused by moldlike fungi or by bacteria which live in the soil and infect the plants through their roots. Wilting and yellowing leaves indicate the presence of these diseases.

Fusarium wilt, the form most widely distributed, causes the plants to wilt and die slowly, while bacterial wilt is frequently more prompt in its action. Efforts should be directed to the prevention rather than to the cure of these diseases. The planting of wilt resistant strains or varieties is advisable in order to control the Fusarium wilt. A variety of tomato known as Norton is highly resistant to Fusarium and well adapted to sections where the disease is prevalent.

Fusarium wilt should not be confused with another tomato disease prevalent in Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast regions and variously known as blight, western blight and western yellow blight. This disease and Fusarium wilt frequently occur in the same fields. The Norton tomato is resistant to the Fusarium wilt but varieties markedly resistant to western yellow blight have not yet been developed.

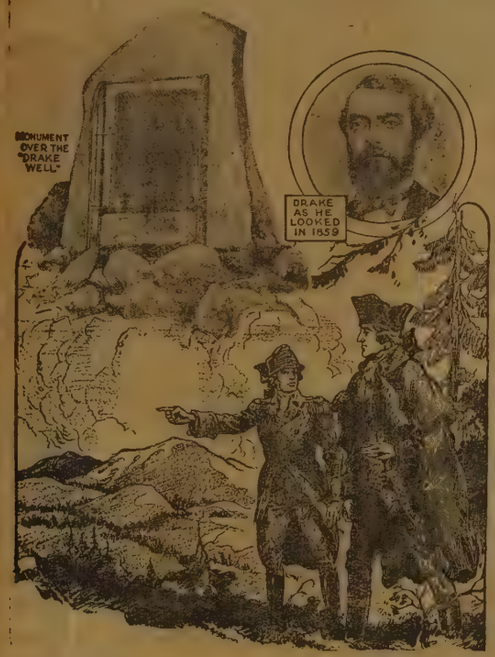
Washington's Early Adventures Now Assuming New Significance



By HENRY BOTSFORD

AFTER well nigh a century and three-quarters a new interest has recently been aroused in the earliest military adventures of George Washington. When barely twenty-one years old, in 1753, Washington was sent by Governor Dinwiddie of Virginia into the far northwestern wilderness—that is, northwestern Pennsylvania—to warn the French that they must cease their efforts to occupy that region. Recent researches have given a new historical significance to that expedition, during which Washington, always reckless of his personal safety, had one of his narrow escapes from death at the hands of a treacherous Indian guide.

The French at that time occupied Canada and claimed the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys. Though the fringe of English speaking colonies along the Atlantic contained the chief European population, France maintained sovereignty over most of North America's area. They were apparently determined to occupy northwestern Pennsylvania, partly because it was known even then to be rich in petroleum.

Region's Wealth Known

Pioneers and missionaries, English, French, German and Dutch, had all reported to their governments that the petroleum was of great potential value. There is, however, no reason to believe that Washington knew of its existence or value until the adventure of 1753. Then he learned the oil had long been used by the Indians and the pioneering whites for fuel and light, for medicine and in making war paint. Washington was so much impressed with its possibilities that he later became owner of a large area of oil-bearing lands. Although the petroleum industry in its modern form was then undreamed of, Washington was so sure that a fortune resided in his oil-bearing lands that in his will he listed them as his most valuable holdings. In the property schedule attached to the will he wrote:

"This tract was taken up by General Lewis and myself on account of the bituminous spring which it contains, of so inflammable a nature as to burn as freely as spirits and as nearly difficult to extinguish."

The Will of Washington

Some historians declare that in an earlier will Washington dedicated this "burning spring" to the public. At any rate, it had passed from his ownership before his death. He sold this tract for $200,000, but, suspecting it might revert to his estate under a mortgage, he warned his heirs that should it do so it would be worth much more than the $200,000.

Although Washington's first knowledge of petroleum was gained within a few miles of the place where the first oil well in the world was drilled, that first well was not opened until one hundred and six years later, 1859. In that year Edwin Laurentine Drake bored the first well, just south of Titusville, Pennsylvania, and really started the modern petroleum industry.

A Development Wonder

Today the American industry is the major part of the world's oil business. Americans are directing oil developments all over the world. It is all part of the huge problem: to make sure that the tomorrows shall see America's requirements met. Every decade the production of petroleum has doubled. Science and technical progress have met all demands. Foreign investment and development are in the nature of insurance for the future.

In the days of Drake and the industry's beginnings petroleum's value lay in lubricants and kerosene. The age of machinery was only beginning, with its insatiate demand for lubricants, while kerosene, though the best illuminant ever known, was dangerous because poor refining left gasoline that was liable to explode. It is difficult nowadays, when the world is being combed for more petroleum to make more gasoline, to realize that gasoline was once a nuisance and a menace. The internal combustion engine created the demand for gasoline, now the primary product of petroleum. The demands of millions of motor cars increasing constantly, invention and chemistry were set at work by the captains of the industry to make the barrel of petroleum turn out a larger and larger proportion of gasoline. This was done by the cracking process, through which every year now sees a larger proportion of crude oil turned into gasoline.

High and Growing Demands

Today well-nigh 2,500,000 barrels of petroleum are required every day to satisfy the demand for motor cars, tractors, trucks, busses, artificial gas plants and the innumerable by-products. Invention is constantly finding new uses, as enterprise just as constantly finds new supplies of petroleum. The wonderful and rather mysterious fluid has revolutionized social habits and industrial methods; yet it is only two-thirds of a century since the industry had its feeble beginning in the Pennsylvania oil country.

This year the country will produce about 750,000,000 barrels of oil. The country will use 70[illegible] gallons of gasoline and will [illegible]900,000 more. The production and marketing of petroleum is probably second only to agriculture among American industries.

Roundly, 70 per cent of the world's petroleum industry is American. Ten billions of capital is invested in it—half the valuation of the national railroad system. It employs just about 1,000,000 people. The petroleum pipe line system, gridironing a good share of the country, aggregates about 85,000 miles. Petroleum revolutionized naval warfare by bringing in the oil burning ship; it is fast revolutionizing merchant marines in the same fashion. Multiplication of motor cars, along with the special taxation of their gasoline, has made possible the modern highway system.

A True Social Service

Perhaps the most nearly revolutionary result of Drake's modernization of the petroleum industry is to be found in the change it has brought in the life of rural America. It has carried the city to the country, the country to the city. It has, by making possible the cheap and quick transportation that everybody nowadays enjoys, enabled country and city to know and understand each other as they never did before. It has brought social and educational privileges to country dwellers that a few decades ago seemed absolutely denied to them. On the one hand it has enabled the cities to spread out into suburban areas and the zone of country estates; on the other, it has enabled the people of the open country to have neighbors, society, church and school privileges, intimate acquaintance.

It is a historic fact that the tendency toward division of interest and understanding between city and country is the most serious internal menace to the security of nations, to the integrity of society.

More than anything else, country and city need to know and understand each other and each other's problems. The easy transportation, the ready opportunity for association and acquaintance that have come with the Age of Petroleum have made possible, in this favored country at least, exactly this new intimacy and understanding.

Thousand Eat Golden Rule Meal At Gathering of New Yorkers

MORE than a thousand leaders in religious, social, civic and political circles in New York sat down to the "Golden Rule Dinner" at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York which recently opened the campaign for the fourth annual observance of International Golden Rule Sunday in the United States.

Clergymen of all faiths and some of the leading philanthropists of the nation participated in the program. Girls from various New York and Brooklyn colleges served as waitresses and not a dish was broken—most of them were made from old condensed milk cans especially for the dinner by boys in the Near East Relief training school on the island of Syra, Greece. The [illegible] similar to the tableware of the [illegible].

The menu served [illegible] stew, macaroni and cheese [illegible] apricots, with syrup, bread [illegible]. This is the fare served daily in the Near East Relief orphanages abroad at a cost of approximately four cents a meal.

Golden Rule Sunday this year will have added significance since about it will be built a nation wide campaign for one million dollars to aid the victims of the recent earthquake in Armenia and to provide funds for the maintenance of children in the Near East Relief orphanages until June.

Expect Sixty Countries to Observe Golden Rule Sunday

MORE than sixty nations throughout the civilized world are expected to join in the observance of International Golden Rule Sunday this year, according to Gordon L. Berry, Executive Secretary of the International Near East Association, under whose auspices the day will be celebrated.

Originally intended to promote peace and better understanding throughout the world and to attract world wide attention to the situation in the Near East, where American and foreign philanthropy are caring for an army of war orphans, the day this year will have the additional purpose of aiding victims of the earthquake in Armenia, a large number of them children now under the care of the American Near East Relief.

On Golden Rule Sunday people throughout the world are asked to serve in their homes the simple meal of a Near East Relief orphanage and then to contribute as generously as their means will permit to relief work and child welfare work in Bible Lands. The children thus cared for are being trained as apostles of a more peaceful world.

Reports submitted to Mr. Berry indicate that last year fifty-one nations joined in the observance of the day. Official sanction to the idea in this country was given by the endorsement of President Coolidge and abroad by rulers, statesmen, and diplomats.

The appeal for aid to children in Bible Lands has received a universal response in all civilized countries. Practical application of the Golden Rule is the sole purpose of the observance. Golden Rule Sunday will be celebrated everywhere as a day of self-sacrifice and kindly thoughts toward children in distant lands.

To The Citizens of Chilton County

Commissioners Letter

Clanton, Ala. December 22, 1926.
Editor Chilton County News:

The commissioners court of Chilton County and also the two members elect of said court, wish to advise all people in Chilton County who are interested in roads that there will be a public road meeting in the Court House on Tuesday, January 4, 1927. One session will be held at 10 o'clock a. m., and the other will be at 1 o'clock p. m. This will give all a chance to be present at said meeting, either at the morning or afternoon session.

We urge every person who is interested in roads to come to the meeting, as we are contemplating making some changes in the working system, and we want the advice and assistance of all interested.

We especially urge you to make any suggestions as to improving the system in the county, and also voicing any criticism that you might have that will in any way help to improve the system and thus get better roads for our county.

The commissioners court feels that many improvements have been made on the roads of the county, and realize there are many yet to be made. However, with the co-operation of the people of the county in this matter, stirred by a good public meeting on the above date, we think will have a great influence on our roads in Chilton County in the future.

of the meetings on said date.

We trust that all who can do so will be present at one or the other

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

Notice of Publication

State of Aabama, Chilton County.—Circuit Court in Equity.—J. D. Rudd, Complainant, vs. Mary Frances Rudd, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Lawrence F. Gerald that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that her place of residence and postoffice address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Chilton County News, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Mary Frances Rudd, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 5th day of January, 1927, or in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 7th day of December, 1926.

President Coolidge Urges Observance Of International Golden Rule Sunday

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE again asks America to observe International Golden Rule Sunday. By Presidential endorsement the day has been observed for the past three years to aid child welfare and relief work of the Near East Relief. This year the day will have the additional significance of aiding the earthquake victims of Armenia.

The President's letter of endorsement follows:

"I regard International Golden Rule Sunday as a movement of much importance. Begun in an attempt to care for the orphaned children of Bible lands, it has been extended to other countries.

"Practical help is the best expression of friendship. The aid we may give out of our abundance to those less fortunately situated than we should be of great value in bringing about the application of the Golden Rule to the settlement of misunderstandings among nations as well as among individuals.

"I hope the voluntary observance of this day may become increasingly prevalent in America and throughout the world."

Relief Work in Wake of Earthquake At America's Orphan City in Armenia

Near East Relief Orphans Repairing Damaged Streets—American Ambulance Bringing In Casualties.

THE Armenian earthquake has laid waste the most novel city in the world. Cable dispatches to the Near East Relief indicate that its orphanage centers of the organization in Leninakan, formerly Alexandropol, have been seriously damaged by the disastrous earthquake that cost 506 lives and made 80,000 homeless in the mountain country.

The orphan city was established by the Near East Relief shortly after the armistice, being housed in barracks that once belonged to the Imperial Army of the Russian Czars. At one time 35,000 children were cared for here, though rehabilitation efforts had been so successful up to the time of the earthquake that the number had been reduced to nine thousand. The disaster, however, now threatens to throw a large number more on the hands of the organization.

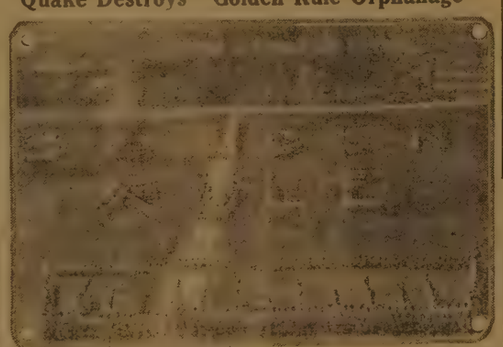
Relief officials on the field have estimated that a million dollars will be required to provide adequate relief in the earthquake zone and to furnish sufficient funds to repair the orphan city and maintain it until June.

People in the United States are urged by the Near East Relief, 151 Fifth avenue, New York City, to observe International Golden Rule Sunday, for the benefit of the earthquake victims and to aid in the continuation of work in the earthquake zone and in Greece, Syria, Palestine, Turkey, and Persia for another year.

GRECIAN DANCERS AT THE SESQUI

These dancers were selected for their graceful performance the keystone shaped pool in the court yard of the Pennsylvania State Building at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia, which celebrates 150 years of American Independence The spot is one of the most beautiful and artistic on the exposition site The Exposition continues until December 1.

Quake Destroys "Golden Rule Orphanage"



CABLED dispatches from Armenia indicate that "Golden Rule Orphanage," one of the Near East Relief institutions in Leninakan, formerly Alexandropol, Armenia, has been destroyed by the series of earthquakes that cost hundreds of lives and made thousands of persons homeless.

The above picture was taken a short time before the earthquake and was intended in the nature of an appeal to the people of America to observe International Golden Rule Sunday again this year in order that funds might be provided for the maintenance of the orphanage.

The building in the picture has been wrecked and the six hundred children who framed the message are living in tents with snowstorms raging and the temperature at zero.

More than a million dollars will be required to aid the earthquake victims and to care for the 9,000 children in Near East Relief care in Leninakan until June.

To aid them people are asked to observe Golden Rule Sunday by serving the simple menu of a Near East Relief orphanage in their homes and then contributing to the organization at 151 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Official reports confirm a total of at least 500 dead, 80,000 homeless, the destruction of 12,000 homes, much property and a large part of the country's food supply. Again the Armenians win their sad distinction to the title of the "martyr nation." But already the work of reconstruction has commenced, under American leadership.

Pennsylvania's Contribution to the Sesqui

Here is the Keystone State's building at the great Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition at Philadelphia, celebrating 150 years of American Independence. In this huge structure Pennsylvania is displaying her progress from the arrival of Penn to the present day. The building is one of the handsomest on the exposition grounds and has proved a rendezvous for hundreds of thousands of people who have come from near and far to see the magnificent exhibits established by forty-three of the leading nations of the world. The Exposition continues until December 1.

THE STORMING OF THE GATES

This picture is typical of many such scenes enacted daily at the main gates of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia where the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence is being celebrated. The "shot" was made from outside the gates and shows the long sweep of historic Broad street, the main artery of the exposition. To the left can be seen one of the capitols of the Palace of Liberal Arts and Manufactures which covers nearly eight acres of grounds and which houses some of the finest exhibits ever seen. The Exposition will continue until December 1.
